CHAP. XII.

1 Who they were that went with Dauid when he fled from Saul. 14 Their valiantnesse. 23 They that came vnto him vnto Hebron out of sennary tribe to make him king.

These also are they that came to Dauid to Ziklag, while he was yet kept close, because of Saul the sonne of Kish: and they were among the valiant and helpers of the battell.

2 They were weaponed with bowes, and could vlie the right and the left hand with stones and with arrowes and with bowes, and were of Sauls brethren, euen of Benjamin.

3 The chiefe were Abiezer, and Joash the sonnes of Shemaah a Gibeathite, and Jeziel, and Delai the sonnes of Almuaeth, Brachah and Jehu the Anothite,

4 And Ithimath the Gibeonite, a valiant man among thirtie, and aboute the thirtie, and Jeremiaah, and Ichaziel, and Iohanan, and Joshabab the Gederothite,

5 Eluzai, and Gerimoth, and Bealiah, and Shemariah, and Shephatiah the Haruphite,

6 Elkanah, and Ishia, and Azariel, and Jozer, Ishobeam of Bokozehim, 7 And Joeliah, and Zebadiah, the sonnes of Ieroham of Gedor.

8 And of the Gadites there separated themselves some vnto Dauid into the holde of the wilderness, valiant men of warre, and men of armes, & apt for battell, which could handle speare and shield, and their faces were like the faces of lions, and were like the roes in the mountaines in swiftnesse,

9 Ezer the chiefe, Obadiah the second, Eliab the third,

10 Dishmanah the fourth, Jeremiaah the fift,

11 Attai the sirt, Eliel the seventh,

12 Iohanan the eight, Elzabad the ninth,

13 Jeremiaah the tenth, Nachbannai the eleventh.

14 These were the sonnes of Gad, Captaines of the hoste: one of the least could resist an hundred, and the greatest a thousand.

15 These are they that went ouer Jordan in the first moneth when hee had filled ouer all his bankes, and put to flight all them of the valley, toward the East and the West.

16 And there came of the childzen of Benjamin, and Judah to the hold vnto Dauid.

17 And Dauid went out to meete them, and answered, and sayd vnto them, If ye be come peaceably vnto mee to helpe mee, mine heart shall be knit vnto you, but if you come to betray me to mine aduersaries, seeing there is no wickednesse in mine hands, the God of our fathers beholde it, and re-buoke it.

18 And the spirit came vpon Amasai, which was the chiefe of thirtie, and he said, Thine are wee, Dauid, and with thee, O sonne of Ithai. Peace, peace be vnto thee, and peace be vnto thine helpers: for thy God helpeth thee. Then Dauid receiued them, and made them Captaines of the garrison.

20 As he went to Ziklag, there fell to him of Manasseh, Adnah, and Jozabab, and Gedial, and Michael, and Jozabab, and Elihu, and Ziltai, heads of the thousands that were of Manasseh.

21 And they helpe David against s that band: for they were all valiant men, and were captaines in the hoste.

22 For at that time day by day there came to David to helpe him, until it was a great hoste, like the hoste of ^o God.

23 And these are the numbers of the captaines that were armed to battell, and came to David to Hebron to turne the kingdome of Saul to him, according to the word of the Lord.

24 The children of Judah that bare shield and || speare, were five thousand and eight hundred armed to the warre.

25 Of the children of Simeon valiant men of warre, seven thousand & an hundred.

26 Of the children of Levi four thousand and six hundred.

27 And Jehoiada was the chiefe of them of Aaron: and with him three thousand and seven hundred.

28 And Zadok a yong man very ballant, and of his fathers household, came two and twenty captaines.

29 And of the children of Benjamin the brethren of Saul three thousand: for a great part of them unto that time ^k kept the ward of the house of Saul.

30 And of the children of Ephraim twentie thousand, and eight hundred valiant men and famous men in the household of their fathers.

31 And of the halfe tribe of Manasse eightene thousand, which were appointed by name to come and make David King.

32 And of the children of Issachar, which were men that had understanding of the times, to know what Israel ought to doe: the heads of them were two hundred, and all their brethren were at their commandement.

33 Of Zabulon that went out to battell, expert in warre, and in all instruments of warre, fiftie thousand || which could set the battell in aray: they were not of a double heart.

34 And of Naphtali a thousand captaines, and with them with shield and speare seven and thirti thousand.

35 And of Dan expert in battell, eight and twenty thousand and six hundred.

36 And of Asher that went out to the battell, and were trained in the warres, fourtie thousand.

37 And of the other side of Jordan of the Reubenites, and of the Gadites, and of the halfe tribe of Manasse with all instruments of warre to fight with, an hundred and twenty thousand.

38 ¶ All these men of warre || that could leade an armie, came with || upright heart to Hebron to make David king ouer all Israel: and all the reit of Israel was of one accord to make David King.

39 And there they were with David three dayes, eating and drinking: for their ⁿ brethren had prepared for them.

40 Moreover they that were nere them until Issachar, and Schulun, and Naphtali brought bread upon asses, and on camels, and on mules, and on oren, euen meat, flour, figges, and raisins, and wine and oyle, and beecus, and sheepe abundantly: for there was ioy in Israel.

CHAP. XIII.

7 The Arke is brought againe from Kiriath-iearim to Ierusalem. 9 Vzza dieth because hee toucheth it.

AND David counselled with the captaines of thousands and of hundredths, and with all the gournours.

2 And David said to all the Congregation of Israel, If it seeme good to you, and that it proceedeth of the Lord our God, wee will send to and fro vnto our brethren, that are left in all the land of Israel (for with them are the Priests and the Lewites in the citie and their suburbs) that they may assemble themselves vnto vs.

3 And wee will bring againe the ^a Arke of our God to vs: for we sought not vnto it in the dayes of Saul.

4 And all the Congregation answered, Let vs doe so: for the thing seemed good in the eyes of all the people.

5 ¶ So David gathered all Israel together from || Shihor in Egypt, euen vnto the entering of Hamath, to bring the Arke of God from Kiriath iearim.

6 And David went vp and all Israel to || Baalath, in Kiriath-iearim, that was in Judah, to bring vp from thence the Arke of God the Lord that dwelleth betwene the Cherubims, where his name is called on.

7 And they caried the Arke of God in a new cart out of the house of Abinadab: and Uzza and Ahio guided the cart.

8 And David and all Israel played before God with all their might, both with songs and with harpes, and with viols, and with timbrels, and with cymbals, and with trumpets.

9 ¶ And when they came vnto the threstriding flaxe of Gudon, Uzza put forth his hand to holde the Arke, for the oxen did shake it.

10 But the wrath of the Lord was kindled against Uzza, and hee smote him, because he layd his hand vpon the Arke: so hee died there before God.

11 And David was angry, because the Lord had made a breach in Uzza, and he called the name of that place Perez Uzza vnto this day.

12 And David feared God that day, saying, How shall I bring in to me the Arke of God?

13 Therefore David brought not the Ark to him into the citie of David, but caused

1 Hiram sendeth wood and workmen to David.
2 The names of his children. 3 By the counsel of God he goeth against the Philistims, and overcometh them. 4 God fighteth for him.

Then sent Hiram the king of Tyre messengers to David, and cedar trees, with masons and carpenters to build him an house.

2 Therefore David knew that the Lord had confirmed him king over Israel, and that his kingdom was lift up on high, because of his people Israel.

3 Also David took more wives at Jerusalem, and David begate more sonnes and daughters.

4 And these are the names of the children which he had at Jerusalem, Shammua, and Shobab, Nathan, and Salomon,

5 And Ithar, and Elisua, ^b Eliab,

6 And Nogah, and Nepheg, and Japhia,

7 And Elisama, and Beeliada, and Eliphalet.

8 But when the Philistims heard that David was appointed king over Israel, all the Philistims came up to seeke David. And when David heard, hee went out against them.

9 And the Philistims came and spread themselves in the valley of Rephaim.

10 Then David asked counsell at God, saying, Shall I goe up against the Philistims, and will thou deliver them into mine hand? And the Lord said unto him, Soe up: for I will deliver them into thine hand.

11 So they came up to Baal-perazim, and David smote them there: and David said, God hath divided mine enemies with mine hand, as waters are divided: therefore they called the name of that place, 'Baal-perazim.

12 And there they had left their gods: and David said, Let them even be burnt with fire.

13 Again the Philistims came and spread themselves in the valley.

14 And when David asked againe counsell at God, God said to him, Thou shalt not goe up after them, but turne away from them, that thou mayest come upon them over against the mulberry trees.

15 And when thou hearest the noise of one going in the tops of the mulberry trees, then goe out to battell: for God is gone forth before thee, to smite the hoste of the Philistims.

16 So David did as God had commanded him: and they smote the host of the Philistims from Gibeon even to Gazer.

17 And the same of David went out into all lands, and the Lord brought the feare of him upon all nations.

CHAP. XV.

1 David prepareth an house for the Arke.
2 The number and order of the Levites. 16 The fingers are chosen out among them. 25 They bring againe the Arke with joy. 29 David dancing before it, is despoiled of his wife Michal.

And David made him houses in the citie of David, and prepared a place for the Arke of God, and pitched for it a tent.

2 Then David said, None ought to carrie the Arke of God but the Levites: for the Lord hath chosen them to beare the Arke of the Lord, and to minister unto him for ever.

3 And David gathered all Israel together to Jerusalem to bring up the Arke of the Lord into his place, which he had desired for it.

4 And David assembled the sonnes of Aaron, and the Levites.

5 Of the sonnes of Kohath, Ariel the chiefe, and his brethren three score.

6 Of the sonnes of Merari, Alajah the chiefe, and his brethren two hundred and twenty.

7 Of the sonnes of Gershom, Joel the chiefe, and his brethren an hundred and thirty.

8 Of the sonnes of Elizaphan, Shemajah the chiefe, and his brethren two hundred.

9 Of the sonnes of Iedon, Eliel the chiefe, and his brethren four score.

10 Of the sonnes of Uzziel, Amminadab the chiefe, and his brethren an hundred and twelve.

11 And David called Zadok and Abiathar, the Priests, and of the Levites, Ariel, Alajah, and Joel, Shemajah, and Eliel, and Amminadab:

12 And hee said unto them, Ye are the chiefe fathers of the Levites: sanctifie yourselves, and your brethren, and bring up the Arke of the Lord God of Israel unto the place that I have prepared for it.

13 For because ye were not there at the first, the Lord our God made a breach among vs: for we fought him not after due order.

14 So the Priests and the Levites sanctified themselves to bring up the Arke of the Lord God of Israel.

15 And the sonnes of the Levites bare the Arke of God upon their shoulders with the barres, as Moles had commanded, according to the word of the Lord.

16 And David spake to the chiefe of the Levites, that they should appoint certaine of their brethren to sing with instruments of musicke, with viols and harpes, and cymbals, that they might make a sound, and lift up their voice with joy.

17 So the Levites appointed Heman the sonne of Joel, and of his brethren Asaph the sonne of Berechiah, & of the sons of Merari their brethren, Ethan the sonne of Kuthiah.

18 And with them their brethren in the second degree, Zechariah, Ben and Jaaziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jichiel, and Ami, Eliab, and Benaiab, and Maaseiah, and Mattithiah, and Eliphaleh, and Adikneah, and Obed Edom, andziel the porters.

22 But Chenaniah the chiefe of the Leuites had the charge, bearing the burden in the charge, for he was able to instruct.

23 And Berechiah and Elkanah were porters for the Arke.

24 And Shemaniah, and Jehoshaphat, and Jerahmeel, and Amasai, and Zechariah, and Benajah, and Eliezer the Priests did blow with trumpets before the Arke of God, and Obed Edom and Jeitah were porters for the Arke.

25 So David and the Elders of Israel and the captains of thousands went to bring by the Arke of the covenant of the Lord from the house of Obed Edom with joy.

26 And because that God helped the Leuites that bare the Arke of the covenant of the Lord, they offered seven bullocks and seven rammes.

27 And David had on him a linen garment, as all the Leuites that bare the Arke, and the fingers, and Chenaniah that had the chiefe charge of the fingers: and vpon David was a linen Ephod.

28 Thus all Israel brought by the Arke of the Lords covenant with shouting, and sound of corynet, and with trumpets, and with cymbales, making a sound with viols and with harpes.

29 And when the Arke of the Covenant of the Lord came into the citie of David, Michal the daughter of Saul looked out at a window, and saw king David dancing and playing, and she despised him in her heart.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The Arke being placed, they offer sacrifices. 4 David ordaineth Asaph and his brethren to minister before the Lord. 8 Hee appointeth a metable Psalmes to be sung in praise of the Lord.

¶ D they brought in the Arke of God, and set it in the mids of the Tabernacle that David had pitched for it, and they offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before God.

2 And when David had made an end of offering the burnt offering and the peace offerings, he blessed the people in the Name of the Lord.

3 And hee dealt to every one of Israel both man and woman, to every one a cake of bread, and a piece of flesh, and a bottell of wine.

4 And hee appointed certaine of the Leuites to minister before the Ark of the Lord, and to rehearse and to thank and praise the Lord God of Israel.

5 Asaph the chiefe, and next vnto him Zechariah, Jeiel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Barchiah, and Eliah, and Benajah, and Obed Edom, euen Jeiel with instruments, viols and harpes, and Asaph to make a sound with cymbales,

CHAP. XVII.

3 David is forbidden to build an house vnto the Lord. 12 Christ is promised vnder the figure of Salomon. 18 Christ giueth thanks, 23 and prayeth vnto God.

NOW ¹ afterward when David dwelt in his house, he said to Nathan the Prophet, Behold, I dwell in an house of cedars trees, but the Arke of the Lords covenant remaineth vnder ² curtains:

2 Then Nathan said to David, Do ³ all that is in thine hart: for God is with thee.

3 And the same ⁴ night euen the word of God came to Nathan, saying,

4 See, and tell David my seruant, Thus saith the Lord, Thou shalt not build me an house to dwell in:

5 For I haue dwelt in no house, since the day that I brought out the children of Israel vnto this day, but I haue bene from ⁵ tent to tent, and from habitation to habitation.

6 Wherefoer I haue ⁶ walked with all Israel, (I spake I one word to any of the Iudges of Israel (whom I commanded to feed my people) saying, Why haue ye not built me an house of Cedars trees?

7 Now therefore thus shalt thou say vnto my seruant David, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I tooke thee from the sheepe-coat, and s from following the sheepe, that thou shouldest bee a Prince ouer my people Israel.

8 And I haue bene with thee whithersoeuer thou hast walked, and haue destroyed all thine enemies out of thy sight, and haue I made thee a name, like the name of the great men that are in the earth.

9 (Also I will appoint a place for my people Israel, and I will plant it, that they may dwell in their place, and in mine no more: neither shall the wicked people ⁷ beere them any more, as at the beginning.

10 And since the time that I commaunded Iudges ouer my people Israel.) And I will subdue all thine enemies: therefore I say vnto thee, that the Lord will ⁸ build thee an house.

11 And when thy dayes shall be fulfilled, to goe with thy fathers, then will I raise vp thy seed after thee, which shall be of thy sons, and will establish his kingdome.

12 He shall build me an house, and I will stablish his throne for ⁹ ever.

13 I will be his father, and hee shall be my sonne, and I will not take my mercy away from him, as I tooke it from him that was before thee.

14 But I will establish him in mine house, and in my kingdome for ever, and his throne shall be established for ever.

15 According to all these wordes, and according to all this vision. So Nathan spake to David.

16 ¶ And David the King went in, and late before the Lord, and said, Am I, O Lord God, and what is mine house, that thou hast brought mee ¹⁰ hitherto?

17 Yet thou esteeming this a small thing, O God, hast also spoken concerning the house of thy seruant for a great while, and hast regarded me according to the estate of a man of ¹¹ hie degree. O Lord God.

18 What can David desire more of thee for the honor of thy seruant? for thou knowest thy seruant.

19 O Lord, for thy seruants sake, euen according to thine ¹² heart: hast thou done all this great thing to declare all magnificence.

20 Lord, there is none like thee, neither is there any God besides thee, according to all that we heard with our eares.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The battell of Dauid against the Philistims, 2 and against Moab, 3 Zobab, 5 Aram, 12 and Edom.

And after this Dauid smote the Philistims, and subdued them, and tooke Gath, and the villages thereof out of the hand of the Philistims.

2 And hee smote Moab, and the Moabites became Dauids seruants, & brought gifts.

3 And Dauid smote Hadarzer king of Zobab, vnto Hamath, as hee went to stablish his border by the river Euphrat.

4 And Dauid tooke from him a thousand charrets, and seven thousand horsemen, and twenty thousand footmen, and destroyed all the charrets, but hee reserued of them an hundred charrets.

5 Then came the Aramites of Damascus to succour Hadarzer king of Zobab but Dauid slew of the Aramites two and twentieth thousand.

6 And Dauid put a garrison in Aram of Damascus, and the Aramites became Dauids seruants, and brought gifts: and the Lord preferred Dauid wheresoeuer he went.

7 And Dauid tooke the shields of gold that were of the seruants of Hadarzer, and brought them to Ierusalem.

8 And from Elbath, and from Chun (cities of Hadarzer) brought Dauid exceeding much brasse, wherewith Salomon made the brazen Sea, and the pillars and the vessels of brasse.

9 Then Tou king of Hamath heard how Dauid had smitten all the hoste of Hadarzer king of Zobab:

10 Therefore hee sent Hadarham his sonne to meete Dauid to salute him, and to reioyce with him, because hee had fought against Hadarzer, and beaten him (for Tou had warre with Hadarzer) who brought all vessels of gold, and siluer, and brasse.

11 And King Dauid did dedicate them vnto the Lord, with the siluer and gold that hee brought from all the nations, from Edom, and from Moab, and from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistims, and from Amalek.

12 And Abisai the sonne of Neriah smote of Edom in the salt valley eighteen thousand.

13 And he put a garrison in Edom, and all the Edomites became Dauids seruants: and the Lord preferred Dauid wheresoeuer he went.

14 So Dauid reigned ouer all Israel, and executed iudgement and iustice to all his people.

15 And Joab the sonne of Neriah was ouer the hoste, and Iehohaphat the sonne of Achilur Recorder.

16 And Zadok the sonne of Ahieub, and Abimelech the sonne of Abiathar were the Priests, and Shaul the Scribe.

17 And Benaiab the sonne of Iehoiada was ouer the Cherethites and the Pelishtites: and the sonnes of Dauid were chiefe about the king.

CHAP. XIX.

4 Hanun king of the children of Ammon doeth great iniuries to the seruants of Dauid. 6 He prepareth an armie against Dauid, 15 and is overcome.

After this also Nabath the king of the children of Ammon died, and his sonne reigned in his stead.

2 And Dauid said, I will shew kindnesse vnto Hanun the sonne of Nabath, because his father shewed kindnesse vnto me. And Dauid sent messengers to comfort him for his father. So the seruants of Dauid came into the land of the children of Ammon to Hanun to comfort him.

3 And the princes of the children of Ammon said to Hanun, Thinkest thou that Dauid doth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters vnto thee? Are not his seruants come to thee to search, to seeke, and to spie out the land?

4 Wherefore Hanun tooke Dauids seruants, and shaued them, and cut off their garments by the halfe vnto the buttocks, and sent them away.

5 And there went certaine and told Dauid concerning the men: and hee sent to meete them (for the men were exceedingly ashamed) and the King said, Carry at Iericho vntill your beards be growen: then returne.

6 When the children of Ammon saw that they stank in the sight of Dauid, then sent Hanun and the children of Ammon a thousand talents of siluer to hire them charrets and horsemen out of Aram Nabathaim, and out of Aram Maachab, and out of Zobab.

7 And they hired them two and thirtie thousand charrets, and the king of Maachab and his people which came and pitched before Medeba: and the children of Ammon gathered themselves together from their cities, and came to the battell.

8 And when Dauid heard, he sent Joab and all the hoste of the valiant men.

9 And the children of Ammon came out, and set their battell in aray at the gate of the citie. And the kings that were come, were by themselves in the field.

10 When Joab saw that the front of the battell was against him before and behind, then he chose out of all the chiefe of Israel, and set himselfe in aray to meete the Aramites.

14 So Ioaab and the people that was with him, came nere before the Aramites vnto the battell, and they fled before him.

15 And when the children of Ammon saw that the Aramites fled, they fled also before Abihai his brother, and entered into the citie: so Ioaab came to Ierusalem.

16 And when the Aramites saw that they were discomfited before Israel, they sent messengers & cauted the Aramites to come forth that were beyond the riuer: and Shophach the captaine of the hoste of Hadarzer went before them.

17 And when it was shewed Dauid, hee gathered all Israel, and went ouer Iordan, and came vnto them, and put himselfe in aray against them: and when Dauid had put himselfe in battell aray to meete the Aramites, they fought with him.

18 But the Aramites fled before Israel, and Dauid destroyed of the Aramites seuen thousand charers, and fortie thousand footmen, and killed Shophach the captaine of the hoste.

19 And when the seruants of Hadarzer saw that they fell before Israel, they made peace with Dauid, and serued him. And the Aramites would no more succour the children of Ammon.

1 Rabbah destroyed. 3 The Ammonites tormented. 4 The Philistins are thrise overcome with their giants.

And when the yere was expired, in the time that Kings goe out a warfare, Ioaab caried out the strength of the armie, and destroyed the countrey of the children of Ammon, and came and besieged Rabbah (but Dauid caried at Ierusalem) and Ioaab smote Rabbah and destroyed it.

2 Then Dauid tooke the crowne of their King from off his head, and found it the weight of a talent of golde, with precious stones in it: and it was set on Dauids head, and hee brought away the spoyle of the citie exceeding much.

3 And hee caried away the people that were in it, and cut them with sawes, and with harrowes of yron, and with axes: euen thus did Dauid with all the cities of the children of Ammon. Then Dauid and all the people came againe to Ierusalem.

4 And after this also, there arose warre at Gazer with the Philistins: then Sibbechai the Gusharhite slew Gippai, of the children of Haraphah, and they were subdued.

5 And there was yet another battell with the Philistins: and Elhanan the sonne of Iair slew Lahmi, the brother of Goliath the Gittite, whose speare staffe was like a weavers beame.

6 And yet againe there was a battell at Gath, where was a man of a great stature, and his fingers were by sixes, euen foure and twentie, and was also the sonne of Haraphah.

7 And when he reuiled Israel, Iehonathan the sonne of Shimea Dauids brother did slay him.

8 These were hozne vnto Haraphah at Gath, and fell by the hand of Dauid, and by the hands of his seruants.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Dauid causeth the people to bee numbred, 14 and there die senentei thousand men of the pe-silence.

And Satan stood by against Israel, and prouoked Dauid to number Israel.

2 Therefore Dauid said to Ioaab, and to the rulers of the people, Goe, and number Israel from Beer-sheba euen to Dan, and bring it to me, that I may know the number of them.

3 And Ioaab answered, The Lord increase his people an hundred times so many as they be, My lord the king: are they not all my lords seruants? wherefore doeth my lord require this thing? why should he be a cause of trespass to Israel?

4 Nevertheless the kings word preuailed against Ioaab. And Ioaab departed and went thorow all Israel, and returned to Ierusalem.

5 And Ioaab gaue the number and summe of the people vnto Dauid: and all Israel were eleuen hundred thousand men that drew sword: and Iudah was foure hundred and twentie thousand men that drew sword.

6 But the Leuites and Benjamin counted he not among them: for the Kings word was abominable to Ioaab.

7 And God was displeased with this thing: therefore he smote Israel.

8 Then Dauid said vnto God, I haue sinned greatly, because I haue done this thing: but now I beseech thee, remove the iniquitie of thy seruant: for I haue done very foolishly.

9 And the Lord spake vnto Gad Dauids seer, saying,

10 Soe and tell Dauid, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I offer thee three things: chuse ther one of them, that I may doe it vnto thee.

11 So Gad came to Dauid, and said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Take to thee Either three yeres famine, or three moneths to be destroyed before thine aduersaries, and the sword of thine enemies to take thee, or else the sword of the Lord and pestilence in the lande three dayes, that the Angel of the Lord may destroy thorowout all the coastes of Israel: Now therefore advise thee, what word I shall bring againe to him that sent me.

12 And David said vnto God, I am in a wonderfull strait: let mee now fall into the hand of the Lord: for his mercies are exceeding great, and let me not fall into the hand of man.

14 So the Lord sent a pestilence in Israel, and there fell of Israel seuen thousand men.

15 And God sent the Angel into Ierusalem to destroy it. And as he was destroying, the Lord beheld, and repented of the euill, and said to the Angel that destroyed, It is now enough, let thine hand cease. Then the Angel of the Lord stood by the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite.

16 And David lift vp his eyes, and saw the Angel of the Lord stand betwene the earth and the heauen with his sword drawn in his hand, and stretched out toward Ierusalem. Then David and the Elders of Israel, which were clothed in sacke, fell vpon their faces.

17 And David said vnto God, Is it not I that commanded to number the people? It is euill I that haue sinned and haue committed euill, but these sheepe, what haue they done? O Lord my God, I beseech thee, let thine hand be on mee, and on my fathers house, and not on thy people for their destruction.

18 Then the Angel of the Lord commanded God to say to David, that David should goe vp, and let by an altar vnto the Lord in the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite.

19 So David went vp according to the saying of God, which hee had spoken in the Name of the Lord.

20 And Ornan turned about, and saw the Angel, and his foure sonnes that were with him, hid themselves, and Ornan threshed wheate.

21 And as David came to Ornan, Ornan looked and saw David, and went out of the threshing floor, and bowed himselfe to David with his face to the ground.

22 And David said to Ornan, Give mee the place of thy threshing floor, that I may build an altar therein vnto the Lord: give me for sufficient money, that the plague may be stayed from the people.

23 Then Ornan said vnto David, Take it to thee, and let my lord the king doe that which seemeth him good: for, I give thee bullockes for burnt offerings, and threshing instruments for wood, and wheat for meate offering, I give it all.

24 And King David said to Ornan, Not so; but I will buy it for sufficient money: for I will not take that which is thine for the Lord, nor offer burnt offerings without cost.

25 So David gaue to Ornan for that place five hundred shekels of gold by weight.

26 And David built there an altar vnto the Lord, & offered burnt offerings & peace offerings, and called vpon the Lord and hee answered him by fire from heauen vpon the altar of burnt offering.

27 And when the Lord had spoken to the Angel, hee put by his sword againe into his sheath.

28 At that time, when David saw that the Lord had heard him in the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite, then he sacrificed there.

29 But the tabernacle of the Lord which Moyses had made in the wilderness, and the altar of burnt offering were at that season in the hie place at Gibeon.

30 And David could not goe before it to aske counsell at God: for hee was afraid of the sword of the Angel of the Lord.)

CHAP. XXII.

2 David prepareth things necessarie for the building of the Temple. 6 Hee commandeth his sonne Salomon to build the Temple of the Lord, which thing he himselfe was forbidden to doe. 9 Vnder the figure of Salomon Christ is pressed.

And David said, This is the house of the Lord God, and this is the altar for the burnt offering of Israel.

2 And David commanded to gather together the strangers that were in the land of Israel, and beset masons to hew and polish stones to build the house of God.

3 David also prepared much yron for the nails of the doores and of the gates, and for the topnings, and abundance of brasse passing weight.

4 And cedar trees without number: for the Sidonians and they of Tyrus brought much cedar wood to David.

5 And David sayd, Salomon my sonne is young and tender, and we must build an house for the Lord, magnificent, excellent, and of great fame and dignitie throughout all countreys. I will therefore now prepare for him. So David prepared very much before his death.

6 Then hee called Salomon his sonne, and charged him to build an house for the Lord God of Israel.

7 And David sayd to Salomon, My sonne, I purposed with my selfe to build an house to the Name of the Lord my God.

8 But the word of the Lord came to me, saying, Thou hast shed much blood, and hast made great battels: thou shalt not build an house vnto my Name: for thou hast shed much blood vpon the earth in my sight.

9 Beholde, a sonne is borne to thee, which shall be a man of rest: for I will give him rest from all his enemies round about: there fore his name is Salomon: and I will send peace and quietnesse vpon Israel in his dayes.

10 He shall build an house for my Name, and he shall be my sonne, and I will be his father, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom vpon Israel for euer.

11 Now therefore my sonne, the Lord shall be with thee, and thou shalt prosper, thou shalt build an house to the Lord thy God, as he hath spoken of thee.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 David being old, ordeineth Salomon King
3 He causeth the Levites to be numbered. 4 and assigneth them to their offices. 13 Aaron and his sonnes are for the high Priest. 14 The sonnes of Moses.

When David was old, and full of dayes, he made Salomon his sonne King over Israel.

2 And he gathered together all the princes of Israel with the Priests and the Levites.

3 And the Levites were numbered from the age of thirtie yeere and above, and their number according to their summe, was eight and thirtie thousand men.

4 Of these, four and twenty thousand were set ^a to advance the worke of the house of the Lord, and six thousand were officers and Judges.

5 And four thousand were porters, and four thousand praised the Lord with instruments which he made to praise the Lord.

6 So David divided offices unto them, to wit, to the sonnes of Levi, to * Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

7 Of the Gershonites were Laadan and Shimei.

8 The sonnes of Laadan, the chiefe was Jehiel, and Zetham, and Joel, three.

9 The sonnes of Shimei, Shelmomith and Haziel, and Haram, three: these were the chiefe fathers of Laadan.

10 Also the sonnes of Shimei were Jahath, Zina, Jeush, and Beriath: these foure were the sonnes of Shimei.

11 And Jahath was the chiefe, and Zizabab the second, but Jeush and Beriath had not many sonnes: therefore they were in the families of their father, counted but as one.

12 The sonnes of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Gizziel, foure.

13 The sonnes of Amram, Aaron and Moses: and Aaron was separated to sanctifie the most holy place, hee and his sonnes for ever to burne incense before the Lord, to minister to him, and to blesse in his name for ever.

14 Moses also the man of God, and his children were named with the tribe of Levi.

15 The sonnes of Moses were Gershom, and Eliezer.

16 Of the sonnes of * Gershom was Shebuel the chiefe.

17 And the sonne of Eliezer was Rehabiah the chiefe: for Eliezer had none other sonnes: but the sonnes of Rehabiah were very many.

18 The sonne of Izhar was Shelomith the chiefe.

19 The sonnes of Hebron were Jethiah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Jekamiah the fourth.

20 The sonnes of Gizziel were Michab the first, and Ishaiab the second.

21 The sonnes of Merari were Mahli and Mushi. The sonnes of Mahli, Eleazar and Kishi.

22 And Eleazar died, and had no sonnes, but daughters, & their brethren the sonnes of Kishi tooke them.

23 The sons of Mushi were Mahli, and Eder, and Jerimoth, three.

24 These were the sonnes of Levi according to the house of their fathers, even the chiefe fathers according to their offices, according to the number of names and their summe that did the worke for the service of the house of the Lord from the age of twenty yeeres and above.

25 For David sayd, The Lord God of Israel hath given rest unto his people, that they may dwell in Jerusalem for ever.

26 And also the Levites shall no more beare the Tabernacle and all the vessels for the service thereof.

27 Therefore according to the last words of David, the Levites were numbered from twenty yeere and above,

28 And their office was under the hand of the sonnes of Aaron, for the service of the house of the Lord in the courts, and chambers, & in the purifying of all holy things, and in the worke of the service of the house of God,

29 Both for the shewbread, and for the fine flour, for the meate offering and for the unleavened cakes, and for the fyled things, and for that which was roasted, and for all measures and fixe,

CHAP. XXIII.

David assigneth offices unto the sonnes of Aaron.

These are also the divisions of the sonnes of Aaron. The sonnes of Aaron were Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

2 But Nadab and Abihu died before their father, and had no children: therefore Eleazar and Ithamar executed the Priests office.

3 And David distributed them, even Zadok of the sons of Eleazar, and Abimelech of the sonnes of Ithamar according to their offices in their ministracion.

4 And there were found moe of the sons of Eleazar by the number of men, then of the sonnes of Ithamar, and they divided them, to wit, among the sonnes of Eleazar, sixtene heads, according to the household of their fathers, and among the sonnes of Ithamar, according to the household of their fathers, eight.

5 Thus they distributed them by lot the one from the other, and so to the rulers of the Sanctuary, and the rulers of the house of God, were of the sonnes of Eleazar, and of the sonnes of Ithamar.

6 And Shemalah the sonne of Bethameel the Scribe of the Levites, wrote them before the King & the Princes, and Zadok the Priest, and Abimelech the sonne of Abiathar, and before the chiefe fathers of the Priests and of the Levites, one family being referred for Eleazar, and another referred for Ithamar.

7 And the first lot fell to Jehoiarib, and the second to Jedaiab,

8 The third to Harim, the fourth to Seorim,

9 The fifth to Malchiah, the sixt to Abiathin,

10 The seventh to Hakkoz, the eight to Abiath,

11 The ninth to Jeshua, the tenth to Shecaniah,

12 The eleventh to Eliashib, the twelfth to Jakim,

13 The thirteenth to Juppah, the fourteenth to Jeshebeab,

14 The fifteenth to Bilgah, the sixteenth to Immer,

16 The nineteenth to Bethabiah, the twentieth to Jeshbekel,

17 The one and twentieth to Jachin, the two and twenty to Samul, 18 The three and twenty to Deliah, the four and twenty to Maaziah.

19 These were their orders according to their offices, when they entered into the house of the Lord according to their custom under the hand of Aaron their father, as the Lord God of Israel had commanded him.

20 And of the sonnes of Levi that remained of the sonnes of Amram, was Shubael of the sonnes of Shubael, Jediah.

21 Of Rehabiah, euen of the sonnes of Rehabiah, the first Jshiah, 22 Of Jshari, Shelomoth, of the sonnes of Shelomoth, Jahath, 23 And his sonnes Jeriah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Jehameam the fourth.

24 The sonne of Uzziel was Michah, the sonne of Michah was Shamir, 25 The brother of Michah, was Jshiah, the sonne of Jshiah, Zechariah.

26 The sonnes of Merari were Bahl, and Buhhi, the sonne of Baaziah, was Beno.

27 The sonnes of Merari, of Jahaziah were Beno, and Shoham, and Zaccur, and Ibi.

28 Of Bahl came Eleazar, which had no sonnes.

29 Of Kish, the sonne of Kish was Jerahmeel,

30 And the sonnes of Buhhi were Bahl, and Ezer, and Jerimoth: these were sonnes of the Levites after the household of their fathers.

31 And these also cast lottes with their brethren the sonnes of Aaron before King David, and Zadok and Abimelech and the chiefe fathers of the Priests, and of the Levites, euen the chiefe of the families against their younger brethren.

CHAP. XXV.

The fingers are appointed, with their places and lots.

David and the captaines of the armie separated for the ministry the sonnes of Alaph, and Heman, and Jeduthun, who should sing propheties with harpes, with viols, and with cymbals, and their number was euen of the men for the office of their ministry, to wit,

2 Of the sonnes of Alaph, Zaccur, and Joseph, and Bethaniah, and Aharelah the sonnes of Alaph were under the hand of Alaph, which sang propheties by the commission of the king.

3 Of Jeduthun, the sonnes of Jeduthun, Gedaliah, and Zeri, and Jekaiab, Abiath, and Mattithiah, six, under the hands of their father: Jeduthun sang propheties with an harpe, for to give thanks and to praise the Lord.

4 Of Heman, the sons of Heman, Buthiah, Mattaniah, Uzziel, Shubael, and Jerimoth, Hananiah, Hanani, Eliahah, Gedalti, and Romamti-ezer, Joshbekathah, Mallorhi, Muthir and Mahazioth.

5 All these were the sonnes of Heman the Kings Ser in the words of God to lift up the house: and God gave to Heman fourteene sonnes and three daughters.

6 All these were under the hand of their father,

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The porters of the Temple are ordained every man to the gate, which hee should keepe, 20 And over the treasure.

Concerning the divisions of the porters, of the Kohites, Bethelmeiah the sonne of Koz of the sonnes of Alaph.

2 And the sonnes of Bethelmeiah, Zechariah the eldest, Jedai the second, Zebadiah the third, Jathiel the fourth,

3 Elam the fifth, Jehohanan the sixth, and Eliehoenai the seventh.

4 And of the sonnes of Obed Edom, Shemeiah the eldest, Jehosabab the second, Joab the third, and Sacar the fourth, and Bethaneel the fifth,

5 Amiel the sixth, Issachar the seventh, Benilai eighth: for God had blessed him.

6 And to Shemeiah his sonne, were sonnes borne that ruled in the house of their father: for they were men of might.

7 The sonnes of Shemeiah were Othni and Rephael, and Obed, Elzabad and his brethren, strong men: Othni also, and Semachiah.

8 All these were of the sonnes of Obed Edom, they and their sonnes and their brethren mighty & strong to serve, even threescore and two of Obed Edom.

9 And of Bethelmeiah sonnes and brethren, eightene mighty men.

10 And of Holab of the sonnes of Herari, the sonnes were Shuri the chiefe, and (though he was not the eldest, yet his father made him the chiefe)

11 Belkiah the second, Zebaliah the third, and Zechariah the fourth: all the sons and the brethren of Holab were thirtene.

12 Of these were the divisions of the porters of the chiefe men, having the charge against their brethren, to serve in the house of the Lord.

13 And they cast lots both small and great for the house of their fathers, for every gate.

14 And the lotte on the East side fell to Bethelmeiah: then they cast lots for Zechariah his sonne, a wise counsellor, and his lot came out Northward:

15 To Obed Edom Southward, and to his sonnes the house of Aluphim:

16 To Shuphim, and to Holab Westward with the gate of Shallecheth by the paved street that goeth byward, ward over against ward.

17 Eastward were sixe Levites, and Northward foure a day, and Southward foure a day, and toward Aluphim, two and two.

18 In Parbar toward the West were foure by the paved street, and two in Parbar.

19 These are the divisions of the porters of the sonnes of Koz, and of the sonnes of Herari.

20 And of the Levites Ashiah was over the treasures of the house of God, and over the treasures of the dedicate things.

33 And Ahitophel was the kings counsellor, and Buzai the Archite the kings friend.

34 And after Ahitophel was Jehoiada the sonne of Benaiab, and Abiathar : and captaine of the kings armie was Joab.

CHAP. XXVIII.

3 Because Dauid was forbidden to build the Temple, he wilth Salomon and the people to performe it, 9 exhorting him to feare the Lord.

NOW Dauid assembled all the princes of Israel : the princes of the tribes, and the captaines of the bands that serued the king, and the captaines of thousands, and the captaines of hundreds, and the rulers of all the substance & possession of the king, and of his sonnes, with the chief eunuches, and the mighty, and all the men of power, vnto Jerusalem.

2 And king Dauid stood by vpon his feet, and said, Heare ye me, my brethren & my people : I purposed to haue built an house of rest for the Arke of the Couenant of the Lord, and for a^a footstool of our God, and haue made ready for the building.

3 But God layd vnto mee, Thou shalt not build an house for my Name, because thou hast bene a man of warre, and hast shed blood.

4 Yet as the Lord God of Israel chose me before all the house of my father, to bee king ouer Israel for euer (for in Iudah would he chuse a prince, and of the house of^b Iudah is the house of my father, and among the sons of my father he delighted in me to make me king ouer all Israel)

5 So of all my sonnes (for the Lord hath giuen me many sonnes) hee hath chosen Salomon my sonne to sit vpon the throne of the kingdome of the Lord ouer Israel.

6 And he layd vnto mee, Salomon thy sonne, he shall build mine house & my courts : for I haue chosen him to be my sonne, and I will be his father.

7 I will stablish therefore his kingdome for euer, if hee endeavour himselfe to doe my commandements, and my iudgements, as^c this day.

8 Now therefore in the sight of all Israel the Congregation of the Lord, and in the audience of our God, keepe and seeke for all the commandements of the Lord your God, that ye may possesse this^d good land, & leaue it for an inheritance for your children after you^e for euer.

9 And thou, Salomon my sonne, know thou the God of thy father, and serue him with a perfect heart, & with a willing mind : For the Lord searcheth all hearts, & vnderstandeth all the imaginations of thoughts : If thou seeke him, he will be found of thee : but if thou forsake him, he will cast thee off for euer.

10 Take heed now, for y^f Lord hath chosen thee to build the house of the sanctuary : be strong therefore and doe it.

11 Then Dauid gaue to Salomon his sonne the paterne of the porch and of the houses thereof, and of the closets thereof, and of the galleries thereof, and of the chambers thereof that are within, and of the house of the Mercyleat,

12 And the paterne of all that^g he had in his mind for the courts of the house of the Lord, and for all the chambers round about, for the treasures of the house of God, and for the treasures of the dedicate things,

13 And for the courses of the priests, and of the Leuites, and for all the worke for the seruice of the house of the Lord, and for all the vessels of the ministerie of the house of the Lord.

14 He gaue of gold by weight, for the vessels of gold for all the vessels of all manner of seruice, and al the vessels of silver by weight, for all manner of vessels of all manner of seruice.

15 The weight also of gold for the^h candlesticks, and gold for their lamps, with the weight for euery candlestick, and for the lampes thereof, and for the candlesticks of silver by the weight of the candlestick, and the lampes thereof, according to the vse of euery candlestick,

16 And the weight of the gold for the tables of shewbread, for euery table, and silver for the tables of silver,

17 And pure gold for the fleshhookes, and the bowles, and plates, and for basins, gold by weight for euery basin, and for silver basins, by weight for euery basin,

18 And for the altar of incense pure gold by weight, and gold for the paterne ofⁱ the charret of the Cherubs that spread themselves, and couered the Arke of the couenant of the Lord :

19 All, said he, by writing sent to me^k by the hand of the Lord, which made mee vnderstand all the workmanship of the paterne.

20 And Dauid sayde to Salomon his sonne, Be strong & of a valiant courage, and doe it : feare not, nor be afraid : for the Lord God, euen my God is with thee : hee will not leaue thee nor forsake thee, till thou hast finished all the worke for the seruice of the house

CHAP. XXIX.

2 The offering of David and of the princes for the building of the Temple. 10 David giveth thanks to the Lord. 20 He exhorteth the people to do the same. 22 Salomon is created king. 23 David dieth, and Salomon his sonne reigneth in his stead.

Moreover David the King said unto all the Congregation, God hath chosen Salomon mine only sonne young and tender, and the worke is great: for this house is not for man, but for the^a Lord God.

2 Nowe I have prepared with all my power for the house of my God, gold for vessels of gold, and silver for them of silver, and brasse for things of brasse, yron for things of yron, and wood for things of wood, and Onix stones, and stones to be set, and carbuncle stones, and of divers colours, and all precious stones, and marble stones in abundance.

3 Moreover, because I have^b delight in the house of my God, I have of mine owne golde and silver, which I have given to the house of my God, beside all that I have prepared for the house of the Sanctuary,

4 Even three thousand talents of gold of the gold of Egypt, and seven thousand talents of fined silver to overlay the walls of the houses.

5 The gold for the things of gold, and the silver for things of silver, and for all the worke by the hands of artificers: and who is^c willing to fill his hand to day unto the Lord?

6 So the princes of the families, and the princes of the tribes of Israel, and the captaines of thousands, and of hundreds, with the rulers of the Kings worke, offered willingly.

7 And they gave for the service of the house of God five thousand talents of gold, and ten thousand pieces, and ten thousand talents of silver, and eightene thousand talents of brasse, and one hundred thousand talents of yron.

8 And they with whom precious stones were found, gave them to the treasure of the house of the Lord, by the hand of Jehiel the Gershunite.

9 And the people reioyced when they offered willingly: for they offered willingly unto the Lord with a^d perfect heart. And David the King also^e reioyced with great ioy.

10 Therefore David blessed the Lord before all the Congregation, and David said, Blessed be thou, O Lord God of Israel our Father for ever and ever.

11 Thine, O Lord, is greatnesse, and power, and glory, and victory, and praise: for all that is in heauen and in earth is thine: thine is the kingdome, O Lord, and thou excellest as head over all.

12 Both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest over all, and in thine hand is power and strength, & in thine hand it is to make great, and to give strength unto all.

13 Now therefore our God, wee thanke thee, and praise thy glorious Name.

14 But who am I, and what is my people, that we should be able to offer willingly after this sort: for all things^h come of thee: and of thine owne hand we have given thee:

15 For we areⁱ strangers before thee, and sojourners, like all our fathers: our dayes are like the shadow upon the earth, and there is none^j abiding.

16 O Lord our God, all this abundance that we have prepared to build thee an house for thine holy Name, is of thine hand, and all is thine.

17 I know also my God, that thou^k triest the heart and hast pleasure in righteousness: I have offered willingly in the uprightness of mine heart all these things: now also have I sent thy people which are found here, to offer unto thee willingly with ioy.

18 O Lord God of Abraham, Izhak and Israel our fathers, keepe this for ever in the^l purpose, and the thoughts of the heart of thy people, and prepare their hearts unto thee.

19 And give unto Salomon my sonne a perfect heart to keepe thy commandements, thy testimonies and thy statutes, and to doe all things, & to build the house whiche I have prepared.

20 ¶ And David said to all the Congregation, Nowe blessed be the Lord your God. And all the Congregation blessed the Lord God of their fathers, and bowed downe their heads, and worshipped the Lord, and the King.

21 And they offered sacrifices unto the Lord, and on the morrowe after that day, they offered burnt offerings unto the Lord, even a thousand young bullocks, a thousand rammes, and a thousand sheepe, with their^m drink offerings, and sacrifices in abundance for all Israel.

22 And they did eate and drinke before the Lord the same day with great ioy, and they made Salomon the sonne of David King the second time, and anointed him Prince before the Lord, and Zadok for the high Priest.

23 So Salomon sat on theⁿ throne of the Lord as King in stead of David his father, and prospered: and all Israel obeyed him.

24 And all the princes and men of power, and all the sonnes of King David & submitted themselves vnder King Salomon.

25 And the Lord magnified Salomon in dignity, in the sight of all Israel, and gave him so glorious a kingdome, as no king had before him in Israel.

26 ¶ Thus David the sonne of Ithai reigned over all Israel.

27 And the space that hee reigned over Israel, was forty yere: seven yere reigned hee in Hebron, and thre and thirty yere reigned

The second booke of Chronicles.

THE ARGUMENT.

THis second booke conteineth briefly in effect that, which is comprehended in the two bookes of the Kings: that is, from the reigne of Salomon to the destruction of Ierusalem, and the carrying away of the people captiue into Babylon. In this story are certain things declared & set forth more copiously then in the bookes of the Kings, and therefore serue greatly to the vnderstandig of the Prophets. But three things are here chiefly to be considered. First, that the godly Kings, when they saw the plagues of God prepared against their countrey for sinne, had recourse to the Lord, and by earnest prayer were heard, and the plagues remooued. The second, how it is a thing that greatly offendeth God, that such as feare him and profess his Religion, should ioyne in amity with the wicked. And thirdly, how the good rulers euer loued the Prophets of God, and were very zealous to set forth his Religion throughout all their dominions, and contrariwise the wicked hated his ministers, depoe'd them, and for the true religion and word of God, set vp idolatry, and serued God according to the fantasie of men. Thus haue we hitherto the chiefe acts from the beginning of the world to the building againe of Ierusalem, which was the two and thirtieth yere of Darius, and conteine in the whole, three thousand five hundred threescore and eghtene yeeres, and fixe monthes.

CHAP. I.

6 The offering of Salomon at Gibeon. 8 Hee prayeth vnto God to giue him wisdom: 11 Which hee giueth him and more. 14 The number of his charrets and horsemen. 15 And of his riches.

Dauid Salomon the sonne of Dauid was confirmed in his kingdome: and the Lord his God was with him, and magnified him highly.

2 And Salomon spake vnto all Israel, to the captains of thousandes, and of hundredes, and to the Iudges and to all the gouernours in all Israel, euen the chiefe fathers.

3 So Salomon and all the Congregation with him went to the high place that was at Gibeon: for there was the Tabernacle of the Congregation of God which Moses the seruant of the Lord had made in the wilderness.

4 But the Arke of God had Dauid brought vp from Kirith-searim: when Dauid had made preparation for it: for hee had pitched a tent for it in Ierusalem.

5 Moreover the brazen Altar that Bezalel the sonne of Uri, the sonne of Hur had made, did hee set before the Tabernacle of the Lord: and Salomon and the Congregation sought it.

6 And Salomon offered there before the Lord vpon the brazen Altar that was in the Tabernacle of the Congregation: euen a thousand burnt offerings offered he vpon it.

7 At the same night did God appare vnto Salomon, and said vnto him, Aske what I shall giue thee.

8 And Salomon sayd vnto God, Thou hast shewed great mercy vnto Dauid my father: and hast made mee to reigne in his stead.

9 Now therefore, O Lord God, let thy promise vnto Dauid my father bee true:

for thou hast made mee King ouer a great people, like to the dust of the earth.

10 Giue mee now wisdom and knowledge, that I may goe out and goe in before this people: for who can iudge this thy great people?

11 And God said to Salomon, Because this was in thine heart, and thou hast not asked riches, treasures, nor honour, nor the likes of thine enemies, neither yet hast asked long life, but hast asked for thee wisdom and knowledge, that thou mightest iudge my people, ouer whom I haue made thee King.

12 Wisdom and knowledge is granted vnto thee, and I will giue thee riches, and treasures and honour, so that there hath not bene the like among the kings which were before thee, neither after thee shall there bee the like.

13 Then Salomon came from the high place that was at Gibeon, to Ierusalem from before the tabernacle of the Congregation, and reigned ouer Israel.

14 And Salomon gathered the charrets and horsemen: and hee had a thousand and foure hundred charrets, and twelue thousand horsemen, whome hee placed in the charret cities, and with the King at Ierusalem.

15 And the King gaue silver and gold at Ierusalem as stones, and gaue cedar trees as the wilde figge trees, that are abundantly in the plaine.

16 Also Salomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and fine linnen: the Kings merchants recrued the fine linnen for a price.

17 They came by also and brought out of Egypt some charret, worth fixe hundred shekels of silver, that is, an horse for an hundred and fiftie: and thus they brought horses to all the kings of the bitrites, and to the kings of Aram by thre & four.

CHAP. II.

2 The number of Solomons workmen to build the Temple. 3 Solomon sendeth to Huram the king of Tyre for wood and workmen.

Then Salomon determined to build an house for the name of the Lord, and an house for his king dome.

2 And Salomon told out seventy thousand that bare burdens, & fourescore thousand men to hew stones in the mountaine, and three thousand and five hundred to ouersee them.

3 And Salomon sent to Hiram the king of Tyne, saying, As thou hast done to David my father, and diddest send him Cedar trees to build him an house to dwell in, so do to me.

4 Beholde, I build an house unto the name of the Lord my God to sanctifie it unto him, and to burne sweete incense before him, and for the continuall shewbread, and for the burnt offerings of the morning, and evening, on the Sabbath dayes, and in the new monerchs, and in the iolenne feasts of the Lord our God: this is a perpetuall thing for Israel.

5 And the house which I build, is great: for great is our God aboue all gods.

6 Who is he then that can be able to build him an house, when the heauen, and the heauen of heauens cannot contain him? who am I then that I should build him an house? but I doe it to burne incense before him.

7 Send mee now therefore a cunning man that can worke in golde, in siluer, and in brasse, and in yron, and in purple, & crimson, and blue silke, & that can graue in grauen worke with the cunning men that are with me in Iudah and in Ierusalem, whom David my father hath prepared.

8 Send me also cedar trees, firre trees and Algummim trees from Lebanon: for I know thy seruants can skill to hew timber in Lebanon: and behold my seruants shalbe with thine.

9 That they may prepare me timber in abundance: for the house which I do build, is great and wonderfull.

10 And beholde, I will giue to thy seruants the cutters and the hewers of timber, twentie thousand & measures of beaten wheate, and twentie thousand measures of barley, and twentie thousand baths of wine, and twenty thousand bathes of oyle.

11 Then Hiram king of Tyne answered in writing which he sent to Salomon, Because the Lord hath loued his people, he hath made the king ouer them.

12 Hiram said moreover, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, which made the heauen and the earth, & that hath giuen unto David the king a wise sonne, that hath discretion, prudence and vnderstanding to builde an house for the Lorde, and a palace for his kingdome.

13 Now therefore I haue sent a wise man, and of vnderstanding of my father Hurams.

14 The sonne of a woman of the daughter of Dan: and his father was a man of Tyne, and he can skill to worke in gold, in silver, in brasse, in yron, in stone, and in timber, in purple, in blue silke, and in fine linen, and in crimson, and can graue in all grauen worke, and broyde in all broyded worke that shall be giuen him, with thy cunning men, and with the cunning men of my lord Dadas thy father.

15 Nowe therefore the wheat and the barley, the oyle, and the wine, which my lord hath spoken of, let him send unto his seruants.

16 And we will cut wood in Lebanon as much as thou shalt need, & will bring it to thee in cassettes by the sea, to Japho, so thou mayest carie them to Ierusalem.

17 And Salomon numbred all the strangers that were in the land of Israel, after the numbring that his father David had numbred them: and they were found an hundred and three and fiftie thousand, and six hundred.

18 And he set twenty thousand of them to the burden, and fourescore thousand to hew stones in the mountaine, and three thousand and six hundred ouerseers to cause the people to worke.

CHAP. III.

1 The Temple of the Lord and the porch are builded, with other things thereto belonging.

2 Salomon began to build the house of the Lord in Ierusalem, in mount Achorah which had bene declared unto David his father, in the place that David prepared in the threshing floore of Dyan the Jebusite.

2 And he began to builde in the second moneth & the second day, in the fourth yere of his reigne.

3 And these are the measures, wheron Salomon ground to build the house of God: the length of cubites after the first measure was therelooke cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites:

4 And the porch, that was before the length in the front of the breadth was twenty cubites, and the height was an hundred and twenty, and he ouerlaid it within with pure gold.

5 And the greater house hee filled with firre tree which hee ouerlaide with good golde, and graued thereon palme trees and chaines.

6 And he ouerlayde the house with precious stone for beautie: and the golde was foundation of gold of Paraim.

7 The house, I say, the beames, postes, and walles thereof, and the doores thereof ouerlaid he with gold, and graued Cherubims vpon the walles.

8 He made also the house of the most holy place: the length thereof was in the front of the breadth of the house, twenty cubites: and the breadth thereof twenty cubites: and he ouerlaid it with the best gold, of six hundred talents.

9 And the weight of the nayles was fifty shekels of gold, and he ouerlaid the chambers with gold.

It is also written that he was of the tribe of Naphthaly. 1. Ki. 7. 14. which may be understood that by reason of the confusion of tribes, which then began to be, they married in diuers tribes, so that by her father he might be of Dan, and by her mother of Naphthaly. Or, shippe. Or, Ioppe.

12 Likewise the wing of the other Cherub was five cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing five cubites, joining to the wing of the other Cherub.

13 The wings of these Cherubims were spread abroad twenty cubits: they stood on their feet, and their faces were toward the house.

14 ¶ He made also the vail of blue silke, and purple, and crimosin, and fine linnen, and wrought Cherubims thereon.

15 ¶ And he made before the house two pillars of fine and thirte cubites hie: and the chapter that was upon the top of each of them, was five cubites.

16 ¶ He made also chaines for the Dacle, and put them on the heads of the pillars, and made an hundred pomegranates, and put them among the chaines.

17 And he set up the pillars before the Temple, one on the right hand, and the other on the left, and called that on the right hand Jachin, and that on the left hand Boaz.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The altar of brass. 2 The molten Sea. 6 The candlesticks, &c.

¶ And he made an altar of brass twenty cubites long, and twenty cubits broad, and ten cubites high.

2 And he made a molten Sea of ten cubits from brim to brim, round in compass, and five cubits high: and a line of thirty cubits did compass it about.

3 And under it was the fashion of oxen, which did compass it round about, ten in a cubite compassing the Sea about: two rows of oxen were cast when it was molten.

4 It stood upon twelve oxen: three looked toward the North, and three looked toward the West, and three looked toward the South, & three looked toward the East, and the Sea stood above upon them, and all their hinder parts were inward.

5 And the thickness thereof was an hand breadth, and the brim thereof was like the worke of the brimme of a cup, with floures of lillies: it contained three thousand baths.

6 ¶ He made also ten caldrons, and put five on the right hand, and five on the left, to wash in them, and to cleanse in them that which appertained to the burnt offerings: but the Sea was for the Priests to wash in.

7 ¶ And he made ten candlesticks of gold, (according to their forme) and put them in the Temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left.

8 ¶ And he made ten tables and put them in the temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left: and hee made an hundred basins of gold.

9 And he made the court of the Priests, and the great Court, and doores for the Court, and overlaid the doores therof with brass.

10 And he set the Sea on the right side Eastward toward the South.

11 And Huram made pots and basins, and balens, and Huram finished the worke that he should make for king Salomon for the house of God.

12 To wit, two pillars, and the bowles and the chapters on the top of the two pillars, & two grates to cover the two bowles of the chapters, which were upon the top of the pillars.

13 And four hundred pomegranates for the two grates, two rows of pomegranates for every grate to cover the two bowles of the chapters, which were upon the pillars.

14 ¶ He made also basins, and made caldrons upon the basins.

15 And a Sea and twelve buls under it:

16 Dors also and basins, and fleshhooks, and all these vessels made Huram his father to king Solomon for the house of the Lord, of Shilim brass.

17 In the plaine of Jordan did the King cast them in clay between Succoth and Zeredathah.

18 And Salomon made all these vessels in great abundance: for the weight of brass could not be reckoned.

19 And Solomon made all the vessels that were for the house of God: the golden altar also, & the tables whereon the shewbread stood.

20 Moreover the candlesticks, with their lamps to burne them after the manner, before the Dacle of pure gold:

21 And the floures, and the lampes, and the snuffers of gold, which was fine gold:

22 And the hooks, and the basins, and the spoons, and the ashpans of pure golde: the entry also of the house and doores thereof within, even of the most holy place: and the doores of the house, to wit, of the Temple, were of gold.

28 ¶ ¶ When there shall be famine in the land, when there shall be pestilence, blasting, or mildew, when there shall be grasshopper, or caterpillar, when their enemies shall besiege them in the cities of their land, or any plague, or any sicknesse,

29 Then what prayer an I supplication soeuer shall be made of any man or of all thy people Israel, when euery one shall knowe his owne plague and his owne disease, and shall stretch forth his handes toward this house,

30 Heare thou then in heauen, thy dwelling place, and bee mercifull, and giue euery man according vnto all his wayes, as thou dost know his heart (for thou only knowest the hearts of all the children of men)

31 That they may feare thee, and walke in thy wayes as long as they line in the land, which thou gauest vnto our fathers.

32 ¶ ¶ Whereouer, as touching the stranger which is not of thy people Israel, who shall come out of a farre country for thy great Names sake, and thy mighty hand, and thy stretched out arme: when they shall come and pray in this house,

33 Heare thou in heauen thy dwelling place, and do according to all that the stranger calleth for vnto thee: that all the people of the earth may know thy Name, and feare thee, like thy people Israel: and that they may know that thy Name is called vpon in this house which I haue built.

35 Then heare thou in heauen their prayer, and their supplication, and iudge their cause.

36 ¶ If they sinne against thee (for there is no man that sinneth nor) and thou be angry with them, and deliuer them vnto the enemies, and they take them and carry them away captiue vnto a land farre or nere,

37 If they turne againe to their heart in the land whither they bee caried in captiues, and turne and pray vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie, saying, We haue sinned, wee haue transgressed, and haue done wickedly,

38 If they turne againe vnto thee with all their heart, and with all their soule in the land of their captiuitie, whither they haue caried them captiues, and pray toward their land, which thou gauest vnto their fathers, and toward the citie which thou hast cholen, and toward the house which I haue built for thy Name,

39 Then heare thou in heauen, in the place of thine habitation, their prayer and their supplication, and iudge their cause, and be mercifull vnto thy people which haue sinned against thee.

40 Now my God, I beseech thee, let thine eyes be open, and thine eares attend vnto the prayer that is made in this place.

41 ¶ Now therefore arise, O Lord God, to come into thy rest, thou and the Ark of thy strength: O Lord God, let thy Priests bee clothed with saluation, and let thy Saints reioyce in goodnesse.

42 O Lord God, refuse not the face of thyne anointed: remember the mercies promised to Dauid thy servant.

sacrifices before the Lord.

5 And king Salomon offered a sacrifice of two and twenty thousand bullocks, and an hundred and twenty thousand sheep. So the king and all the people dedicated the house of God.

6 And the Priests waited on their offices, and the Levites with the instruments of musicks of the Lord, which king David had made to praise the Lord, Because his mercy lasteth for ever: when David praised God & by them, the Priests also blew trumpets over against them; and all they of Israel stood by.

7 Moreover, Salomon hallowed the middle of the court that was before the house of the Lord: for there hee had prepared burnt offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings, because the brazen altar which Salomon had made, was not able to receive the burnt offering and the meate offering and the fat.

8 And Salomon made a feast at that time of seven daies, and all Israel with him, a very great congregation, from the entering in of Hamath, unto the river of Egypt.

9 And in the eighth day they made a solemn assembly: for they had made the dedication of the altar seven daies, and the feast seven daies.

10 And the three and twentieth day of the seventh month, he sent the people away into their tents, joyous and with glad heart, because of the goodness that the Lord had done for David and for Salomon, and for Israel his people.

11 So Salomon finished the house of the Lord, and the kings house, and all that came into Salomons heart, to make in the house of the Lord: and he prospered in his house.

12 And the Lord appeared to Salomon by night, and said to him, I have heard thy prayer, and have chosen this place for my selfe, to be an house of sacrifice.

13 If I shut the heaven that there be no raine, or if I command the grasshopper to devour the land, or if I send pestilence among my people,

14 If my people among whom my Name is called upon, doe humble themselves and pray, and seeke my presence, and turne from their wicked waies, then will I heare in heaven, and be mercifull to their sinne, and will heale their land:

15 Then mine eyes shall be open, and mine eares attent unto the prayer made in this place.

16 For I have now chosen and sanctified this house, that my Name may be there for ever: and mine eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually.

17 And if thou wilt walke before me, as David thy father walked, to doe according unto all that I have commanded thee, and shalt observe my statutes, and my judgements, 18 Then will I stablish the throne of thy kingdom, according as I made the covenant with David thy father, saying, Thou shalt not want a man to be ruler in Israel.

19 But if ye turne away, and forsake my statutes and my commandments which I have set before you, and shall goe and serve other gods, and worship them, 20 Then will I plucke them ry out of my land which I have given them, and this house which I have sanctified for my Name will I cast out of my sight, and will make it to be a prouerbe and a common talke among all people.

21 And this house which is most hie, shall be an astonishment to every one that passeth by it, so that hee shall say, Why hath the Lord done thus to this land, and to this house?

22 And they shall answer, Because they forsooke the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and have taken hold on other gods, and have worshipped them, and turned them, therefore hath he brought all this evil upon them.

2 The cities that Salomon built. 7 People that were made tributarie unto him. 12 His sacrifices. 17 He sendeth to Ophir.

And after twentie yeere, when Salomon had built the house of the Lord, and his owne house,

2 Then Salomon built the cities that Huram gave to Salomon, and caused the children of Israel to dwell there.

3 And Salomon went to Hamath Zobab, and overcame it.

4 And he built Tadmor in the wilderness, and repaired all the cities of itoze which he built in Hamath.

5 And he built Beth-horon the upper, and Beth-horon the nether, cities defended with walles, gates and barres:

6 Also Baalath, and all the cities of itoze that Salomon had, and all the charer cities, and the cities of the horsemen, and every pleasant place that Salomon had a minde to build in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon, and throughout all the land of his Dominion,

7 And all the people that were left of the Hittites, and the Amorites, and Perizzites, and the Ididites, and the Jebusites, which were not of Israel,

8 But of their children which were left after them in the land, whom the children of Israel had not consumed, such them did Salomon make tributaries until this day.

9 But of the children of Israel did Salomon make no servants for his worke: for they were men of warre, and his chiefe princes, and the captaines of his charres and of his horsemen.

10 So these were the chiefe of the officers which Salomon had, even two hundred and thirtie that bare rule over the people.

11 Then Salomon brought up the daughter of Pharaoh out of the city of David, into the house that he had built for her: for he said, My wife shall not dwell in the house of David king of Israel: for it is holy, because that the Arke of the Lord came unto it.

12 Then Salomon offered burnt offerings unto

14 And he set the courses of the Priests to their offices, according to the order of David his father, and the Levites in their watches, for to praise and minister before the Priests every day, and the porters by * their courses, at every gate: for so was the commandement of David the man of God.

15 And they declined not from the commandement of the King, concerning the Priests and the Levites, touching all things, and touching the treasures.

16 Now Salomon had made provision for all the ^h worke, from the day of the foundation of the house of the Lord, untill it was finished: so the house of the Lord was perfite.

17 Then went Salomon to Ezion-geber, and to Elath by the sea side in the land of Edom.

18 And Huram sent him by the hands of his servants, shippes, and servants that had knowledge of the sea: and they went with the servants of Salomon to Ophir, and brought thence ^k foure hundred and fiftie talents of gold, and brought them to King Salomon.

CHAP. IX.

1. 9. The Queene of Sheba cometh to see Salomon, and bringeth gifts. 13 His yeerely rekenemes. 30 The time of his reigne. 31 His death.

And * when the Queene of Sheba heard of the fame of Salomon, shee came to * prooue Salomon with hard questions at Jerusalem, with a very great traine, and camels that bare sweet odours, and much golde, and precious stones: and when shee came to Salomon, shee communed with him of all that was in her heart.

2 And Salomon declared her all her questions, and there was ^b nothing hid from Salomon, which he declared not unto her.

3 Then the Queene of Sheba sawe the wisdom of Salomon, and the house that he had built,

4 And the meat of his table, and the sitting of his servants, and the order of his waiters, and their apparell, and his butlers, and their apparell, and his ^{||} burnt offerings, which hee offered in the house of the Lord, and he was [†] greatly astonished.

5 And he said to the King, it was a true word which I heard in mine owne land of thy ^{||} sayings and of thy wisdom:

6 Howbeit I beleueed not their report, untill I came, and mine eyes had seene it: and behold, the one halfe of thy great wisdom was not told mee: for thou exceedest the fame that I heard.

7 Happy are thy men, and happy are these thy servants which stand before thee alway and heare thy wisdom.

8 Blessed bee the Lord thy God, which loved thee, to set thee on his ^c throne as King, in the stead of the Lord thy God: because thy God loveth Israel, to establish it for ever, therefore hath hee made thee King over them, to execute iudgement and iustice.

9 Then thee gaue the King sixscore talents of gold, and of sweet odours exceeding much, and precious stones: neither was there such sweet odours since, as the Queene of Sheba gaue unto King Salomon.

10 And the seruantes also of Huram, and the seruantes of Salomon which brought gold from Ophir, brought ^d Algummin wood and precious stones.

11 And the king made of the Algummin wood ^e staires in the house of the Lord, and in the Kings house, and harpes and viols for singers, and there was no such scene before in the land of Iudah.

12 And King Salomon gaue to the Queene of Sheba, euery pleasant thing that shee asked, besides for that which shee had brought unto the king: so shee returned and went to her owne countrey, both she, and her seruantes.

13 Also the weight of gold that came to Salomon in one yeere, was sixe hundred, threescore and fire talents of gold, 14 Besides that which chapmen & merchants brought: and all the kings of Arabia, and the princes of the countrey brought gold and siluer to Salomon.

15 And king Salomon made two hundred targets of beaten gold, and ^f sixe hundred shelds of beaten golde went to one target.

16 And three hundred ^g shelds of beaten gold: three hundred ^h shekels of gold went to one shield, and the King put them in the house of the wood of Lebanon.

17 And the king made a great throne of yuory, and overlaid it with pure gold.

18 And the throne had sixe steps, with a footstool of gold: ⁱ fastened to the throne, and staires on either side on the place of the seate, and two Lions standing by the ^k stapes.

19 And twelue Lyons stood there on the fire steps on either side: there was not the like made in any kingdome.

20 And all King Salomons drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the wood of Lebanon were of pure gold: for siluer was nothing esteemed in the dayes of Salomon.

21 For the kings ships went to Tarshish with the seruantes of Huram, euery three yeere once came the ships of ^l Tarshish, and brought gold, and siluer, yuory, and apes, and peacocks.

22 So King Salomon excelled all the kings of the earth in riches and wisdom.

23 And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Salomon, to heare his wisdom that God had put in his heart.

24 And they brought euery man his present, vessels of siluer, and vessels of gold, and raiment, armour, and sweete odours, horses, and mules from yeere to yeere.

4. 14 The rigor of Rehoboam. 13 He followeth lewd counsell. 16 The people rebell.

Then " Rehoboam " went to Shechem : for to Shechem came all Israel to make him king.

2 And when Jeroboam the sonne of Ne-bat heard it, (which was in Egypt, whither hee had fled from the pience of Salomon the king) he returned out of Egypt.

3 And they sent and called him : so came Jeroboam and all Israel, and communed with Rehoboam, saying,

4 Thy father " made our yoke greivous:
now therefore make thou the greivous seruitude of thy father, and his loze yoke that he put vpon vs, lighter, and we will serue thee.

5 And hee said to them, Depart yet three dayes, then come againe vnto me. And the people departed.

6 And king Rehoboam tooke counsell with the olde men that had stood before Salomon his father, while he yet liued, saying, What counsell giue ye that I may answere
this people?

7 And they spake vnto him, saying, If thou be kind to this people, and pleate them and speake louing words to them, they will be thy seruants for euer.

8 But he left the counsell of the ancient men that they had giuen him, and rooke counsell of the yong men that were brought vp with him, and " waited on him.

9 And he said vnto them, What counsell giue ye, that we may answere this people, which haue spoken to me, saying, Make the yoke which thy father did put vpon vs, lighter?

10 And the yong men that were brought vp with him, spake vnto him, saying, Thus shalt thou answere the people that spake to thee, saying, Thy father made our yoke heauie, but make thou it lighter for vs : thus shalt thou say vnto them, My " least part shall be bigger then my fathers loynes.

11 Now whereas my father did burden you with a greivous yoke, I will yet increase your yoke : my father hath chastised you with rodde, but I will correct you with || scourges.

12 ¶ Then Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king had appointed, saying, Come againe to me the third day.

13 And the king answered them sharply:
and king Rehoboam left the counsell of the ancient men,

14 And spake to them after the counsell of the yong men, saying, My father made your yoke greivous, but I will increase it : my father chastised you with rods, but I will correct you with scourges.

15 So the king hearkened not vnto the people: for it was the ordinance of God, that the Lord might performe his saying, which he had spoken " by Ahitah the Shilo-nite to Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat.

16 So when all Israel saw that the king would not heare them, the people answered the king, saying, " What portt n haue we in Dauid? for wee haue no inheritance in the sonne of Ithab. ¶ Israel, every man to pour dren of Israel stoned him with stones, that to get him vp to his charet, to flee to Jeru-

19 And Israel rebelled against the house of Dauid vnto this day.

¶ And when Rehoboam had established the kingdome and made it strong, hee forgotte the Law of the Lord, and ^a all Israel with him.

a For such is the inconstancie of the people, that for the most part they follow the vices of their gouernours.

2 Therefore in the fift yere of king Rehoboam, Shishak the king of Egypt came by against Jerusalem (because they had transgressed against the Lord)

3 With twelue hundred charrets, and threescore thousand horsemen, and the people were without number, that came with him from Egypt, euen the Lubims, ^b Shukitims, and the Ethiopians.

4 And hee tooke the strong cities which were of Judah, and came vnto Jerusalem.

5 ¶ Then came Shematah the Prophet to Rehoboam, and to the princes of Judah, that were gathered together in Jerusalem, because of Shishak, and sayd vnto them,
Thus saith the Lord, Ye haue forsaken me, therefore haue I also left you in the hands of Shishak.

6 Then the princes of Israel, and the king humbled themselves, and said, The Lord is ^c iust.

7 And when the Lord saw that they humbled themselves, the word of the Lord came to Shematah, saying, They haue humbled themselves, therefore I will not destroy them, but I will send them deliue-rance shortly, and my wrath shall not ^d be poured out vpon Jerusalem by the hand of Shishak.

8 Nevertheless they shall be his seruants:
so shall they know my seruice, and the seruice of the kingdomes of the earth.

9 ¶ Then Shishak king of Egypt came by against Jerusalem, and tooke the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the kings house: hee tooke euen all, and hee caried away the shieldes of golde,
* which Salomon had made.

10 In stead wherof King Rehoboam made shieldes of brass, and committed them to the hands of the chiefe of the guard, that waited at the doore of the kings house.

11 And when the king entred into the house of the Lord, the guard came and bare them & brought them againe vnto the guard chamber.

12 And because he ^f humbled himselfe, the wrath of the Lord turned from him, that he would not destroy all together. And also in Judah the things were perserued.

13 * So king Rehoboam was strong in Jerusalem and reigned: for Rehoboam was one and fortie yere olde, when he began to reigne, and reigned seuentene yeres in Jerusalem, the citie which the Lord had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his

2 He reigned three yeere in Ierusalem: His mothers name also was Michah the daughter of Uriel of Gilead, and there was warre betwene Abijah and Ieroboam.

3 And Abijah set the battell in aray with the army of valiant men of warre, euen foure hundred thousand chosen men. Ieroboam also set the battell in aray against him with eight hundred thousand chosen men, which were strong and valiant.

4 And Abijah stood vp vpon mount Zemaraim, which is in mount Ephraim, & said, O Ieroboam, and all Israel, heare you me.

5 Might you not to know that the Lord God of Israel hath giuen the kingdome ouer Israel to David for euer, euen to him and to his sonnes by a couenant of salt?

6 And Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat the seruant of Salomon the sonne of David is risen vp, & hath rebelled against his lord:

7 And there are gathered to him a vatine man and wicked, & made themselves strong against Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon: for Rehoboam was but a childe and tender hearted, and could not resist them.

8 Now therefore thinke ye that ye bee able to resist against the kingdom of the Lord which is in the hands of the sons of David, and ye be a great multitude, and the golden calves are with you which Ieroboam made you for gods.

9 Have ye not drinen away the Priests of the Lord the sonnes of Aaron and the Leuites, and haue made you priests like the people of other countreys: whosoever cometh to f consecrate with a young bullocke and seven rammes, the same may bee a priest of them that are no gods.

10 But we belong vnto y Lord our God, and haue not forsaken him, and the Priests the sonnes of Aaron minister vnto the Lord, and the Leuites in their office.

11 And they burne vnto the Lord euerie morning and euerie evening burnt offerings and sweet incense, and the bread is set in order vpon the pure table, and the candlelike of golde with the lampes thereof, to burne euerie evening: for wee keepe the watch of the Lord our God: but ye haue forsaken him.

12 And behold, this God is with vs as a captain, and his Priests with the sounding trumpets, to cry an alarme against you. O yee children of Israel, fight not against the Lord God of your fathers: for yee shall not prosper.

13 But Ieroboam caused an ambushment to compass, and come behind them, when they were before Iudah, and the ambushment behind them.

14 Then Iudah looked, and behold, the battell was before and behind them, and they cryed vnto the Lord, and the Priests blew with the trumpets,

1 Because their cause was good and approved by the Lord, they doubted not of the successe and victory. m Concerning the good counsell which came of the Spirit of God, he thought to haue overcome by deceit,

15 And the men of Iudah gaue a shout: and euen as the men of Iudah shouted, God smote Ieroboam and also Israel before Abijah and Iudah.

16 And y children of Israel fled before Iudah, & God deliuered them into their hand.

17 And Abijah & his people slew a great slaughter of them, so that there fell downe wounded of Israel five hundred thousand chosen men.

18 So y children of Israel were brought vnder at that time: and the children of Iudah prevailed, because they stayed vpon the Lord God of their fathers.

19 And Abijah pursued after Ieroboam, and toke cities from him, euen Bethel, and the villages thereof, and Teshnah with her villages, and Ephron with her villages, and confidence in the Lord.

20 And Ieroboam recovered no strength againe in the dayes of Abijah, but the Lord plagued him, and he dyed.

21 So Abijah waxed mighty, and married foureteen wiues, and begare two and twenty sonnes, and fiteene daughters.

22 The rest of the acts of Abijah, and his maners, and his sayings are written in the storie of the Prophet Iddo.

CHAP. XIII.

3 Asa destroyeth idolatry, and commandeth his people to serue the true God. 11 He prayeth vnto God when he should goe to fight. 12 He observeth the victory.

4 Abijah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David, and Asa his sonne reigned in his stead: in whose dayes the land was quiet ten yeere.

2 And Asa did that was good and right in the eyes of the Lord his God.

3 For he tooke away the altars of the strange gods, & the high places, & brake downe the images, and cut downe the groves, the Lord God of their fathers, and to doe according to the Law and the commandement.

5 And he tooke away out of all the cities of Iudah the high places, & the images: therefore the kingdome was quiet before him.

6 Wee built also strong cities in Iudah, because the land was in rest, and hee had no warre in those yeeres: for the Lord had giuen him rest.

7 Therefore he sayd to Iudah. Let vs build these cities & make walles about, and towres, gates, and barres, whils the land is before vs: because wee haue fought the Lord our God, we haue fought him, and he hath giuen vs rest on euery side, so they built and prospered.

8 And Asa had an armie of Iudah that bare shields & speares, three hundred thousand, and of Benjamin that bare shields and drew bowes, two hundred & fourscore thousand: all these were valiant men.

9 And there came out against them Zerah of Ethiopia with an host of ten hundred thousand, and three hundred charrets, and came vnto Marothah.

10 Then Asa went out before him, and they set the battell in aray in the valley of Zephathah beside Marothah.

11 And Asa cried vnto the Lord his God,

1 The exhortation of Azariah 8 Asa purgeth his country of idolatry. 11 He sacrificeth with the people. 14 They sweare together to serue the Lord. 16 He doposeth his mother for her idolatry.

Then the Spirit of God came vpon * Azariah the sonne of Obed.

2 And he went out to meet Ala, and said vnto him, O Ala, and all Judah, and Benjamin, heare ye mee. The Lord is with you, while ye be with him: and if ye forsake him, he wil be found of you, but if ye forsake him, he wil forsake you.

3 Now for a long season Israel hath bene without the true God, and without Priest to teach, and without Law.

4 But whoeuer returned in his affliction to the Lord God of Israel, and sought him, he was found of them.

5 And in that time there was no peace to him that did goe out and goe in: but great troubles were to all the inhabitants of the earth.

6 For nation was destroyed of nation, and cite of cite: for God troubled them with all aduersitie.

7 We ye strong therefore, and let not your hands be weaker: for your worke shall haue a reward.

8 ¶ And when Ala heard these wordes, and the prophetic of Obed the Prophet, hee was encouraged, and toke away all the abominations out of all the land of Judah, and Benjamin, and out of the cities which hee had taken of mount Ephraim, and he remued the altar of the Lord, that was before the porch of the Lord.

9 And hee gathered all Judah & Benjamin, & the strangers wth them out of Ephraim, and Manasse, and out of Simeon: for there fell many to him out of Israel, when they saw that the Lord his God was wth him.

10 So they assembled to Ierusalem in the third moneth, in the sixteenth yeere of the reigne of Ala.

11 And they offered vnto the Lord the same time of the spoile, which they had brought, euen seuen hundred bullocks, and seuen thousand sheepe.

12 And they made a covenant to seeke the Lord God of their fathers, with all their heart and with all their soule.

13 And whoeuer will not seeke the Lord God of Israel, shall be blame, whether he were small or great, man or woman.

14 And they were vnto the Lord with a sonde voyce, and with shouting and with trumpets, and with cornets.

15 And all Judah reioyced at the oke, for they had twyne vnto the Lord with all their heart, and sought him with a whole desire, and he was found of them. And the Lord gaue them rest round about.

16 ¶ And king Ala depose^d Maachah his mother from her regencie, because shee had made an idole, in a groue: And Ala brake downe her idole, and stamped it, and burne it at the brooke Kidron, 17 But the hie places were not taken away out of Israel: yet the heart of Ala was perfect all his dayes.

18 Also hee brought into the house of God the things that his father had dedicate, and that hee had dedicate, siluer, and golde, and vessels.

In the fire and thirtieth yeere of the reigne of Ala came * Baasha king of Israel vpon against Iudah, and built Ramah to let none passe out or goe in to Ala king of Iudah.

2 Then Ala brought out siluer and gold out of the treasures of the house of the Lord, and of the kings house, and sent to Benhadad king of Aram that dwelt at Damascus, saying,

3 There is a covenant betwene me and thee, and betwene my father, and thy father: behold, I haue sent thee siluer and gold: come, breake thy league with Baasha king of Israel, that hee may depart from mee.

4 And Benhadad hearkened vnto king Ala, and sent the capitaines of the armies which hee had, against the cities of Israel. And they smote Tiron, and Dan, and Abelmaim, and all the store cities of Naphtali.

5 And when Baasha heard it, hee left building of Ramah, and let his worke cease.

6 Then Ala the king tooke all Iudah, and carryed away the stones of Ramah, and 7 ¶ And at that same time Hanani the seer came to Asa King of Judah, and said unto him, Because thou hast rested upon the King of Aram, and not rested in the Lord thy God, therefore is the bolt of the King of Aram escaped out of thine hand.

8 ¶ The Ethiopians and the Lubims, were they not a great host with charres and horsemen, exceeding many? yet because thou diddest rest upon the Lord, hee deliuered them into thine hand.

9 ¶ For the eyes of the Lord behold all the earth to shew himselfe strong with them that are of perfite heart toward him: thou hast then done foolishly in this: therefore from henceforth thou shalt haue warres.

10 Then Asa was wroth with the seer, and put him into a prison: for hee was displeased with him, because of this thing. And Asa oppressed certaine of the people at the same time.

11 And behold, the actes of Asa first and last, loe, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Judah and Israel.

12 ¶ And Asa in the nine and thirtieth yere of his reigne was diseased in his feete, and his disease was extreme: yet he sought not the Lord in his disease, but to the Physicians.

13 So Asa slept with his fathers, and dyed in the one and fourtieth yere of his reigne.

14 And they buried him in one of his sepulchres, which he had made for himselfe in the cite of David, and layd him in the bed, which they had filled with sweete odours and diuers kindes of spices made by the arte of the Apothecary: and they burnt odours for him with an exceeding great fire.

CHAP. XVII.

5 Iehoshaphat trusting in the Lord, prospereth in riches and honour. 6 He aboliseth idolatry, 7 and causeth the people to bee taught. 11 Hee receiveth tribute of strangers. 13 His munition, and men of warre.

And Iehoshaphat his sonne reigned in his stead, and prevailed against Israel.

2 And hee put garisons in all the strong cities of Judah, and let bands in the land of Judah, and in the cities of Ephraim, which Asa his father had taken.

3 And the Lord was with Iehoshaphat, because he walked in the first wayes of his father David, and sought not Baalim.

4 But sought the Lord God of his father, and walked in his commandements, and not after the trade of Israel.

5 Therefore the Lord stablished the kingdom in his hand, and all Judah brought presents to Iehoshaphat, so that hee had of riches and honour in abundance.

6 And hee lift up his heart unto the wayes of the Lord, and hee tooke away moreouer the hie places and the grones out of Judah.

7 ¶ And in the third yere of his reigne he sent his princes, Ben-hail, and Obadiah, and Sechariah, and Bethaneel, and Michai, that they should teach in the cities of Judah.

8 And with them Leuites, Shemalah, professe religion, and Methanah, and Zebadiah, and Ahabel, except such were and Shemiramoth, and Jehonathan, and appointed which Adonitah, and Tobiah, & Tob-adonitah, could instruct Leuites, and with them Elisama and Jehoram Dictes.

9 And they taught in Judah, and had the booke of the law of the Lord with them, and went about throughout all the cities of Judah, and taught the people.

10 And the feare of the Lord fell upon all the kingdoms of the lands that were round about Judah, and they sought not against Iehoshaphat.

11 And some of the Philistines broughte Iehoshaphat gifts, and tribute silver, & the Arabians brought him flockes, seven thousand and seven hundred rammes, and seven thousand and seven hundred hee goates.

12 So Iehoshaphat prospered and grew up on hie: and hee built in Judah palaces and cities of store.

13 And he had great workes in the cities of Judah, and men of warre, and valiant men in Ierusalem.

14 And these are the numbers of them after the house of their fathers. In Judah were captaines of thousandes, Adnah the captaine, and with him of valiant men three hundred thousand.

15 And at his hand Iehohanan a captaine, and with him two hundred & fourescore thousand.

16 And at his hand Amasiah the sonne of Zebai, which willingly offered himselfe unto the Lord, and with him two hundred thousand valiant men.

17 And of Benjamin, Eliezer a valiant man, and with him armed men with bow and shield two hundred thousand.

18 And at his hand Iehozabab, and with him an hundred and fourescore thousand armed to the warre.

19 These waited on the king, besides that is, they thole which the king put in the strong cities were as his ordinary guard.

4 And Jehohaphat sayd vnto the king of Israel, Alke counsell, I pray thee, at the word of the Lord this day.

5 Therefore the king of Israel gathered of Prophets foure hundred men, and sayd vnto them, Shall we goe to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I cease? And they sayd, Goe vp: for God shall deliuer it into the kings hand.

6 But Jehohaphat said, Is there here neuer a Prophet more of the Lord that we might inquire of him?

7 And the king of Israel sayd vnto Jehohaphat, There is yet one man, by whom we may aske counsell of the Lord, but I hate him: for he doeth not prophesie good vnto me, but alway euil: it is Michaiah the sonne of Imia. Then Jehohaphat said, Let not the king say so.

8 And the king of Israel called an Eumuch, and said, Call quickly Michaiah the sonne of Imia.

9 And the king of Israel, and Jehohaphat king of Iudah late either of them on his throne clothed in their apparell: they late euen in the cheselling floze at the entering in of the gate of Samaria: and all the prophets prophesied before them.

10 And Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah made him houses of yron, and sayd, Thus saith the Lord, With these shalt thou punish the Aramites, vntill thou hast consumed them.

11 And all the prophets prophesied so, saying, Goe vp to Ramoth Gilead, and preper: for the Lord shall deliuer it into the hand of the king.

12 And the messenger that went to call Michaiah, spake to him, saying, Behold, the wordes of the Prophets declare good to the king with one accord: let thy word therefore, I pray thee, bee like one of theirs, and speake thou good.

13 And Michaiah sayd, As the Lord liueth, whatsoeuer my God saith, that will I speake.

14 And so hee came to the king, and the king sayd vnto him, Michaiah, shall we goe to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I leaue off? And he sayd, Goe yee vp, and prosper, and they shall be deliuered into your hand.

15 And the king sayd to him, How oft shal I charge thee, that thou tell me nothing but the truth in the name of the Lord.

16 Then he sayd, I saw all Israel scattered in the mountaines, as sheepe that haue no shepheard: And the Lord sayd, These haue no master: let them returne euery man to his house in peace.

17 And the king of Israel sayd to Jehohaphat, Did I not tell thee that he would not prophesie good vnto me, but euil?

18 Againe he said, Therefore heare ye the word of the Lord: I saw the Lord sit vpon his throne, and all the hoste of heauen standing at his right hand, and at his left.

19 And the Lord sayd, Who shall persuade Ahab king of Israel, that hee may goe vp and fall at Ramoth Gilead? And onespake and sayd thus, and another sayd that.

20 Then there came forth a spirit, and stood before the Lord, and sayd, I will persuade him. And the Lord said vnto him, Wherein?

21 And he sayd, I will goe out, and be a false spirit in the mouth of all his prophets. And hee sayd, Thou shalt persuade, and shalt also preuaile: goe forth and doe so.

22 Now therefore behold, the Lord hath put a false spirit in the mouth of these thy prophets, and the Lord hath determined euill against thee.

23 Then Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah came neere, and smote Michaiah vpon the cheekes, and sayd, By what way went the spirit of the Lord from mee, to speake with thee?

24 And Michaiah sayd, Behold, thou shalt see that day, when thou shalt goe from chamber to chamber to hide thee.

25 And the king of Israel sayd, Take ye Michaiah, and carry him to Amon the gouernour of the citie, and to Joash the kings sonne, 26 And say, Thus saith the king, Put this man in the prison house, and feede him with bread of affliction, and with water of affliction, vntill I returne in peace.

27 And Michaiah said, If thou returne in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by mee. And he said, Heare all ye people.

28 So the king of Israel, and Jehohaphat the king of Iudah went vp to Ramoth Gilead.

29 And the king of Israel sayd vnto Jehohaphat, I will change my selfe, and enter into the battell: but put thou on thine apparell. So the king of Israel changed himselfe, and they went into the battell.

30 And the king of Aram had commanded the captaines of the charrets that were with him, saying, Fight you not with small nor great, but against the king of Israel onely.

31 And when the captaines of the charrets saw Jehohaphat, they sayd, It is the king of Israel: and they compassed about him to fight. But Jehohaphat cryed, and the Lord helped him, and moured them to depart from him.

32 For when the captaines of the charrets saw that he was not the king of Israel, they turned backe from him.

33 Then a certaine man drew a bowe & mightie, and smote the king of Israel betweene the shoulers: so of his brigandine: therefore he said to his charretman, Turne thine hand, and carry me out of the host: for I am hurt.

34 And the battell increased that day: and the king of Israel stood still in his charret against the Aramites vntill euen, and died at the time of the sunne going downe.

3 Iehoshaphat and the people pray vnto the Lord.
22 The marvellous victory that the Lord gave him against his enemies. 30 Huiene and Asis.

After this also came the children of Moab and the children of Ammon, & with them of the Ammonites against Iehoshaphat to battell.

2 Then there came that tolde Iehoshaphat, saying, There cometh a great multitude againe against thee from beyond the sea, out of Aram: and behold, they be in Hazzon Tamar, which is En-gedi.

3 And Iehoshaphat feared, and set himselfe to seek the Lord, and proclaimed a fast thorowout all Iudah.

4 And Iudah gathered themselves together to alke counsell of the Lord: they came euen out of all the cities of Iudah to inquite of the Lord.

5 And Iehoshaphat stood in the congregation of Iudah and Ierusalem in the house of the Lord before the new court,

6 And said, O Lord God of our fathers, art not thou God in heauen? & reignest not thou on all the kingdomes of the heauen: and in thine hand is power and might, and none is able to withstand thee.

7 Wouldest thou our God, cast out the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israel, and gapest it to the face of Abraham thy friend for euer?

8 And they dwell therein, and haue built thee a sanctuary therein for thy Name, saying,

9 If euill come vpon vs, as the sword of iudgement, or pestilence, or famine, wee will stand before this house, and in thy presence, (for thy Name is in this house) and will cry vnto thee in our tribulation, and thou wilt heare and helpe.

10 And now behold, the children of Ammon and Moab, and mount Seir, by whom thou wouldest not let Israel goe, when they came out of the land of Egypt: but they turned aside from them, and destroyed them not:

11 Behold, I say, they reward vs, in coming to cast vs out of thine inheritance, which thou hast caused vs to inherit.

12 O our God, wilt thou not iudge them? for there is no strength in vs to stand before this great multitude that cometh against vs, neither doe wee know what to doe: but our eyes are toward thee.

13 And all Iudah stood before the Lord with their yong ones, their wives, and their children.

14 And Jahaziel the sonne of Zechariah the sonne of Benaiab, the sonne of Ieiel, the sonne of Matthanah, a Leuite of the families of Asaph was there, vpon whom came the Spirit of the Lord, in the mids of the Congregation.

15 And he sayd, Breken ye, all Iudah, and ye inhabitants of Ierusalem, and thou, king Iehoshaphat: thus sayth the Lord vnto you, Feare you not, neither be afraid for this great multitude: for the battell is not yours, but Gods.

16 To morrow come ye downe against them: behold, they come ye by the cleft of Seir, and ye shall find them at the ende of the brooke before the wilderness of Ieruel.

17 Ye shal not need to fight in this battell: stand still, moue not, and behold the saluation of the Lord toward you: O Iudah and Ierusalem, feare ye not, neither be afraid: to morrow goe out against them, & the Lord will be with you.

b Called dead sea, where God destroyed the five cities for sinne.
c This declareth what the feare of the godly is, which is as a prick to stirre them to prayer, and to depend on the Lord, whereas it moueth the wicked either to seeke after worldly meanes and policies, or else to fall into despair, & be groundeth his prayer vpon Gods power, whereby he is able to helpe, & also on his mercy, which he will continue toward his, forasmuch as he hath once chosen them and begun to shew his graces toward them.

18 ¶ Then Iehoshaphat bowed downe with his face to the earth, and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell down before the Lord, worshipping the Lord.

19 And the Leuites of the children of the Kohathites, and of the children of the Gorahtites stood up to praise the Lord God of Israel with a loud voyce on high.

20 And when they arose early in the morning, they went forth to the wilderness of Tekoa: and as they departed, Iehoshaphat stood and said, Heare ye me, O Iudah, and yee inhabitants of Ierusalem: put your trust in the Lord your God, and yee shall be assured: beleeue his Prophets, and ye shall prosper.

21 And when he had consulted with the people, and appointed fingers vnto the Lord, and them that should praise him: he was in the beautifull Sanctuarie, in going forth before the men of aunes, and saying, Praise ye the Lord, for his mercy lasteth for ever.

22 And when they began to shout and to praise, the Lord layed ambushments against the children of Ammon, Moab, and mount Seir, which were come against Iudah, and they slew one another.

23 For the children of Ammon, & Moab rose against the inhabitants of mount Seir, to slay and to destroy them: and when they had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir, every one helped to destroy another.

24 And when Iudah came toward Bersabai in the wilderness, they looked vnto the multitude: and behold, the carkeises were fallen to the earth, and none escaped.

25 And when Iehoshaphat and his people came to take away the spoile of them, they found among them in abundance both of substance and also of bodies laden with precious Jewels, which theyooke for themselves, till they could carie no more: they were thre dayes in gathering of the spoile: for it was much.

26 And in the fourth day they assembled themselves in the valley of Berachah: for there they blessed the Lord: therefore they called the name of that place, The valley of Berachah vnto this day.

27 Then every man of Iudah and Ierusalem, returned with Iehoshaphat their head, to goe againe to Ierusalem with joy: for the Lord had made them to reioyce ouer their enemies.

28 And they came to Ierusalem with viols, and with harpes, and with trumpets, euen vnto the house of the Lord.

29 And the feare of God was vpon all the kingdomes of the earth, when they had heard that the Lord had fought against the enemies of Israel.

30 So the kingdome of Iehoshaphat was quiet, and his God gaue him rest on every side.

31 ¶ And Iehoshaphat reigned ouer Iudah, and was fine and thirte yeere olde. When he began to reigne: and reigned fine and twenty yeere in Ierusalem. And his mothers name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

32 And he walked in the way of Asa his father, and departed not therefrom, doing that which was right in the sight of the Lord.

33 Howbeit the high places were not taken away: for the people had not yet prepared their hearts vnto the God of their fathers.

34 Concerning the rest of the acts of Iehoshaphat first and last, behold, they are written in the Booke of Iehu the sonne of Vanani, which is mentioned in the booke of the kings of Israel.

35 ¶ Yet after this did Iehoshaphat king of Iudah toyne himselfe with Ahabiah king of Israel, who was giuen to doe euill.

36 And he toynd with him to make ships to goe to Tarshish: and they made the ships in Ezion Gaber.

37 Then Eliezer the son of Dodonah of Marehab prophesied against Iehoshaphat, saying, Because thou hast toynd thy selfe with Ahabiah, the Lord hath broken thy works: and the ships were broken, that they were not able to goe to Tarshish.

Iehoshaphat then slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the citie of David: and Iehoram his sonne reigned in his stead.

5 Iehoram was two and thirte yeere old when hee began to reigne, and hee reigned eight yeere in Ierusalem.

rode by by night, and smote Edom, which had compassed him in, and the captains of the chariots.

10 But Edom rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudah vnto this day. Then did Elisabab rebell at the same time from vnder his hand, because hee had forsaken the Lord God of his fathers.

11 ¶ Moreover, he made his places in the mountaines of Iudah, and caused the inhabitants of Ierusalem to commit fornication, and compelled Iudah thereto.

12 And there came a writing to him from Elisabab the Prophet, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, Because thou hast not walked in the wayes of Jehoshaphat thy father, nor in the wayes of Asa King of Iudah,

13 But hast walked in the way of the kings of Israel, and hast made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to goe a whoring, as the house of Ahab went a whoring, and hast also slaine thy brethren of thy fathers house, which were better then thou, 14 Behold, with a great plague will the Lord smite thy people, and thy children, and thy wives, and all thy substance.

15 And thou shalt be in great diseases in the distress of thy bowels until thy bowels fall out for the diseases, day by day.

16 ¶ So the Lord stirred vp against Jehoram the spirit of the Philistines, and the Arabians that were beside the Chibziyans.

17 And they came vp into Iudah, and brake into it, and carried away all the substance that was found in the kings house, and his finnes also, and his wives, so that there was not a sonne left him, save Jehozabab the yongest of his finnes.

18 And after all this the Lord smote him in his bowels with an incurable disease.

19 And in proceesse of time, euen after the end of two yeeres, his guts fell out with his disease: so hee died of sore diseases: and his people made no burning for him like the burning of his fathers.

20 When he began to reigne, he was two and thirtie yeere old, and reigned in Ierusalem eight yeere, and lined without being desired: yet they buried him in the citie of Dauid, but not among the sepulchres of the Kings.

And the inhabitants of Ierusalem made Ahaziah his yongest sonne king in his stead: for the armie that came with the Arabians to the campe, had slaine all the eldest: therefore Ahaziah the sonne of Jehoram king of Iudah reigned.

2 Two and thirtie yeere olde was Ahaziah when he began to reigne, and he reigned 8.yeere in Ierusalem: and his mothers name was Athaliah the daughter of Omri.

3 Hee walked also in the wayes of the house of Ahab: for his mother counsilled him to doe wickedly.

4 Therefore hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, like the house of Ahab: for they were his counsellors after the death of his father to his destruction.

5 And he walked after their counsel, and went with Jehoram the sonne of Ahab king of Israel to fight against basai king of Aram at Ramoth Gilead: and the Aramites smote Ioram.

6 ¶ And he returned to be healed in Ieruel, because of the wounds wherewith they had wounded him at Ramoth, when hee fought with basai king of Aram. Now Azariah the sonne of Jehoram king of Iudah went downe to see Jehoram the sonne of Ahab at Ieruel, because he was diseased.

7 And the destruction of Ahaziah came of God in that he went to Ioram: for when he was come, he went forth with Jehoram against Iehu the sonne of Nimshi, whom the Lord had appointed to destroy the house of Ahab.

8 Therefore when Iehu executed iudgement vpon the house of Ahab, and found the princes of Iudah and the sonnes of the brethren of Ahaziah that waited on Ahaziah, he slew them also.

9 And hee fought Ahaziah, and they caught him where he was hid in Samaria, and brought him to Iehu, and slawe him, and buried him, because, said they, hee is the sonne of Jehoshaphat, which sought the Lord with all his heart. So the house of Ahaziah was not able to retaine the kingdom.

10 ¶ Therefore when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah sawe that her sonne was dead, she arose and destroyed all the kings seed of the house of Iudah.

11 But Jehoshabeath the daughter of the king, toke Ioash the sonne of Ahaziah, and stole him from among the kings finnes, that should be slaine, and put him and his nurse in the bed chamber: so Jehoshabeath the daughter of king Jehoram the wife of Jehoiada the Priest (for she was the sister of Ahaziah) hid him from Athaliah: so they liued him not.

12 And the king and Jehoiada gave it to such as did the labour and worke in the house of the Lord, a hired masons and carpenters to repair the house of the Lord: they gave it also to workers of yron and brasse, to repair the house of the Lord.

13 So the workmen wrought, and the worke amended through their hands: and they repaired the house of God to his state, and strengthened it.

14 And when they had finished it, they brought the rest of the silver before the king and Jehoiada: and he made thereof vessels for the house of the Lord, even vessels to minister, both mortars and incense cups, and vessels of gold and of silver: and they offered burnt offerings in the house of the Lord continually all the dayes of Jehoiada.

15 But Jehoiada waxed old, and was full of dayes, and died. An hundred and thirtie yeere old was he when he died.

16 And they buried him in the city of David with y^e kings, because he had done good in Israel, and toward God and his house.

17 And after the death of Jehoiada, came the princes of Judah, and did reverence to the king, and the king harkened unto them.

18 And they left the house of the Lord God of their fathers, and learned grooves and idols: and wrath came upon Judah and Jerusalem, because of this their trepasse.

19 And God sent Prophets among them, to bring them again unto the Lord: and they made protestation among them, but they would not heare.

20 And the Spirit of God came upon Zechariah the sonne of Jehoiada the Priest, which stood about the people, and said unto them, Thus saith God, Why transgresse ye the commandements of the Lord? surely ye shall not prosper: because ye have forsaken the Lord, he also hath forsaken you.

21 Then they conspired against him, and stoned him with stones at the commandment of the king, in the court of the house of the Lord.

22 Thus Ioash the king remembered not most grievously the kindness which Jehoiada his father had done to him, but slew his sonne. And when he dyed, hee saide, The Lord^a looke upon it. Neh. 9. 26, and require it.

23 And when the yeere was out, the host of Aram came up against him, and they came against Judah and Jerusalem, and destroyed all the princes of the people from among the people, and sent all the spoyle of them unto the king of Damascus.

24 Though the armie of Aram came with a small company of men, yet the Lord delivered a very great army into their hand, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers, and they gaue sentence against Ioash.

25 And when they were departed from him, (for they left him in great blindness) his owne servants conspired against him for the blood of the children of Jehoiada the Priest, and slew him in his bed, and he died, and they buried him in the citie of David: but they buried him not in the sepulchres of the kings.

26 And these are they that conspired against him, Zabab the sonne of Shunrath an Ammonitise, and Iehozabad the sonne of Shinnith a Moabitise.

27 But his sonnes, and the summe of the targe gathered by him, and the foundation of the house of God, behold, they are written in the booke of the book of the Kings. And Amaziah his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXV.

3 Amaziah putteth them to death which slew his father. 3c He sendeth backe them of Israel. 11 Hee overcommeth the Edomites. 14 He falleth to idolatry, 17 And Iosh king of Israel overcommeth Amaziah. 27 He was slaine by a conspiracie.

Amaziah was sixe and twenty yeere old, when he began to reigne, and hee reigned nine and twenty yeere in Jerusalem: and his mothers name was Jehoaddan, of Jerusalem.

2 And he did^a wisely in the eyes of the Lord, but not with a perfect heart.

3 And when the kingdom was established unto him, he slew his servants that had slaine the king his father.

4 But he slew not their children, but did as it is written in the Law, and in the booke of Moses, where the Lord commanded, saying, The fathers shall not die for the children, neither shall the children die for the fathers, but every man shall die for his owne sinne.

5 And Amaziah assembled Judah, and made them captives over thousands, and captives over hundreds, according to the houses of their fathers, thowout al Judah and Benjamin: and he numbred them from twenty yeere old and above, and found a mong them three hundred thousand chosen men to goe forth to the warre, and to handle speare and shield.

6 Hee hired also an hundred thousand valiant men out of Israel for an hundred talents of silver.

7 But a man of God came to him, saying, O king, let not the armie of Israel goe with thee: for the Lord is not with^a Israel, neither with all the house of Ephraim.

8 If^a not, goe thou on, for it, make thy selfe strong to the battell, but God shall make thee fall before the enemy: for God hath power to helpe, and to call downe.

9 And Amaziah said to the man of God, What shall wee doe then for the hundred talents, which I have giuen to the hoste of Israel? Then the man of God answered, The Lord is able to giue thee more then this.

10 So Amaziah separated them, to wit, the armie that was come to him out of Ephraim, to returne to their place; wherefore their wrath was greatly kindled against Iudah, and they returned to their places with great anger.
11 Then Amaziah was encouraged, and led forth his people, and went to the salt valley, and smote of the children of Seir ten thousand.
12 And other ten thousand did the children of Iudah take alive, and carped them to the top of a rocke, and call them downe from the top of the rocke, and they all burst to pieces.
13 But the men of the armie, which Amaziah sent away, that they should not goe with his people to battell, fell vpon the cities of Iudah from Samaria vnto Beth-horon, and smote three thousand of them, and took much spoyle.
14 Now after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of the Edomites, hee brought the gods of the children of Seir, & set them vp to be his gods, and worshipped them, and burned incense vnto them.
15 Wherefore the Lord was wroth with Amaziah, and sent vnto him a Prophet, which said vnto him, why hast thou sought the gods of the people, which were not able to deliuer their owne people out of thine hand?
16 And as he talked with him, he said vnto him, Whereby made thee the kings counsellour? cease thou: why should they smite thee? And the Prophet cried, but said, I know that God hath determined to destroy thee, because thou hast done this, and hast not obeyed my counsel.
17 ¶ Then Amaziah king of Iudah took counsell, and sent to Joash the sonne of Jehoahaz, the sonne of Jehu king of Israel, saying, Come, let vs see one another in the face.
18 But Joash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Iudah, saying, The child that is in Lebanon, sent to the Cedar that is in Lebanon, saying, * Give thy daughter to my sonne to wife: and the wild beast that was in Lebanon, went and trode downe the child.
19 Thou thinkest: loe, thou hast smitten Edom, and thine heart lifteth thee vp to bragge: abide now at home; why dost thou pouerke to him hurt, that thou shouldst sal, and Iudah with thee?
20 But Amaziah would not heare: for it was of God, that he might deliuer them into his hand, because they had sought the gods of Edom.
21 So Joash the king of Israel, went by:

and he, & Amaziah king of Iudah saw one another in the face at Bethhemesh, which is in Iudah.
22 And Iudah was put to the worse before Israel, and they slew euery man to his tents.
23 But Joash the king of Israelooke Amaziah king of Iudah, the sonne of Joash, the sonne of Jehoahaz in Bethhemesh, and brought him to Ierusalem, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, from the gate of Ephraim vnto the corner gate, foure hundred cubites.
24 And he tooke all the gold and the silver, and all the vessels that were found in the house of God with Obed Edom, and in the treasures of the kings house, and the children that were in hostage, and returned to Samaria.
25 ¶ And Amaziah the sonne of Joash king of Iudah lined after the death of Joash sonne of Jehoahaz king of Israel, fifteene yeere.
26 Concerning the rest of the acts of Amaziah first and last, are they not written in the booke of the kings of Iudah and Israel?
27 Now after the time that Amaziah did turne away from the Lord, they wrought treason against him in Ierusalem: & when he was fled to Lachish, they sent to Lachish after him, and slew him there.
28 And they brought him vpon horses, and buried him with his fathers in the cite of Iudah.

9 Moreover, Uzziab built towers in Jerusalem at the corner gate, and at the valley gate, and at the ^e turning, and made them strong.
10 And hee built towers in the wilderness, and digged many cisternes: for he had much cattel both in the valleys and plaines, plowmen and dressers of vines in the mountaines, and in Carmel: for hee loved husbandry.
11 Uzziab had also an hoste of fighting men that went out to war by bands, according to the count of their number vnder the hand of Ieiel the Scribe, and Baasabab the ruler, and vnder the hand of Pananiah, one of the kings captaines.
12 The whole number of the chiefe of the families of the valiant men were two thousand and five hundred.
13 And vnder their hand was the armie for war, three hundredth and seven thousand, and five hundredth that fought valiantly to helpe the king against the enemy.
14 And Uzziab prepared them thorowout all the hoste, shields, and speares, and helmets, and brigandines, and bowes, and stones to sling.
15 He made also very artificiall engines in Jerusalem, to be vpon the towers and vpon the corners, to shote arrowes and great stones: and his name spred farre abroad, because God did helpe him maruclously, till he was mighty.
16 ¶ But when he was strong, his heart was lifted vp to his destruction: for hee transgressed against the Lord his God, and went into the Temple of the Lord to burne incense vpon the altar of incense.
17 And Azariah the Priest went in after him, and with him four score Priests of the Lord, valiant men.
18 And they withstood Uzziab the king, and said vnto him, "It pertaineth not to thee, Uzziab, to burne incense vnto the Lord, but to the Priests, the sonnes of Aaron, that are consecrated for to offer incense: go forth of the Sanctuary: for thou hast transgressed, and thou shalt haue none honour of the Lord God.
19 Then Uzziab was wroth, and had incense in his hand to burne it: and while he was wroth with the Priests, the leprosie rose vp in his forehead before the Priests in the house of the Lord beside the incense Altar.
20 And when Azariah the chiefe Priest with all the Priests looked vpon him, behold he was leprous in his forehead, and they caused him hastily to depart thence: and he was euen compelled to goe out, because the Lord had smitten him.
21 ¶ And Uzziab the king was a leper vnto the day of his death, and dwelt as a leper in an house apart, because he was cut off from the house of the Lord: and Iotham his sonne ruled ouer the kings house, and iudged the people of the land.
22 Concerning the rest of the acts of Uzziab, first and last: did Iesaiab the Prophet the sonne of Amoz write.

3 Hee built the high ^c gate of the house of the Lord, and hee built very much on the wall of the castle.
4 Moreover, hee built cities in the mountaines of Iudah, and in the foresayd hee built palaces and towers.
5 And hee fought with the king of the children of Ammon, and prevailed against them. And the children of Ammon gaue him the same yeere an hundredth talents of silver, and ten thousand measures of wheate, and ten thousand of barley: this did the children of Ammon giue him both in the second yeere and the third.

his, & many prisoners, and brought them to Damascus: and hee was also deliuered into the hand of the king of Israel, which liuore him with a great slaughter.

6 For Ezechiah the son of Remaliah slew in Iudah fiftie thousand in one day, all & valiant men because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers.

7 And Zichri a mighty man of Ephraim slew Baalath the kings ion, and Azrikam the gouernour of the house, and Elkanah the second after the king.

8 And the children of Israel tooke prisoners of their brethren, & two hundred thousand of women, finnes, and daughters, and caried away much spoile of them, & brought the spoile to Samaria.

9 ¶ But there was a Prophet of the Lords, (whose name was Obed) and he went out before the holie that came to Samaria, and sayd vnto them, Beholde, because the Lord God of your fathers is wroth with Iudah, he hath deliuered them into your hands, and yee haue slaine them in a rage, that reacheth vnto heauen.

10 And now yee purpose to lye vnder the children of Iudah and Ierusalem as seruantes, and handmaidens vnto you: but are not you such, that finnes are with you before the Lord your God?

11 Now therefore heare me, and deliuer the captiues againe, which yee haue taken prisoners of your brethren: for the fierce wroth of the Lord is toward you.

12 Wherefore certaine of the chiefe of the children of Ephraim, Azariah the sonne of Iechoniah, Berechiah the sonne of Abeshilemoth, and Zebiziah the son of Shallum, and Amasa the sonne of Hadlat, stood up against them, that came from the warre, 13 And sayd vnto them, Bring not in the captiues hither: for this shalbe a sinne vpon vs against the Lord: ye intend to adde more to our finnes and to our trespass, though our trespass be great and the fierce wroth of God is against Israel.

14 So the army left the captiues and the spoile before the princes and all the Congregation.

15 And the men that were named by name, rose up and toke the prisoners, and with the spoile clothed all that were naked among them, and arrayed them, and shodde them, and gaue them meate and gaue them drinke, and anoynted them, and caried all that were feeble of them vpon asses, and brought them to Iericho the citie of palme trees to their brethren: so they returned to Samaria.

16 ¶ At that time did king Ahaz send vnto the kings of Assur to helpe him.

17 (For the Edomites came moreover, and slew of Iudah, & caried away captiues, 18 The Philistims also inuaded the cities in the low country, and toward the South of Iudah and toke Beth-Ghezi, and Aialon, and Gederath, and Eschocho, with the villages thereof, and Timnah, with her villages, and Gingo with her villages: and they dwelt there.

19 For the Lord had humbled Iudah, because of Ahaz King of Israel: for hee had brought vengeance vpon Iudah, and had greivously transgressed against the Lord.)

20 And Tilgath Pileser king of Assur came vnto him, who troubled him, and did not strengthen him.

21 For Ahaz took a portion out of the house of the Lord, and out of the kings house and of the priences, and gaue vnto the king of Assur: yet it helped him not.

22 And in the time of his tribulation did he yet trespass more against the Lord, (this is king Ahaz)

23 For he sacrificed vnto the gods of Damascus, which plagued him, and hee sayd, Because the gods of the kings of Aram helped them, I will sacrifice vnto them, & they will helpe me: yet they were his ruine, and of all Israel.

24 And Ahaz gathered the vessels of the house of God, and brake the vessels of the house of God, and shut vp the doores of the house of the Lord, and made him altars in euery corner of Ierusalem.

25 And in euery cite of Iudah hee made his places to burne incense vnto other gods, and prouoked to anger the Lord God of his fathers.

26 Concerning the rest of his actes, and all his wayes first and last, behold, they are written in the booke of the kings of Iudah and Israel.

27 And Ahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of Ierusalem, but brought him not vnto the sepulchres of the kings of Israel: and Hezekiah his sonne reigned in his stead.

19 And all the vessels which king Ahaz had cast aside when hee reigned, and transgressed, haue wee prepared and sanctified: and behold, they are before the Altar of the Lord.

20 ¶ And Hezekiah the king rose early and gathered the Princes of the cite, and went by to the house of the Lord.

21 And they brought seven bullocks, and seven rammes, and seven lambs, and seven hee goats, for a sinne offering for the kingdome, and for the Sanctuary, and for Iudah. And hee commanded the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, to offer them on the altar of the Lord.

22 So they slew the bullockes, and the Priests receiued the blood, and sprinkled it vpon the altar: they slew also the rammes, and sprinkled the blood vpon the altar, and they slew the lambs, and they sprinkled the blood vpon the altar.

23 Then they brought the hee goats for the sinne offering before the King and the Congregation, and they layd their hands vpon them,

24 And the Priests slew them, and with the blood of them: they cleansed the altar to reconcile all Israel: for the King had commanded for all Israel the burnt offering and the sinne offering.

25 Hee appointed also the Leuites in the house of the Lord with cymbales, with viols, and with harpes, according to the commandement of Dauid, and Gad the Kings Seer, and Nathan the Prophet: for the commandement was by the hand of the Lord, and by the hand of his Prophets.

26 And the Leuites stood with the instruments of Dauid, and the Priests with the trumpets.

27 And Hezekiah commanded to offer the burnt offering vpon the Altar: and when the burnt offering began, the song of the Lord beganne with the trumpets, and the instruments of Dauid King of Israel.

28 And all the Congregation worshipped, singing a song, and they blew the trumpets: all this continued untill the burnt offering was finished.

29 And when they had made an ende of offering, the king and all that were present with him, bowed themselves and worshipped.

30 ¶ Then Hezekiah the King and the Princes commanded the Leuites to praye the Lord with the words of Dauid, and of Alaph the Seer: so they prayd with ioy, and they bowed themselves and worshipped.

31 And Hezekiah spake, and sayd, Now ye haue sanctified your selves to the Lord: come nere and bring the sacrifices and offerings of praise into the house of the Lord. And the Congregation brought sacrifices, and offerings of prayes, and euery man that was willing in heart, offered burnt offerings.

32 And the number of the burnt offerings, which the Congregation brought, was leuentie bullockes, an hundred rammes, and two hundred lambs: all these were for a burnt offering to the Lord:

33 And for sanctification fire hundred bullockes, and three thousand sheepe.

34 But the Priests were too fewe, and were not able to slay all the burnt offerings, therefore their brethren the Leuites did help them, till they had ended the worke, and untill other Priests were sanctified: for the Leuites were more wyght in heart to sanctifie themselves, then the Priests.

35 And also the burnt offerings were many with the fat of the peace offerings, and the drinke offerings for the burnt offering: so the seruice of the house of the Lord was set in order.

k That is, the King and the Elders, as Leuit. 4. 15. for they that offered a sinne offering must lay their hands vpon it, to signifie that they had deserved that death, &c. also that they did consecrate it to God to be there by sanctified.

CHAP. XXX.

1. 13 The keeping of the Passouer by the kings commandement. 6 He exhorteth Israel to turne to the Lord. 18 He prayeth for the people. 24 His oblation and the princes. 27 The Levites bless the people.

Ad Hezekiah sent to all Israel, and Judah, and also wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasse, that they should come to the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, to keepe the Passouer vnto the Lord God of Israel.

2 And the king and his princes, and all the Congregation had taken counsell in Jerusalem to keepe the Passouer in the second moneth.

3 For they could not keepe it at this time, because there were not Priests enow sanctified, neither was the people gathered to Jerusalem.

4 And the thing pleased the king, and all the Congregation.

5 And they decreed to make proclamation thorowout all Israel from Beer-sheba euen to Dan, that they should come to keepe the Passouer vnto the Lord God of Israel at Jerusalem: for they had not done it of a great time, as it was writt in.

6 So the postes went with letters by the commission of the king and his princes, thorowout all Israel and Judah, and with the commandement of the king, saying, Pee children of Israel, turne againe vnto the Lord God of Abraham, Ishak, and Israel, and he will turne to the remnant that are escaped of you out of the hands of the kings of Asshur.

7 And be not ye like your fathers, & like your brethren, which trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers: and therefore he made them desolate as yet see.

8 We not see now stiffnecked like your fathers, but give the hand to the Lord, and come into his Sanctuary, which hee hath sanctified for euer, and serue the Lord your God, and the fiercenesse of his wrath shall turne away from you.

9 For if ye returne vnto the Lord, your brethren and your children shall finde mercie before them that led them captiues, and they shall returne vnto this land: for the Lord your God is gracious & mercifull, and will not turne away his face from you, if pee conuert vnto him.

10 So the postes went from city to city thorow the land of Ephraim & Manasse, euen vnto Zebulun: but they laughed them to scorne, and mocked them.

11 Nevertheless, diuers of Asher, and Manasse, and of Zebulun submitted themselves, and came to Jerusalem.

12 And the hand of God was in Judah, so that hee gaue them one heart to doe the commandement of the king, and of the rulers, according to the word of the Lord.

to wit, because his Spirit is with the one sort, and moueth their heart and the other are left to themselves.

13 And there assembled to Jerusalem much people, to keepe the feast of the vnleavened bread in the second moneth, a very great assembly.

14 And they arose, and tooke away the altars that were in Jerusalem: & all those for incense tooke they away, and cast them into the brooke Kidron.

15 Afterward they slew the Passouer the fouenteenth day of the second moneth: and the Priests and Levites were lashed, and sanctified themselves, and brought the burnt offerings into the house of the Lord.

16 And they stood in their place after their manner, according to the Law of Moses the man of God: and the Priests sprinkled the blood, received of the handes of the Levites.

17 Because there were many in the Congregation that were not sanctified, therefore the Levites had the charge of the killing of the Passouer for all that were not cleane, to sanctifie it to the Lord.

18 For a multitude of the people, euen a multitude of Ephraim, and Manasse, Issachar and Zebulun had not cleansed themselves, yet did eat the Passouer, but not as it was written: wherefore Hezekiah praised for them, saying, The good Lord be mercifull toward him, 19 That prepareth his whole heart to seeke the Lord God, the God of his fathers, though hee bee not cleansed, according to the purification of the Sanctuary.

20 And the Lord heard Hezekiah, and healed the people.

21 And the children of Israel that were present at Jerusalem, kept the feast of the vnleavened bread, seven dayes with great ioy, and the Levites, and the Priests praised the Lord day by day, singing with loud instruments vnto the Lord.

22 And Hezekiah & spake comfortably vnto all the Levites that had good knowledge to sing vnto the Lord: and they did eat in that feast seven dayes, and offered peace offerings, and praised the Lord God of their fathers.

23 And the whole assembly took counsell to keepe it other seven dayes. So they kept it seven dayes with ioy.

24 For Hezekiah king of Iudah had giuen to the Congregation a thousand bullocks, and seven thousand sheepe. And the princes had giuen to the Congregation a thousand bullocks, and ten thousand sheepe: and many Priests were sanctified.

25 And all the Congregation of Iudah reioyced with the Priests and the Levites, and all the Congregation that came out of Israel, & the strangers that came out of the land of Israel, and that dwell in Judah.

26 So there was great ioy in Jerusalem: for since the time of Solomon the sonne of David king of Israel, there was not the like thing in Jerusalem.

27 Then the Priests and the Levites arose, and blessed the people, and their voice was heard, and their prayer came up vnto heauen, to his holy habitation.

1 The people destroy idolatry. 2 Hezekiah appointed the Priests and Levites, 4 and provided for their living. 13 Hee ordereth overseers to distribute to every one his portion.

And when all these things were finished, all Israel that were found in the cities of Judah, went out and brake the Images, and cut downe the groves, and brake downe the high places, and the altars throughout all Judah and Benjamin, in Ephraim also and Iosh. 7. 1. 2. mac. 12. 40.

a According to the commandment of the Lord, Deut. 7. 25. b That is, all they which came to the Passouer.

2 And Hezekiah appointed the courses of the Priests and Levites, by their turnes every man according to his office, both Priests and Levites, for the burnt offering and peace offerings, to minister and to give thanks, and to praye in the gates of the tents of the Lord.

3 (And the Kings portion was of his owne substance for the burnt offerings, even for the burnt offerings of the morning and of the evening, and the burnt offerings for the Sabbaths, and for the new moones, and for the solemne feasts, as it is written in the Law of the Lord.)

4 Hee commanded also the people that dwelt in Jerusalem, to give a part to the Priests, and Levites, that they might be encouraged in the Law of the Lord.

5 And when the commandment was spread, the children of Israel brought abundance of first fruits of come, wine, and oyle, and honey, and of all the increase of the field, and the tithes of all things brought they abundantly.

6 And the children of Israel and Judah that dwelt in the cities of Judah, they also brought the tithes of bullockes and sheepe, and the holy tithes which were consecrate unto the Lord their God, and laid them on s many heapes.

7 In the third moneth they began to lay the foundation of the heapes, and finished them in the seventh moneth.

8 And when Hezekiah and the Princes came and saw the heapes, they blessed the Lord and his people Israel.

9 And Hezekiah questioned with the Priests and the Levites concerning the heapes.

10 And Azariah the chiefe Priest of the house of Sadok answered him, and sayd, Since the people began to bring the offerings into the house of the Lord, we haue eaten and haue bene satisfied, and there is left in abundance; for the Lord hath blessed his people, and this abundance that is left.

11 And Hezekiah commanded to prepare chambers in the house of the Lord; and they prepared them, 12 And caried in the first fruits, and the tithes, and the dedicate things faithfully, and ouer them was Conaniah the Levite, the chiefe, and Shimei his brother the second.

13 And Jehiel, and Azariah, and Ma-bath, and Afabel, and Jerimoth, and Tozabab, and Eliel, and Jinnachiah, and Zabab, and Benajah were overseers for the appointment of Conaniah, and Shimei his brother, and by the commandment of Hezekiah the King, & of Azariah the chiefe of the house of God.

14 And Kore the sonne of Jinnah the Leuite, porter toward the East, was ouer the things that were willingly offered vnto God, to distribute the oblations of the Lord, and the holy things that were consecrate.

15 And at his hand were Eden, & Biniamin, and Ieshua, and Shematah, Amariah, and Shebanyah, in the cities of the Priests, to distribute with fidelitie to their brethren by courses both to the great and small,

16 Their dayly portion: beside their generation being males from thre yere old and above, even to all that entered into the house of the Lord to their office in their charge, according to their courses:

17 Both to the generation of the Priests after the house of their fathers, and to the Levites, from twentie yere old and above, according to their charge in their courses:

18 And to the generation of all their children, their wiues, and their sonnes and their daughters throughout all the Congregation: for by their fidelitie are they partakers of the holy things.

19 Also to the sonnes of Aaron, the Priests, which were in the fields and suburbs of their cities, in every cite the men that were appointed by names, should give portions to all the males of the Priests, and to all the generation of the Levites.

20 And thus did Hezekiah throughout all Judah, and did well and uprightly, and truly before the Lord his God.

21 And in all the workes that hee began for the seruice of the house of God, both in the Law and in the Commandments, to seeke his God, hee did it with all his heart, and prospered.

k Who had also a portion and allowance in this distribution.

l Meaning, that either by the faithful distributions of the officers, every one had their part in the things that were offered, or else that their wiues and children were relieved, because the Levites were faithful in their office, and depended on them.

After these things faithfully described, Sancherib King of Asshur came and entered into Judah, and besieged the strong cities, and thought to winne them for himselfe.

2 When Hezekiah saw that Sancherib was come, and that his purpose was to fight against Jerusalem.

3 Then hee tooke counsell with his princes and his nobles, to stop the water of the fountaines without the cite: and they did helpe him.

kings of Asshur come, and finde much water?

5 And hee tooke courage, and built all the broken wall, and made by the towers, and another wall without, and repayed the pillars in the citie of Dauid, and made many darts and shields.

6 And he set captaines of warre ouer the people, and assembled them to him in the broad place of the gate of the citie, and he spake comfortably vnto them, saying,

7 Be strong and courageous: feare not, neither bee afraid for the King of Asshur, neither for all the multitude that is with him: for there be moe with vs, then is with him.

8 With him is an arme of flesh, but with vs is the Lord our God for to helpe vs, and to fight our battels. Then the people were confirmed by the wordes of Hezekiah king of Iudah.

9 After this did Saneherib king of As-sur send his seruants to Ierusalem (while he was against Lachish, and all his dominion with him) vnto Hezekiah king of Judah, and vnto all Iudah that were at Ieru-salem, saying,

10 Thus saith Saneherib the King of Asshur, Wherein doe ye trust, that ye will remaine in Ierusalem, during the siege?

11 Dost thou Hezekiah entice you to giue ouer your selues vnto death by famine and by thirst, saying, The Lord our God shall deliuer vs out of the hand of the king of As-sur?

12 Hath not the same Hezekiah taken away his high places & his altars, and commanded Iudah and Ierusalem, saying, We shall worship before one altar, and burne incense vpon it?

13 Know ye not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of other coun-treies? Are the gods of the nations of other lands able to deliuer their land out of mine hand?

14 Altho is hee of all the gods of those nations (that my fathers haue destroyed) that could deliuer his people out of mine hand, that your God should be able to deli-uer you out of mine hand?

15 Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceive you, nor seduce you after this sort, neither beloeue ye him: for none of all the gods of any nation or kingdome was able to de-liuer his people out of mine hand, and out of the hand of my fathers: how much lesse shall your gods deliuer you out of mine hand?

16 And his seruantes spake yet more against the Lord God, and against his seruant Hezekiah.

17 Wee wrote also letters, blaspheming the Lord God of Israel, and speaking against him, saying, As the gods of the nations of other countreies could not deliuer their people out of mine hand, so shall not the God of Hezekiah deliuer his people out of mine hand.

18 Then they cried with a loude voyce in the Iewes speech vnto the people of Jerusalem that were on the wall, to feare them and to astonish them, that they might take the citie.

19 Thus they spake against the God of Ierusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, euen the workes of mans hands.

20 But Hezekiah the king, and the Prophet Isaiah the sonne of Amos prayed against this, and cryed to heauen.

21 And the Lord sent an Angel which destroyed all the valiant men, and the princes and captaines of the hoste of the King of Asshur: so hee returned with shame to his owne land. And when hee was come into the house of his god, they that came forth of his owne bowels, slew him there with the sword.

22 So the Lord saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem from the hand of Saneherib King of Asshur, and from the hand of all other, and maintained them on euery side.

23 And many brought offerings vnto the Lord to Ierusalem, and presents to Hezekiah king of Iudah, so that he was magnified in the sight of all nations from thenceforth.

24 In those dayes Hezekiah was sicke vnto the death, and prayed vnto the Lord, who spake vnto him, and gaue him a signe.

25 But Hezekiah did not render according to the reward bestowed vpon him:
for his heart was lifted vp, and watch came vpon him, and vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.

26 Notwithstanding Hezekiah humbled himselfe (after that his heart was lifted vp) hee and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the wrath of the Lord came not vpon them in the dayes of Hezekiah.

27 Hezekiah also had exceeding much reches and honour, and hee gaue him treasures of silver and golde, and of precious stones, and of sweete odours, and of shields, and of all pleasant vessels:

28 And of storehouses for the increase of wheate and wine, and oyle, and stables for all beasts, and for cows for the stables.

29 And he made him cities, and had possession of sheepe and oren in abundance:
for God had giuen him instance exceeding much.

30 This same Hezekiah also stopped the upper water springs of Siloh, and ledde them straight underneath toward the citie of Dauid backward. So Hezekiah prospered in all his workes.

31 But because of the ambassadours of the princes of Babel, which sent vnto him to enquire of the wonder that was done in the land, God left him to try him, and to know all that was in his heart.

Manasseh was twelue yeere old, * when he began to reigne, and he reigned sine and fifty yeere in Ierusalem:

2 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, like the abominations of the heathen, * whom the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.

3 For hee went backe and buillt the high places, * which Jerzekiah his father had broken down: * and he set up altars for Baalim, and made groves, a worshipped all the hoste of the heauen, and serued them.

4 Also hee buillt altars in the house of the Lord, whereof the Lord had said, * In Ierusalem shall my Name be for euer.

5 And hee buillt altars for all the hoste of the heauen, in the two courts of the house of the Lord.

6 And hee caused his sonnes to passe thro-row the fire in the valley of Ben-hinnom: hee gaue himselfe to witchcraft, and to charming, and to sorcery, and hee vsed them that had familiar spirits, and soothsayers: hee did very much euill in the sight of the Lord to anger him.

7 He put also the earned image, which he had made, in the house of God, whereof God had said to Dauid, & to Salomon his sonne, * In this house, and in Ierusalem which I haue chosen before all the tribes of Israel, will I put my Name for euer.

8 Neither will I * make the foote of Israel to remooue any more out of the land which I haue appointed for your fathers, so that they shall kee thede, and doe all that I haue commanded them, according to the Lawe and statutes, and iudgements by the hand of Moyses.

9 So Manasseh made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to erre, and to doe worse then the heathen, whom the Lord had destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 ¶ And the Lord spake * to Manasseh and to his people, but they would not regard.

11 Therefore the Lord brought vpon them the captiues of the hoste of the king of Assur, which tooke Manasseh, and put him in fetters, and bound him in chaines, and caried him to Babel.

12 And when hee was in tribulation, hee prayed to the Lord his God, & humbled himselfe greatly before the God of his fathers, 13 And prayed vnto him: and God was increased of him, and heard his prayer, and brought him againe to Ierusalem into his kingdome: then Manasseh knew that the Lord was God.

14 Now after this, hee buillt a wall without the citie of Dauid, on the West side of Sion in the valley, euen at the entry of the fish gate, and compassed about Dophel, and raised it very he, and put captiues of warre in all the strong cities of Iudah.

15 And hee tooke away the strange gods and the image out of the house of the Lord, and all the altars that hee had buillt in the mount of the house of the Lord, and in Ierusalem, and cast them out of the city.

16 Also hee prepared the altar of the Lord, and sacrificed thereon peace offerings and of thankes, and commanded Iudah to serue the Lord God of Israel.

17 Nevertheless, the people did sacrifice still in the high places, but vnto the Lord their God.

18 ¶ Concerning the rest of the actes of Manasseh, & his prayer vnto his God, and the words of the Seers, that spake to him in the name of the Lord God of Israel, behold, they are written in the booke of the kings of Israel.

19 And his prayer, and how God was in-treated of him, and all his sinne, and his tres-passe, and the places wherein hee buillt his places, and let groves and images (before he was humbled) behold, they are written in the booke of the Seers.

20 So Manasseh slept with his fathers, and they buried him in his owne house, and Amon his sonne reigned in his stead.

nasseh his father had made, & serued them.

23 And hee humbled not himselfe before the Lord, as Manasseh his father had humbled himselfe: but this Amon trespassed more and more.

24 And his seruants * conspired against him, and slew him in his owne house.

25 But the people of the land slew all them that had conspired against king Amon: and the people of the land made Josiah his sonne king in his stead.

p This ſhe ſpeaketh in conſequence of the idolaters, who contrary to reaſon & nature make that a god, which they haue made and framed with their owne hands.

(when he was yet a child) he beganne to ſeek after the God of Dauid his father, and in the twelfth yeere he began to purge Iudah and Ieruſalem from the high places and the groves, and the carved images and molten images,

4 And they brake downe in his ſight the altars of Baalim, and he cauſed to cut downe the images that were on high upon them: he brake alſo the groves, and the carved images, and the molten images, and ſtampeth them to powder, and ſtrowed it vpon the graues of them that had ſacrificed vnto them.

5 Alſo he burnt the bones of the prieſts vpon their altars, and purged Iudah and Ieruſalem.

6 And in the cities of Manaſſeh, and Ephraim, and Simeon, even vnto Naphtali, with their manes they brake all round about.

7 And when he had deſtroyed the altars and the groves, and had broken and ſtamped to powder the images, and had cut downe all the idoles throughout all the land of Iſrael, he returned to Ieruſalem.

8 ¶ Then in the eighteenth yeere of his reign when he had purged the land and the Temple, he ſent Shaphan the ſonne of Azabiah, and Maſſiah the Governour of the city, and Ioſiah the ſonne of Ioſias the Recorder, to repara the houſe of the Lord his God.

9 And when they came to Hilkiah the high Priſt, they deliuered the money that was brought into the houſe of God, which the Leuites that kept the doore had gathered at the hand of Manaſſeh, and Ephraim, and all the reſidue of Iſrael, and of all Iudah and Benjamin, and of the inhabitants of Ieruſalem.

10 And they put it in the hands of them that ſhould doe the worke, and had the ouerſight in the houſe of the Lord: and they gaue it to the workmen that wrought in the houſe of the Lord, to repara and amend the houſe.

11 Euen to the workmen and to the builders gaue they it, to buy hewed ſtone and timber for complex and for beams of the houſes, which the kings of Iudah had deſtroyed.

12 And the men did the worke faithfully, and the ouerſeers of them were Iahath and Obadiah the Leuites, of the children of Aſerai, and Zechariah, and Beſhullam, of the children of the Koſathites to ſet it forward: and of the Leuites, all that could ſkill of instruments of muſicke.

13 And they were ouer the bearers of burdens, & them that ſet forward all the workmen in euery worke: and of the Leuites were ſcribes, and officers and porters.

14 ¶ And when they brought out the money that was brought into the houſe of the Lord, Hilkiah the Priſt found the booke of the Law of the Lord giuen by the hand of Moſes.

15 Therefore Hilkiah answered, and ſaid to Shaphan the chanceller, I haue found the Booke of the Law in the houſe of the Lord: and Hilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan.

16 And Shaphan carried the booke to the king, and brought the king word againe, ſaying, All that is committed to the hand of thy ſervants, that doe they.

17 For they haue gathered the money that was found in the houſe of the Lord, & haue deliuered it into the hands of the ouerſeers, and to the hands of the workmen.

18 Alſo Shaphan the chanceller declared to the king, ſaying, Hilkiah the Priſt hath giuen me a booke: and Shaphan read it before the king.

19 And when the king had heard the words of the Law, he tare his clothes.

20 And the king commanded Hilkiah and Ahikam the ſonne of Shaphan, and Abdon the ſonne of Micah, and Shaphan the chanceller, and Aſaiah the kings ſeruant, ſaying, 21 Go and enquire of the Lord for me, and for the reſt in Iſrael and Iudah, concerning the words of this Booke that is found: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is fallen vpon vs, becauſe our fathers haue not kept the word of the Lord, to doe after all that is written in this booke.

22 Then Hilkiah and they that the king had appointed, went to Iudah the Wiſdomesſes the wiſe of Shalhum, the ſon of Tokiah, the ſonne of Iſaiah keeper of the wardrobe (and ſhe dwelt in Ieruſalem within the college) and they communed hereof with her.

23 And ſhe answered them, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Tell yee the man that ſent you to me.

24 Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will bring euil vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants thereof, euen all the curſes that are written in the booke which they haue read before the king of Iudah:

25 Becauſe they haue forſaken mee, and burnt incenſe vnto other gods, to anger mee with all the works of their hands, therefore ſhall my wrath fall vpon this place, and ſhall not be quenched.

26 But to the king of Iudah, who ſent you to inquire of the Lord, ſo ſhall ye ſay vnto him, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, The words which thou haſt heard, that come to paſſe.

27 But becauſe thine heart did meſt, and thou didſt humble thy ſelfe before God, when thou heardeſt his words againſt this place, and againſt the inhabitants thereof, & humbledſt thy ſelfe before mee, and tareſt thy clothes, and wepteſt before mee, I haue alſo heard it, ſaith the Lord.

28 Behold, I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou ſhalt be put in thy graue in peace, and thine eyes ſhall not ſee all the euil which I will bring vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants of the ſame. Thus they brought the king word againe.

This ſhe ſpeaketh in conſequence of the idolaters, who contrary to reaſon & nature make that a god, which they haue made and framed with their owne hands.

This declareth what is the end of Gods threatenings, to call him to repentance, & to aſſure & vncertain of their deſtruction.

It may appeare that very few were touched with true repentance, ſeeing that God ſpared them for a time, onely for the kings ſake.

if Forasmuch as neither yong nor old could be exempted from the curles contained therein, it they did transgresse, he knew it appertained to all, &c. was his dutie to see it read to all sorts, that every one might learne to auoide those punishments by seru- uing God aright. ¶ Because he had charge ouer al, & must anwere for euery one y^e perished, he thought it his dutie to see that all should make profession to receiue the word of God.

32 And hee called all that were found in Ierusalem and Benjamin to stand forth: and the inhabitants of Ierusalem did according to the couenant of God, euen the God of their fathers.

23 So Iosiah tooke away all the abomi- nations out of all the countreys that pertai- ned to the children of Israel, and compelled all that were found in Israel, to serue the Lord their God: so all his dayes they turned not backe from the Lord God of their fa- thers.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Iosiah keepeth the Passouer. 2 Hee setteth forth Gods seruice. 20 Hee fighteth against the king of Egypt, and dieth. 24 The people bewaile him.

¶ Passouer Iosiah kept a Passouer vn- to the Lord in Ierusalem, and they slew the Passouer in the fourteenth day of the first month.

2 And he appointed the Priestes to their charges, and encouraged them to the seruice of the house of the Lord.

3 And hee sayd vnto the Leuites that taught all Israel, and were sanctified vnto the Lord. But the holy Arke in the house which Solomon the sonne of Dauid king of Israel did build: it shall be no more a bur- den vpon your shoulders: serue now the Lord your God and his people Israel.

4 And prepare y^e selues by the houses of your fathers according to your courses, as Dauid the king of Israel hath written, and according to the writing of Solomon his sonne,

5 And stand in the Sanctuary according to the diuision of the families of your bre- thren // the children of the people, and after the diuision of the family of the Leuites:

6 So kill the Passouer, and sanctifie your selues, and prepare your brethren that they may doe according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

7 Iosiah also gaue to the Priestes sheepe, lambs, and kids, all for the Passouer, euen to all that were present, to the number of thirtie thousand, and three thousand bul- lockes: these were of the kings substance.

8 And his Princes offered willingly vnto the people, to the Priestes, and to the Le- uites: Hilkiah, and Zechariah, and Jehiel, rulers of the house of God, gaue vnto the Priestes for y^e Passouer, euen two thousand and six hundred sheepe, and three hundred bullockes.

9 ¶ Conaniah also and Shematah and Athanael his brethren, and Bahabiah and Zeiel, and Iosabab, chiefe of the Leuites gaue vnto the Leuites for the Passouer, five thousand sheepe, and five hundred bul- lockes.

10 Thus the seruice was prepared, and the Priestes stood in their places, all the Leuites in their orders, according to the kings commandement:

11 And they slew the Passouer, and the Priestes sprinkled the blood with their hands, and the Leuites slayed them.

12 And they tooke away from the burnt offering to giue it according to the diuisions of the families of the children of the people to offer vnto the Lord, as it is written in the booke of Moses, and so of the bullockes.

13 And they roasted the Passouer with fire, according to the custome, but the sanc- tified things they sod in pots, pans, and cal- drons, and distributed them quickly to all the people.

14 Afterward also they prepared for them- selues and for the Priestes: for the Priestes the somes of Aaron were occupied in offer- ring of burnt offerings, and the fatte drinck night: therefore the Leuites prepared for themselves, and for the Priestes the somes of Aaron.

15 And the singers the somes of Asaph stood in their standing according to the commandement of Dauid and Asaph, and Beman, and Jeduthan the kings Seer: and the porters at euery gate, who might not depart from their seruice: therefore their brethren the Leuites prepared for them.

16 So all the seruice of the Lord was pre- pared the same day to keepe the Passouer, and to offer burnt offerings vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commande- ment of king Iosiah.

17 And the children of Israel that were present, kept the Passouer the same time, and the feast of the unleauened bread seven dayes.

18 And there was no Passouer kept like that in Israel, from the dayes of Samuel the Prophet: neither did all the kings of Israel keepe such a Passouer as Iosiah kept, and the Priestes and the Leuites, and all Iudah and Israel that were present, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

19 This Passouer was kept in the eigh- teenth yeere of the reigne of Iosiah.

20 ¶ After all this, when Iosiah had prepared the Temple, Necho king of Egypt came up to fight against Carchemish // Berach, and Iosiah went out against him.

21 But hee sent messengers to him, say- ing, Whar haue I to doe with thee, thou king of Iudah? I come not against thee this day, but against the house of mine enemy, and God commanded mee to make haste: I leave off to come against God, which is with me, lest hee destroy thee.

22 But Iosiah would not turne his face from him, but changed his apparell to fight with him, and hearkened not to the words of Necho, which were of the mouth of God: but came to fight in the valley of Megiddo.

f Meaning, of the lambe which was called the Passouer: for onely the Priestes might sprinkle, and in necessi- ty the Leuites might kill the sacrifice. g They reserved for the people that which was not expedient to be offered, that euery man might offer peace offerings, and so haue his por- tion. 25 And Ieremiah lamented Iosiah, and all singing men and singing women mourned for Iosiah in their lamentations to this day, and made the same for an ordinance vnto Israel: and behold, they bee written in the Lamentations.

1 After Iosiah, reigned Iehoaahaz. 4 After Iehoaahaz, Iehoiakim. 8 After him Iehoaichin. 11 After him Zedekiah. 14. 17 in whose time all the people were carried away to Babel for concerning the admonitions of the Prophets, 22 and were restored againe the fourtieth yeere after by King Cyrus.

When the people of the land tooke Iehoaahaz the sonne of Iosiah, and made him king in his fathers stead in Ierusalem.

2 Iehoaahaz was thre and twentie yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned thre moneths in Ierusalem.

3 And the King of Egypt tooke him away at Ierusalem, and condemned the land in an hundred talents of silver, and a talent of gold.

4 And the king of Egypt made Eliahim his brother King ouer Iudah and Ierusalem, and turned his name to Iehoiakim: and Necho tooke Iehoaahaz his brother, and carried him to Egypt.

5 Iehoiakim was fine and twentie yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeere in Ierusalem, and did euill in the sight of the Lord his God.

6 Against him came by Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and bound him with chaines to carie him to Babel.

7 Nebuchad nezzar also caried of the vessels of the house of the Lord to Babel, and put them in his Temple at Babel.

8 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iehoiakim, and his abominations which hee did, and that which was found vpon him, behold, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Israel and Iudah: and Iehoiachin his sonne reigned in his stead.

9 Iehoiachin was eight yeere olde when hee began to reigne, and hee reigned thre moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and did euill in the sight of the Lord.

10 And when the yeere was out, King Nebuchad-nezzar sent and brought him to Babel, with the precious vessels of the house of the Lord, and he made Zedekiah his brother king ouer Iudah and Ierusalem.

11 Zedekiah was one and twentie yeere olde when hee began to reigne, and reigned eleuen yeere in Ierusalem.

12 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord his God, and humbled not himselfe before Ieremiah the Prophet at the commandement of the Lord.

13 But hee rebelled moreover against Nebuchad nezzar, which had caused him to sweare by God: and hee hardened his necke and made his heart obstinate that he might not returne to the Lord God of Israel.

14 All the chiefe of the Priests also, and of the people trespassed wonderfully, according to all the abominations of the heathen, and polluted the house of the Lord which hee had sanctified in Ierusalem.

15 Therefore the Lord God of their fathers sent to them by his messengers, rising early and sending: for hee had compassion on his people, and on his habitation.

16 But they mocked the messengers of God, and despised his words, and mistuled his Prophets, vntill the wrath of the Lord arose against his people, and till there was no remedie.

17 For hee brought vpon them the King of the Caldeans, who slew their yong men with the sword in the house of their Sanctuarie, and spared neither yong man, nor virgin, ancient, nor aged: God gaue all into his hand.

18 And all the vessels of the house of God, great and small, and the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king, and of his princes: all these caried hee to Babel.

19 And they burnt the house of God, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, and burnt all the palaces thereof with fire, and all the precious vessels thereof to destroy all.

20 And they that were left by the sword, caried be away to Babel, and they were seruants to him and to his sonnes, vntill the kingdome of the Persians had rule.

21 To fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Ieremiah, vntill the land had her fill of her Sabbaths: for all the dayes that she lay desolate, she kept Sabbath, to fulfill seuentie yeeres.

22 But in the first yeere of Cyrus king of Persia (when the word of the Lord spoken by the mouth of Ieremiah, was finished) the Lord stirred by the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, and hee made a Proclamation thoroow all his kingdome, and also by writing, saying,

23 Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, All the kingdomes of the earth hath the Lord God of heauen giuen me, and he hath commanded mee to build vp an house in Ierusalem, that is in Iudah. Who is among you of all his people, with whom the Lord his God is: let him goe vp.

The prayer of Manasseh king of the Iewes.

This prayer is not in the Hebrew, but is translated out of the Greeke.

O Lord Almighty, God of our fathers Abraham, Iſhak, and Iaakob, and of these righteous Iewes, which hast made heauen and earth with all their ornament, which hast bound the sea by the word of thy commandement, which hast shut by the deepe, and sealed it by thy terrible and glorious name, whom all doe feare, and tremble before thy power: for the maiestie of thy glory cannot be borne, and thine angrie threatning toward sinners is insupportable, but thy mercifull promise is unmeasurable and unsearchable. For thou art the most high Lord, of great compassion, long suffering, and most mercifull, and repented for mans miseries. Thou, O Lord, according to thy great goodnesse hast promised repentance and forgiveness to them that sinne against thee, and for thine infinite mercies hast appointed repentance unto sinners, that they may be saued. Thou therefore, O Lord, that art the God of the iust, hast not appointed repentance to the iust, as to Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, which haue not sinned against thee, but thou hast appointed repentance vnto mee, that am a sinner: for I haue sinned aboue the number of the sand of the sea. My transgressions, O Lord, are multiplied: my transgressions are exceeding many: and I am not worthy to behold and see the bright of the heauens, for the multitude of mine unrighteousnesse. I am bowed downe with many prison bands, that I cannot lift vp mine head, neither haue any release. For I haue prouoked thy wrath, and done euill before thee. I did not thy will, neither kept I thy commandements, I haue set by abominations: and haue multiplied offences. Now therefore I bow the knee of mine heart, beseeching thee of grace. I haue sinned, O Lord, I haue sinned, and I acknowledge my transgressions: but I humbly beseech thee, forgive me, O Lord, forgive me, and destroy me not with my transgressions. Be not angry with mee for ever by referring euill for me, neither condemne me into the lower parts of the earth. For thou art the God, even the God of them that repent: and in me thou wilt shew all thy goodnesse: for thou wilt saue me that am unworthy, according to thy great mercie: therefore I will praise thee for ever all the dayes of my life. For all the powers of the heauens praise thee, and thine is the glory for ever and euer. Amen.

a Thou hast promised that repentance shalbe the way for them to returne to thee.
b He speaketh this in comparison of himselfe, and these holy fathers which haue their commendation in the Scriptures, so that in respect of himselfe he calleceth their sinnes nothing, but attributeth vnto them righteousness.

Ezra.

THE ARGUMENT.

As the Lord is ever mercifull vnto his Church, and doeth not punish them, but to the intent they should see their owne miseries, and be exercised vnder the crosse, that they might contemne the world, and aspire vnto the heauens: so after that he had visited the Iewes, & kept them now in bondage twenty yeeres in a strange country, among infidels and idolaters, he remembered his tender mercies and their infirmities, and therefore for his owne sake raised them vp a Deliuerer, and conquered both the heart of the chiefe ruler to pittie them, and also by him punish such, which had kept them in seruitude. Notwithstanding lest they should grow into a contempt of Gods great benefice, he keepeth them still in exercise, and raiseth domestick enemies, which endeavour as much as they can to hinder their most worthy enterprises: yet by the exhortation of the Prophets they went forward by little and little till their worke was finished. The author of this booke was Ezra, who was Priest and Scribe of the Law, as Chap. 7. 6. Hee returned to Ierusalem the sixt yeere of Darius, who succeeded Cyrus, that is, about fittie yeeres after the returne of the first vnder Zerubbabel, when the Temple was built. Hee brought with him a great company, and much treasures, with letters to the kings officers for all such things as should be necessary for the Temple: and at his coming hee redressed that which was amisse, and set the things in good order.

CHAP. I.

1 Cyrus sendeth againe the people that was in captivity, 8 and restoreth them their holy vessels.

Now in the first yeere of Cyrus king of Persia (that by the word of the Lord, spoken by the mouth of Ieremias, might be accomplished) the Lord stirred by the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, and he made a proclamation thowall all his kingdom, and also by writing, saying,

2 Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, The Lord God of heauen hath giuen me all the kingdomes of the earth, and hee hath commanded me to build him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudah.

3 Who is he among you of all his people which whom his God is: let him goe vp to Ierusalem, which is in Iudah, and build the house of the Lord God of Israel: hee is the God which is in Ierusalem.

4 And every one that remaineth in any place (where he sojourneth) let the men of his place relieue him with silver and with golde, and with substance, and with cattell, and with a willing offering, for the house of God that is in Ierusalem.

5 Then the chiefe fathers of Iudah and Benjamin, and the Priests and Leuites rose up, with all them whose spirit God had raised to goe vp to build the house of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.

If any through poverty were not able to returne, the Kings commission was that he should be furnished with necessities. f Which they then sent toward the Temple.

sonnes of Habatah, the sonnes of Coz, the sonnes of Barzillai: which took of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite to wife, and was called after their name.

62 These sought their writing of the genealogies, but they were not found: therefore were they put from the Priesthood.

63 And Tirshatha said unto them, that they should nor eat of the most holy thing, till there rose up a Priest with Urin and Thummin.

64 The whole Congregation together was two and forty thousand, three hundred and threescore.

65 Besides their seruants & their maids:
of whom were seven thousand, three hundred and seven and thirtie: and among them were two hundred singing men and singing women.

66 Their horses were seven hundred and five and thirtie: their mules two hundred and five and fourtie:

67 Their camels foure hundred and five and thirtie: their asses, five thousand seven hundred and twentie.

68 And certaine of the chiefe fathers, when they came to the house of the Lord, which was in Jerusalem, they offered willingly for the house of God, to set it up vpon his foundation.

69 They gaue after their abilitie vnto the treasure of the worke, even one and three-score thousand drammes of gold, and five thousand pieces of silver, and an hundred Priests garments.

70 So the Priests and the Levites, and a certaine of the people, and the singers and the porters, and the Meshinims dwelt in their cities, and all Israel in their cities.

CHAP. III.

1 They build the Altar of God, 6 They offer to the Lord, 7 They prepare for the Temple, 11 and sing vnto the Lord.

AND * when the ¹ seventh moneth was come, and the children of Israel were in their cities, the people assembled themselues as one man vnto Ierusalem.

2 Then stood up Ieshua the sonne of Jozadak, and his brethren the Priests, and Zerubbabel the ² sonne of Shealtiel, and his brethren, and builded the Altar of the God of Israel, to offer burnt offerings thereon, as it is written in the Law of Moses, the man of God,

3 And they set the Altar vpon ³ his bases (for feare was among them, because of the people of those countreys) therefore they offered burnt offerings thereon vnto the Lord, euen burnt offerings in the morning, and at euen.

4 They kept also the feast of the Tabernacles, as it is written, ⁴ the burnt offering * daily, by number according to the custome day by day.

5 And afterward ⁵ the continuall burnt offering, both in the new moneths and in all the feast daies that were consecrate vnto the Lord, and in all the oblations willingly offered vnto the Lord.

6 From the first day of the seventh mo-neth began they to offer burnt offerings vnto the Lord: but the foundation of the Temple of the Lord was not layd.

7 They gaue money also vnto the masons, and to the workemen, and meate and drinke and oyle vnto them of Sidon and of Tyus, to bring them Cedar wood from Lebanon to the sea vnto Iaybo, according to the grant that they had of Cyus king of Persia.

8 And in the second yeere of their com-ming vnto the house of God in Ierusalem in the ⁶ second moneth, began Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Ieshua the sonne of Jozadak, and the remnant of their brethren the Priests and the Levites, and all they that were come out of the captiuitie vnto Ierusalem, and appointed the Levites from twentie yeere old and aboue, to set forward the worke of the house of the Lord.

9 And Ieshua stood with his sonnes, and his brethren, and Kadmiel with his sonnes, and the sonnes of Iudah together to set forward the workemen in the house of God, and the sonnes of Ienadab with their sonnes, and their brethren the Levites.

10 And when the builders layd the foundation of the Temple of the Lord, they appointed the Priests in their appaell with Trumpets, and the Levites the sonnes of Alaph with Cymbals, to praise the Lord,
 * after the ordinance of Dauid King of Israel.

11 Thus they sang when they gaue praise, and when they gaue thanks vnto the Lord,
 For he is good, for his mercie endureth foreuer toward Israel. And all the people shouted with a great shout, when they praised the Lord, because the foundation of the house of the Lord was layd.

CHAP. IIII.

2 The building of the Temple is hindered, and how.

11 Letters to Artaxerxes, and the answer.

BUT the adversaries of Judah and Benjamin heard, that the children of the captivity builded the Temple unto the Lord God of Israel.

2 And they came to Zerubbabel, and to the chiefe fathers, and said unto them, Wee will build with you: for we seeke the Lord your God, as ye doe, and wee haue sacrificed unto him, since the time of Dar Haddon king of Assyria, which brought vs by hither.

3 Then Zerubbabel, and Iehua, and the rest of the chiefe fathers of Israel, said unto them, It is not for you, but for vs to build the house unto our God: for wee our selues together will build it unto the Lord God of Israel, as King Cyrus the King of Persia hath commanded vs.

4 Wherefore the people of the land & discouraged the people of Judah, and troubled them in building,

5 And they hired counsellors against them, to hinder their deuce, all the dayes of Cyrus king of Persia, even untill the reigne of Darius king of Persia.

6 And in the reigne of Ahasuerus (in the beginning of his reigne) wrote they an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.

7 And in the dayes of Artabshashter, Mithredath, Tabeel, and the rest of their companions wrote when it was peace, unto Artabshashter King of Persia, & the writing of the letter was the Aramites writing, and the thing declared was in the language of the Aramites.

8 Rehun the Chancellor, and Shimsai the Scribe wrote a letter against Jerusalem to Artabshashter the king in this sort.

9 Then wrote Rehun the Chancellor, and Shimsai the Scribe, and their companions, Dinaie, and Apparsathate, Carpelai, Apparsate, Archemiae, Wablai, Shushanchar, Debaue, Elmaie.

10 And the rest of the people whom the great & noble Asnappar brought over and set in the cities of Samaria, and other that are beyond the River and Cheeneth.

11 This is the copie of the Letter that they sent unto King Artabshashter, THY SERVANTS the men beyond the River and Cheeneth, salute thee.

12 Be it known unto the King, that the Jewes which came up from thee to vs, are come unto Jerusalem (a citie rebellious and wicked) and build, and lay the foundations of the walles, and haue toynd the foundations.

13 Be it known now unto the King, that if this citie be built, and the foundations of the walles layd, they will not giue toll, tribute, nor custom: so shalt thou hinder the Kings tribute.

14 Now therefore because we haue bene brought up in the Kings palace, it was not meete for vs to see the Kings dishonour: for this cause haue wee sent and certified the King,

15 That one may search in the booke of the Chronicles of thy fathers, and thou shalt find in the booke of the Chronicles, and perceiue that this citie is rebellious & noisome unto Kings & prouinces, and that they haue mooued Edition of olde time, for the which cause this citie was destroyed.

16 We certifie the King therefore, that if this citie be builded, and the foundation of the walles layd, by this meanes the portion beyond the River shall not be thine.

17 The King sent an answer unto Rehun the Chancellour, and Shimsai the Scribe, and to the rest of their companions that dwell in Samaria, and unto the other beyond the River, Shelam, and Chereth.

18 The letter which yee sent unto vs, hath bene openly read before me, 19 And I haue commanded and they haue searched, and found, that this citie of olde time hath made insurrection against kings, and hath rebelled, and rebellion hath bene committed therein.

20 There haue bene mighty Kings also ouer Jerusalem, which haue ruled ouer all beyond the River, and toll, tribute, and custome was giuen unto them.

21 Make ye now a decree, that those men may cease, and that the citie be not built till I haue giuen another commandement.

22 Take heede now that ye faile not to doe this: why should damage grow to hurt the king?

23 When the copie of king Artabshashtes letter was read before Rehun and Shimsai the Scribe, and their companions, they went up in all the haste to Jerusalem unto the Jewes, and caused them to cease by force and power.

24 Then ceased the worke of the house of God which was in Jerusalem, and did stay unto the second yere of Darius king of Persia.

3 At the same time came to them Tatnai, which was capitaine beyond the riuer, and Shethar-boznai and their companions, and said thus vnto them, Who hath giuen you commandement to build this house, and to lay the foundations of these walls?

4 Then said wee vnto them after this manner, What are the names of the men that build this building?

5 But the eye of their God was vpon the Elders of the Iewes, that they could not cause them to cease, till the matter came to Darius: and then they answered by letters therunto.

6 The copie of the letter, that Tatnai capitaine beyond the Riuer, and Shethar-boznai and his companions, Apharshate, (which were beyond the Riuer) sent vnto king Darius.

7 They sent a letter vnto him, wherein it was written thus, VNTO DARIUS the king, all peace.

8 We it known vnto the king, that wee went into the prouince of Iudea, to the house of the great God, which is builded with great stones, and beames are layde in the walles, and this worke is wrought speedily, and prospereth in their hands.

9 Then asked we those Elders, and said vnto them thus, Who hath giuen you commandement to build this house, and to lay the foundation of these walls?

10 We asked their names also, that wee might certifie thee, and that we might write the Names of the men that were their rulers.

11 But they answered vs thus, and said, Wee are the seruants of the God of heauen and earth, and builde the house that was built of olde and many yeeres agoe, which a great king of Israel builded, and founded it.

12 But after that our fathers had provoked the God of heauen vnto wrath, he gaue them ouer into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel the Caldean, and he destroyed this house, and carried the people away captiue vnto Babel.

13 But in the first yere of Cyrus king of Babel, king Cyrus made a decree to build this house of God.

14 And the vessels of gold and silver of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took out of the Temple that was in Ierusalem, and brought them into the temple of Babel, those did Cyrus the king take out of the temple of Babel, and they gaue them vnto one Sheshbazzar by his name, whom hee had made capitaine.

15 And he said vnto him, Take these vessels and goe thy way, and put them in the Temple that is in Ierusalem, and let the house of God be built in his place.

16 Then came the same Sheshbazzar, and laid the foundation of the house of God, which is in Ierusalem, and since that time euen vntill now, hath it bene in building, yett is it not finished.

17 Now therefore if it please the king, let there bee search made in the house of the kings treasures, which is there in Babel, whether a decree hath bene made by king Cyrus, to build this house of God in Ierusalem, and let the king send his minde concerning this.

13 ¶ Then Tarnai the captaine beyond the river, and Setherbar Boznai and their companions, according to that which Darius had sent, to they did speedily.

14 So the Elders of the Jewes builded, and they prospered by the prophesying of Haggai the Prophet, and Zechariah the sonne of Iddo, and they builded and finished it, by the appointment of the God of Israel, and by the commandement of Cyrus and Darius, and Artahshashtes King of Persia.

15 And this house was finished the third day of the moneth Adar, which was the first yeere of the reigne of King Darius.

16 And the children of Israel, the Priests and the Leuites, and the residue of the children of the captiuitie, kept the dedication of this house of God with top.

17 And offered at the dedication of this house of God an hundred bullockes, two hundred rammes, foure hundred lambs, and twelue goats, for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the tribes of Israel.

18 And they set the Priests in their order, and the Leuites in their courses ouer the seruice of God in Jerusalem, as it is written in the booke of Moses.

19 And the children of the captiuitie kept the Pascheouer on the fourteenth day of the first moneth.

20 (For the Priests and the Leuites were purified all together) and they killed the Pascheouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priests, and for themselves.

¶ By the commandement of the King, Ezra and his companions come to Ierusalem, 27 Hee giueth thanks to God.

NOW after these things in the reigne of Artahshashtes King of Persia, was Ezra the sonne of Seraiab, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Ithiah.

2 The sonne of Shallum, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Abitub.

3 The sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Haraioth.

4 The sonne of Seraiah, the sonne of Azai, the sonne of Bukkai.

5 The sonne of Abisua, the sonne of Phinehas, the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of Aaron the chiefe Priest.

6 This Ezra came vp from Babel, and was a Scribe prompt in the Law of Moses, which the Lord God of Israel had giuen, and the King gaue him all his request according to the hand of the Lord his God which was vpon him.

7 And there went by certaine of the children of Israel, and of the Priests, and the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters, and the Methinims, vnto Jerusalem, in the seventh yeere of King Artahshashtes.

8 And he came to Jerusalem in the first moneth, which was in the seventh yeere of the King.

9 For vpon the first day of the first moneth began he to goe vp from Babel, and on the first day of the first moneth, came he to Jerusalem, according to the good hand of his God, that was vpon him.

10 For Ezra had prepared his heart to seeke the Law of the Lord, and to doe it, and to teach the precepts and iudgements in Israel.

11 ¶ And this is the copie of the letter that King Artahshashtes gaue vnto Ezra the Priest and scribe, euen a writer of the words of the Commandements of the Lord, and of his statutes ouer Israel.

12 ARTAHSHASHTES King of kings, to Ezra the Priest and persite Scribe of the Law of the God of heauen, and to Thee.

13 I haue giuen commandement, that euery one that is willing in my kingdom of the people of Israel and of the Priests, and Leuites, to goe to Jerusalem with thee, shall goe.

14 Therefore art thou sent of the King and his senen counsellors, to enquire in Iudah and Jerusalem, according to the Law of thy God, which is in thine hand.

15 And to carry the silver and the gold, which the King and his counsellors willingly offer vnto the God of Israel (whose habitation is in Jerusalem).

16 And all the silver and gold that thou canst finde in all the prouince of Babel, with the free offering of the people, and that which the Priests offer willingly to the house of their God which is in Jerusalem.

17 That thou mayest buy speedily with this silver, bullockes, rammes, lambs, with their meate offerings, and their drinke offerings, and thou shalt offer them vpon the altar of the house of your God, which is in Jerusalem.

18 And whatsoever it pleaseth thee and thy brethren to doe with the rest of the silver and gold, doe yee it according to the will of your God.

19 And the vessels that are giuen thee for the seruice of the house of thy God, those deliver thou before God in Jerusalem.

20 And the residue that shall be needfull for the house of thy God, which shall be meet for thee to bestow, thou shalt bestow it out of the Kings treasure house.

14 And of the sonnes of Bignai, Uchab, and Zabud, and with them seuenie males.

15 And I gathered them to the River that goeth toward Abana, and there abode wee three dayes: then I viewed the people, and the Priests, and found there none of the sonnes of Levi.

16 Therefore sent I to Eliezer, to Ariel, to Shemeiah, and to Elnathan, and to Jariib, and to Elnathan, and to Machan, and to Zechariah, and to Meshullam the chiefe, and to Jochabib, and to Elnathan, men of vnderstanding, 17 And I gaue them commandement, to Iddo the chiefe at the place of Caliphia, and I told them the words that they should speake to Iddo, and to his brethren the Re-thinims at the place of Caliphia, that they should cause the ministers of the house of our God to come vnto vs.

18 So by the god hand of our God, which was vpon vs, they brought vs a man of vnderstanding of the sonnes of Bahali the sonne of Levi: the sonne of Israel, and She-rebia with his sonnes and his brethren, euen eightene.

19 Also Bahabiah, and with him Ieshaiab of the sonnes of Merari, with his brethren and their sonnes twentie.

21 And there at the River, by Abana, I proclaimed a fast, that we might humble our selues before our God, and seeke of him a right way for vs, and for our children, and for all our substance.

22 For I was ashamed to require of the king an armie and horsemen, to helpe vs against the enemy in the way, because we had spoken to the king, saying, The hand of our God is vpon all them that seeke him in godnesse, but his power and his wrath is against all them that forsake him.

23 So we fasted, and besought our God for this: and he was intreated of vs.

29 Watch ye, and keepe them vntill ye weigh them before the chiefe Priests, and the Leuites, and the chiefe fathers of Israel in Jerusalem in the chambers of the house of the Lord.

30 So the Priests and the Leuites received the weight of the silver and of the gold, and of the vessels to bring them to Jerusalem, vnto the house of our God.

31 Then we departed from the River of Abana on the twelfth day of the first moneth, to goe vnto Jerusalem, and the hand of our God was vpon vs, and deliuered vs from the hand of the enemy, and of such as layd^e wait by the way.

k This declared that their journey was full of danger, and yet God deliuered them according to their prayer.

32 And we came to Jerusalem, and abode there three days.

33 And on the fourth day was the silver weighed, and the gold and the vessel in the house of our God by the hand of Seremoth the sonne of Uriah the Priest, and with him was Eleazar the sonne of Phinebas, and with them was Josabab the sonne of Nehua, and Moadiah the sonne of Binnui the Leuites.

1 Ezra complaineth on the people that had turned themselves from God, and married with the Gentiles. 5 He prayeth vnto God.

1. Esdras 8. 67.

a From the time they came home vnder Zerubbabel, vntil the coming of Ezra, they had degenerate contrary to the Law of God, & married where it was not lawfull, Deut. 7. 3.

W^Hen^a as these things were done, the rulers came to mee, saying, The people of Israel, and the Priests and the Leuites are not^b separated from the people of the lands (as touching their abominations) to wit, of the Canaanites, the Hyttites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites.

2 For they haue taken their daughters to themselves, and to their sonnes, and they haue mixed the holy seed with the people of the lands, and the hand of the^c princes and rulers haue bene chiefe in this trespasse.

b That is, the gouernours are the chiefe beginners thereof.

3 But when I heard this saying, I rent my clothes and my garment, and plucked off the haire of mine head, and of my beard, and sare downe^d astonished.

c As one doubting whether God would continue his benefits toward vs, or else destroy this which he had begun, Exod. 29. 39. num. 28. 3. 4.

4 And there assembled vnto mee all that feared the wordes of the God of Israel: because of the transgression of them of the captiuitie. And I sare downe astonished vntil the^e euening sacrifice.

5 And at the euening sacrifice I rose vpon from mine heaviness, and when I had rent my clothes and my garment, I fell vpon my knees, and spread out mine handes vnto the Lord my God,

6 And said, O my God, I am confounded and ashamed to lift vp mine eyes vnto thee, my God: for our iniquities are increased ouer^f our head, and our trespasse is grown by vnto^g the heauen.

d That is, we are drowned in sinne. e They so exceed that they cannot grow greater.

7 From the dayes of our fathers haue wee bene in a great trespasse vnto this day, and for our iniquities haue wee, our kings, and our priests bene deliuered into the hand of the kings of the lands, vnto the sword, into captiuitie, into a spoile, and into confusion of face, as appeareth this day.

8 And now for a little space, grace hath bene shewed from the Lord our God, in causing a remnant to escape, and in giuing vs a^h naile in his holy place, that our God may light our eyes, and giue vs a little remning in our seruitude.

f In giuing vs a resting place. It is a similitude taken of them that remaine still in a place, which smite nailes to hang things vpon, Isa. 2. 2. 3.

9 For though we were bondmen, yet our God hath not forsaken vs in our bondage, but hath inclined mercy vnto vs in the sight of the Kings of Persia, to giue vs life, and to erect the house of our God, and to redresse the desolate places thereof, and to giue vs a wall in Iudah and in Jerusalem.

10 And now, our God, what shall we say after this: for we haue forsaken thy Commandements, 11 Which thou hast commanded by thy seruants the Prophets, saying, * The land whereinunto ye go to possesse it, is an vncleane land, because of the filthinesse of the people of the lands, which by their abominations, and by their vncleannesse haue filled it from corner to corner.

Exod. 23. 32. and 34. 12, 15. 16. 17. 7. 2. 3.

12 Now therefore shall ye not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall ye take their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor seeke theirⁱ peace nor wealth for euer, that ye may bee strong and eate the goodnesse of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your sonnes for euer.

Deut. 23. 6.

13 And after all that is come vpon vs for our euill deeds, and for our great trespasses, (seeing that thou our God hast staied vs from being benched^j for our iniquities, and hast giuen vs such deliuerance)

g Hast not utterly cast vs downe, and destroyed vs for our sinnes, Deut. 28. 13.

14 Should we returne to breake thy commandements, and to yne in affinitie with the people of such abominations: wouldst not thou be angry toward vs till thou hadst consumed vs, so that there should be no remnant nor any escaping?

15 O Lord God of Israel, thou art iust, for we we haue bene^b referred to escape, as appeareth this day: behold, we are before thee in our trespass: therefore we cannot stand before thee because of it.

W^hiles Ezra prayed thus, and^a confessed himselfe weeping, and falling downe before the house of God, there assembled vnto him of Israel a very great Congregation of men and women, and children: for the people wept with a great lamentation.

2 Then Shechaniah the sonne of Jehiel one of the sonnes of Elam, answered, and said to Ezra, We haue trespassed against our God, and haue taken strange wines of the people of the land, yet now there is^b hope in Israel concerning this.

5 Then arose Ezra, and caused the chiefe Priests, the Leuites, and all Israel to sweare, that they would doe according to this word. So they swore.

6 And Ezra rose vp from before^e the house of God, and went into the chamber of Johanan the sonne of Eliashib: hee went euen thither, but hee did eate neither bread, nor drinke water: for hee mourned because of the transgression of them of the captiuitie.

12 And all the Congregation answered, and said with a loud voyce, So will we doe according to thy words vnto vs.

13 But the people are many, and it is a rairie weather, and we are not able to stand without, neither is it the worke of one day or two: for we are many that haue offended in this thing.

14 Let our rulers stand thereforeⁱ before all the Congregation, and let all them which haue taken strange wines in our cities, come at the time appointed, and with them the Elders of euery citie, and the Judges thereof, till the fierce wrath of our God for this matter turne away from vs.

15 Then were appointed Jonathan the sonne of Abiel, and Iahaziah the sonne of Ekuah ouer this matter, and Bethsillam and Shabberthai the Leuites helped them.

16 And they of the captiuitie did so, and departed, euen Ezra the Priest, and the men that were chiefe fathers to the familie of their fathers by name, & sate downe in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine the matter.

k They went to the chiefe cities to sit on this matter, which was three moneths in finishing.

17 And vntill the first day of the first moneth they were finishing the businesse with all the men that had taken strange wines.

18 And of the sonnes of the Priests there were men found, that had taken strange wines, to wit, of the sonnes of Ieshua, the sonne of Iozadak, and of his brethren, Balaiah, Aeliezer, and Iarib, and Gedaliah.

THE ARGUMENT.

God doeth in all ages and at all times set vp worthy persons for the commoditie and profit of his Church, as now within the compasse of seuentie yeeres he raised vp diuers excellent men for the preservation of his people, after their returne from Babylon: as Zerubbabel, Ezra, and Nehemiah. Whereof the first was their captain to bring them home, and provided that the Temple was builded: the second reformed their manners, and planted religion: and the third builded vp the walls, deliuered the people from oppression, and provided that the Law of God was put in execution among them. He was a godly man and in great authoritie with the King, so that the King fauoured him greatly, and gaue him most ample letters for the accomplishment of all things which he could desire. This booke is also called of the Latines the second of Ezra, because he was the writer thereof.

CHAP. I.

4 Nehemiah bewaileth the calamitie of Ierusalem. 5 Hee confesseth the sinnes of the people, and prayeth God for them.

I he wordes of Nehemiah, the sonne of Machabiah. In the moneth ^aChisleu, in the twentieth yeere, as I was in the palace of Shushan,

2 Came Hanani one of my ^bbrethren, hee and the men of Iudah: and I asked them concerning the Jewes that were deliuered, which were of the residue of the captiuitie, and concerning Ierusalem.

3 And they said vnto mee, The residue that are left of the captiuitie there in the ^cprouince, are in great affliction and in reproch, and the wall of Ierusalem is broken downe, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire.

4 And when I heard these wordes, I sate downe and wept, and mourned certaine dayes, and I fasted and prayed before the God of heauen.

5 And said, O Lord God of heauen, the great and terrible God, that keepeth covenant and mercy for them that loue him, and obserue his Commandements,

6 I pray thee, let thine eares be at tent, and thine eyes open, to heare the prayer of thy seruant, which I pray before thee daily, day and night for the children of Israel thy seruants, and confesse the sinnes of the children of Israel, which we haue sinned against thee, both I and my fathers house haue sinned.

7 For we haue ^dgrateously sinned against thee, & haue not kept the commandements, nor the statutes, nor the iudgements which thou commandedst thy seruant Moses,

8 I beseech thee remember the word that thou commandedst thy seruant Moses, saying, We will transgresse, and I will scatter you abroad among the people.

9 But if ye turne vnto me, and keepe my commandements, and doe them, though your scattering were to the uttermost part of the heauen, yet will I gather you from thence, and will bring you vnto the place that I haue chosen to place my name there.

10 Now these are thy seruants and thy people, whom thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy mighty hand.

11 O Lord, I beseech thee, let thine eare now hearken to the prayer of thy seruant, and to the prayer of thy seruants who desire to ^efear thy name, and I pray thee, cause thy seruant to prosper this day, and giue him fauour in the presence of ^fthis man: for I was the kings butler.

CHAP. II.

1 After Nehemiah had obtained letters of Artaxerxes, 11 Hee came to Ierusalem, 17 And builded the walles.

Now in the moneth ^aNisan, in the twentieth yeere of King ^bArtaxastate, the wine flood befoze him, and I tooke vp the wine, and gaue it vnto the King. Now I was not before time sad in his presence.

2 And the king said vnto me, Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou art not sicke? this is nothing but sorrow of heart. Then was I sore afraid.

3 And I said to the King, God saue the King for ever: why should not my countenance be sad, when the city and house of the sepulchres of my fathers lyeth waste, and the gates thereof are deuoured with fire?

4 And the king said vnto mee, For what thing doest thou require? Then I prayed to the God of heauen.

5 And said vnto the King, If it please the King, and if thy seruant haue found fauour in thy sight, I desire that thou wouldest send me to Iudah vnto the citie of the sepulchres of my fathers, that I may build it.

6 And the king said vnto me, (the Queene also sitting by him) How long shall thy iourney bee? and when wilt thou come againe? So it pleased the king, and he sent mee, and I set him a time.

7 After, I said vnto the king, If it please the king, let them giue me letters to the captaynes beyond the ^gRiuer, that they may conuey me ouer, till I come into Iudah.

h These were three chiefe gouernours vnder the King of Persia beyond Euphrates.

i Thus the wicked when they will burden the children of God, euert lay treason vnto their charge, both because it maketh them most odious to the world, and also stirreth the hatred of Princes most against them.

9 ¶ Then came I to the captaiues beyond the river, and gaue them the kings letters. And the King had sent captaiues of the army and boymen with me.

10 But Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah a seruant an Ammonite heard it, and it grieved the soze, that there was come a man which sought the weaknes of the children of Israel.

11 So I came to Ierusalem, and was there three dayes.

12 And I arose in the night, I, and a few men with mee: for I tolde no man what God had put in my heart to doe at Ierusalem, and there was not a beast with me, saue the beast whercon I rode.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the balley, and came before the Dragon well, and to the dung port, and viewed the walles of Ierusalem, how they were broken downe, and the ports thereof deuoured with the fire.

14 Then I went forth vnto the gate of the fountaine, vnto the kings fishpoule, and there was no roume for the beast that was vnder me, to passe.

15 Then went I vp in the night by the broke, and viewed the wall, and turned backe, and coming backe, I entered by the gate of the balley and returned.

16 And the rulers knew not waither I was gone, nor what I did, neither did I as yet tel it vnto the Iewes, nor to the Priests, nor to the noble men, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that laboured in the worke.

17 Afterward I said vnto them, Vee see the misery that we are in, how Ierusalem lyeth waste, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come and let vs build the wall of Ierusalem, that we be no more a reproch.

18 Then I tolde them of the hand of my God (which was good ouer mee) and also of the kings wordes, that he had spoken vnto mee. And they layde, Let vs rise, and build. So they strengthened their hand to god.

19 But when Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the seruant an Ammonite, and Gethem the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs, and despiised vs, and saide, What a thing is this that ye doe? Will ye rebell against the King?

20 Then answered I them, and layde to them, The God of heauen, he will prosper vs, and wee his seruants will rise vp and build: but as for you, ye haue no portion nor right, nor memoriall in Ierusalem.

2 And next vnto him builded the men of Jericho, and beside him Saccar the sonne of Imri.

3 But the fishpoule did the sonnes of Senaah build, which also layde the beames thereof, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

4 And next vnto them fortified Beremoth, the sonne of Uriah, the sonne of Hakkoz: and next vnto them fortified Besaiul, the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Beshezababel: and next vnto them fortified Zadok, the sonne of Baana:

5 And next vnto them fortified the Tekoites: but the great men of them put not their neckes to the worke of their lords.

6 And the gate of the olde fishpoule fortified Iehoiadab the sonne of Paseah, and Meshullam the sonne of Besadaiah: they layde the beames thereof, and set on the doores thereof, and the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

7 Next vnto them also fortified Melatiah the Gibeonite, and Iadon the Meronithite, men of Gibeon, and of Mishpah, vnto the chayne of the Duke, which was beyond the River.

8 Next vnto him fortified Uzziel the sonne of Harhobiah of the goldsmithes: next vnto him also fortified Hananiah, the sonne of Harakkham, and they repaired Ierusalem vnto the broad wall.

9 Also next vnto them fortified Rephaiah, the sonne of Hur, the ruler of the halfe part of Ierusalem.

10 And next vnto him fortified Iedaiah the sonne of Harumaph, euen ouer against his house: and next vnto him fortified Haruth, the sonne of Hashabiah.

11 Malchiah the sonne of Harim, and Hashub the sonne of Pahath Moab, fortified the second portion, and the towre of the fornares.

12 Next vnto him also fortified Shallum the sonne of Valloeth, the ruler of the halfe part of Ierusalem, he, and his daughters.

13 The balley gate fortified Hanan, and the inhabitants of Sannah: they built it, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, euen a thousand cubites on the wall vnto the dung port.

14 But the dung port fortified Malchiah, the sonne of Rechab, the ruler of the fourth part of Beth-haccarem: hee built it, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

15 But the gate of the fountaine fortified Shallum, the sonne of Col-hosey, the ruler of the fourth part of Mishpah: hee builded it, and couered it, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, and the wall vnto the fishpoule of the Shelah by the kings garden, and vnto the steps that goe downe from the citie of David.

18 After him fortified their brethren: Banai the sonne of Henadad the ruler of the halfe part of Keilah:

19 And next unto him fortified Ezer, the sonne of Iehua the ruler of Mizpah, the other portion over against the going by to the corner of the armour.

20 After him was earnest Baruch the sonne of Zaccabai, and fortified another portion from the corner unto the doore of the house of Eliahshib the high Priest.

21 After him fortified Merimoth, the sonne of Uriah, the sonne of Bakkor, another portion from the doore of the house of Eliahshib, even as long as the house of Eliahshib extended.

22 After him also fortified the Priests, the men of the plaine.

23 After them fortified Benjamin, and Balthub over against their house: after him fortified Azariah the sonne of Baasiah, the sonne of Ananiah, by his house.

24 After him fortified Binnui, the sonne of Henadad another portion, from the house of Azariah unto the turning and unto the corner.

27 After him fortified the Tekoites another portion over against the great tower, that lieth out, even unto the wall of the fortress.

28 From above the horsegate fourth fortified the Priests, every one over against his house.

29 After them fortified Zadok the sonne of Immer over against his house: and after him fortified Shemaiab, the sonne of Shechaniah the keeper of the East gate.

30 After him fortified Hananiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, and Hanun, the sonne of Zalaph, the first, another portion: after him fortified Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah over against his chamber.

31 After him fortified Malchiah the goldsmiths sonne, untrill the house of the Meshinims, and of the merchants over against the gate of Diphtad, and to the chamber in the corner.

32 And betwene the chamber of the corner unto the shepegate, fortified the goldsmiths and the merchants.

CHAP. IIII.

7 The building of Jerusalem is hindered. 15 But God breaketh their enterprise. 17 The Levites build with one hand, and hold their weapons in the other.

At when Sanballat heard that we build the wall, then was he wroth and sore grieved, and mocked the Jewes,

2 And said before his brethren and the armie of Samaria, thus he said, What doe these weake Jewes? will they fortifie themselves? will they sacrifice? will they finish it in a day? will they make the stones whole againe out of the heapes of dust, seeing they are burnt?

3 And Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and said, Although they build, yet if a force goe by, he shall even breake downe their stone wall.

4 Heare, O our God, (for we are despised) and turne their shame upon their owne head, and give them unto a pray in the land of their captivitie,

5 And cover not their iniquitie, neither let their sinne be put out in thy presence: for they have provoked vs before the builders.

6 So we built the wall, and all the wall was toryned unto the halfe thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.

7 But when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Ethiopians heard that the walles of Jerusalem were repaired, (for the breaches began to be stopped) then they were very wroth,

8 And conspired all together to come and to fight against Jerusalem, and to hinder them.

9 Then we prayed unto our God, and set watchmen by them day & night, because of them.

10 And Judah said, The strength of the bearers is weakened, and there is much earth, so that we are not able to build the wall.

11 Also our aduersaries had said, They shall not know, neither see, till we come into the middes of them, and slay them, and cause the worke to cease.

12 But when the Jewes (which dwell beside them) came, they told vs ten times, from all places whence ye shall returne, they will be upon vs.

13 Therefore set I in the lower places behind the wall upon the tops of the stones, and placed the people by their families with their swords, their speares and their bowes.

14 Then I beheld, and rose by, and said unto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, Be not afraid of them: remember the great Lord and fearefull, and fight for your brethren, your sonnes, and your daughters, your wives, and your houses.

15 And when our enemies heard that it was knowne unto vs, then God brought their counsell to nought, and we turned all againe to the wall, every one unto his worke.

16 And from that day, halfe of the yong men did the labour, and the other halfe part of them held the speares, and shields, and bowes, and habergins: and the rulers stood behind all the house of Judah.

that bare burdens, and they that laded, did the worke with one hand, and with the other held the sword.

18 For euery one of the builders had his sword girt on his loynes, and to builded: and he that blew the trumpet was beside me.

19 Then sayd I vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, The worke is great and large, and we are separated vpon the wall, one farre from another.

20 In what place therefore yee heare the sound of the trumpet, I reioyce thither vnto vs: our God shall fight for vs.

21 So we laboured in the worke, and halfe of them held the speeres from the appearing of the morning, till the starres came forth.

22 And at the same time sayd I vnto the people. Let euery one with his seruant lodge within Jerusalem, that they may be a watch for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

23 So neither I, nor my brethren, nor my seruants, nor the men of y ward, (which followed me) none of vs did put off our clothes, save euery one put them off¹ for washing.

CHAP. V.

1 The people are oppressed and in necessitie. 6 Nehemiah remedie this. 14 He tooke not the portion of others that had ruled before, lest he should grieve the people.

Now there was a great crye of the people and of their wiues^a against their brethren the Jewes.

2 For there were that said, Alas, our sons and our daughters are many, therefore we take vp^b corne, that wee may eate and liue.

3 And there were that sayd, Wee must gage our lands, and our vineyards, and our houses, and take vp corne for the famine.

4 There were also that sayd, We haue borrowed money for the kings tribute vpon our lands and our vineyards.

5 And now our flesh is as^d the flesh of our brethren, and our sonnes as their sonnes, and loe, we bring into subiection our sonnes, and our daughters, as seruants, and there be of our daughters now in subiection, and there is no power^e in our hands: for other men haue our lands and our vineyards.

6 Then was I very angry when I heard their cry and these words.

7 And I thought in my minde, and I rebuked the Princes, and the rulers, and sayd vnto them, Pou lay^f burdens euery one vpon his brethren: and I set a great assembly against them.

8 And I sayd vnto them, Wee (according to our ability) haue redeemed our brethren the Jewes, which were solde vnto the heathen: and will you sell your brethren againe, or shall they^g be solde vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and could not answer.

9 And I sayd vnto them, Wee (according to our ability) haue redeemed our brethren the Jewes, which were solde vnto the heathen: and will you sell your brethren againe, or shall they^g be solde vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and could not answer.

9 I sayd also, That which yee doe, is i Meaning, Ne- not god. Dought ye not to walke in the feare hemish. of our God, for the^k reproch of the heathen k Who by this our enemies? occasion will blaspheme the Name of God, pray you, let vs leaue off this^l burden. seeing that our aces are no better then theirs, || Or, vsurie.

10 For euery I, my brethren, and my seruants doe lend them money and coyne: I pray you, let vs leaue off this^l burden.

11 Restore, I pray you, vnto them this day their lands, their vineyards, their olives and their houses, and remie the hundredth part of the silver and of the coyne, of the wine, and of the oyle^l that yee exact of them. l Which ye take of them for the lone.

12 Then said they, Wee wil restore it, and will not require it of them: wee will doe as thou hast sayd. Then I called the Priests, and caused them to sweare that they should doe according to this promise.

13 So Iooke my lay, and said, So let God shake out euery man that will not performe this promise, from his house, and from his labour: euen thus let him be shaken out and emptied. And all the congregation said, Amen, and praised the Lord: and the people did according to this promise.

14 And from the time that the king gaue mee charge to be gouernour in the land of Iudah from the twentieth yeere, euen vnto the two and thirtieth yeere of king Artahastate, that is, twelue yeere, I, and my brethren haue not eaten the^m bread of the gouernour.

15 For the former gouernours that were before me, had bene chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, beside fourtie shekels of silver: yea, and their seruants bare rule over the people, but so did not I, because of the feare of God.

16 But rather I fortified a portion in the worke of this wall, and we bought no land, and all my seruants came thither together vnto the worke.

17 Moreover, there were at my table an hundred and fiftie of the Jewes, and rulers which came vnto vs from among the heathen that are about vs.

18 And there was prepared dayly an ore and fixe chosen sheepe, and birds were prepared for me, and fwithinten dayes wine for all in abundance. Yet for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour: for the bondage was grievous vnto this people.

19 Remember mee, O my God, in goodness, according vnto all that I haue done for this people.

CHAP. VI.

8 Nehemiah answereth with great wisdom and zeale to his aduersarie. 13 Hee is not discouraged by the false prophets.

And when Sanballat and Tobiah, and Geshem the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had built the wall, and that there were no more^a breaches therein (though at that time I had not set vp the doores vpon the gates.) a That is, that they were ioy- ned together, as Chap. 4. 6.

3 Therefore I sent messengers vnto them, saying, I haue a great worke to doe, and I cannot come downe: ^b Why should the worke cease, whiles I leaue it, and come downe to you?

4 Yet they sent vnto mee foure times after this sort. And I answered them after the same maner.

5 Then sent Sanballat his seruant after this sort vnto me the fift time, with an open letter in his hand,

6 Wherein was written, It is reported among the heathen, and ^{||} Sathmu hath said te, that thou and the Iewes thinke to rebell, for the which cause thou buildest the wall, and thou wilt bee their king according to these words.

7 Thou hast also ordeined the Prophets to preach of thee at Jerusalem, saying, There is a King in Iudah: and now according to these words it shal come to the Kings eares: come now therefore, and let vs take counsell together.

8 Then I sent vnto him, saying, It is not done according to these words that thou sayest: for thou fastest them of thine owne heart.

9 For all they afayed vs, sayings, Their hands shall bee weakened from the worke, and it shal not be done: now therefore ⁺ encourage thou me.

10 And I came to the house of Shematah, the sonne of Delaiah the sonne of Shebtabel, and hee was ⁺ shut vp, and hee sayd, Let vs come together into the house of God in the middes of the Temple, and shut the doores of the Temple: for they will come to slay thee: yea in the night will they come to kill thee.

11 Then I said, Should such a man as I, flee? ^{||} Who is hee, being as I am, that would goe into the Temple to kure? I will not goe in.

12 And loe, I persecuted, that God had not sent him, but that hee pronounced this propheticke against me: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

13 Therefore was he hired, that I might bee afraid, and doe thus, and sinne, and that they might haue an euill report that they might reproach me.

14 ^{||} O God, remember thou Tobiah and Sanballat according vnto these their works, and Roadiah the ⁺ Prophetesse also, and the rest of the prophets that would haue put me in feare.

15 Notwithstanding the wall was finished on the five and twentieth day of ^h E. lul, in two and fifty dayes.

16 And when all our enemies heard thereof, euen all the heathen that were about vs, they were afraid, and their courage failed them: for they knew that this worke was wrought by our God.

And went about to overthrow his Church, declaring also hereby, that where there is one true minister of God, the deuill hath a great sort of hirelings. ^h Which was the sixt moneth, and continued part of August, and part of September, i After that I had sent Sanballat his answer.

17 And in these dayes were there many of the Princes of Iudah, whose ^k letters went vnto Tobiah, and thole of Tobiah came vnto them.

18 For there were many in Iudah, that were sworne vnto him: for hee was the sonne in law of Shebthaniah, the sonne of Arah: and his sonne Jehonathan had the daughter of Shebthum the sonne of Berechiah.

19 Peaz, they spake in his praise before me, and tolde him my wordes, and Tobiah sent letters to put mee in feare.

NOW when the wall was builded, and I had set vp the doores, and the porters and the fingers and the Leuites were appointed,

CHAP. VIII.

2 Ezra gathereth together the people, and readeth to them the Law. 12 They rejoyce in Israel for the knowledge of the word of God. 15 They keepe the feast of tabernacles or bootes.

And all the people assembled themselves together in the street that was before the water gate, & they spake unto Ezra the Scribe, that he would bring the booke of the Law of Moses, which the Lord had commanded to Israel.

2 And Ezra the Priest brought the Law before the Congregation both of men and women, and of all that could heare and understand it, in the first day of the seventh moneth.

3 And he read therein in the street that was before the watergate (from the morning until the midday) before men and women, and then they that understood it, and the eares of all the people hearkened unto the booke of the Law.

4 And Ezra the Scribe stood upon a pulpit of wood, which hee had made for the preaching, and beside him stood Bithiah, and Shema, and Ananiah, and Uriah, and Hiliah, and Maasiah on his right hand, and on his left hand Bedaiab, and Bithael, and Balthiah, and Hasbun, and Vashbaddana, Sechariah, and Meshullam.

5 And Ezra opened the booke before all the people: for hee was above all the people: and when hee opened it, all the people stood up.

6 And Ezra praised the Lord the great God, and all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with lifting up their hands: and they bowed themselves, and worshipped the Lord with their faces toward the ground.

7 Also Ieshua, and Bani, and Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maasiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Bedaiab, and the Levites caused the people to understand the Law, and the people stood in their place.

8 And they read in the booke of the Law of God distinctly, and gave the sense, and caused them to understand the reading.

9 Then Nehemiah (which is Tirshatha) and Ezra the Priest and Scribe, and the Levites that instructed the people, said unto all the people, This day is holy unto the Lord your God: mourne not, neither weep: for all the people wept when they heard the words of the Law.

10 Hee said also unto them, Goe, and eate of the fat, and drinke the sweete, and send part unto them for whom none is prepared: for this day is holy unto our Lord: be ye not sober therefore: for the joy of the Lord is your strength.

11 And the Levites made silence throughout all the people, saying, Hold your peace: for the day is holy, be not sad therefore.

12 Then all the people went to eat and to drinke, and to send away part, and to make great joy, because they had understood the words that they had taught them.

13 And on the second day, the chiefe fathers of all the people, the Priests and the Levites were gathered unto Ezra the Scribe, that he also might instruct them in the words of the Law.

14 And they found written in the Lawe (that the Lord had commanded by Moses) that the children of Israel should dwell in bootes in the feast of the seventh moneth, Leuit. 23. 34.

15 And that they should cause it to be declared and proclaimed in all their cities, and in Jerusalem, saying, Goe forth unto the mount, and bring olive branches, and pine branches, and branches of Myrtus, and palme branches, and branches of thick trees to make bootes, as it is written.

Or, goodly branches, as Leuit. 23. 40.

16 So the people went forth and brought them, and made them bootes, every one upon the roofof his house, & in their courts, and in the courts of the house of God, and in the street by the water gate, and in the street of the gate of Ephraim.

h For their houses were made flat above, read Deut. 22. 8.

17 And all the congregation of them that were come againe out of the captivitie, made bootes, and late vnder the bootes: for since the time of Ieshua the sonne of Nun unto this day, had not the children of Israel done so, and there was very great joy.

i Which was almost a thousand yeeres.

18 And hee read in the booke of the Law of God every day, from the first day unto the last day. And they kept the feast seven dayes, and on the eighth day a solemn assembly, according unto the maner.

CHAP. IX.

1 The people repent, & forsake their strange wives. 5 The Levites exhort them to praise God. 6 Declaring his wonders. 26 And their ingratitude. 30 And Gods great mercies toward them.

g Reioyce in the Lord, and hee will giue you strength.

for ever and ever, and let them praise thy glorious Name, O God, which excelleth above all thanksgiving and praise.

6 Thou art Lord alone: thou hast made heaven, and the heaven of all heavens, with all their hoste, the earth, and all things that are therein, the seas, and all that are in them, and thou preservest them all, and the hoste of the heaven worshippeth thee.

7 Thou art, O Lord, the God that hast chosen Abram, and broughtest him out of * Ur in Caldea, * and madest his name Abraham, 8 And foundest his heart faithfull before thee, * and madest a covenant with him, to give unto his seede the land of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, and Perizzites, and Jebusites, and Girgassites, and hast performed the words, because thou art iust.

9 * Thou hast also considered the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, and heard their cry by the red sea,

10 And sheweth tokens and wonders by-on Pharaoh, and on all his servants, and on all the people of his land: for thou knewest that they dealt proudly against them: therefore thou madest thee a name, as appeareth this day.

11 * For thou didst breake by the Sea before them, and they went thorow the middes of the sea on dry land, and those that pursued them, hast thou cast into the bottomes as a stone in the mighty waters:

12 And * leddest them in the day with a pillar of a cloud, and in the night with a pillar of fire, to give them light in the way that they went.

13 * Thou earnest down also vpon mount Sinai, and spakest unto them from heaven, and gauest them right iudgements and true lawes, ordinances, and good commandements.

14 And declaredst unto them thine holy Sabbath, and commaundest them precepts, and ordinances, and lawes, by the hand of Moses thy servant:

15 * And gauest them bread from heaven for their hunger, * and broughtest forth water for them out of the rocke for their thirst: and * promisedst them that they should goe in, and take possession of the land, for the which thou hadst lift up thine hand for to give them.

16 But they our fathers behaved themselves proudly, and hardened their necke, so that they hearkened not vnto thy commandements,

17 But refused to obey, and would not remember thy marvellous workes that thou hadst done for them, but hardened their neckes, and had in their heads to returne to their bondage by their rebellion: but thou O God of mercies, gracious and full of compassion, of long suffering, and of great mercy, yet forlookest them not.

18 Moreover, when they made them a molten calfe (and said, This is thy God that brought thee up out of the land of Egypt) and committed great blasphemies,

19 Yet thou for thy great mercies forgo-kest them not in the wilderness: * the pillar of the cloud departed not from them by day to leade them the way, neither the pillar of fire by night, to shew them light, and the way whereby they should goe.

20 Thou gauest also thy good Spirit to instruct them, and withheldest not thy MAN from their mouth, and gauest them water for their thirst.

21 Thou diddest also feede them fourtie yeeres in the wilderness: they lacked nothing: * their clothes waxed not olde, and their feet * swelled not.

22 And thou gauest them kingdomes and people, and * scatteredst them into contries: so they possessed * the land of Sihon and the land of the king of Heshbon, and the land of Og king of Bashan.

23 And thou diddest multiply their children like the starrs of the heaven, & broughtest them into the land, wherof thou hadst spoken unto their fathers, that they should goe and possess it.

24 So the children went in, and possessed the lande, and thou subduedst before them the inhabitants of the land, even the Canaanites, and gauest them into their hands, with their kings and the people of the land, that they might doe with them what they would.

25 And they tooke their strong cities and the fat land, and possessed houses full of all goods, cisternes digged out, vineyards and olives, and trees for foode in abundance, and they did eate, and were filled, and became fat, and lived in pleasure through thy great goodness.

26 Yet they were disobedient, and rebelled against thee, and cast thy Law behind their backs, and slew thy Prophets (which * protected among them to turne them vnto thee) and committed great blasphemies.

27 Therefore thou deliueredst them into the hand of their enemies that vexed them: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from the heaven, and through thy great mercies thou gauest them saviours, who saved them out of the hand of their adversaries.

28 But when they had rest, they returned to doe euill before thee: therefore ledest thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that they had the dominion ouer them, yet when they converted and cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from heaven, and deliueredst them according to thy great mercies many times,

29 And protestedst among them that thou mightest bring them againe vnto the Law: but they behaved themselves proudly, and hearkened not vnto thy commandements, but sinned against thy iudgements (* which a sinner should do and line in them) and slew away the shoulder, and were stiffnecked, and would not heare.

30 Yet thou * diddest forbear them many yeeres, and protestedst among them by 31 Yet for thy great mercies thou hast not consumed them: neither forsaken them: for thou art a gracious and mercifull God.

32 Now therefore our God, * thou great God, mighty and terrible, that keepst covenant, and * mercy, let not all the affliction that hath come vnto vs, seme a litle before thee, that is, to our Kings, to our Princes, and to our Priests, & to our Prophets, and to our Fathers, and to all the people, since the time of the Kings of * Asshur vnto this day.

33 Surely thou art iust in all that is come vpon vs : for thou * hast dealt truly, but we haue done wickedly.

34 And our Kings and our Princes, our Priests and our Fathers haue not done thy Lawe : nor regarded thy commandements nor thy protestations, wherewith thou hast * protested among them.

35 And they haue not serued thee in their Kingdome, and in thy great goodnesse that thou shewedst vnto them, and in the large and fat land which thou diddest set before them, and haue not conuered from their euill wayes.

36 Behold, we are seruants this day, and the land that thou gauest vnto our Fathers, to eate the * fruite thereof, and the goodnesse thereof, behold, we are seruants therein.

37 And it yeeldeth much fruit vnto the kings whom thou hast set ouer vs, because of our sinnes : and they haue dominion ouer our bodies, and ouer our cattel at their pleasure, and we are in great affliction.

38 Now because of all this wee make * a sure covenant, and write it, and our princes, our Leuites and our Priests seale vnto it.

THE ARGVMENT.

Because of the diuersitie of names, whereby they vsee to name their Kings, and the supputation of Byceres wherein the Hebrewes and the Grecians doe varie, diuers authours write diuersly as touching this Ahasuerosh, ut it seemeth, Dan 6. 1. and 9. 1. that he was Darius King of the Medes, and sonne of Astyages, called also Ahasuerosh, which was a name of honour, and signified great and chiefe, as chiefe head. Herein is declared the great mercies of God toward his Church, who neuer faileth them in their greatest dangers, but when all hope of worldly helpe faileth, hee ener stirreth vp some by whom he sendeth comfort and deliuerance. Herein also is described the ambition, pride, and crueltie of the wicked when they come to honour, and their sudden fall when they are at height: and how God preferueth and preferreth them which are zealous of his glory, and haue a care and loue toward their brethern.

CHAP. I.

3 King Ahasuerosh maketh a royall feast, 12 whereinunto the Queene Vashti will not come. 19 For which cause shee is divorced. 20 The Kings decree touching the preeminence of Man.

In the dayes of Ahasuerosh (this is Ahasuerosh that reigned from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundredeth and seuen and twentie prouinces)

2 In those dayes when the king Ahasuerosh^a late on his throne, which was in the palace of Shushan,

3 In the thirde yere of his reigne he made a feast vnto all his princes and his seruants, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the captaynes and gouernours of the prouinces which were before him,

4 That he might shew the riches & glory of his kingdom, and the honour of his great makeitie many dayes, euen an hundred and fourescore dayes.

5 And when these dayes were expired the king made a feast to all the people that were found in the palace of Shushan, both vnto great and small, seuen dayes, in the court of the garden of the kings palace,

6 Vnder an hanging of white, Greene, and blew clothes, fastened with cordes of fine linnen and purple, in situer rings, and pillars of marble: the beds were of gold, and of situer vpon a pavement of Porphyre, and marble, and alabastrer, and blue colour.

7 And they gaue them drinke in vessels of golde, and changed vessell after vessell, and royall wine in abundance according to the power of the king.

8 And the drinke was by an order, none might compell: for so the king had appointed vnto all the officers of his house, that they should doe according to euery mans pleasure.

9 The Queene Vashti made a feast also for the women in the royal house of king Ahasuerosh.

10 Upon the seuenth day, when the king was merry with wine, he commanded Methuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zerbar, and Carcas, the seuen Eunuches, (that serued in the presence of king Ahasuerosh)

11 To bring Queene Vashti before the king with the crowne royall, that hee might shew the people and the princes her beautie: for she was faire to looke vpon.

12 But the Queene Vashti refused to come at the kings word, & which he had giuen in charge to the Eunuches: therefore the king was very angry, and his wrath kindled in him.

13 Then the king said to the wise men, that knew the times (for so was the kings manner towards all that knew the law and the iudgement):

14 And the next vnto him was Carshena, Sheetar, Admatha, Carsith, Merez, Pardena and Memucan the seuen princes of Persia and Media, which saw the kings face, and late the first in the kingdom)

15 What shall wee doe vnto the Queene Vashti, according to the law, because she did not according to the word of the King Ahasuerosh by the comission of the Eunuches:

16 Then Memucan answered before the King and the Princes, The Queene Vashti hath not onely done euill against the king, but against all the Princes, and against all the people that are in all the prouinces of King Ahasuerosh.

17 For the act of the Queene shall come abroad vnto all women, so that they shall despise their husbands in their owne eyes, and shall say, The king Ahasuerosh commanded Vashti the Queene to be brought in before him, but she came not.

18 So shall the princesses of Persia and Media this day say vnto all the Kings princes, when they heare of the act of the queene: thus shall there bee much dispitfullnesse and wrath.

19 If it please the King, let a royal decree proceed from him, & let it be written among the statutes of Persia and Media (and let it not be transgressed) that Vashti come no more before King Ahasuerosh: and let the King giue her royall estate vnto her companion that is better then she.

20 And when the decree of the king which shall be made, shall be published throughout all his kingdom (though it bee great) all the women shall giue their husbands honour both great and small.

21 And this saying pleased the King and

CHAP. II.

1 After the Quene is put away, certaine yong maids are brought to the King. 17 Ester pleases the King, and is made Quene. 22 Mordecai disloseth vnto the King those that would betray him.

After these things, when the wrath of a King Ahasuerus was appeased, he remembered Ahasi, and what he had done, and what was decreed against her.

2 And the kings seruants that ministered vnto him, said, Let them seeke for the king beautifull yong virgins.

3 And let the king appoint officers through all the prouinces of his kingdome, and let them gather all the beautifull yong virgins vnto the palace of Shushan, into the house of the women, vnder the hand of Heghe the kings Eunuch: keeper of the women, to giue them their things for purification.

4 And the mayde that shall please the King, let her reigne in the stead of Ahasi. And this pleased the King, and he did so.

5 ¶ In the citie of Shushan, there was a certaine Jew, whose name was Mordecai, the sonne of Jair, the sonne of Shimei, the sonne of Kish, a man of Beniamin.

6 Which had bene carried away from Ierusalem with the captiuitie that was carried away with Ieconiah King of Iudah (whom Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel had carried away)

7 And her nourished Hadassah, that is Ester, his uncles daughter: for she had neither father nor mother, and the mayde was faire, and beautifull to looke on; and after the death of her father & her mother, Mordecai toke her for his owne daughter.

8 And when the kings commandement and his decrees was published, and many maidens were brought together to the palace of Shushan vnder the hand of Heghe, Ester was brought also vnto the Kings house vnder the hand of Heghe the keeper of the women.

9 And the mayde pleased him, and hee found fauour in his sight: therefore hee caused her things for purification to be giuen her (spices, and her state, and seven comely maydes to be giuen her out of the Kings house, and hee gaue change to her and to her maydes of the best in the house of the women.

10 But Ester shewed not her people and her kindred: for Mordecai had charged her, that she should not tell it.

11 And Mordecai walked euery day before the court of the womens house to know if Ester did well, and what should be done with her.

12 And when the comely of euery mayde came, to goe in to King Ahasuerus, after that he had bene twelue moneths according to the manner of the women (for so were the dayes of their purifications accomplished, sixe moneths with oyle of myrrhe, and sixe moneths with sweet odours, and in the purifying of the women:

13 And thus went the maydes vnto the King) whatsoeuer she required, was giuen her, to go with her out of the womens house vnto the Kings house.

14 In the evening she went, and on the morrow she returned into the second house of the women, vnder the hand of Shagaz, the Kings Eunuch, which kept the concubines: she came in to the king no more, except she pleased the King, and that he were called by name.

15 Now when the course of Ester the daughter of Abihail the uncle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, that he should goe in to the King, she desired nothing, but what Heghe the kings Eunuch the keeper of the women said, and Ester found fauour in the sight of all them that looked vpon her.

16 So Ester was taken vnto King Ahasuerus into his house royall in the tenth moneth, which is the moneth Tebeth, in the seventh yere of his reigne.

17 And the King loued Ester aboue all the women and shee found grace and fauour in his sight more then all the virgins: so that he set the crowne of the kingdome vpon her head, and made her Quene in stead of Ahasi.

18 Then the King made a great feast vnto all his princes, and his seruants, which was the feast of Ester, and gaue rell vnto the prouinces, and gaue gifts according to the power of a king.

19 And when the virgins were gathered the second time, then Mordecai sat in the Kings gate.

20 Ester had not yet shewed her kindred, nor her people, as Mordecai had charged her: for Ester did after the word of Mordecai, as when he was nourished with him.

21 ¶ In those dayes when Mordecai sat in the Kings gate, two of the Kings Eunuchs, Bigthan and Teresh, which kept the doore, were wroth, and sought to lay hand on the king Ahasuerus.

22 And the thing was knownen to Mordecai, and he told it vnto Quene Ester, and Ester certified the king thereof in Mordecais name: and when inquisition was made, it was found so: therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the booke of the Chronicles before the king.

CHAP. III.

1 Haman after he was exalted, obtained of the King that all the Iemes should be put to death, because Mordecai had not done him worship as other had.

After these things did king Ahasuerus promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, and exalted him, and set his seat aboue all the princes that were with him.

2 And all the kings seruants that were at the kings gate, bowed their knees, and reuerenced Haman: for the king had so commanded concerning him: but Mordecai bowed not the knee, neither did reuerence.

2 Then the kings seruants which were at the kings gate, sayd vnto Mordecai, Why transgresses thou the kings commandement?
3 And albeit they spake dayly vnto him, yet he would not heare them: therefore they told Haman, that they might see how Mordecais matters would it stand: for he had told them that he was a Jew.
4 And when Haman saw that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was full of wrath.
5 Now hee thought it too little to lay hands onely on Mordecai: and because they had shewed him the people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Jewes, that were thorowout the whole kingdome of Ahashuerod, even the people of Mordecai.
6 In the first moneth (that is the moneth Nisan) in the twelfth yere of King Ahas-uerod, they cast Pur (that is a lot) before Haman from day to day, and from moneth to moneth, vnto the twelfth moneth, that is the moneth Adar.
7 Then Haman said vnto King Ahas-uerod, There is a people scattered and dispersed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they doe not obserue the kings lawes: therefore it is not the kings profit to suffer them.
8 If it please the king, let it be written that they may be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of silver by the hands of them that haue the charge of this busines to bring it into the kings treasury.
9 Then the king toke his ring from his hand, and gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, the Jewes adueryary.
10 And the king sayd vnto Haman, Let the silver be thine, and the people to do with them as it please thee.
11 Then were the kings Scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first moneth, and there was written (according to all that Haman commanded) vnto the kings officers, and to the Captaines that were ouer euery prouince, and to the rulers of euery people, & to euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people according to their language: in the name of King Ahashuerod was it written, and sealed with the kings ring.
12 And the letters were sent by posts, into all the kings prouinces, to root out, to kill and to destroy all the Jewes, both yong and old, children and women, in one day by
on the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth (which is the moneth Adar) and to spoyle
them as a pray.
13 And the letters were sent by posts,
into all the kings prouinces, to root out, to kill and to destroy all the Jewes, both yong
and old, children and women, in one day by
on the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth (which is the moneth Adar) and to spoyle
them as a pray.
14 The contents of the writing was, that there should be given a commandment in all prouinces, and published vnto all people, that they should be ready against the same day.
15 And the posts compelled by the kings commandment went forth, and the commandment was given in the palace at Shushan: and the king and Haman sate dan-king, but the citie of Shushan was in pri-pleague.

CHAP. III.

5 Mordecai giveth the Queene knowledge of the cruell decree of the King against the Jewes. 16 She willeth that they pray for her.

Now when Mordecai perceived all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth and ashes, & went out into the middes of the citie, and cried with a great cry, and a bitter.

2 And hee came enen before the Kings gate, but he might not enter within the kings gate, being clothed with sackcloth.

3 And in euery prouince, and place, whither the kings charge and his Commission came, there was great sorrow among the Jewes, and fasting, and weeping, and mourning, and many lay in sackcloth, & in ashes.

4 Then Esters maids, & her eunuches came and told it her: therefore the Queene was very heauy, & she lent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloth from him, but he received it not.

5 Then called Esther Hatach, one of the kings Eunuches, whom he had appointed to serue her, and gaue him a commandment vnto Mordecai, to know what it was, and why it was.

6 So Hatach went forth to Mordecai, vnto the citie of the city which was before the kings gate.

7 And Mordecai tolde him of all that which had come vnto him, & of the summe of the silver that Haman had promised to pay vnto the kings treasurers, because of the Jewes to be destroyed then.

8 Also he gaue him the copy of the writ-ting & commission that was given at Shushan to destroy them, that he might shew it vnto Ester, and declare it vnto her, and to charge her, that she should goe in to the king and make petition and supplication before him for her people.

9 When Hatach came, he tolde Esther the words of Mordecai.

10 Then Ester layd vnto Hatach, and commanded him to say vnto Mordecai.

11 All the kings seruants and the people of the kings prouinces doe know, that whosoever, man or woman, that cometh to the king into the inner court, which is not called, there is a law of his, that hee shall die, except him to whom the king holdeth out the golden rod, that hee may liue. Now I haue not been called to come vnto the king these thirty dayes.

12 And they certified Mordecai of Esters words.

13 And Mordecai said, that they should answere Ester thus, Thinke not with thy selfe, that thou shalt escape in the kings house, more then all the Jewes.

14 For if thou holdest thy peace at this time, & comfort and deliuerance shall ap-peare to the Jewes out of another place, but thou and thy fathers house shall perish:

and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdome for such a time?

15 Then Ester commanded to answer Mordecai,

16 Goe, and assemble all the Iewes that are found in Shushan, and fast yee for mee, and eate not, nor drinke in thre dayes, day nor night, I also and my maydes will fast likewise, and so wil goe in to the king, which is not according to the lawe: and if I perish, I perish.

17 So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Ester had commanded him.

CHAP. V.

1 Ester entred in to the King, and biddeth him and Haman to a feast. 14 Haman prepareth a gallows for Mordecai.

a To wit, after that the Iewes had begun to fast.

As on the third day Ester put on her royall apparell, and stood in the court of the Kings palace within, ouer against the Kings house: and the King sat upon his royall throne in the Kings palace ouer against the gate of the house.

2 And when the King saw Ester the Queene standing in the court, he found fauour in his sight: and the King helde out the golden scepter that was in his hand: so Ester drew nere, and touched the top of the scepter.

3 Then said the King vnto her, What wilt thou Queene Ester? and what is thy request? it shall bee euen giuen: thee to the halfe of the kingdome.

4 Then said Ester, If it please the King, let the king and Haman come this day vnto the banquet, that I haue prepared for him.

5 And the King said, Cause Haman to make haste that hee may doe as Ester hath said. So the King and Haman came to the banquet, that Ester had prepared.

6 And the king said vnto Ester, at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee: and what is thy request? it shall euen bee performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

7 Then answered Ester, and said, My petition and inrequest is,

8 If I haue found fauour in the sight of the King, and if it please the King to giue mee my petition, and to performe my request, let the king and Haman come to the banquet that I shall prepare for them, and I will doe to morrow according to the kings saying.

9 Then went Haman forth the same day ioyful and with a glad heart. But when Haman saw Mordecai in the kings gate, that hee stood not by, nor moued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Mordecai.

10 Neuertheless Haman refrained himselfe: and when hee came home, he sent and called for his friends, and Zeresh his wife.

11 And Haman told them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the King had promoted him, and how that he had let him aboute the princes and seruants of the king.

12 Haman said moreover, Wea, Ester the Queene did let no man come in with the King to the banquet that hee had prepared, save me: and to morrow am I hidden vnto her also with the King.

13 But all this doeth nothing auaille me, as long as I see Mordecai the Jew sitting at the kings gate.

14 Then said Zeresh his wife and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of fittie cubits hee, and to morrow speake thou vnto the King, that Mordecai may bee hanged thereon: then shalt thou goe ioyfully with the King vnto the banquet. And the thing pleased Haman, and hee caused to make the tree.

g Meaning, the highest that could be found.

CHAP. VI.

1 The King turneth over the Chronicles, and findeth the fidelitie of Mordecai, 10 And commandeth Haman to cause Mordecai to be had in honour.

The same night the king slept not, and he commanded to bring the booke of the Records and the Chronicles: and they were read before the king.

† Ebr. the Kings sleepe departed.

2 Then it was found written that Mordecai had tolde of Bigtana, and Zeresh, two of the Kings Eunuches, keepers of the doore, who sought to lay hands on the king Ahasuerus.

Chap. 2. 22.

3 Then the king said, What honour and dignity hath beene giuen to Mordecai for this? And the kings seruants that ministered vnto him, said, There is nothing done for him.

a For he thought it vnworthy his estate to receive a benefite, and not reward it.

4 And the king said, What is in the court? (Howe Haman was come into the inner court of the Kings house, that hee might speake vnto the king to hang Mordecai on the tree that he had prepared for him.)

5 And the kings seruants said vnto him, Behold, Haman standeth in the court. And the king said, Let him come in.

b Thus while the wicked imagine the destruction of others, they themselves fall into the same pit.

6 And when Haman came in, the king said vnto him, What shall be done vnto the man, whome the king will honour? Then Haman thought in his heart, To whome would the king do honour more then to me?

7 And Haman answered the king, The man to whom the king would honour,

8 Let them bring for him royall apparell, which the king useth to weare, and the horse that the king rideth vpon, & that the crown royall may be set vpon his head.

c Meaning, hereby, that the king should make him next vnto himselfe, as Ioseph heereby was knowne to bee next to Pharaoh, Gen. 41. 42.

9 And let the rayment and the horse bee deliuered by the hand of one of the Kings most noble princes, and let them apparell the man (whom the king will honour) and cause him to ride vpon the horse thorow the street of the city, and proclaim before him, Thus shall it be done vnto the man whom the king will honour.

10 Then the king said to Haman, Make haste, take the raiment and the horse as thou hast said, and do so vnto Mordecai the Jew, that sitteth at the kings gate: let nothing be alowed of all that thou hast spoken.

11 So Haman toke the raiment and the horse, and arrayed Mordecai, and brought him on horsebacke thorow the street of the citie, and proclaimed before him, Thus shall it be done to the man whome the king will honour.

12 And Mordecai came againe to the kings gate, but Haman halted home mourning, and his head couered.

13 And Haman told Zeresh his wife, and all his friends all that had befallen him. Then said his wisemen, and Zeresh his wife vnto him, If Mordecai be of the seed of the Jewes, before whom thou hast begun to fall, thou shalt not preuaile against him, ^d but shalt surely fall before him.

14 And while they were yet talking with him, came the kings eunuches, and halted to bring Haman vnto the banquet that Ester had prepared.

CHAP. VII.

3 The Queene biddeth the King and Haman a game, and prayeth for her selfe and her people. 6 She accuseth Haman, and hee is hanged on the gallows which he had prepared for Mordecai.

So the King and Haman came to banquet with the Queene Ester.

2 And the King said againe vnto Ester on the second day at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, Queene Ester, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy request? It shall bee euen performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

3 And Ester the Queene answered, and said, If I haue found fauour in thy sight, O King, and if it please the King, let my life be giuen me at my petition, and my people at my request.

4 For wee are sold, I, and my people to be destroyed, to bee slaine and to perish: but if we were sold for seruants, and for hand-maydes, I would haue held my tongue: although the aduersary could not ^b recompence the Kings losse.

5 Then King Abashuerosh answered and said vnto the Queene Ester, Who is hee? and where is he that ^c presumeth to do thus?

6 And Ester said, The aduersary and enemy is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraide before the King and the Queene.

7 And the King arose from the banquet of wine in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: But Haman stood up to make request for his life to the Queene Ester: for he saw that there was a ^c mischief prepared for him of the King.

8 And when the King came againe out of the palace garden, into the house where they dranke wine, Haman was ^d fallen vpon the bed whereon Ester sat: therefore the King said, Will hee force the Queene also before me in the house? as the word went out of the Kings mouth, they ^e couered Hamans face.

9 And Harbonah one of the eunuches said in the presence of the King, Beholde, there standeth yet the tree in Hamans house fittie cubites high, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that spake ^f good for the King. Then the King said, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Haman on the tree that hee had prepared for Mordecai: then was the Kings wrath pacified.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the death of Haman, was Mordecai exalted. 14 Comfortable letters are sent vnto the Jewes.

The same day did King Abashuerosh giue the house of Haman the aduersary of the Jewes vnto the Queene Ester. And Mordecai came before the King: for Ester told what he was ^b vnto her.

2 And the King tooke off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mordecai: and Ester set Mordecai ouer the house of Haman.

3 And Ester spake yet more before the King, and fell downe at his feet weeping, and besought him that hee would put away the wickednesse of Haman the Agagite, and his deuice that he had imagined against the Jewes.

4 And the King helde out the golden scepter toward Ester. Then arose Ester, and stood before the King.

5 And said, If it please the king, and if I haue found fauour in his sight, and the thing be acceptable before the king, and I please him, let it be written, that the letters of the deuice of Haman the sonne of Ammedatha the Agagite, may be called againe, which hee wrote to destroy the Jewes, that are in all the kings prouinces.

6 For how can I suffer and see the euill, that shall come vnto my people? for how can I suffer and see the destruction of my kindred?

7 And the King Abashuerosh said vnto the Queene Ester, & to Mordecai the Jew, Behold, I haue giuen Ester the house of Haman, whom they haue hanged vpon the tree, because he ^g layd hand vpon the Jewes.

8 Write ye also for the Jewes, as it lieth you in the kings name, and seale it with the Kings ring (for the writings written in the kings name, and sealed with the kings ring, may no man reuoke.)

9 Then were the Kings scribes called at the same time, euen in the third moneth, that is the moneth ^h Suan, on the three and twentieth day thereof: and it was written, according to all as Mordecai commaunded vnto the Jewes, and to the princes, and capitaines, and rulers of the prouinces, which were from India euen vnto Ethiopia, an hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces, vnto euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their speech, and to the Jewes, according to their writing, and according to their language.

10 And he wrote in the King Abashuerosh name, and sealed it with the kings ring: and hee sent letters by postes on horsebacke, and that rode on beaulls of price, as on mardarties, and colts of mares.

11 Wherein the king granted the Jewes (in what cities soeuer they were) to gather themselves together, and to stand for ⁱ their life, and to roote out, to slay, and to destroy all the power of the people and of the prouince that hated them, both children and women, and to spoile their goods:

13 The copy of the writing was, howe there should be a commandement giuen in all and euery prouince, published among all the people, and that the Iewes should be ready against that day to avenge themselves on their enemies.

14 So the posts rode vpon beastes of price and dyemebaries, and went forth with speed, to execute the kings commandement, and the decree was giuen at Shushan the palace.

15 And Mordecai went out from the king in royall apparell of blue and white, and with a great crowne of gold, and with a garment of fine linnen and purple, and the city of Shushan rested and was glad.

16 And vnto the Iewes was come light and ioy and glaucitie, and honour.

17 Also in all and euery prouince, and in all and euery city and place where the kings commandement and his decree came, there was ioy and gladnesse to the Iewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the land became Iewes: for the feare of the Iewes fell vpon them.

CHAP. IX.

1 At the commandement of the king the Iewes put their aduersaries to death. 14 The ten sonnes of Haman are hanged. 17 The Iewes keepe a feast in remembrance of their deliuerance.

SIN the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adar, vpon the thirteenth day of the same, when the Kings commandement and his decree came nere to be put in execution, in the day that y enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them.)

2 The Iewes gathered themselves together into their cities, throughout all the prouinces of the King Ahasuerus, to lay hand on such as sought their hurt, and no man could withstand them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes and the captaines, and the officers of the king exalted the Iewes: for the feare of Mordecai fell vpon them.

4 For Mordecai was great in the kings house, and the report of him went thorow all the prouinces: for this man Mordecai wayed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Iewes smote all their enemies with strokes of the sword & slaughter, and destruction, and did what they would vnto those that hated them.

6 And at Shushan the palace slew the Iewes and destroyed a hundred men.

7 And Parmandatha, and Dalphon, and Apatha,

8 And Doratha, and Adalia, and Arida-tha,

9 And Darmashta, and Arilai, and Aridai, and Aiazatha,

10 The ten sonnes of Haman, the sonne of Ammidatha, the aduersary of the Iewes slew they: but they laid not their hands on the spoile.

11 In the same day came the number of those that were slain, vnto the palace of Shushan before the king.

12 And the king layd vnto the Queene Ester, The Iewes haue slaine in Shushan the palace and destroyed five hundred men, and the ten sonnes of Haman: what haue they done in the rest of the kings prouinces: and what is thy petition, that it may bee giuen thee? or what is thy request moreouer, that it may bee performed?

13 Then sayde Ester, If it please the king, let it bee graunted also to morrow to the Iewes that are in Shushan, to doe according vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tree Hamans tenne sonnes.

14 And the king charged to doe so, and the decree was giuen at Shushan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes.

15 So the Iewes that were in Shushan also blessed themselves vpon the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and slew three hundred men in Shushan, but on the spoile they laid not their hand.

16 And the rest of the Iewes that were the kings prouinces, assembled themselves and stood for aether liues, and had rest from their enemies, and slew of them that hated them, seventy and five thousand: but they laid not their hand on the spoile.

17 Thus they did on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, and rested the fourteenth day thereof, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

18 But the Iewes that were in Shushan assembled themselves on the thirteenth day and on the fourteenth thereof, and they rested on the fifteenth of the same, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

19 Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwell in the vnnuallled townes, kept the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar with ioy and feasting, euen a ioyfull day, and euery one sent presents vnto his neighbour.

20 And Mordecai wrote these words, and sent letters vnto all the Iewes that were thorough all the prouinces of the King Ahasuerus both nere and farre,

21 Inioyning them that they should keepe the fourteenth day of the moneth A-dar, and the fifteenth of the same, euery yeere,

22 According to the dayes wherein the Iewes rested from their enemies, and the moneth, which was turned vnto them from sorrow vnto ioy, and from mourning into a ioyfull day, to keepe them the dayes of feasting and ioy, and to send presents euery man to his neighbour, and gifts to the poore.

23 And the Iewes promised to do as they had begunne, and as Mordecai had written vnto them,

Iob.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN this history is set before our eyes the example of a singular patience. For this holy man Iob was not only extremely afflicted in outward things and in his body, but also in his minde and conscience, by the sharpe tentations of his wife, and chiefe friends: which by their vehemēt words, and subtil disputations brought him almost to dispaire: for they set forth God as a seuerē Iudge, and mortal enemy vnto him which had cast him off, therefore in vaine he should seeke vnto him for succour. These friends came vnto him vnder pretence of consolation, and yet they tormented him more then did all his affliction. Notwithstanding hee did constantly resist them, and at length had good successe. In this story we haue to marke that Iob maintaineth a good cause, but handleth it euill: againe, his aduersaries haue an euill matter, but they defend it craftily. For Iob held that God did not alway punish men according to their sinnes, but that he had secret iudgements, whereof man knew not the cause, and therefore man could not reason against God therein, but he should be con- uicted. Moreover, he was assured that God had not reiected him, yet through his great torments and affliction he bursteth forth into many inconueniences both of wordes and sentences, and sheweth himselfe as a desperate man in many things, and as one that would resist God: and this is his good cause which he hath not handle well. Againe, the aduersaries maintaine with many goodly argu- ments that God punisheth continually according to the trespass, grounding vpon Gods providence, his iustice, and mans sinnes: yet their intencion is euill: for they labour to bring Iob into despaire, and so they maintaine an euill cause. Ezekiel commendeth Iob as a iust man, Ezck. 14. 14. and Iames setteth out his patience for an example, Iames 5. 11.

C H A P. I.

1 The holinesse, riches, and care of Iob for his chil- dren. 10 Satan hath permission to tempt him. 12 He tempteth him by taking away his substance and his children. 20 His faith and patience.

Here was a man in the lande of Uz, called Iob, and this man was an vpright & iust man, one a That is, of the country of Idumea, as Lamen. 4. 21. or bordering thereupon: for the land was called by the name of Uz the sonne of Dithan the sonne of Seir, Gen. 36. 28. b Forasmuch as hee was a Gentile and not a Iew, and yet is pronounced vpright, and without hypocrisie, it declareth, that among the heathen God hath his.

that feared God, and eschewed euill.

2 And hee had seuen sonnes, and three daughters.

3 His substance also was seuen thousand sheepe, and three thousand camels, and five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred shee asses, and his family was very great, so that this man was the greatest of all the men of the East.

4 And his sonnes went and banqueted in their houses, every one his day, and sent and called their three sisters to eate and to drinke with them.

k Meaning, the Angels which are called the sonnes of God, because they are willing to execute his will.

l Because our infirmity cannot comprehend God in his maiesty, he is set forth unto vs as a King, that our capacity may be able to vnderstand that which is spoken of him.

m This declareth, that although Satan bee aduersary to God, yet hee is compelled to obey him; and to doe him all homage, without whose permission and appointment he can doe nothing. n This question is asked for our infirmity: for God knew whence he came. o Herein is described the nature of Satan, which is ever ranging for his pray, 1. Pet. 5. 8. p He feareth thee not for thine owne sake, but for the commodity that hee receiveth by thee. q Meaning, the grace of God, which served Iob as a rampart against all temptations. r This signifyeth, that Satan is not able to touch vs, but it is God that must doe it. s Satan noteth the vice wherunto men are commonly subiect: that is, to hide their rebellion, and to be content with God in the time of prosperity, which vice is disfiled in the time of their aduersity. t God giueth not Satan power ouer man to gratifie him, but to declare that hee hath no power ouer man, but that which God giueth him. u That is, went to execute that which God had permitted him to doe: for els he can neuer go out of Gods presence. x That is, the Arabians. y Which thing was also done by the craft of Satan, to tempt Iob the more grievously, forasmuch as he might see that not onely men were his enemies, but that God made waies against him.

were gone about, Iob sent, and sanctified them, and role vp early in the morning, and offered burnt offerings according to the number of them all. For Iob thought, It may be that my sonnes haue sinned, and blasphemed God in their hearts: thus did Iob every day.

6 Now on a day, when the children of God came and stood before the Lord, Satan came also among them.

7 Then the Lord saide vnto Satan, Whence^a comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, saying, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

8 And the Lord said vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my servant Iob, howe none is like him in the earth, an upright and iust man, one that feareth God, and eleueth himselfe?

9 Then Satan answered the Lord, and said, Doest thou feare God for nought?

10 Hast thou not made an hedge about him, and about his house, and about all that hee hath on every side? thou hast blessed the worke of his hands, and his substance is increased in the land.

11 But stretch out now thine hand, and touch all that hee hath, to see if hee will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

12 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Lo, all that hee hath is in thine hand: only vpon himselfe hast thou not stretch out thine hand. So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord.

13 And on a day when his sonnes and his daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,

14 There came a messenger vnto Iob, and said, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding in their places,

15 And the Shepherds came violently, andooke them, yea they haue slaine the servants with the edge of the sword: but I only am escaped alone to tell thee.

16 And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and said, The fire of God is fallen from the beauen, and hath burnt vp the sheepe and the servants, and deuoured them; but I only am escaped alone to tell thee.

17 And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and said, The Chaldeans sit out their bands, and fell vpon the camels, and haue taken them, I haue slaine the servants with the edge of the sword: but I only am escaped alone to tell thee.

18 And whiles he was yet speaking, came another, and sayde, Thy sonnes and thy daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house, 19 And behold, there came a great wind from beyond the wilderness, and smote the foure corners of the house, which fell vpon the children, and they are dead, and I only am escaped alone to tell thee.

20 Then Iob arooke, and rent his garment, and shaued his head, and fell downe vpon the ground, and worshipped.

21 And said, Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, and naked shall I returne: neither the Lord hath giuen, and the Lord hath taken it: blessed be the name of the Lord.

22 In all this did not Iob sin, nor charge God foolishly.

CHAP. IJ.

6 Satan hath permission to afflict Iob. 9 His wife tempteth him to forsake God. 11 His three friends visit him.

And on a day the children of God came and stood before the Lord, and Satan came also among them, and stood before the Lord.

2 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, and said, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

3 And the Lord said vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my servant Iob, howe none is like him in the earth, an upright and iust man, one that feareth God, and eleueth himselfe? for yee her continually in his brightness, although thou wouldst me against him, to destroy him without cause.

4 And Satan answered the Lord, and said, That is, when I skinne for skinned, and all that enter a man hath, will hee giue for his life.

5 But stretch out now thine hand, and touch his bones, and his flesh, to see if hee will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

6 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Lo, he is in thine hand, bute spare his life.

7 So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord, and smote Iob with sore boyles.

Meaning, his owne person. g Thus Satan can goe no further in punishing, then God hath limited him. h This foire was most vehement, wherewith also God plagued the Egyptians, Exod. 9. 9 and threatneth to punish the rebellious people, Deu 28. 27. So that this temptation was most grievous: for if Iob had measured Gods fauor by the vehemency of his discipline, he might haue thought that God had cast him off.

i As desire of all other helpe and meanes and wonderfully afflicted with the sorrow of his disease. k I can wish the same instrument against Iob, as he did against Adam. l Meaning, what gainst thou to serve God, seeing wiltad the Synbite, and Zophar the Elamite: for they were agree'd together to thee, as though he were thine enemy?

This is the most grievous temptation of the faithful, when their faith is assailed, and when Satan goeth about to persuade them, and they trust in God in vain.

m For death was appointed to the blasphemer, and so he meant that he should be soone rid out of his paine. n That is, to be patient in aduersity, as we reioyce when he sendeth prosperitie, and so to acknowledge him to be both mercifull & iust. o He so bridled his afflictions, that his tongue thorow impatience did not murmur, against God. p Which were men of authority, wise and learned, and as the Septuagint write, kings, and came to comfort him, but when they saw how he was visited, they concluded an euill opinion of him, as though he had bin but an hypocrite, and so iustly plagued of God for his sinnes. q This was also a ceremony which they vsed in those countries, as the renting of their clothes in signe of sorrow, &c. r And therefore thought that he would not haue hearkened to their counsell.

CHAP. III.

1 Iob complained and curseth the day of his birth.

11 He desireth to die, as though death were the ende of all mans misery.

A^b Heerward^a Iob opened his mouth, and curseth his day.

2 And Iob cried out, and said,

3 Let the day of my birth wherein I was borne, & the night when it was said, There is a man child conceived.

4 Let that day be darknesse, let not God be regarded it from above, neither let the light be shined upon it.

5 But let darknesse & the shadow of death be shined: let the cloud remaine vpon it, and let them make it fearful as a bitter day.

6 Let darknesse possesse that night, let it not be forgotten unto the dayes of the yere, nor let it come into the count of the moneths.

7 Woe, desolate be that night, and let no joy be in it.

a The seuen dayes ended, Chap. 2. 13. b Here Iob beginneth to feele his great impatience in this battell betweene the spirit and the flesh, Rom. 7. 18. and after a maner yeeldeth yea: in the end he getteth victory, though he was in the meane time greatly wounded.

c Man thought not to be weary of their life, and curse it, because of the infirmities that it is subiect vnto, but because they are giuen to sinne and rebellion against God. d Let it be put out of the number of dayes, and let it not haue the light of the sunne to separate it from the night. e That is, most obscure darknesse, which makeeth the man afraid of death that are iust.

8 Let them that curse the day (bring reape to reuie their mourning) curse it.

9 Let the stars of that night be dimme through darknes of it: let it looke for light, but haue none: neither let it see & the dawning of the day.

10 Because it shut not up the doores of my mothers wombe: nor his sorrow from mine eyes.

11 Why died I not in the birth? or why died not I when I came out of the wombe?

12 Why did the knees preuent me? and why did I sucke the breasts?

13 For should I now haue my lien and bene quiet, I should haue slept then, and bene at rest.

14 With the kings and counsellors of the earth, which haue builded themselves a delicate place:

15 Or with the princes that had gold, and haue filled their houses with silver.

16 Or why was I not hid as an untimely birth, either as infants, which haue not seene the light?

17 The wicked haue ceased from their tyranny, and there they that laboured vaine are at rest.

18 The prisoners rest together, and heare not the voice of the oppressor.

19 There are small and great, and the leuant is free from his master.

20 Wherefore is the light giuen to him that is in misery? and life vnto them that haue heavy heartes?

21 Which long for death, and if it come not, they would euen search it more then treasures:

22 Which say for gladnesse, and reioyce when they can find the graine.

23 Why is the light giuen to the man whose way is hidde, and whom God hath hedged in?

24 For my sighing commeth before I eate, and my roarings are poured out like the water.

25 For the thing I feared is come vpon mee, and the thing that I was afraid of, is come vnto me.

26 I had no peace, neither had I quietnes, neither had I rest, yet trouble is come.

1 That is, by death the cruelty of the tyrants haue ceased. m All they that sustain any kinde of calamity and misery in this world: which he speaketh after the iudgement of the flesh. n He sheweth that the benefites of God are not comfortable, except the heart be ioyfull and the conscience quieted. o That teacheth not how to come out of his miseries, because he dependeth not on Gods prouidence. p In my prosperitie I euer looked for a fall, as is now come to passe. q The feare of troubles that should ensue, caused my prosperitie to seeme to me as nothing, and yet I am not exempted from trouble.

CHAP. IIII.

5 Iob is reprehended of impatience, 7 and vniustice, 17 and of the presumption of his owne righteousness.

Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said,

2 If we aslay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieved? but who can withhold himselfe from speaking?

3 Behold, thou hast taught many, and hast

f Which curse the day of their birth, let them la^a that curse vpon this night. g Let it be all wayes night, and neuer see day. i Ebr. the eye lids of the morning. h This and that which followeth declareth that when man gueteth place to his passions, he is not able to stay nor keepe measure, but runneth headlong into all euill, except God call him backe.

i The vehemency of his afflictions made him to venter the few words as though death were the end of all miseries, and as if there were no life after this, which he speaketh not as though it were so, but of the infirmities of his flesh caused him to braut out into this error of the wicked.

k He noteth the ambition of them, which for their pleasure as it were, change the order of nature, and build in most barren places, because they would hereby make their names immortal

l That is, by death the cruelty of the tyrants haue ceased. m All they that sustain any kinde of calamity and misery in this world: which he speaketh after the iudgement of the flesh. n He sheweth that the benefites of God are not comfortable, except the heart be ioyfull and the conscience quieted. o That teacheth not how to come out of his miseries, because he dependeth not on Gods prouidence. p In my prosperitie I euer looked for a fall, as is now come to passe. q The feare of troubles that should ensue, caused my prosperitie to seeme to me as nothing, and yet I am not exempted from trouble.

a Seeing this thine impatience.

z Whereas the wicked lament in their trouble, thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce.

u When we are in Gods fauour, all creatures shal loue vs.

x God shall foile the thee that thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce in all things, and not to be offended.

y Though the children of God haue not alwaies this promise performed, yet God doeth recompense it otherwise to their aduantage. z We haue learned these points by experience, that God punisheth not the innocent, that man cannot compare in iustice with him, that the hypocrites shal not long prosper, and that the affliction which man lusteineth, commeth for his owne sinne.

CHAP. VI.

1 Job answereth, that his paine is more grievous then his fault. 8 He misbeth death. 14 He complaineth of his friends.

But Job answered, and said, 2 That my griefe were well weighed, and my miseries were laid together in the balance!

3 For it would be now heauier then the sand of the sea: therfore my words are swallowed vp.

4 For the arrowes of the Almighty are in me, the venim wherof doth drinke vp my spirit, and the terrores of God fight against mee.

5 Doeth the wilde asse bray when hee hath grasse? or loweth the oxe when he hath fodder?

6 That which is vnflauour, shal it be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egge?

7 Such things as my soule refused to touch, as were sorowes, are my meat.

8 Oh that I might haue my desire, and that God would graunt me the thing that I long for!

9 That is, that God would destroy mee: that he would let his hand goe, and cut mee off.

10 Then should I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorrow, let him not spare) because I haue not denied the words of the Holy one.

11 What peller haue I that I should endure? or what is mine end, if I should prolong my life?

12 Is my strength the strength of stones?

the tongue, and thou shalt not bee afraid of destruction when it commeth. 22 But thou shalt laugh at destruction and death, and shalt not bee afraid of the beak of the earth. 23 For the stones of the field shall be in league with thee, and the beasts of the field shal be at peace with thee. 24 And thou shalt know that peace shal be in thy tabernacle, and thou shalt visite thine habitation, and shalt not sinne. 25 Thou shalt perceiue also, that thy seed shal be great, and thy posterity as the grasse of the earth. 26 Thou shalt go to thy graue in y a full age, as a ticke of corne commeth in due season in the barn. 27 Doe thus haue we enquired of it, and so it is: heare this, and know it for thy selfe.

13 Is it not so, y there is in me no helpe? i Have I not strength is taken from me?

14 We that is in misery, ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but men haue forsaken the feare of the Almighty.

15 Why brethren haue deceiued mee as a bricke, and as the rising of the riuer they passe away.

16 Which are blackish with pee, & wher in the snow is hid.

17 But in time they are dried vp with heat, and are consumed: and when it is hot, they faile out of their places.

18 Or they depart from their way and course, yea, they vanish and perish.

19 They that goe to Tema, consider them, and they that go to Sheba, waited for them.

20 But they were confounded: when they hoped, they came thither and were ashamed.

21 Surely now are ye like vnto it: ye haue scene my fearefull plague, and are afraid.

22 Was it because I said, Bring vnto mee: or giue a reward to mee of your substance?

23 And deliuer me fro the enemies hand, or ransom me out of the hand of tyrants?

24 Teach me, & I wil hold my tongue: and cause me to vnderstand wherein I haue erred.

25 How steadfast are the words of righteousness: and what can any of you truly reprove?

26 Doe ye imagine to reprove a words, that the talke of the afflicted should bee as the wind?

27 Doe make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherlesse, and dig a pit for your friend.

28 Now therefore be content: to looke vpon me: for I wil not lie before your face.

29 Turne, I pray you. let there bee none iniquitie: returne, I say, and ye shall see yet my righteousness in that behalfe. Is there iniquity in my tongue? doeth not my mouth speake sorowes?

table words. o Shew me wherein I haue erred, and I wil confesse my fault. p Hee that hath a good conscience, doeth not shrinke at the sharpe words or reasonings of others, except they be able to perfwade him by reason. q Doe you censure at my words, because I should be thought to speake foolishly, which am now in misery? r Consider whether I speake as one that is driuen to this impatience through very sorow, or as an hypocrite as you condemne me.

CHAP. VII.

1 Job sheweth the shortnes and misery of mans life.

Is there not an appointed time to man vpon earth? and are not his dayes as the dayes of an hireling?

2 As a seruant longeth for the shadow, and as an hireling looketh for the end of his worke,

3 So haue I had as an inheritance, the moneths of vanitie, and painefull nightes haue bene appointed vnto me.

4 If I layd mee downe, I said, When from moneth to moneth, and I haue looked for hope in vaine.

sought to helpe my selfe as much as was possible? 1 Or, wisdom, or law.

k He compareth those friends which comfort vs not in misery, to a brooke which in summer when we need waters, is dry, in winter is hard frozen, & in the time of raine, when we haue no need, buerfloweth with water.

l They that passe thereby to goe into the hose countries of Arabia, thinke to find water there to quench their thirst, but they are deceiued.

m That is, like to this brooke, which deceiue them that thinke to haue water there in their need, as I looked for consolation at your hands.

n He toucheth the worldings, which for no necessity will giue part of their goods, and much more these men, which would not giue him comfort.

o He toucheth the worldings, which for no necessity will giue part of their goods, and much more these men,

which would not giue him comfort.

p Hee that hath a good conscience, doeth not shrinke at the sharpe words or reasonings of others, except they be able to perfwade him by reason.

q Doe you censure at my words, because I should be thought to speake foolishly, which am now in misery?

r Consider whether I speake as one that is driuen to this impatience through very sorow, or as an hypocrite as you condemne me.

a Hath not an hired seruant some rest & ease? then in this my continuall torment I am worse then an hireling.

b My sorrow hath continued from moneth to moneth, and I haue looked for hope in vaine.

shall

a To know whether I complaine without iust cause.

b My griefe is so great that I lack words to expresse it.

c Which declareth that I am not only afflicted in body, but wounded in conscience, which is the greatest batel that the faithful can haue.

d Think you that I cry without cause, seeing the brute beasts do not complaine when they haue what they would?

e Can a mans taste delight in that that hath no fauour? meaning, that none take pleasure in affliction, seeing they cannot away with things that are vnflauoured to the mouth.

f Herein he sinneth double, both in wishing thorow impatience to die, and also in desiring of God a thing which was not agreeable to his will.

g That is, let me die at once before I come to distrust in Gods promise through mine impatience.

h Hee seareth lest he should be brought to inconueniences, if his sorowes should continue.

c This signifieth that his disease was rare and moit horrible.

d Thus he speaketh in respect of the breiue of mans life, which passeth without hope of returning: in consideration whereof, he desireth God to haue compassion on him.

e If thou behold me in thine anger, I shal not be able to stand in thy presence.

f Shal no more enioy this mortal life.

g Seeing I can by none other meanes comfort my selfe, I will declare my griefe by words, and thus he speaketh as one ouercome with griefe of minde.

h Am not I a poore wretch? what needest thou then to lay so much paine on me?

i So that I can haue no rest night nor day.

k He speaketh as one ouercome with sorrow and not of iudgement, or of the examination of his faith.

l Seeing my terme of life is so short, let me haue some rest and ease.

m Seeing that man of himselfe is so vile, why doest thou giue him that honor to contend against him? Iob vseth all kindes of perswasion with God, that he might stay his hand.

shall I arise? and measuring the evening, I am euensul with toiling and to rest vnto the dawning of the day.

5 My flesh is clothed with wormes and filthines of the dust, my skinned is rent, and become horrible.

6 My dayes are swifter then a weauers shuttle, and they are spent without hope.

7 Remember that my life is but a wind, and that mine eye shal not returne to see pleasure.

8 The eye that hath seene me, shal see me no more: thine eyes are vpon me, and I shal be no longer.

9 As the cloude vanissheth and goeth away, so be that goeth downe to the graue shal come vp no more.

10 He shal returne no more to his house neither shall his place know him any more.

11 Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, & muse in the bitterness of my minde.

12 Am I a sea? or a whale fish, that thou keepst me in ward?

13 When I say, My couch shall restene me, and my bed shall bring comfort in my meditation, 14 Then fearest thou me with dreames, and astonishest me with visions.

15 Therefore my soule chafeth rather to be strangled and to die, then to bee in my bones.

16 I abhorre it, I shal not liue alway: I spare me then, for my dayes are but vanity.

17 What is man that thou exaltest him, and that thou settest thine heart vpon him?

18 And dost visite him euery morning, and triest him euery moment?

19 How long will it be, y^e thou depart from me? thou wilt not let me alone whiles I may swallow my spittle.

20 I haue sinned, what shall I doe vnto thee? Thou preferest of men, why hast thou set me as a marke against thee, so that I am a burden vnto my selfe?

21 And why doest thou not pardon my trespass: and take away mine iniquitie? for now shal I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shal not be found.

22 And why doest thou not pardon my trespass: and take away mine iniquitie? for now shal I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shal not be found.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Bildad sheweth that Iob is a sinner because God punisheth the wicked, and preferreth the good.

Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,

2 How long wilt thou talke of these things: and how long shal the words of thy mouth be as a mighty wind?

3 Doth God peruert iudgement? or doth the Almighty subuert iustice?

4 If thy sonnes haue sinned against him, and he hath sent them into the place of their iniquitie,

5 Ye if then wilt early seeke vnto God, and pray to the Almighty,

6 If thou be pure and vpright, then surely hee will awake vp vnto thee, and he will make the habitation of thy righteousness prosperous.

7 And though thy beginning be small, yet thy latter end shall greatly increase.

8 Enquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy selfe to search of their fathers.

9 (For we are but of yesterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth are but a shadow.)

10 Shall not they teach thee and tell thee, and breite the words of their heart?

11 Can a rush grow without mire? or can the grass grow without water?

12 Though it were in greene and not cut downe, yet shall it wither before any other herbe.

13 So are the paths of al that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shall perish.

14 His confidence also shal be cut off, and his trust shalbe as the house of a spider.

15 Hee shall leane vpon his house, but it shall not stand: hee shall hold him fast by it, yet shall it not indure.

16 The tree is graene before the Sunne, and the braunches spread ouer the garden thereof.

17 The rootes thereof are wrapped about the fountain, and are sorden about the house of stones.

18 If any plucke it from his place, and deny, saying, I haue not sene ther, 19 Behold, it will reioyce by this means, that it may grow in another mold.

20 Behold, God will not cast away an vpright man, neither wil he take the wicked by the hand, 21 Till hee haue filled thy mouth with laughter, and thy lips with ioy.

22 They that hate thee shall be clothed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not remaine.

with Gods Spirit. h Which is to day and to morrow swept away.

i He compareth the iust to a tree, which although it be remooued out of one place vnto another, yet it flourisheth: so the affliction of the godly turneth to their profit.

k That is, so that there remaine nothing there to proue whether the tree had grown there or no.

l To be planted in another place, where it may grow at pleasure.

m If thou be godly hee will giue thee occasion to reioyce, and if not, thine affliction shall increase.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iob declareth the mighty power of God, and that mans righteousness is nothing.

Then Iob answered and said,

2 I know verely that it is so: for how should man compared vnto God, be as iustified?

3 If he would dispute with him, he could not answere him one thing of a thousand.

4 If he would dispute with him, he could not answere him one thing of a thousand. God, and his innocencie, confessing God to bee infinite in iustice, and man to be nothing in respect.

b Of a thousand things, which God could lay to his charge, man cannot answere him one.

b That is, each rewarded them according to their iniquities:

meanings, that Iob ought to be warned by the example of his children, that he offend not God.

c That is, if thou turne betime, whiles God calleth thee to repentance.

d Though the beginnings be not so pleasant as thou wouldest desire, yet in the end thou shalt haue sufficient occasion to content thy selfe.

e He willeth Iob to examine all antiquities, and hee shall finde it true which he here saith.

f Meaning, that it is not ynough to haue the experience of our felices, but to be confirmed by the examples of them that went before vs.

g As a rush cannot grow without moistnesse, so cannot the hypocrite, because hee hath not faith which is moistened with Gods Spirit.

h Which is to day and to morrow swept away.

i He compareth the iust to a tree, which although it be remooued out of one place vnto another, yet it flourisheth: so the affliction of the godly turneth to their profit.

k That is, so that there remaine nothing there to proue whether the tree had grown there or no.

l To be planted in another place, where it may grow at pleasure.

m If thou be godly hee will giue thee occasion to reioyce, and if not, thine affliction shall increase.

n If he would dispute with him, he could not answere him one thing of a thousand.

o Of a thousand things, which God could lay to his charge, man cannot answere him one.

c He declareth what is the infinitie of man by the mightie and incomprehensible power that is in God, shewing what he could doe if he would set forth his power.
d These are the names of certain starres, whereby he meaneth, that all starres both known and vnkknown are at his appointment.
e I am not able to comprehend his works, which are common, and daily before mine eyes, much lesse in those things which are hid & secret.
f He sheweth that when God doth execute his power he doth it iustly, forasmuch as none can controule him.

g God will not be appealed for ought that man can lay for himselfe for his iustification.

h That is, all the reasons that men can lay to approve their cause.

i How should I be able to answer him by eloquence? whereby he noteth his friends, that albeit they were eloquent in talke, yet they felt not in heart that which they spake. k Meaning in his own opinion: signifying that man will sometimes flatter himselfe to be righteous, which before God is abomination. l Whiles I am in my pangs, I cannot burst forth into many inaconueniences, although I know still that God is iust. m I am not able to feele my finnes so great, as I feele the weight of his plagues: and this hee speaketh to condemne his dulnes, and to iustifie God. n After he hath accused his own weaknes, he continueth to iustifie God and his power. o If I would stand in mine owne defence, yet God hath iust cause to condemne me, if he examine mine heart and conscience. p If God punish according to his iustice, he will destroy as well them that are counted perfect, as them that are wicked. q To wit, the wicked. r This is spoken according to our apprehension, as though hee would say, If God destroyed but the wicked, as chap. 5. 3. why should he suffer the innocents to be so long tormented by them?

4 Hee is wise in heart, and mightie in strength: who hath bene fierce against him and hath prospered?

5 Hee remooueth the mountaines, and they feele not when hee ouerthpoueth them in his wrath.

6 Hee remooueth the earth out of her place, that the pillars thereof doe shake.

7 He commandeth the Sunne, and it riseth not: he closeth vp the starres as vnder a signet.

8 Hee himselfe alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the sea.

9 He maketh the starres ^d Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the climates of the South.

10 He doeth great things and vnsearchable: yea, marvellous things without number.

11 Lo, when he goeth ^e by me, I see him not: and when he passeth by, I perceiue him not.

12 Behold, when he taketh a pray, ^f who can make him to reioyce it? who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?

13 God ^g will not withdraw his anger, and the most mightie helpe ^h doe stoupe vnder him?

14 How much lesse shall I answer him? or how should I find out my ⁱ wordes with him?

15 For though I were iust, yet could I ^k not answer, but I would make supplication to my Iudge.

16 If I ^l erre, and hee answer mee, yet would I not beleue that he heard my voice.

17 For he destroyeth me with a tempest, and woundeth me ^m without cause.

18 Hee will not suffer mee to take my breath, but filleth me with bitterness.

19 If we speake of strength, behold, he is ⁿ strong: if we speake of iudgement, who shall bring me in to plead?

20 If I would iustifie my selfe, mine owne mouth shall condemne me: ^o if I would be perfect, he shall iudge me wicked.

21 Though I were perfect, yet I knowe not my soule: therefore abhorre I my life.

22 This is one point: therefore I latue, He destroyeth the ^p perfect and the wicked.

23 If the scourge should ^q suddenly slay, should God ^r laugh at the punishment of the innocent?

24 The earth is giuen into the hande of the wicked: hee ^s couereth the faces of the Iudges thereof: if not, where ^t is he? or who is he?

25 His dayes haue bene more swift then a poste: they haue fled, and haue sente no good thing.

26 They are passed as with the most swift shippes, and as the Eagle that flieth to the pray.

27 If ^u I say, I will forget my complaint, I will cease from my wrath and comfort mee, 28 Then I am afraid of all my sorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent.

29 If I be wicked, why ^x labour I thus in vaine?

30 If I ^y wash my selfe with snow water, and purge my hands most cleane, 31 Yet shalt thou plunge mee in the pit, and mine owne ^z clothes shall make mee filthie.

32 For hee is not a man as I am, that I should answer him, if wee come together to iudgement.

33 Neither is there any vmpire ^a that might lay his hand vpon vs both.

34 Let him take his rod away from mee, and let not his feare astonish me:

25 Then will I ^b speake, and feare him not: but because I am not so, I hold me still.

more. a Which might make an accord betweene God and mee, speaking of impaciencie, & yet confessing God to be iust in punishing him. b Signifying that Gods iudgements keepe him in awe.

CHAP. X.

1 Job is weary of his life, and seereth out his fragility before God. 20 He desireth him to slay his hand.

23 A description of death.

My soule is cut off ^a though I liue: I will leaue my ^b complaint vpon my selfe, and will speake in the bitterness of my soule.

2 I will say vnto God, ^c Condemne mee not: shew mee wherefore thou contendest with me.

3 Thinkest thou it ^d good to oppresse me, and to call off the ^e labor of thine hands, and to fauour the ^f counsel of the wicked?

4 Wast thou ^g carnall eyes? or doest thou see as man seeth?

5 Are thy dayes as mans ^h dayes? or thy yeeres as the time of man,

6 That thou inquest of mine iniquitie, and searchest out my time?

7 Thou knowest that I cannot do ⁱ wickedly: for none can deliuer mee out of thine hand.

8 Thine ^k hands haue made me, and fashioned me wholly round about, and wilt e Wilt thou be without compassion? f Wilt thou this of ignorance?

h Art thou inconstant and changeable, as the times, to day a friend, to morrow an enemy? i By affliction thou keepest me as in a prison, and restrainest me from doing euill, neither can any set me at libertie. k In these eight verses following, he describeth the mercie of God in the wonderfull creation of man: and thereon groundeth that God should not shew himselfe rigorous against him, thou f That they can not see to doe iustice.

g That can shew the cotrary?

h I thinke not to fall into these afflictions, but my sorrowes bring me to these manifold inhamities, and my conscience condemne me.

x Why doth not God destroy me at once? thus he speaketh according to the infirmity of the flesh.

y Though I seeme neuer so pure in mine owne eyes, yet all is but corruption before God.

z Whatsoever I would vie to counter my filthines with, shall disclose me to much a I am more like to a dead man, then to one that liueth.

b I will make an ample declaration of my torments, accusing my selfe, and not God.

c He would not that God should proceed against him by his secret iustice, but by the ordinarie means that he punisheth others

d Is it agreeable to thy iustice to do me wrong?

e Is it agreeable to thy iustice to do me wrong?

f Is it agreeable to thy iustice to do me wrong?

g Is it agreeable to thy iustice to do me wrong?

h Is it agreeable to thy iustice to do me wrong?

i Is it agreeable to thy iustice to do me wrong?

1 As brittle as a pot of clay.

m That is, reason and understanding, and many other gifts whereby man excelleth all earthly creatures.

n That is, thy fatherly care and providence whereby thou preferrest me, & without the which I should perish straightway.

o Though I be not fully able to comprehend these things, yet I must needs confesse that it is so.

p I will always walk in feare and humilitie, knowing that none is iust before thee.

q Job being sore afflicted in this battel betweene the flesh and the spirit, brasteth out into these afflictions, wishing rather short dayes then long paine.

r That is, diversity of diseases, and in great abundance, shewing that God hath infinite means to punish man. s He wisheth that God would leave off his affliction, considering his great miserie and the breuitie of his life. t Hee speaketh thus in the person of a sinner, that is overcome with passions and with the feeling of Gods iudgements, and therefore cannot apprehend in that state the mercies of God and comfort of the resurrection. u No distinction betweene light and darknes, but where all is very darknesse it selfe.

CHAP. XI.

a Should he be swayed by his great talke that he is iust? b He chargeth Job with this, that he should say, that the thing which he sake was true, and that he was without sinne in the sight of God. c Which is, not to stand in iustifying of thy selfe: he signifieth that man will neuer be overcome, while he reasoneth with another, and therefore God must breake off the controuersie, and stop mans mouth.

thou destroy me?

9 Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made me, as the clay, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe?

10 Hast thou not potyled me out as milke, and turned me to curds like cheese?

11 Thou hast clothed mee with thicke, and fleshy, and iointed me together with bones and sinewes.

12 Thou hast giuen me life, and grace, and thy visitation hath preferred my spirit.

13 Though thou hast hid these things in thine heart, yet I know that it is so with thee.

14 If I haue sinned, then thou wilt straitly looke vnto me, and wilt not hold me guiltlesse of mine inquiry.

15 If I haue done wickedly, woe vnto mee: if I haue done righteously, I will not lift vp mine head, being full of confusion, because I see mine affliction.

16 But let it increase: hunt thou mee as a lyon, and returne and shew thy selfe marvellous vpon me.

17 Thou renewest thy plagues against me, and thou increasest thy wrath against me: changes and armies of sorowes are against mee.

18 Therefore when hast thou brought me out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished, and that none eye had seene me!

19 And that I were as I had not bene, but brought from the wombe to the graue!

20 Are not my dayes few? let him cease, and leaue off from me, that I may take a little comfort.

21 Before I goe and shall not returne, even to the land of darknesse, and shadow of death:

22 Into a land, I say, darke as darknesse it selfe, and into the shadow of death, where is none order, but the light is there as darknes.

CHAP. XII.

1 Job is vniuersally reprehended of Zophar. 7 God is incomprehensible. 14 He is mercifull to the repentant. 18 Their assurance that liue godly

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and sayd,

2 Should not the multitude of words be answered? or should a great talker be afflicted?

3 Should men hold their peace at thy lee, and when thou mockest others, shall none make thee ashamed?

4 For thou hast said, My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.

5 But oh, that God would speake and open his lips against thee!

6 That he might shew thee the secrets of wisdom, how thou hast deserved double, according to right: know therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquity.

7 Canst thou by searching find out God? canst thou finde out the Almighty to his perfection?

8 The heauens are high, what canst thou doe? it is deeper then h. l, how canst thou know it?

9 The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broader then the sea.

10 If he cut off, and shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?

11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, and him that understandeth nothing.

12 Yet vaine man would be wise, though man new borne is like a wild asse colt.

13 If thou prepare thine heart, & stretch out thine hands toward him:

14 If iniquity be in thine hand, put it farre away, and let no wickednesse dwell in thy tabernacle.

15 Then truly shalt thou lift vp thy face without spot, and shalt be stable, and shalt not feare.

16 But thou shalt forget thy miserie, and remember it as waters that are past.

17 Thine age also shall appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine and be as the morning.

18 And thou shalt be bold, because there is hope: and thou shalt dig pits, and shalt lie downe safely.

19 For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraid: yea, many shall make suit vnto thee.

20 But the eyes of the wicked shall faile, and their refuge shall perish, and their hope shall be sorrow of mind.

CHAP. XII.

1 Job answereth his friends of ignorance. 7 Hee declareth the might and power of God, 17 and how he changeth the course of things.

Then Job answered and said,

2 In deed because that ye are the people onely, wisdom must die with you.

3 But I haue understanding as well as you, and am not inferior vnto you: yea, who knoweth not such things?

4 I am as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and hee heareth him: the iust and the vpriight is laughed to scorne.

5 Hee that is ready to fall, is as a lampe despised in the opinion of the rich.

PROV 14 2. b He reproveth these his friends of two faults, the one that they thought they had better knowledge then in deed they had, and the other, that in stead of true consolation, they did deuide and despise their friend in his aduersity. c The which neighbour being a mocker and a wicked man, thinketh that no man is in Gods fauour but he, because he hath all things that hee desireth. d As the rich esteeme not a light or torch, that goeth out, so is he despised that falleth from prosperitie to aduersitie.

d That is, this perfection of God: and if man be not able to comprehend the height of the heauen, the depth of hel, the length of the ea, the breadth of the sea, which are but creatures: how can he attaine to the perfection of the Creator? e If God should turne the state of things, and establish a new order in nature, who could controll him? f That is, without vnderstanding, so that whatsoever gifer he hath afterward, come of God, and not of nature. g If thou repent, pray vnto him. h Renounce thine owne euil a Because you feele not that which you speak, you thinke the whole standeth in words and so flatter your selues as though none knew any thing, or could know but you.

pointment, wherein he declareth that he thinketh well of God, and is as able to set forth his power in words, as they that reasoned a-they shall tell thee:

declare vnto thee.

9 Who is ignorant of all these, but that the hand of the Lord hath made these?

uing thing, and the breath of all flⁱ mankind.

11 Dearth not the eares ^f discern the wordes: and the mouth taste meat for it selfe?

12 Among the ^g ancient is wiselome, and in the length of dayes is vnderstanding.

13 With him is wiselome and strength:
he hath counsel and vnderstanding.

14 Behold, he will breake downe, and it cannot be built: hee shutteth a man vp, and he cannot be loosed.

15 Behold, hee withholdeth the waters and they die by: but when he sendeth them out, they destroy the earth.

16 With him is strength and wiselome, hee that is deceined, and that ^h deccieth, are his.

17 He causeth the counsellors to go as speeled, and maketh the iudges fooles.

18 He looeth the ⁱ collar of Kings, and girdeth their loynes with a girdle.

19 He leadeeth away the princes as a pray, and ouerthroweth the mighty.

20 Wee taketh away the speech from the 21 He pouereth contempt vpon princes, and maketh the strength of the mighty weake.

their darkenesse, and bringeth forth the sy-dow of death to light.

23 Wee ^k increaseth the people, and de-stroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and bringeth them in againe.

24 Wee taketh away the hearts of them that are the chiefe ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the wildernesst out of the way.

25 They grope in the darke without light: and he maketh them to stagger like a drunken man.

l He causeth that their words haue no credit, which is, when he will punish sinne. m In this discourse of Gods won-both in the order and change of things, is by Gods will and appointment, wherein he declareth that he thinketh well of God, and is as able to set forth his power in words, as they that reasoned against, were.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Job compareth his knowledge with the experience of his friends. 16 The penitent shall be saved and the hypocrite condemned. 20 He prayeth vnto God that he would not handle him rigorously.

I mine eye hath seene all this: mine eare hath heerd and vnderstood it.

2 I know also as much as you know: I am not inferior vnto you.

3 But I will speake to the Almighty, and I desire to dispute with God.

4 For in deed yee forge lies, and all you are ^a physicians of no value.

5 That you would hold your tongue, that it might be imputed vnto you for wifdome!

6 Now heare my disputation, and giue eare to the arguments of my lips.

7 Will ye speake wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitfully for his cause?

8 Will yee accept his person? or will yee contend for God?

9 Is it well that hee should seeke of you?
will you make a lie for him, as one lieth for a man?

10 He will surely reprimand you, if ye doe secretly accept any person.

11 Shall not his excellencie make you afraid? and his feare fall vpon you?

12 Your ^b memories may bee compared vnto ashes, and your bodies to bodies of clay.

13 Holde your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon what will.

14 Wherefore doe I take my flesh in my teeth, and put my soule in my hand?

15 Lo, though he slay me, yet will I trust in him, and I will reprove my wayes in his sight.

16 He shall be my saluation also: for the hypocrite shall not come before him.

17 Heare diligently my wordes, & marke my talke.

18 Beholde now: if I prepare mee to iudgement, I know that I shall bee iudi-fied.

19 Who is he that will pleade with me:
for if I now hold my tongue, I die.

20 But do not these two things vnto mee then will I not hide my selfe from thee:

21 ^c Withdraw thine hand from me, and let not thy feare make me afraid.

22 Then call thou, and I will answer:
or let me speake, and answer thou me.

23 How many are mine iniquities and sinnes? shew mee my rebellion, and my sinne.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and lookest me for thine enemy?

25 Wilt thou breake a lease drunken to and fro: and wilt thou pursue the dyp stubble?

mee, and makest mee to possesse ^d the iniquities of my youth.

soles of my feet.

CHAP. XLII.

1 Iob describeth the shortnesse and misery of the life of man. 14 Hope susteineth the godly. 22 The condition of mans life.

MAN that is borne of woman, is of short continuance, and full of trouble.

2 We flourish forth as a flower, and is cut downe: he vanissheth also as a shadow, and continueth not.

3 And yet thou openest thine eyes vpon such one, and causist me to enter into iudgement with thee.

4 Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthinesse? there is not one.

5 Are not his dayes determined? the number of his moneths are with thee: thou hast appointed his bounde, which he cannot passe.

6 Turne from him that he may cease vntill his determined day, as an hireling.

7 For there is hope of a tree, if ye be cut downe, that it will yet sprout, and the branches thereof will not cease.

8 Though the root of it were old in the earth, and the stocke thereof be dead in the ground.

9 Yet by the sent of water it will bud, and bring forth boughes like a plant.

10 But man is like, and dieth, and man perissheth, and where is he?

11 As the waters passe from the sea, and as the flood decayeth and drieth vp,

12 So man slepeth and riseth not: for he shall not wake againe, nor be raised from his sleepe, till the heauen be no more.

13 Whither thou wouldest hide me in the graue, keepe me secret, vntill thy wrath were past, and wouldest giue me terme, and remember me!

14 If a man die, shall he be sure againe? All the dayes of mine appointed time will I wait, till my changing shall come.

15 Thou shalt call mee, and I shall answer thee: thou louest the worke of thine owne hands.

16 But wot thou? numbrest my steps, and dost not delay my finnes.

17 Mine iniquitie is sealed by, as in a bagge, and thou addest vnto my wickednesse.

18 And surely as the mountaine that falleth, commeth to nought, and the rocke that is removed from his place:

19 As the water breaketh the stones, when thou once flowest the things which grow in the dust of the earth: so thou destroyest the hope of man.

20 Thou prevallest away against him, so that he passeth away: he changeth his face when thou callest him away.

21 And he knoweth not if his finnes shall be honourable, neither shall he understand concerning them, whether they shall bee of low degree, or if they shall be of high degree.

22 Thou layest them altogether, and suffrest none of my finnes vnpunished.

23 He murmureth through the impacience of the flesh against God, as though he were as great leuerie against him, as against the hard rocks, or waters that uerflow, so that hereby all the occasion of his hope is taken away.

22 But while his flesh is vpon him, hee shall be as worme, and while his soule is in him, it shall murrene.

CHAP. XV.

1 Eliphaz reprehendeth Iob, because he ascribeth wisdom and purenesse to himselfe. 16 He describeth the curse that falleth on the wicked, reckoning Iob to be one of the number.

Then answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and said,

2 Shalt a wise man speake wordes of the wind, and fill his belly with the East wind?

3 Shal he dispute with wordes not come by? or with talke that is not profitable?

4 Surely thou hast cast off feare, and restrainest prayer before God.

5 For thy mouth declareth thine iniquitie, seeing thou hast chosen the tongue of the craftie.

6 Thine owne mouth condemneth thee, and not I, and thy lips tellise against thee.

7 Art thou the first man that was borne? and wast thou made before the hills?

8 Hast thou heard the secret counsell of God? and dost thou restraîne wisdom to thee?

9 What knewest thou that we know not? and understandest that is not in vs?

10 With vs are both ancient and very aged men, farre older then thy father.

11 Seeme the consolations of God small vnto thee? is this thing strange vnto thee?

12 Why doest thine heart take thee away, and what doe thine eyes meane, 13 That thou answerest to God? at thy pleasure, and bringest such wordes out of thy mouth?

14 What is man that he should be cleane? and he that is borne of woman, that he should be iust?

15 Behold, hee found no stedfastnesse in his Saints: yea, the heauens are not cleane in his sight.

16 How much more is man abominable, and filthy, which drinketh iniquitie like water?

17 I will tell thee: heare me, and I will declare that which I haue seene.

18 Which wise men haue tolde, as they haue heard of their fathers, and haue not kept it secret:

19 To whom alone the land was giuen, and no stranger passed thowp them.

20 The wicked man is continually as one that traueleth of child, and the number of his yeeres is hid from the tyrant.

21 A sound of feare is in his eares, and in his prosperitie the destroyer shall come vpon him.

22 Hee belongeth not to returne out of darkness: hee seeth the sword before him.

23 He wandreth to and fro for bread

1 Yet wiles hee much hee shall be in paine and misery.

a That is, vaine wordes, and without consolation?

b Meaning, with matters that are of none importance, which are forgotten as soon as they are uttered, as the East wind drieth vp the moisture of the ground as it falleth.

c He chargeth Iob as though his talke caused men to cast off the feare of God and prayer.

d Thou speakest as doe the mockers & contemners of God.

e That is, the most ancient, & for by reason the most wise?

f Art thou onely wise?

g He accuseth Iobs pride, and ingratitude, that will not be comforted by God nor by their counsel.

h Why dost thou stand in thine owne conceit?

i His purpose is to proue that Iob as an vnjust man and an hypocrite is punished for his finnes like as he did before, Chap. 4. 18.

k Which hath a desire to sinne, as he that is thirstie, to drinke. l Who by their wisdom so gouerned, that no stranger invaded them, and to the land seemed to be giuen to them alone. m The cruel man is euer in danger of death, and is neuer quiet in conscience. n Out of that misery wherinto he once falleth. o God doth not onely impouerish the wicked oft times, but euery in their prosperitie he punisheth them with a greedinesse, uen more together: which is as a beggerie.

5 f En2

I were for thee? c That these mine afflictions ments, though man know not the cause.

f Hochar flattereth a man, and onely iudgeth him happie in his prosperitie, shal nor himself onely, but in his posteritie be punished.

g God hath made all the world to speake of me, because of mine afflictions.

h That is, as a continuall found in their eares. i To wit, when they see the godly punished: but in the end they shall come to vnderstanding, and know what shall be the reward of the hypocrite.

k That is, will not be discouraged, considering that the godly are punished as well as the wicked. l That is, have brought me sorow in stead of comfort. m Though I should hope to come from aduersitie to prosperitie, as your discourse pretendeth. n I have no more hope in father, mother, sister, or any worldly thing: for the dust and wormes shal beto me in stead of them. p All worldly hope and prosperitie faile, which you say, are only signes of Gods fauour: but seeing, that these things perish, I set my hope in God, and in the life euerslasting.

5 For the eyes of his children shall faile, that speake flatterie to his friends.

6 Hee hath also made me a by-word of the people, and I am as a tabret before them.

7 Mine eye therefore is dimme for griefe, and all my strength is like a shadow.

8 The righteous shall be astonied at this, and the innocent shall be moued against the hypocrite.

9 But the righteous will hold his way, and hee whose hands are pure, shall increase his strength.

10 All you therefore turne you and come now, and I shall not finde one wise among you.

11 My dayes are past, mine enterprises are broken, and the thoughts of mine heart

12 haue changed the night for the day, and the light that appoched for darknesse.

13 Though I hope, yet the graue shall be mine house, and I shall make my bed in the darke.

14 I shall say to corruption, Thou art my father, and to the womie, Thou art my mother and my sister.

15 Where is then now my hope? or who shall consider the thing that I hoped for?

16 They shall goe downe into the bottom of the pit: surely it shall lie together in the dust.

1 Iob speaketh to them three that came to comfort him. m That is, have brought me sorow in stead of comfort. n Though I should hope to come from aduersitie to prosperitie, as your discourse pretendeth. o I have no more hope in father, mother, sister, or any worldly thing: for the dust and wormes shal beto me in stead of them. p All worldly hope and prosperitie faile, which you say, are only signes of Gods fauour: but seeing, that these things perish, I set my hope in God, and in the life euerslasting.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Bildad rehearseth the paines of the vnfaythfull and wicked.

Then answered Bildad the Shubite, and said,

2 When wilt thou make an end of your words? cause vs to vnderstand, and then we will speake.

3 Therefore are we counted as beasts, and are vile in your sight?

4 Thou art as one that teareth his soule in his anger. Shall the earth be forsaken for thy sake? or the rocke remoued out of his place?

5 Pea, the light of the wicked shall bee quenched, and the sparke of his fire shall not shine.

6 The light shall bee darke in his dwelling, and his candle shall be put out with him.

7 The steps of his strength shall be restrained, and his owne counsell shall cast him downe.

8 For hee is taken in the net by his feete, and hee shall walke vpon the snares.

9 The green shall take him by the heele, and the thiefe shall come vpon him.

10 A snare is laid for him in the ground, and a trap for him in the way.

11 Fearefulnesse shall make him afraid on every side, and shall driue him to his feete.

12 His strength shall bee as famine: and destruction shall be ready at his side.

13 It shall deuoure the inner parts of his skinne, and the first boyme of death shall deuoure his strength.

14 His hope shall be rooted out of his dwelling, and shall cause him to goe to the King of feare.

15 Feare shall dwell in his house (because it is not his) and brimstone shall be scattered vpon his habitation.

16 His rootes shall bee dried vp beneath, and above shall his branch be cut downe.

17 His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and he shall haue no name in the streete.

18 They shall driue him out of the light vnto darkenesse, and chase him out of the world.

19 Hee shall neither haue sonne nor nephew among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings.

20 The posteritie shall be astonied at his day, and feare shall come vpon the ancient.

21 Surely such are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Iob reproofeth his friends, 15 and reciteth his miseries and grievous paines, 25 He assureth himselfe of the general resurrection.

But Iob answered, and sayd,

2 How long wilt thou be my soule, and torment me with words?

3 Pee haue now a tenn times reproched me, and are not ashamed: pee are impudent toward me.

4 And though I had in deed erred, mine error remaineth with me.

5 But indeed if you will aduance your selues against me, and rebuke me for my reproch,

6 know now, that God hath overthrowen mee, and hath compassed mee with his net.

7 Behold, I cry out of violence, but I haue none answer: I cry, but there is no iudgement.

8 Hee hath hedged by my way that I cannot passe, and hee hath lee darkenesse in my pathy.

9 Hee hath spoyled mee of mine honour, and taken the crowne away from mine head.

10 Hee hath destroyed mee on every side, and I am gone: and he hath remoued mine hope like a tree.

11 And he hath kindled his wrath against me, and counteth me as one of his enemies.

12 His armies came together, and made their way vpon mee, and camped about my tabernacle.

13 Hee hath remoued my brethren farre from mee, and also mine acquaintance were strangers vnto me.

14 My neighbours haue forsaken me, and my familiars haue forgotten me.

15 They that dwell in mine house, and my maydesooke mee for a stranger: for I was a stranger in their sight.

16 I called my seruants, but he would not moued.

n Is it not enough that God doth punish me, except you by reproches increase my sorrow? o To see my body punished, except yee trouble my minde?

p He protesteth that notwithstanding his forepansions, his religion is perfect, and that he is not a blasphemer, as they iudged him.

q I doe not so iustifie my selfe before the world, but I knowe that I shall come before the great iudge, who shall be my deliuerer, and Saviour. r Herein Iob declareth plainly that he had a full hope, that both the soule and body should enjoy the presence of God in the last resurrection. s Though his friends thought that hee was but persecuted of God for his finnes, yet he declared that there was a deeper consideration: to wit, the trial of his faith and patience, and so to be an example for others. t God will be reuenged of this haitie iudgement, whereby yee condemne me.

CHAP. XX.

1 Zophar sheweth that the wicked and the couetous shall haue a short end, 22 Though for a time they flourish.

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and sayd,

2 Doubtlesse my thoughts cause mee to answer, and therefore I make haste.

3 I haue heard the correction of my reproch: therefore the spirit of mine understanding causeth me to answer.

4 Knowest thou not this of old? and since God placed man vpon the earth,

5 That the reioycing of the wicked is short, and that the top of hypocrites is but a moment?

6 Though his excellencie mount vp to the heauen, and his head reach vnto the cloudes,

7 Yet shall hee perishe for ever, like his downe, and they which haue seene him shall say, Where is he?

8 Hee shall flee away as a dreame, and they shall not finde him, and shall passe a-answer, though I prayed him with my mouth.

17 My breath was strange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens sake of mine owne body.

18 The wicked also despised me, & when I rold, they spake against me.

19 All my secret friends abhorred mee, and they whom I loued, are turned against mee.

20 My bone cleaueth to my skinne, and to my flesh, and I haue escaped with the skin of my teeth.

21 Haue pittie vpon me: haue pittie vpon me. (I see my friends) for the hand of God hath touched mee.

22 Why doe ye persecute mee as God? and are not satisfied with my flesh?

23 Oh that my wordes were now written? Oh that they were written euen in a booke, 24 And grauen with an yron pen in lead, or in stone for euer!

25 For I am sure that my Redeemer liueth, and he shall stand the last on the earth.

26 And though after my skinne wormes destroy this body, yet shall I see God: in my flesh.

27 Whom I my selfe shall see, and mine eyes shall behold, and none other for mee, though my reines are consumed within mee.

28 But ye sayd, Why is hee persecuted? And there was a deepe matter in me.

29 Be ye afrayd of the word: for the sword will be reuenged of wickednesse, that ye may know that there is an iudgement.

30 I doe not so iustifie my selfe before the world, but I knowe that I shall come before the great iudge, who shall be my deliuerer, and Saviour. r Herein Iob declareth plainly that he had a full hope, that both the soule and body should enjoy the presence of God in the last resurrection. s Though his friends thought that hee was but persecuted of God for his finnes, yet he declared that there was a deeper consideration: to wit, the trial of his faith and patience, and so to be an example for others. t God will be reuenged of this haitie iudgement, whereby yee condemne me.

way as a vision of the night.

9 So that the eye which had seene him, shall do so no more, and his place shall see him no more.

10 His children shall flatter the poore, and his hand shall restore his substance.

11 His bones are full of the sinne of his youth, and it shall lie downe with him in the dust.

12 When wickednesse was sweet in his mouth, and he hid it vnder his tongue,

13 And fauoured it, and would not forsake it, but kept it close in his mouth, 14 Then his meat in his bowels was turned: the gall of Aspes was in the middes of him.

15 Hee hath deuoured substance, and he shall vomite it: for God shall draw it out of his belly.

16 Hee shall sucke the gall of Aspes, and the vipers tongue shall slay him.

17 Hee shall not see the rivers, nor the floods and streames of honey and butter.

18 Hee shall restore the labour, and shall deuoure no more: euen according to the substance shall be his exchange, and he shall enjoy it no more.

19 For hee hath vndone many: hee hath forsaken the poore, and hath spoiled houses which hee builded not.

20 Surely hee shall feele no quietnesse in his body, neither shall hee reuerue of that which hee desired.

21 There shall none of his meat be left: therefore none shall hope for his goods.

22 When hee shall be filled with his abundance, hee shall be in paine, and the hand of all the wicked shall aslaie him.

23 He shall bee about to fill his belly, but God shall send vpon him his fierce wrath, and shall cause to raine vpon him, euen vpon his meate.

24 He shall flee from the yron weapons, and the bow of Steele shall strike him through.

25 The arrows are drawen out, and cometh forth of the body, and shined of his gall, so feare cometh vpon him.

26 All darkenesse shall be hid in his secret places: the fire that is not blown, shall deuoure him, & that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shall be destroyed.

27 The heauen shall declare his wickednes, and the earth shall rise vp against him.

28 The increase of his house shall goe away: it shall flow away in the day of his wrath.

29 This is the portion of the wicked man from God, and the heritage that hee shall haue of God for his wordes.

after, God will take it from them, and cause them to make restitution, so that it will be an exchange. k Hee shall leaue nothing to his posteritie. l The wicked shall neuer be in rest: for one wicked man shall seeke to destroy another. m Some read, vpon his flesh, alluding to Iob, whose flesh was smitten with a scab. n Some reade of the quier. o All feare and sorrow shall light vpon him, when hee thinketh to escape. p That is, fire from heauen, or the fire of Gods wrath. q Meaning the children of the wicked shall flow away like rivers, and be dispersed in diuers places. r Thus God will plague the wicked. s Against God, thinking to excuse himselfe, and to escape Gods hand.

c Whereas the father through ambition and tyranny oppressed the poore, children through poverty and misery shall seeke fauour at the poore.

d So that the thing which hee hath taken away by violence shall bee restored againe by force. e Meaning, that he shall carry nothing away with him, but his sin. f As poison that is sweet in the mouth, bringeth destruction, when it cometh into the body: so all vice at the first is pleasant, but afterward God turneth it to destruction.

g He compareth euil gotten goods to the venime of Aspes, which serpent is most dangerous: noting that Iobs great riches were not cruelly come by, and therefore God did plague him iustly for the same.

h Though God giue to all other abundance of his blessings, yet hee shall haue no part thereof. i That is, these rauenous and spoilers of the poore shall enjoy their theft but for a time: for a He declareth that two things moued him to speake: to wit, because Iob seemed to touch him, & because hee thought he had knowledge sufficient to confute him.

b His purpose is to proue Iob to be a wicked man, & an hypocrite, because God punished him, and changed his pretentie into aduersitie.

CHAP. XXI.

7 Iob declareth how the prosperity of the wicked maketh them proud: 15 Inasmuch that they blaspheme God. 16 Their destruction is at hand. 23 None ought to be indged wicked for affliction, neither good for prosperity.

a Your diligent marking of my words, shal beto me a great consolation. b As though he would say, I doe not talke with man, but with God, who will not answere me, and therefore my mind must needs be troubled.

c He chargeth them as though they were not able to comprehend this his feeling of Gods iudgement, and exhorteth them therefore to silence.

d Iob proueth against his aduersaries, that God punisheth not straightway the wicked, but oft times giueth them long life and prosperity, so that we must not iudge God iust or vniust by the things that appeare to our eye.

e They haue store of children, lusty, and healthfull: and in these points he answereth to that which Zophar alleged before.

f Nor being tormented with long sickness.

g They desire nothing more then to be exempt from all subiection that they should beare to God: this Iob sheweth his aduersaries, that if they reason only by that which is seene by common experience, the wicked that hate God, are better dealt withall, then they that loue him. h It is not their owne, but God onely lendeth it vnto them. i He keepeth me from their prosperity. k When God recompenseth his wickednes, he shall know that his prosperity was but vanitie. l Who sendeth to the wicked prosperity, and punisheth the godly. m Meaning, the wicked,

B At Iob answered, and said, 2 Heare diligently my wordes, and this shalbe in stead of your consolations.

3 Suffer mee that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on.

4 Doe I direct my talke to man? If it were so, how should not my spirit be troubled?

5 Marke mee, and bee ashamed, and lay your hand vpon your mouth.

6 When will I remember, I am afraid, and feare taketh hold on my flesh.

7 Wherefore doe the wicked liue, and waxe old, and grow in wealth?

8 Their seede is established in their sight with them, and their generation before their eyes.

9 Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.

10 Their bullocke gendereth, and faileth not: their cow calueth, and calueth not her calfe.

11 They send forth their children like sheepe, and their sennes daunce.

12 They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the sound of the Organs.

13 They spend their dayes in wealth, and suddenly they goe downe to the graue.

14 They say vnto God, Depart from vs: for we desire not the knowledge of thy wayes.

15 Who is the Almighty, that we should serue him: and what profit should wee haue, if we should pray vnto him?

16 Lo, their wealth is not in their hand, therefore let the counsell of the wicked bee farre from me.

17 How oft shall the candle of the wicked bee put out? and their destruction come vpon them: he will diuide their lines in his wrath.

18 They shall bee as stubble before the winde, and as chaffe that the stoppe cartech away.

19 God will lay by the fozow of the father for his children: when he rewardeth him, he shall know it.

20 His eyes shall see his destruction, and hee shall drinke of the wrath of the Almighty.

21 For what pleasure hath he in his house after him, when the number of his moneths is cut off?

22 Shall any teach God knowledge, who iudgeth the height things?

23 One dieth in his full strength, being in all ease and prosperity.

24 His breasts are full of milke, and his bones rume full of marrow.

25 And another dieth in the bitternesse of his soule, and neuer eateth with pleasure.

26 They shall sleepe both in the dust, and the wommes shall couer them.

27 Behold, I know your thoughts, and the enterprises, where with ye doe me wrong.

28 For ye say, Where is the Princes house? and where is the Tabernacle of the wickedes dwelling?

29 Say ye not, aske them that goe by the way: and ye cannot denie their signes.

30 But the wicked is kept vnto the day of destruction, and they shall bee brought forth to the day of wrath.

31 Who shall declare his way to his face, and who shall reward him for that he hath done?

32 Per shall he be brought to the graue, and remaine in the heape.

33 The slime valley shall sweete vnto him, and euery man shall draw after him, as before him there were innumerable.

34 How then comfort ye me in vaine, seeing in your answers there remains but lies?

wicked flourish heere, yet God will punish him in the last day. f Though men doe flatter him, and none dare reprove him in this world, yet death is a token, that God will bring him to an account. g He shalbe glad to lie in a slime pit, which before could not bee content with a royall pallace. n Saying, that the iust in this world haue prosperity, and the wicked aduersity.

CHAP. XXII.

2 Eliphaz affirmeth that Iob is punished for his finnes. 6 He accuseth him of vnnecessitie. 13 And that he desired God: providence. 21 He exhorteth him to repentance.

Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said,

2 May a man be profitable vnto God, as he that is wise, may be profitable to himselfe?

3 Is it any thing vnto the almighty, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable to him, that thou makest thy wayes right?

4 Is it for feare of thee that he will accuse thee? or goe with thee into indignement?

5 Is not thy wickednes great, and thine iniquities innumerable?

6 For thou hast taken the pledge from thy brother for naught, & spoiled the clothes of the naked.

7 To such as were weary, thou hast not given water to drinke, and hast withdrawen bread from the hungry.

8 But the mighty man had the earth, and he that was in authority dwelt in it.

9 Thou hast cast out widowes empty, and the armes of the fatherlesse were broken.

10 Therefore snares are round about thee, and thou shalt suddenly be troubled therewith.

11 Darkness of waters shall couer thee, and abundance of waters shall couer thee.

h That so much the more by that excellent worke thou mayest feare God, and reuerence him. i He reuereth Job as though he denied Gods providence, and that he could not see the things that were done in this world. k How God hath punished them from the beginning. l He proueth Gods prouidence by the punishment of the wicked, whom he taketh away before they can bring their wicked purpotes to passe. m He answereth to that which Job had sayd, Chap. 2. 1. 7. that the wicked haue prosperitie in this world: desiring that hee might not be partaker of the like. n The iust reioyce at the destruction of the wicked for two causes: first because God sheweth himselfe Iudge of the world, and by this meanes continueth his honour and glory: secondly, because God sheweth that he hath care ouer his, in that he punisheth their enemies. o That is, the state and preservation of the godly is hid vnder Gods wings. p Meaning, of the wicked. q He exhortheth Job to repentance and to returne to God. r God will restore vnto thee all thy substance. s Which shall be in abundance like dust. t That is, the fauour of God. u God will deliuer his when the wicked are destroyed round about them, as in the flood and in Sodome. x God will deliuer a whole country from perill, euen for the iust mans sake.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Job affirmeth that he both knoweth and feareth the power and sentence of the Iudge, 10 And that he is not punished only for his sinnes.

But Job answered and sayd, 2 Though my talke bee this day in bitterness, and my plague greater then my gronings, a He sheweth the iust cause of his complaining, and as touching that Eliphaz had exhorted him to returne to God as chap. 22. 1. he declareth that he desireth nothing more: but it seemed that God would not be found of him.

3 Would God yet I knew how to finde him, I would enter vnto his place. 4 I would pleade the cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments. 5 I would know the wordes that hee would answer mee, and would vnderstand what he would say vnto me. 6 Would hee ^b pleade against me with his great power? No, but hee would ^c put strength in mee. 7 ^d Where the righteous might reason with him, so I should bee deliuered for euer from my iudge. 8 Behold, if I goe to the East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I cannot perceiue him: 9 If to the North where hee worketh, yet I cannot see him: he will hide himselfe in the South, and I cannot behold him. 10 But he knoweth my ^e way, and trieth me, and I shall come forth like the gold. 11 My foote hath followed his steps: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined. 12 Neither haue I departed from the commandment of his lips, & I haue ^f esteemed the words of his mouth more then mine appointed foode. 13 Yet hee is in one minde, and who can turne him? yea, hee doeth what his minde desireth. 14 For he will performe that which is decreed of me, and ^g many such things are with him. 15 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, and in considering it, I am afraid of him. 16 For God ^h hath softened mine heart, and the Almighty hath troubled me. 17 For I am not cut off in darkness, but he hath hid the darkness from my face.

God doth visite him for his profit. g His word is more precious vnto me, then the meate wherewith the body is sustained. h Job confesseth that at this present he felt not Gods fauour, and yet was assured that hee had appointed him to a good end. i In many points man is not able to attaine to Gods iudgements. k That I should not be without feare. l He sheweth the cause of his feare, which is, that he being in trouble, seeth no end, neither yet knoweth the cause.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 Job describeth the wickednesse of men, and sheweth what curse belongeth to the wicked. 12 How all things are governed by Gods prouidence, 17 And the destruction of the wicked.

How should not the times be ^a hid from the Almighty, seeing that they which know him, see not his ^b dayes?

6 They reape his promise in the field, but they gather the late vintage of the wicked.

7 They cause the naked to lodge without garment, and without couering in the cold.

8 They are wet with the showres of the mountaines, and they embrace the rocks for want of a couering.

9 They plucke the fatherlesse from the breast, and take the pledge of the poore.

Bildad proueth that no man is cleane nor without sinne before God.

Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and sayd,

2 Power and feare is with him, that maketh peace in his high places.

3 Is there any number in his armies? and vpon whom shall not his light arise?

4 And how may a man be iustified with iust, yet soone after God? or how can he be cleane, that is borne of woman?

5 Behold, hee will giue no light to the moone, and the starres are vncleane in his sight.

preference? c That is, be iust in respect of God? d If God shew his power, the moone and starres cannot haue that light, which is giuen them, much lesse can man haue any excellencie, but of God.

CHAP. XXVI.

Iob sheweth that man cannot helpe God, and proueth it by his miracles.

At Iob answered, and sayd,

2 Whom helpest thou? him that hath no power: laiest thou the arme that hath no strength?

3 Whom counellest thou? him that hath no wisdom: thou shewest right well as the thing is.

4 To whom dost thou declare these words? or whose spirit cometh out of thee?

5 The dead things are formed vnder the waters, and nerre vnto them.

6 The graue is naked before him, and there is no couering for destruction.

7 He stretcheth out the earth over the empty place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothing.

8 He bindeth the waters in his clouds, and the cloud is not broken vnder them.

9 He holdeth backe the face of his throne: and spreadeth his cloud vpon it.

10 He hath set bounds about the waters, vntill the day and night come to an end.

11 The pillars of heauen tremble and quake at his reproofe.

12 The sea is calme by his power, and by his vnderstanding hee smiteth the pride thereof.

who can vnderstand his fearefull power?

CHAP. XXVII.

3 The constancie and perfectnesse of Iob. 13 The reward of the wicked and of the tyrants.

Moreouer Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying,

2 The liuing God hath taken away my iudgement: for the Almighty hath put my soule in bitternesse.

3 Yet so long as my breath is in me, and the Spirit of God in my nostrils,

4 I will speeke surely that which I heare: and my tongue shall utter no deceit.

5 God forbid, that I should iustifie you: vntill I die, I will neuer take away mine innocencie from my selfe.

6 I will keepe my righteousnesse, and will not forsake it: mine heart shall not reprove me of my sayes.

7 Mine enemy shall bee as the wicked, and he that riseth against me, as the vnrigh- teous.

8 For what hope hath the hypocrite when he hath heaped up riches, if God take away his soule?

9 Will God heare his cry, when trouble cometh vpon him?

10 Will he let his delight on the Almighty: will he call vpon God at all times?

11 I will teach you what is in the hand of the God, and I will not conceale that which is with the Almighty.

12 Behold, all ye your selues haue seene it: why then doe you thus vanitie in vanitie.

13 This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of tyrants, which they shall receive of the Almighty.

14 If his children bee in great number, they shall destroy them, and his posteritie shall not be satisfied with bread.

15 His remnant shall be buried in death, and his widowes shall not weepe.

16 Though he should heape up siluer as the dust, and prepare payment as the clay, 17 Hee may prepare it, but the iust shall put it on, and the innocent shall diuide the siluer.

18 Hee buildeth his house as the moth, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh.

19 When the rich man sleepeeth, he shall not bee gathered to his facheis: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.

20 Terroures shall take him as waters, and a tempest shall cary him away by night.

21 The East wind shall take him away, and hee shall depart: and it shall hurle him out of his place.

22 And God shall call vpon him and not spare, though hee would saue his life out of his hand.

23 Every man shall clay their hands at him, and hiss at him out of their place.

24 Which breedeth in another mans possession or garment, but is soone shaken out. n He meaneth that the wicked tyrants that not haue a quiet death, nor be buried honourably.

Iob sheweth that the wifedome of God is vnsearchable.

1 The siluer surely hath his vaine, and the gold his place, where they take it.

2 Iron is taken out of the dust, & brasse is molten out of the stone.

3 God putteth an end to darknesse, and he creeth the perfection of all things: he be- letereth a bond of darknesse, and of the shadow of death.

4 The flood breaketh out against the inhabitant, and the waters forgotteu of the foote, being higher then man, are gone away.

5 Out of the lame earth cometh bread, and vnder it, as it were fire is turned vp.

6 The stones thereof are a place of sapphires, and the dust of it is gold.

7 There is a path which no fowle hath knownen, neither hath the kites eye seene it.

8 The stone whelps haue not walked it, nor the lyon passed thereby.

9 He putteth his hand vpon the rocks, & ouerthroweth the mountaines by the rootes.

10 Hee breaketh riuers in the rockes, and his eye seeth euery precious thing.

11 He bindeth the floods that they do not ouerflow, and the thing that is hid, bringeth he to light.

12 But where is wifedome found? and where is the place of vnderstanding?

13 Man knoweth not the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the liuing.

14 The depth sayth, It is not in me: the sea also sayth, It is not with mee.

15 Gold shall not be giuen for it neither shall siluer be weighed for the price thereof.

16 It shall not be valued with the wedg of gold, nor with the precious onix, nor the saphir.

17 The gold nor the chistal shall be equal vnto it, nor the exchange shall be for place of fine gold.

18 No mention shall be made of coral, nor of the gabth: for wifedome is more precious then pearles.

19 The topaz of Ethiopia shall not bee equall vnto it, neither shall it be valued with the wedg of pure gold.

20 Whence then cometh wifedom? and where is the place of vnderstanding?

21 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all the liuing, and is hid from the foules of the heauen?

22 Destruction and death say, We haue heard the same thereof with our eares.

23 But God vnderstandeth the way there- of, and hee knoweth the place thereof.

24 For hee beholdeth the endes of the world, and seeth all that is vnder heauen, 25 To make the weight of the winds, and to weigh the waters by measure.

26 When he made a decree for the raine, and a way for the lighening of the thun- ders, 27 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

28 And

a His purpose is to declare that man may attaine in this world to diuers secrets of nature, but man is neuer able to comprehend the wifedom of God. b There is nothing but it is compassed with- in certain limits, and hath an end, but Gods wifedome. c Meaning, him that dwelleth thereby. d Which a man cannot wade thorow. e That is, come, and vnderneath is brimstone, or cole, which easily conceiueth fire. f He alludeth to the mines and se- crets of nature which are vnder the earth, where- into neither soules nor beasts can enter. g After that hee hath declared the wifedom of God in the secrets of nature, he descri- beeth his power. h Though Gods power and wifedome may bee vnderstood in earthly things, yet his heavenly wifedom cannot be attained vnto. i It is too high a thing for man to attaine vnto in this world. k It can neither bee bought for gold nor precious stones, but is onely the gift of God. l Which is thought to bee a kind of preci- ous stone. m Meaning, that there is no natu- rally meane, whereby man might attaine to the heavenly wifedom, which he meaneth by the foules that see him. n He maketh God onely the authour of this wifedome, and the giuer thereof.

Prouer. 1. 7.

o He declareth that man hath so much of this heavenly wisdom, as he sheweth by fearing God and departing from euill.

28 And vnto men he said, Behold, the feare of the Lord is wisdom, and to depart from euill is vnderstanding.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Iob complaineth of the prosperitie of the time past 7. 21 His auhoritie, 12 iustice and equitie.

2 Iob proceeded and continued his parabole, laying,

2 Oh that I were as [†] in times past, when God preferred me!

3 When his light shined vpon mine head: and when by his light I walked through the [†] darkenesse,

4 As I was in the dayes of my youth, when Gods prouidence was vpon my tabernacle:

5 When the Almighty was yet with me, and my children round about me:

6 When I washed my pathes with butter, and when the rocke poured me out riuers of oyle:

7 When I went out to the gate, euen to the iudgement seat, and when I caused them to prepare my seat in the street.

8 The yong men laud me, and bid themselves, and the aged arose, and stood vp.

9 The princes stayed talke, and laid their hand on their mouth.

10 The voyce of princes was hid, & their tongue cleaued to the roote of their mouth.

11 And when the seare heard me, it blessed me: and when the eye saw me, it gaue witness to it.

12 For I deliuered the poore that cryed, and the fatherlesse, and him that had none to helpe him.

13 The blessing of him that was ready to perish, came vpon me, and I caused the widowes heart to reioyce.

14 I put on iustice, and it covered me, my iudgement was as a robe, and a crowne.

15 I was the eyes to the blind, and I was the feet to the lame.

16 I was a father vnto the poore, and when I knew not the cause, I sought it out diligently.

17 I brake also the chawes of the shriggous man, and plucked the pray out of his teeth.

18 Then I said, I shall die in my nest, and I shall multiply my dayes as the sand.

19 For my roote is spread out by the water, and the dew shall lie vpon my branch.

20 By glopy that reuiew toward me, and my bow shall be refreshed in mine hand.

21 Vnto me men gaue eare, and waited, and held their tongue at my counsell.

22 After my words they replied not, and my talke dropped vpon them.

23 And they waited for mee, as for the raine, and they opened their mouth as for the latter raine.

24 If I laughed on them, they belieued it not: neither did they cause the sight of my countenance to fail.

25 They were afraid to offend me, and cause me to be angry.

25 I appointed out their way, and did I had them as sit as chiefe, & dwell as a king in the arme, commandement, and like him that comforteth the mourner.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Iob complaineth that he is contemned of the most contemptible, 11. 21 because of his aduersitie and affliction. 23 Death is the house of all flesh.

2 At now they that are yonger then I, mocke mee: yea, they whole fathers I haue refused to see with the dogges of my flockes.

3 For whereto should the strength of their hand haue serued me, seeing age persecuted in them?

4 For pouertie and famine they were solitary, fleeing into the wilderness, which is darke, desolate and waste.

5 They cut vp their needles by the bushes, and the unimpier roots was their meate.

6 They were chased forth from among men: they shouted at them, as at a thiefe.

7 Therefore they dwelt in the cleftes of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rocks.

8 They roared among the bushes, and vnder the thilles they gathered themselves.

9 They were the children of toiles, and the children of villaines, which were more vile then the earth.

10 And now am I their song, and I am their talke.

11 They abhorre me, and flee farre from me, and spare not to spit in my face.

12 Because that God hath loosed my cord and humbled mee, & they haue looked the while before me.

13 The youth rise vp at my right hand: they haue puffed my feere, and haue trodden on me as on the pathes of their destruction.

14 They haue destroyed my pathes: they trooke pleasure at my calamitie they had none to helpe.

15 They came as a great breach of waters, and vnder this calamitie they come on heapes.

16 Feare is turned vpon me: and they pursue my soule as the winde, and mine health passed away as a cloud.

17 Therefore my soule is now poynted out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken hold on me.

18 It pierceth my bones in the night, and my sinnes take me to rest.

19 For the great vehemencie is my garment changed, which compasseth me about as the collar of my coat.

20 He hath cast me into the mire, and I am become like ashes and dult.

21 When I cry vnto thee, thou dost not heare mee, neither regardest mee, when I stand by.

22 Thou turnest thy selfe cruelly against me, & art enemie vnto me with the strength of thine hand.

23 Thou takest me by and causest mee to ride vpon the winde, and makest my

1 My life faileth me, and I am as halfe dead. 2 That is, God hath brought me into contempt. 3 Hee speaketh not thus to accuse God, but to declare the vehemencie of his affliction, whereby he was carried beside himselfe. 4 Hee compareth his afflictions to a tempest or whirlwinde.

Strength.

¶ Or, wisdom, or law.

q None can deliuer me thence, though they lament at my death r In stead of comforting, they mocked at me.
f Not delighting in any worldly thing, no not so much as in the vie of the Sunne.
t Lamenting them that were in affliction, and mouing others to piete them.
u I am like the wild beaſts that deſire meſt ſolitary places.
x With the heat of affliction,

¶ Strength to faile.

23 Surely I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the houle appointed for all the liuing.

24 Doubtleſſe none can ſtretch his hand vnto the graue, though they cry in his deſtruction.

25 Did not I weepe with him that was in trouble? was not my ſoule in heauineſſe for the pooze?

26 Yet when I looked for good, & euill came vnto me; and when I waited for light there came darkeneſſe.

27 By holweis did boile without reſt; for the dayes of affliction are come vpon me.

28 I went mourning without ſunne: I ſtood by in the congregation, and cryed.

29 I am a brother to the dragons, and a companion to the oſtriches.

30 My ſkilane is blacke vpon me, and my bones are burnt with heat.

31 Therefore mine harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organes into the voyce of them that weepe.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Iob rectreth the innocencie of his liuing, and number of his vertues, which declareth what ought to be the life of the faſtſitt.

I Adae a covenant with mine eyes: why then ſhould I thinke on a mayd?

2 For what portion ſhould I haue of God from aboue; and what inheritance of the Almighty from on high?

3 Is not deſtruction to the wicked; and ſtrange puniſhment to the workers of iniquitie?

4 Doeth not hee behold my wayes, and tell all my ſteps?

5 If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my foote hath made baſte to deceit,

6 Let God weigh me in the iuſt balance, and he ſhall know mine vprightneſſe.

7 If my ſtep hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath walked after mine eye, or if any blot hath cleaued to mine hand,

8 Let me ſow, and let another eat: yea, let my plants be rooted out.

9 If mine heart hath bene deceiued by a woman, or if I haue laid waite at the doore of my neighbour,

10 Let my wiſe ſgrind vnto another man, and let other men bow downe vpon her:

11 For this is a wickedneſſe, and iniquitie to be condemned:

12 Yea, this is a fire that ſhall deuour to deſtruction, and which ſhall roote out all mine increaſe.

13 If I did contemne the iudgement of my ſeruant, and of my mayde when they did contend with me, 14 What then ſhall I doe when God ſtandeth by? and when he ſhall viſite mee, what ſhall I anſwere?

without silver: or if I haue grieved the soules of the masters thereof,

THE WORDES OF IOB ARE ENDED.

CHAP. XXXII.

2 Elihu reprimeth them of folly. 3 Age maketh not a man wise, but the Spirit of God.

4 These three men ceased to answer Job, because he esteemed himselfe iust.

5 Then the wrath of Elihu the sonne of Barachel the Buzite of family of Ram, was kindled: his wrath, I say, was kindled against Job, because hee iustified himselfe more then God.

6 Also his anger was kindled against his three friends, because they could not find an answer, and yet condemned Job.

7 Now Elihu had waited till Job had spoken: for they were more ancient in yeeres then he.

8 So when Elihu saw that there was none answer in the mouth of the three men, his wrath was kindled.

9 Therefore Elihu the sonne of Barachel the Buzite, answered and said, I am young in yeeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afraid to shew you mine opinion.

10 For I sayd, The dayes shall speake, and the multitude of yeeres shall teach wisdom.

11 Surely there is a spirit in man, but the inspiration of the Almighty giueth vnderstanding.

12 Great men are not alway wise, neither doe the aged alway vnderstand iudgement.

13 Therefore I say, I heare you, and I will shew also mine opinion.

14 Behold, I did wait vpon your words, and hearkened vnto your knowledge, whiles you sought out seasons.

15 Now, when I had considered you, for, there was none of you that reprimed Job, nor answered his words:

16 Left ye should say, We haue found wisdom: for God hath cast him downe, and no man.

17 Yet hath he not directed his wordes to me, neither will I answer him by your words.

18 Then they fearing, answered no more, but set off their talke.

19 When I had waited (for they spake not but stood still, and answered no more)

20 Then answered I in my turne, and I shewed mine opinion.

21 For I am full of matter, and the spirit within me, compelleth me.

22 Behold, my belly is as the wine, which hath no vent, and like the new bottles that burst.

23 Therefore will I speake that I may take breath: I will open my lips, and will foole a wise man: answer.

24 I will not now accept the person of man, neither will I giue titles to man.

25 For I may not giue titles, lest my Father should take me away suddenly,

CHAP. XXXIII.

5 Elihu accuseth Job of ignorance. 14 He sheweth that God hath diuers meanings to instruct man, and to draw him from sinne. 19. 29 He afflicteth man, and suddenly delivereth him. 26 Man being delivered, giueth thanks to God.

Wherefore, Job, I pray thee, heare my talke, and hearken vnto all my wordes.

2 Behold, now I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hath spoken in my mouth.

3 My wordes are in the brightnesse of mine heart, and my lips shall speake pure knowledge.

4 The Spirit of God hath made mee, and the breath of the Almighty hath giuen me life.

5 If thou canst giue me answer, prepare thy selfe, and stand before me.

6 Behold, I am according to thy wish in Gods stead: I am also formed of the clay.

7 Behold, my terror shall not feare thee, neither shall my hand be heavy vpon thee.

8 Doubtlesse thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy wordes:

9 I am cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquitie in me.

10 Lo, he hath found occasions against me, and counted me for his enemy.

11 He hath put my feet in the stocks, and looketh narrowly vnto all my paths.

12 Behold, in this hast thou not done right: I wil answer thee, that God is greater then man.

13 Why dost thou strue against him? for hee doeth not giue account of all his matters.

14 For God speaketh once or twice, and one heareth it not.

15 In dreames and visions of the night, when sleepe falleth vpon men, & they sleepe vpon their beds, 16 Then he openeth the eares of men, euen by their corrections, which hee had sealed.

17 That he might cause man to turne away from his enterprise, and that he might hide the pride of man.

18 And keepe backe his soule from the pit, and that his life should not passe by the sword.

19 Hee is also stricken with sorrow vpon his bed, and the griefe of his bones is sore.

20 So that his life cautereth him to adhoze bread, and his soule daintie meate.

21 His flesh faileth that it cannot bee seene, and his bones which were not seene, clatter.

22 So his soule draweth to the graue, and his life to the buriers.

23 If there be a messenger with him, or commonly either by visions to teach vs the cause of his iudgements, or els by afflictions, or by his messenger. h That is, determined to send vpon them. i He sheweth for what end God sendeth afflictions: to beate downe mans pride, and to turne from euill. k That is, his painefull and miserable life. l To them that shall bury him. m A man sent of God to declare his will.

n A singular man and as one chosen out of a thousand, which is able to declare the great mercies of God vnto sinners: and wherein mannes righteousness standeth, which is through the iustice of Iesus Christ and faith therein. o He sheweth that it is a sure token of Gods mercy toward sinners, when he causeth his word to be preached vnto them. p That is, the minister shall by the preaching of the word pronounce vnto him the forgiveness of his finnes. q He shall see Gods fauour and reioyce: declaring hereby, wherein standeth the true ioy of the faithfull: and that God will restore him to health of body, which is a token of his blessing. r God will forgive his finnes, and accept him as iust. s That is, done wickedly. t But my sinne hath bin the cause of Gods wrath toward me. u God wil forgive the penitent sinner. x Meaning, oft times, euen as oft as a sinner doeth repent. y If thou doubt of any thing, or see occasion to speake against it. z That is, to shew thee wherein mans iustification consisteth.

a Which are esteemed wise of the world, b Let vs examine the matter vprightly, c That is, hath afflicted mee without measure. d Should I say, I am wicked, being an innocent? e I am forer punished, then my sinne deserueth. f Which is compelled to receiue the reproch and scorn of many for his foolish words. g Meaning, that Iob was like to the wicked, because he feared not to glorifie God, and submit himselfe to his iudgements. h He wrestleth Iobs words, who said that Gods children are oft times punished in this world, and the wicked goe free. i That is, liue godly, as Gene. 5. 22.

an interpreter, one of a thousand to declare vnto man his righteousness, 24 Then will he haue mercy vpon him, and will say, Deliver him that he goe not downe into the pit: for I haue receiued a reconciliation. 25 Then shall his flesh bee as fresh as a childes, and shall returne as in the dayes of his youth. 26 He shall pray vnto God, and he wil be fauourable vnto him, and he shall see his face with ioy: for hee will render vnto man his righteousness. 27 We looked vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and peruertered righteousness, and it did not profit me, 28 Hee will deliver his soule from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light. 29 Lo, all these things will God worke with thee: or thou wilt turne backe thy soule from the pit, to be illuminated in the light of the liuing. 31 Marke well, O Job, and heare mee: keepe silence, and I will speake. 32 If there be matter, answer me, and speake: for I desire to iustifie thee. 33 If thou hast not, heare mee: hold thy tongue, and I will teach thee wisdom.

CHAP. XXXIIII

5 Elihu chargeth Iob that he called himselfe righteous. 12 He sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements. 24 God destroyeth the mightie. 30 By him the hypocrite reigneth.

16 Decouer Elihu answered, and said, 21 Heare my wordes, yee wife men, and hearken vnto me, yee that haue knowledge. 22 For the eare tryeth the wordes, as the mouth tasteth meate. 24 Let vs make iudgement among vs, & let vs know among our selues what is good. 25 For Iob hath said, I am righteous, and God hath taken away my iudgement. 26 Should I lie in my right: my wound of the arrow is as a gatenous without my sinne. 27 What man is like Iob, that drinketh scoime as drinke like water? 28 Which goeth in the company of them that worke iniquity, and walke with wicked men? 29 For he hath said, It profiteth a man nothing, that he should walke with God.

10 Therefore hearken vnto me, yee men of wisdom: God forbid that wickednesse should bee in God, and iniquitie in the Almighty. 11 For hee will render vnto man according to his worke, and cause euery one to find according to his way. 12 And certainly God will not bee wickedly, neither will the Almighty peruert iudgement. 13 Whom hath hee appointed ouer the earth beside himselfe? or who hath placed the whole world? 14 If hee set his heart vpon man, and gather vnto himselfe his spirit and his breath, 15 All flesh that perishe together, and man shall returne vnto dust. 16 And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this, and hearken to the voyce of my wordes. 17 Shall hee that hateth iudgement, gouerne? and wilt thou iudge him wicked that is iust? 18 Wilt thou say vnto a King, Thou art wicked? or to princes, Ye are vngodly? 19 How much lesse to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, & regardeth not the rich, more then the poore? for they be all the worke of his hands. 20 They shall die suddenly, and the people shall be troubled at midnight, and they shall passe forth, and take away the mighty without band. 21 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and hee seeth all his goings. 22 There is no darknesse nor shadow of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein. 23 For hee will not lay on man so much, that hee should enter into iudgement with God. 24 Hee shall breake the mighty without seeking, and shall let vp other in their stead. 25 Therefore shall hee declare their works, hee shall turne the night, and they shall be destroyed. 26 Hee striketh them as wicked men in the places of the seers, 27 Because they haue turned backe from him, and would not consider all his wayes: 28 So that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to come vnto him, and hee hath heard the cry of the afflicted. 29 And when hee giueth quietnesse, who can make trouble? and when hee hideth his face, who can behold him, whether it be by omynations, or vpon a man onely? 30 Because the hypocrite doeth reigne, and because the people are inared. 31 Surely, it appertaineth vnto God to say, I haue pardoned, I will not destroy. 32 But if I see not search thou me: If I haue done wickedly, I will doe no more. 33 Wilt hee performe the thing throughly? or thou hast reproued it, because

35 Job hath not spoken of knowledge, neither were his wordes according to wile-dome.

36 I desire that Job may be ^d tried vnto the ende, touching the answeres for wicked men.

37 For he ^e addeth rebellion vnto his sin:
he clappeth his hands among vs, and multi-plieth his wordes against God.

CHAP. XXXV.

6 Neither doeth godliness profit, or vngodliness hurt God, but man. 13 The wicked cry vnto God, and are not heard.

Elihu speake moreouer, and said,
2 Thinkest thou this right that thou hast said, I am ^a more righteous then God?

3 For thou hast said, What profiteth it thee, and what auaileth it mee, to purge mes from my sinne?

4 Therefore will I answer thee, and thy b companions with thee.

5 Look vnto the heauen, and see, and behold the clouds, which are higher then thou.

6 If thou sinnest, what doest thou ^a against him, yea, when thy sinnes bee many, what doest thou vnto him?

7 If thou be righteous, what givest thou vnto him? or what receiveth hee at thine hand?

8 Thy wickednesse may hurt a man as thou art: and thy righteousness may profite the soule of man.

9 They cause many that are oppressed to cric, which cric out for the violence of the mighty.

10 But none saith, Where is God that maketh me, which giueth songs in the night?

11 Which teacheth vs more then the beasts of the earth, and giveth vs more wile-dome then the foules of the heauen.

12 Then they cric because of the violence of the wicked, but ^b he answereth not.

13 Surely God wil not heare vanity, neither will the Almighty regard it.

14 Although thou sayest to God, Thou wilt not regard it: ^c yet iudgement ^d before him: trust thou in him.

15 But now because his anger hath not dissisted, nor called to count the euil with great extremitee,

16 Therefore Job ^e openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth wordes without knowledge.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Elihu sheweth the power of God, 6 and his insigne, 9 and wherefore he punisheth. 13 The propertie of the wicked.

Elihu also proceeded and said,
2 Suffer me a litle, and I will instruct thee: for I have yet to speake on Gods behalf.

3 I will fetch ^a my knowledge a far off, and will attribute righteousness vnto my Maker.

4 For truly my words shall not be false and he that is ^b perfit in knowledge, speaketh with thee.

5 Beholde, the mighty God casteth as way none that is ^c mightie and vaillant of courage.

6 ^d He maintaineth not the wicked, but he giveth iudgement to the afflicted.

7 He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous: but they are with ^e kings in the throne, where he placeth them for ever: thus they are exalted.

8 And if they be bound in fetters and tied with the cords of affliction.

9 Then will he shew them their ^f woekes and their sinnes, because they haue borne proud.

10 He openeth also their eare to discipline, and commandeth them that they returne from iniquitie.

11 ^g If they obey and serue him, they shal end their dayes in prosperitie, and their yeres in pleasures.

12 But if they wil not obey, they shal passe by the sword, and perish ^h without knowledge.

13 But the hypocrites ⁱ of heart increase the wrath: for they ^j call not when he bindeth them.

14 Their soule dieth in ^k youth, and their life among the whomongers.

15 He deliuereth the paye in his affliction, and openeth their eare in trouble.

16 Euen so would he haue taken thee out of the trait place into a broad place and not shut by beneath: and ^l that which resteth vpon thy table, had bene full of fat.

17 But thou art full of the ^m iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement and equity maintaine all things.

18 ⁿ For Gods wrath is, lest he should take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of gifts can deliuer thee.

19 Will he regard thy riches? hee regardeth not golde, nor all them that excell in strength.

tie: for thou hast chosen it rather then afflic-tion.

way? or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly?

woekes, which men behold.

his yerres be searched out.

gainst the iustice of God. ⁿ God doeth punish thee, lest thou shouldst forget God in thy wealth, and so perish. ^o Enot thou eth any. ^p And so murmur against God through impatiencie.

^q The woekes of God are so manifest, that a man may see them a-

27 When he restraineth the drops of wa- ter, the raine ^f poureth downe by the vapour thereof, 28 Which raine the clouds doe drop, and fall abundantly vpon man.

29 Who can knowe the diuisions of the cloudes, and the thunders of his ^t Taber- nacle?

30 Behold, he spreadeth his light vpon ^v it, and conuerty the ^x bottome of the sea.

31 For thereby he iudgeth ^y the people, and giueth meat abundantly.

32 He conuerty the light with the clouds, and commandeth them to goe ^z against it.

33 His companion sheweth him there- of, and there is anger in rising vp.

CHAP. XXXVII.

2 Elihu proueth that the vnsearchable wisdoms of God is manifest by his workes, 4 as by the thunders, the snow, 9 the whirlwinde, 11 and the raine.

A This also mine heart is ^a astonied, and is moued out of his place.

2 Heare the ^b sound of his voyce, and the noise that goeth out of his mouth.

3 He directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the ends of the world.

4 After it, a noise soundeth: he thundreth with the voyce of his maiesty, and he wil not stay ^c them when his voyce is heard.

5 God thundreth maruelfously with his voyce: hee worketh great things, which we know not.

6 For he saith to the snow, Be thou vpon the earth: ^d likewise to the small raine and to the great raine of his power.

7 With the force thereof he ^e scattereth vp every man, that all men may knowe his worke.

8 Then the beastes goe into the den, and remaine in their places.

9 The whirlewinde cometh out of the South, and the cold from the ^f Northwind.

10 At the breath of Gods frost is gi- uen, and the breadth of the waters ^g is made narrow.

11 He maketh also the cloudes to ^h labour to water the earth, and scattereth the cloude of ⁱ his light.

12 And it is turned about by his govern- ment, that they may doe whatsoeuer he com- mandeth them vpon the whole world:

13 Whether it be for ^j punishment, or for his land, or of mercy, he causeth it to come.

14 Hearken vnto this, O Job: stand and consider the wondrous workes of God.

15 Didst thou know when God disposed them: and caused the ^k light of his cloude to shine?

16 Hast thou knowen the ^l variety of the cloud, and the wondrous workes of him that is perfect in knowledge?

17 Or how thy clothes are ^m warme, when he maketh the earth quiet through ⁿ South wind?

18 Hast thou stretched out the heauens which are strong, and as a molten ^o glasse?

19 Tell vs what we shall say vnto him: for we cannot dispose our matter because of ^p darknesse.

20 What is it ^q I told him when I speake? or shall man speake when he shall bee ^r de- stroyed?

21 And now men see not the light, which shineth in the cloudes; but the wind passeth and cleareth them.

22 The ^s brightnesse cometh out of the North: the praise thereof is to God, which is terrible.

23 It is the Almighty: we cannot find him out: hee is excellent in power and iudge- ment, and abundant in iustice; he ^t afflicteth not.

24 Let men therefore feare him: for hee will not regard any that are wise in their owne conceit.

when man murmureth against him? ^u If God would destroy a man, should he repine? ^v The cloudes stappeth the shining of the Sun, that man cannot see it til the wind haue chased away the cloud: and if man be not able to attaine to the knowledge of these things, how much lesse of Gods iudgements? ^w In Ebrew, gold: mean- ing faire weather and cleare as gold. ^x Meaning without cause.

11 Behold now, his strength is in his loynes, and his force is in the nautil of his belly.

12 When hee taketh pleasure, his taste is like a Cedar: the finewes of his stones are wrapt together.

13 His bones are like stauces of brasse, and his small bones like stauces of yron.

14 He is the chiefe of the wayes of God: hee that made him, will make his sword to approach vnto him.

15 Surely the mountains bring him forth grasse, where all the beasts of the field play.

16 Lieth hee vnder the trees in the covert of the reede and fennes?

17 Can the trees couer him with their shadow? or can the willowes of the riuer compasse him about?

18 Behold, hee spoileth the riuer, ^aand halseth not: hee trusteth that hee can draw vp Iorden into his mouth.

19 Hee taketh it with his eyes, & thrusteth his nose through whatsoeuer macteth him.

20 Canst thou draw out ^aLiuiathan with an hooke, & with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue?

21 Canst thou call an hooke into his nose? canst thou pierce his iawes with an angle?

22 Wilt hee make many ^aprayers vnto thee, or speake thee false?

23 Wilt hee make a couenant with thee, and wilt thou take ^ahim as a seruant for euer?

24 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou binde him for thy maides?

25 Shall the companions banquet with him? shall they diuide him among the merchaunts?

26 Canst thou fill the dasket with his skinne? or the fish panier with his head?

27 Lay thine hand vpon him: remember ^athe battell, and doe no more so.

28 Behold, ^ahis hope is in vaine, for shall not one perishe euen at the sight of him?

CHAP. XLI.

1 By the greatnesse of this monster Liuiathan God sheweth his greatnesse, and his power, which nothing can resist.

NE One is so fierce that dare stirre him by. No ho is hee then that can stand ^abefore mee?

2 Who hath prevented me that I should make an end? all vnder heauen is mine.

3 I will not keepe silence concerning ^ahis parts, nor his power, nor his comely proportion.

4 Who can discouer the face ^aof his garment? or who shall come to him with a double ^ahiole?

5 Who shall open the dopes of his face? his teeth are fearfull round about.

6 The maiestie of his scales is like strong Rields, and are sure sealed.

7 One is set to another, that no winde can come betweene them.

8 One is ioyned to another: they sticke together that they cannot be sundered.

9 His needles make hee light to shine, & his eyes are like the eyelids of the morning.

10 Out of his mouth goe lampes, and sparkes of fire leape out.

11 Out of his nostrils cometh out smoke, out flames of fire.

as out of a boyling pot of caldron.

12 His breath maketh the coales burne; for a flame goeth out of his mouth.

13 In his necke remaineth strength, and labour is reiected before his face.

14 The members of his body are fornyed: they are strong in themselves, and cannot bee moued.

15 His heart is as strong as a stone, and as hard as the nether mil stone.

16 He mightie is afraid of his maiesty, and for feare they faint in themselves.

17 When the sword doth touch him, hee will not rise vp, nor for the speare, dart nor habergion.

18 He esteemeth yron as straw, and brasse as rotten wood.

19 The archer cannot make him flee: the stones of the sling are turned into rubble vnto him.

20 The darts are counted as straw: and he laugheth at the shaking of the speare.

21 Sharpe stones are vnder him, and he spreadeth sharpe things vpon the mire.

22 He maketh the depth to be like a pot, & maketh the sea like a pot of oymment.

23 He maketh a path to shine after him: one would thinke the depth as an hoare head.

24 In the earth there is none like him, he is made without feare.

25 He beholder all high things: he is a king ouer all the children of pride.

CHAP. XLII.

6 The repentance of Iob 9 He prayeth for his friends. 12 His goods are restored double vnto him.

13 His children, age and death.

Then Iob answered the Lord, and said, 2 I know that thou canst doe all things, and that there is no thought hid from thee.

3 Who is he that hideth counsell without knowledge: there fore haue I spoken that I vnderstand not, euen things too wonderfull for me, and which I knew not.

4 Heare, I beseech thee, and I will speake: I will demaund of thee, and thou wilt declare vnto me.

5 I haue heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee.

6 Therefore I abhorre my selfe, and repent in dust and ashes.

7 Now after that the Lord had spoken these wordes vnto Iob, the Lord also sayde vnto Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for ye haue not spoken of mee the thing that is right, like my seruant Iob.

8 Therefore take vnto you now seven bullocks, and seven rammes, and go to my seruant Iob, and offer vp for your selues a burnt offering, and my seruant Iob shall pray for you: for I will accept him, for I should put you to shame, because ye haue not spoken of me the thing which is right, like my seruant Iob.

9 So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord had said vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob.

10 Then the Lord turned the captivity of Iob, when he prayed for his friends, also the Lord gaue Iob twice so much as he had before.

11 Then came vnto him all his brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had bene of his acquaintance before, and did eat bread with him in his house, & had compassion of him, and comforted him for all the euill, that the Lord had brought vpon him, and euery man gaue him a peece of money, and euery one an earring of gold.

12 So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Iob more then the first: for he had foure- tene thousand sheepe, and five thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of Oxen, & a thousand she asses.

13 He had also seven sonnes, and three daughters.

14 And hee called the name of one Reemah, and the name of the second Keziah, and the name of the third Kerenhappuch.

15 In all the land were no women found so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.

16 And after this liued Iob an hundred and forty yeres, and saw his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, euen foure generations.

17 So Iob dyed, being olde and full of dayes.

f You tooke in hand an euill cause, in that you condemned him by his outward afflictions, & not comforted him with my mercies.

g Who had a good cause, but handled it euill.

h When you haue reconciled your selues to him for faults that you haue committed against him, he shall pray for you, and I will heare him.

h Nothing is painefull or hard vnto him.

i His skin is so hard that helieth with as great ease on y stones, as in the mire. k Either he maketh the sea to seeme as it boyled by his wallowing, or else he spouteth water in such abundance, as it would seeme that the sea boyled.

The* Psalmes of Dauid.

THE ARGUMENT.

THIS booke of Psalmes is set forth vnto vs by the holy Ghost, to be esteemed as a most precious treasure: wherein all things are contained that appertaine to true felicitie, as well in this life present as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge and heavenly wisdom are here set open for vs to take thereof most abundantly. If we would know the great and his maiesty of God, here we may see the brightnesse thereof more clearly. If we would seeke his incomprehensible wisdom, here is the schoole of the same profession. If we would comprehend his inestimable bountie, and approach neere thereunto, and fill our hearts with that treasure, here we may haue a most lively and comfortable taste thereof. If we would know wherein standeth our saluation, & how to attain to life euertlasting, here is Christ our onely Redeemer and Mediatour most evidently described. The rich man may learne the true vse of his riches. The poore man may find full contentation. He that will reioyce, shall know the true ioy, and how to keepe measure therein. They that are afflicted & oppressed, pressed, shall see wherein standeth their comfort, and how he ought to praise God when he sendeth them deliverance. The wicked and the persecutors of the children of God shall see how the hand of God is euer against them: and though he suffer them to prosper for a while, yet he breeth them in, inform as they cannot touch a haire of ones head, except he permit them, and how in the end their destruction is most miserable. Briefly, here we may have most present remedy against all temptations and troubles of minde and conscience, so that being well practised herein, we may be assured against all dangers in this life, live in the true feare and loue of God, and at length attaine to that incorruptible crowne of glory, which is laid vp for all them that loue the coming of ou. Lord Iesus Christ.

P S A L. I.

Whether it was Esdras, or any other that gathered the psalmes into a booke, it seemeth he did set this psalme first in manner of a preface, to exhort all godly ment to studie and meditate the heavenly wisdom. For the effect hereof is, 1 That they be blessed, which give themselves wholly all their life: to the holy Scriptures. 4 And that the wicked contemners of God though they seeme for a while happy, yet at length shall come to miserable destruction.

Blessed is the man that doeth not walke in the counsell of the wicked, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seat of the scornfull. 2 But his delight is in the Law of the Lord, and in his Law doeth he meditate day and night.

3 For he shall be like a tree planted by the riues of waters, that will bring forth his fruit in due season: whose leafe shall not fade, so whatsoeuer he shall doe, shall prosper.

4 The wicked are not so, but as the chaffe, which the wind driueth away.

5 Therefore the wicked shall not stand in the iudgement, nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous.

6 For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked shall perish.

P S A L. II.

1 The Prophet David reioyceth that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God will continue his kingdom for euer, and aduance it euen to the ende of the world. 10 and therefore exhorteth kings and rulers, that they would humbly submit themselves vnder Gods yoke, because it is in vaine to resist God. Herin is signified Christ, kingdome.

Why doe the heathen rage, and the people murmure in vaine?

2 The kings of the earth band themselves, and the princes are assembled together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

3 Let vs breake their bandes, and cast their cords from vs.

4 But he that dwelleth in the heauen, shall laugh: the Lord shall haue them in derision.

5 Then shall he speake vnto them in his wrath, and vex them in his sore displeasure, saying.

6 Euen I haue set my King vpon Zion mine holy mountaine.

7 I will declare the decree: that is, the decree of God. To shew that the Lord hath said vnto mee, I will set my King vpon Zion: mine holy mountaine.

8 Aske of me, and I shall giue thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the ends of the earth for thy possession.

9 Thou shalt crush them with a scepter of iron, and breake them in pieces like a potter's vessel.

10 Be wise now therefore ye kings: be learned ye iudges of the earth.

11 Serue the Lord in feare, and reioyce in trembling.

12 Kisse the Sonne, lest he be angry, & ye perish in the way, when his wrath shall kindle against you: blessed are all that trust in him.

And manifestation to the world. f Not only the Iewes, but the Gentiles also. Reul. 2. 27. g He exhorteth all rulers to repent in time. h In signe of homage. i When the wicked it all say, Peace and rest, seeing yet to be but in the midway of their purposes then shall destruction suddenly come. 2. Thes. 5. 3.

P S A L. III.

1 David driven forth of his kingdom, was greatly tormented in minde for his sinnes against God. 4 And therefore calleth vpon God, and waxeth bold through his promises, against the great railings and terrors of his enemies: yea against death itselfe, which he saw present before his eyes. 7 Finally, he reioyceth for the good successe that God gaue him, and all the church.

A psalme of David, when he fled from his soune Absalom.

Lord, how are mine aduersaries increased: how many rise against me?

2 Many say to my soule: There is no helpe for him in God. Selah.

3 But thou Lord art a buckler for mee: my glory, and the lifter vp of mine head.

4 I did call vnto the Lord with my voyce: and he heard me out of his holy mountaine. Selah.

5 I laid me downe and slept, and rose vp againe: for the Lord sustained me.

6 I will not be afraid for ten thousand of the people: I should befeet me round about.

7 Lord, arise: helpe me, my God: for thou hast smitten all mine enemies vpon the cheeke bone: thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked.

8 Saluation belongeth vnto the Lord, and thy blessing is vpon thy people. Selah.

9 When Saul persecuted him, he called vpon God, trusting most assuredly in his promise, and therefore boldly reproached his enemies, who wilfully resisted his dominion, 7 and finally preferreth the fauour of God before all worldly treasures.

P S A L. IIII.

1 When Saul persecuted him, he called vpon God, trusting most assuredly in his promise, and therefore boldly reproached his enemies, who wilfully resisted his dominion, 7 and finally preferreth the fauour of God before all worldly treasures.

a Among them that were appointed to sing the Psalms, and to play on the instruments, one was appointed chiefe to set the tune, and to begin: who had the charge because he was most excellent, & he began this Psalme on the instrument called Neginoth, or in a tune so called.

b Thou that art the defender of my iust cause.

c Both of mind and body.

d Ye that thinke your felues noble in this world.

e Though your enterprises please you neuer so much, yet God will bring them to nought.

f A King that walketh in his vocation.

g For feare of Gods iudgement.

h Cease your rage.

i Serue God purely and not with outward ceremonies.

k The multitude seek worldly wealth, but Dauid seeketh his felicitie in Gods fauour.

l This word in Ebrew may be referred to God, as it is here translated, or to Dauid, signifying, that he should dwell as ioyfully alone, as if hee had many about him, because the Lord is with him.

Or, a musickall instrument or tune.

a That is, my vehement praier & secret complaint and sighings.

b With patience and trust till I be heard.

c Seeing that God of nature hateth wickednesse, hee must needs punish the wicked and saue the godly.

d Which runne most ragingly after their carnal affections.

e In the deepest of his tribulations he putteth his full confidence in God.

f Because thou art iust, therefore leade me out of the dangers of mine enemies.

C To him that excelleth on Neginoth.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Hear me when I call, O God of my righteousness: thou hast set me at liberty, when I was in distresse: haue mercy vpon me, and hearken vnto my prayer.

2 O ye sonnes of men, how long will ye turne my glory into shame, louing vanitie, and seeking lies: Selah.

3 For be ye sure that the Lord hath chosen to himselfe: a godly man: the Lord will heare when I call vnto him.

4 Tremble, and inne not: examine your owne heart vpon your bed, and be still. Selah.

5 Offer the sacrifices of righteousness, and truit in the Lord.

6 Many say, Who will shew vs any good? but the Lord lift vp the light of thy countenance vpon vs.

7 Thou hast giuen me more ioy of heart, then they haue had, when their wheate, and their wine did abound.

8 I will lay me downe, and also sleepe in peace: for thou Lord, only makest me dwell in safety.

P S A L. V.

1 Dauid oppressed with the cruelty of his enemies, and fearing greater dangers, calleth to God for succour, shewing how requisite it is that God should punish the malice of his aduersaries. 7 After being assured of prosperous successe, hee concerneth comfort, 2 Concluding that when God shall deliuer him, others also shall be partakers of the same mercies.

C To him that excelleth vpon Neginoth.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Hear my words, O Lord: vnderstand my meditation.

2 Hearken vnto the voyce of my cry, my King and my God: for vnto thee doe I pray.

3 Heare my voyce in the morning, O Lord: for in the morning wilt thou direct me vnto thee, and I will wait.

4 For thou art not a God that louest wickednesse, neither shall euill dwell with thee.

5 The foolish shall not stand in thy sight: for thou hatest all them that worke iniquity.

6 Thou shalt destroy them that speake lies: the Lord will abhorre the bloody man and deceitfull.

7 But I will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: and in thy feare wilt I worship toward thine holy Temple.

8 Lead me, O Lord, in thy righteousness, because of mine enemies: make thy way plaine before my face.

9 For no constancie is in their mouth: within they are very corruption: their throat is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue.

10 Destroy them, O God: let them fall from their counsells: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee.

11 And let all them that trust in thee, reioyce and triumph for euer, and couer thou them: and let them that loue thy Name reioyce in thee.

12 For thou Lord wilt bless the righteous, and with fauour wilt compass him, as with a shield.

P S A L. VI.

1 When Dauid by his sinnes had provoked Gods wrath and now felt not onely his hand against him, but also conceived the horrors of death euerslasting, hee desireth forgiveness, 6 Bewailing that if God tooke him away in his indignation, he should lacke occasion to praise him as he was wont to doe, while he was among men. 9 Then suddenly feeling Gods mercy hee sharply rebuketh his enemies, which reioyced in his affliction.

C To him that excelleth on Neginoth vpon the right tune. A Psalme of Dauid.

O Lord, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

2 Haue mercy vpon mee, O Lord, for I am weake: O Lord heale mee, for my bones are vnder.

3 My soule is also sore troubled: but Lord, how long wilt thou delay?

4 Returne, O Lord: deliuer my soule: saue me for thy mercies sake.

5 For in death there is no remembrance of thee: in the graue, who shall praise thee?

6 I fainted in my mourning: I caused my bed euery night to swimme, and water my couch with my teares.

7 Mine eye is dimmed for despite, and sunke in because of all mine enemies.

8 Away from me all ye workers of iniquitie: for the Lord hath heard the voyce of my weeping.

9 The Lord hath heard my petition: the Lord will rectue my prayer.

10 All mine enemies shall be confounded and sore vnder: they shall be turned backe, and put to shame suddenly.

P S A L. VII.

1 Being falsely accused by Chush one of Sauls kinsmen, he calleth to God to be his defender. 3 To whom hee commendeth his innocencie, 9 First shewing that his conscience did not accuse him of any euill towards Saul: 10 Next that it touched Gods glory to award sentence against the wicked. 12 And so entring into the consideration of Gods mercies & promise, he waxed bold, and denieth the vaine enterprises of his enemies, 16 threatening that they shall fall on their owne necke which they haue purposed for others.

1 The Prophet considering the excellent liberality and fatherly providence of God towards man, whom he made as if were a god ouer all his workes, doth not only giue great thanks, but is astonished with the admiration of the same, as one nothing able to compass such great mercies.

O To him that excelleth on Gittith.
A Psalm of Dauid.

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy Name in all the world! which hast set thy glory above the heauens.

2 Out of the^e mouth of babes and sucklings hast thou^e ordained strength, because of thine enemies, that thou mightest kill the enemy and the auenger.

3 When I behold thine heauens, even the workes of thy fingers, the moone and the starres which thou hast ordained,

4 What is man, say I, that thou art mindfull of him? and the sonne of man, that thou visitest him?

5 For thou hast made him a little lower then God, and crowned him with glory and worship.

6 Thou hast made him to haue dominion in the workes of thine hands: thou hast put all things vnder his feet:

7 All^e sheepe and oxen: yea, and the beasts of the field:

8 The foules of the ayre, and the fish of the sea, and that which passeth thorow the parches of the seas.

victories that he had sent him against his enemies, and also proued by manifold experience how ready God was at hand in all his troubles: 14 He being now like-

PSAL. X.

i He complaineth of the fraude, rapine, tyrannie, and all kindes of wrong, which worldly men vse, assigning the cause thereof, that wicked men, being as it were drunken with worldly prosperitie, and therefore setting apart all feare and reverence towards God, thinke they may doe all things without controlling.

15 Therefore he calleth vpon God to send some remedie against these desperate euils, 16 and at length comforteth himselfe with hope of deliuerance.

Why standest thou farre off, O Lord, and hidest thee in due time, euen in affliction?

2 The wicked with pride doth persecute the poore: let them bee taken in the crafts that they haue imagined.

3 For the wicked hath made boast of his owne hearts desire, and the couetous blesteth himselfe: he contemneth the Lord.

4 The wicked is to pound, that he seeketh not for God: he thinketh alwayes, There is no God.

5 His wayes alway prosper: thy iudgements are high about his sight: therefore he defiecth by all his enemies.

6 He saith in his heart, I shall neuer be moued, nor be in danger.

7 His mouth is full of cursing and deceit and fraude: vnder his tongue is mischief and iniquity.

8 He lieth in waite in the villages: in the secret places doeth he murder the innocent: his eyes are bent against the poore.

9 He lieth in wait secretly, euen as a lion in his denne: he lieth in wait to spoyle the heapeke: h thus, poore: he doth spoyle the poore, when hee draweth him into his net.

10 Hee croucheth and boweth: therefore heapes of the poore doe fall by his might.

11 Hee hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten, he hideth away his face, and will neuer see.

12 Arise, O Lord God: lift vp thine hand: forget not the poore.

13 Therefore doth the wicked contemne God: he saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

a So soone as we enter into affliction, we thinke God should helpe vs, but that is not alwayes his due time.

b The wicked man reioyceth in his owne lust: he boasteth when he hath that he would: he braggeth of his wit and wealth, and blesteth himselfe, and thus blasphemeth the Lord.

||Or, snuffeth at. ||Or, not be moued, because he was neuer in euill.

e By the hypocrisy of them that haue authoritie, the poore are deuoured. f He calleth to God for helpe, because wickednes is so far ouergrown, that God must now helpe, or neuer. g Therefore thou must needs punish this their blasphemy.

14 Yet thou hast seeme it: for thou hast holdest mischiefe and wrong, that thou mayest take it into thine hands, the poore com-mitterh himselfe vnto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherlesse.

15 Speake thou the arme of the wicked and malice vs: search his wickednesse, and thou shalt finde none.

16 The Lord is King for euer and euer: the heathen are destroyed fourth of his land.

17 Lord, thou hast heard the desire of the poore: thou preparast their heart: thou benedict thine eare to them.

18 Iudge the fatherlesse and poore, that earthly man I canste to feare no more.

h To iudge betweene the right and the wrong. i For thou hast utterly destroyed him.

k The hypocrites or such as liue not after Gods Law, shall be destroyed.

l God helpeth when mans helpe faileth.

||Or, destroy no more man vpon the earth.

PSAL. XI.

1 This Psalm containeth two parts: In the first David sheweth how hard assaults of temptations hee sustained, and in how great anguish of minde hee was when Saul did persecute him. 4 Then next hee reioyceth that God sent him succour in his necessitie, declaring his iustice as well in gouerning the good, and the wicked men, as the whole world.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

12 The Lord put I my trust: how say wee then to my soule, a flee to your mountaine as a bird?

2 For loe, the wicked bend their bow, and make ready their arrowes vpon the string, that they may secretly shooote at them, whiche are vpright in heart.

3 For the foundations are cast downe: what hath the righteous done?

4 The Lord is in his holy palace: the Lords throne is in the heauen: his eyes with succour is taken consider: his eye lids will try the children of men.

5 The Lord will try the righteous: but the wicked and him that loueth iniquitie, doeth his soule hate.

PSAL. XII.

1 The Prophet lamenting the miserable estate of the people, and the decay of all good order, desireth God speedily to send succour to his children. 7 Then comforting himselfe and others with the assurance of Gods helpe, hee commendeth the constant veritie that God obserueth in keeping his promises.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon the righte. A Psalm of David.

Helpe Lord, for there is not a godly man left: for the faithfull are failed from among the children of men.

2 They speake deceitfully euery one with his neighbour, flattereth with their lips, and speake with a double heart.

3 The Lord cut off all flattering lips, and the tongue that speaketh prond things:

taine the wicked.

5 Now for the oppression of the needie, and for the sighes of the poore, I will vp, saith the Lord, and will set at liberty him, whom the wicked hath binde.

6 The words of the Lord are pure words, as the silver, tried in a fornaice of earth, fined seuen fold.

wilt preferre him from this generation for euer.

they are exalted, it is a shame for the sonnes of men.

godly, and maintaine the wicked.

Hear, O Lord, consider my cry: hearken vnto my prayer of lips vnfained.

2 Let my sentence come forth from thy presence, and let thine eyes behold iustitie.

3 Thou hast proued and visited mine heart in the night: thou hast tryed me, and foundest nothing: for I was purposed that my mouth should not offend.

4 Concerning the works of men, by the words of thy lips I kept me from the paths of the cruell man.

1 This Psalme is the first beginning of his gratulation and thanksgiving in the entring into his kingdom, wherein he extollet and prayeth most highly the maruillous mercies and grace of God, who hath thus preserved & defended him. 32 Also he setteth forth the image of Christs kingdom, that the faithfull may be assured that Christ shall alwayes conqueere and overcome by the unspeakable power of his Father, though all the whole world should rise thereagainst.

To him that excellet. A Psalme of Dauid the seruant of the Lord, which shaketh vnto the Lord the wordes of this song (in the day that the Lord deliuered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul) and said,

2 The Lord is my rocke, and my fortress, and hee that deliuereth mee, my God and my strength: in him will I trust, my shield, the hope also of my saluation, and my refuge.

29 For by thee I haue broken through an hoste, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall.

30 The way of God is vncorrupt: the word of the Lord is tryed in the fire: he is a shield to all that trust in him.

31 For who is God besides the Lord? and who is mighty to saue our God?

32 God giueth mee with strength, and maketh my way vpright.

33 He maketh my feete like Hindes feete, and setteth me vpon mine high places.

34 He teacheth mine hands to fight: so that a bowe of brass is broken with mine armes.

35 Thou hast also giuen mee the shield of thy saluation, and thy right hand hath stayed mee, and thy louing kindnesse hath caused me to increase.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steps vnder me, and mine heeles haue not slid.

37 I haue pursued mine enemies, and taken them, and haue not turned againe till I had consumed them.

38 I haue wounded them, that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my feet.

39 For thou hast girded me with strength to battell: thou hast rose against me, thou hast subdued vnder me.

40 And thou hast giuen mee the neckes of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me.

41 They cryed, but there was none to saue them, euen vnto the Lord, but he answered them not.

42 Then I did beate them small as the dust before the winde: I did tread them flat as the clay in the streets.

43 Thou hast deliuered me from the contentions of the people: thou hast made mee the head of the heathen: a people, whom I haue not knowne, shall serue me.

44 As soone as they heare, they shall obey mee: the stranger shall be in subiection to mee.

1 David in the person of the people prayeth God for the victorie, attributing it to God, and not to the strength of man. Wherein the holy Ghost directeth the faithful to Christ, who is the perfection of thinking-dome.

To him that excelleth, A Psalm of David.

The King shall reioyce in thy strength, O Lord: yea, how greatly shall he reioyce in thy saluation!

2 Thou hast giuen him his hearts desire, and hast not denied him the request of his lips. Selah.

3 For thou diddest prevent him with liberrall blessings, and diddest set a crowne of pure gold vpon his head.

4 We asked life of thee, and thou gauest him a long life for euer and euer.

5 His glory is great in thy saluation: dignity and honour hast thou laid vpon him.

6 For thou hast set him as blessings for euer: thou hast made him glad with thy ioy of thy countenance.

7 Because the King trusteth in the Lord, and in the mercy of the most high hee shall not slide.

8 Thine hand shall finde out all thine enemies, and thy right hand shall finde out them that hate thee.

9 Thou shalt make them like a fiery oven in time of thine anger: the Lord shall destroy them in his wrath, and the fire shall deuoure them.

10 Their fruit shalt thou destroy from the earth, and their seede from the children of men.

11 For they intended enill against thee, and imagined mischief, but they shall not preuaile.

12 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

13 Bee thou exalted, O Lord, in thy strength: so will we sing & praise thy power.

h As a mark to shoot at. i Maintaine thy Church against thine aduersaries, that we may haue ample occasion to praise thy Name.

PSAL. XXII.

1 David complained because he was brought into such extremities, that he was past all hope: but after he had rehearsed the sorrowes and griefs wherewith hee was vexed, he recovereth himselfe from the bottomlesse pit of temptation, and groweth in hope. And here vnder his owne person he setteth forth the figure of Christ, whom he did foresee by the spirit of prophesie, that he should maruellously and strangely be deified and abased, before his Father should raise and exalt him againe.

To him that excelleth vpon // Achereth // Or, the kinde of the morning, and this was the name of some common song.

1 The Prophet touched with the consideration of his sinnes, and also grieved with the cruel malice of his enemies, 6 Prayeth to God most feruently to haue his sinnes forgiven, 7 Especially such as he had committed in his youth. He begetteth every verse according to the Hebrew letters, two or three except.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Vnto thee, O Lord, lift I up my soule.

2 My God, I trust in thee: let me not be confounded: let not mine enemies reioyce ouer me.

3 So all that hope in thee, shall not be ashamed: but let them be confounded, that transgresse without cause.

4 Shew mee thy wayes, O Lord, and teach me thy pathes.

5 Leade me forth in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my saluation: in thee doe I trust all the day.

6 Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies and thy louing kindnesse: for they haue bene for euer.

7 Remember not the sins of my youth, nor my rebellions, but according to thy kindnesse remember thou mee, euen for thy goodnesse sake, O Lord.

PSAL. XXVII.

1 David maketh this Psalm being delivered from great perils, as appeareth by the prayers and thanksgiving annexed: 6 Wherein we may see the constant faith of David against the assaults of all his enemies.
7 And also the end wherefore he desireth to live and to be delivered, only to worship God in his Congregation.

A Psalm of David.

THE Lord is my light and my salvation, whom shall I fear? the Lord is the strength of my life, of whom shall I be afraid?

2 When the wicked, even mine enemies and my foes came upon mee to eat up my flesh, they stumbled and fell.

3 Though an host pitched against me, mine heart should not be afraid: though warre be raised against mee, I will trust in b this.

4 One thing have I desired of the Lord that I will require, even that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to behold the beautie of the Lord, and to visit his Temple.

5 For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his Tabernacle: in the secret place of his pavilion shall he hide me, and set mee up upon a rocke.

6 And now shall hee lift up mine head above mine enemies round about me: therefore will I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of joy: I will sing and prayse the Lord.

7 Hearken unto my voice, O Lord, when I cry: have mercy also upon mee, and heare mee.

8 When thou saydest, c Seeke ye my face, mine heart answered unto thee, O Lord, I will seeke thy face.

9 Hide not therefore thy face from me, nor cast thy servant away in displeasure: thou hast bene my succour: leave me not, neither forsake me, O God of my salvation.

10 Though my father and my mother should forsake mee, yet the Lord will gather me up.

11 Teach mee thy way, O Lord, & I leade me in a right path, because of mine enemies.

12 Give me not unto the lust of mine adversaries: for there are false witnesses risen up against me, and such as speake cruelly.

13 I should have fainted, except I had believed to see the goodnesse of the Lord: in the land of the living.

14 Hope in the Lord: be strong, and he shall comfort thine heart, and trust in the Lord.

a Because he was assured of good successe in all his dangers, and that his salvation was surely layd vp in God, he feared not the tyranny of his enemies.
b That God will deliver me, and give my faith the victory.
c The losse of country, wife, and all worldly commodities grieue me not in respect of this one thing, that I may not praise thy Name in the mids of the congregation.
d David assured himselfe by the spirit of prophesie, that he should overcome his enemies, and serue God in his Tabernacle.

A Psalm of David.

UNTIL the Lord, O Lord, doe I cry: O my strength, be not deafe toward me, lest if thou answer me not, I be like them that goe downe into the pit.

2 Heare the voice of my petitions, when I cry unto thee, when I hold up my hands toward thine holy Oracle.

3 Draw me not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquitie: which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice is in their hearts.

4 Reward the according to their doctes, and according to the wickednesse of their inventions: recompense them after the worke of their hands: render them their reward.

5 For they regard not the workes of the Lord, nor the operation of his hands, therefore c breake them downe, and build them not up.

6 Praised be the Lord, for he hath heard the voice of my petitions.

7 The Lord is my strength & my shield: mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped: therefore mine heart shall reioyce, and with my long will I praise him.

P S A L. XXXI.

i David deliuered from some great danger, first rehearseth what meditation he had by the power of faith, when death was before his eyes, his enemy bring ready to take him. 15 Then he affirmeth that the fa-uour of God is alwayes ready to these that feare him, 20 Finally, he exhorteth all the faithfull to trust in God, and to loue him, because he preserveth & strengtheneth them, as they may see by his example.

C To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

i As thee, O Lord, haue I put my trust: let me neuer be confounded: deliuer me in thy righteousnesse.

2 Bow downe thine eare to me: make haste to deliuer mee: bee vnto mee a strong rocke, and an house of defence to saue me.

3 For thou art my rocke and my fortress:
therefore for thy Names sake direct mee and guide me.

4 Draw me out of the net, that they haue laid priuily for mee: for thou art my strength.

5 Into thine hand I commend my spirit: for thou hast redeemed me, O Lord God of truth.

6 I haue hated them that giue themselues to deceitfull vanities: for I trust in the Lord.

7 I will be glad and reioyce in thy mercie: for thou hast sene my trouble: thou hast known my soule in aduersities.

8 And thou hast not shamed me by thine hand of the enemy, but hast set my feet at large.

9 Haue mercy vpon mee, O Lord, for I am in trouble: mine eye, my soule, and my belly are consumed with griefe.

10 For my life is wasted with heauinesse, and my yeeres with mourning: my strength faileth for my paine, and my bones are consumed.

11 I was a reproch among all mine enemies: but especially among my neighbours:
and a feare to mine acquaintance, who seeing me in the streete, fled from me.

12 I am forgotten as a dead man out of minde: I am like a broken vessel.

13 For I haue heard the rayling of great men: feare was on euery side, while they conspired together against me, and consulted to take my life.

14 But I trusted in thee, O Lord: I said, Thou art my God.

15 My times are in thine hand: deliuer mee from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that persecute me.

16 Make thy face to shine vpon thy seruant, and saue me through thy mercy.

17 Let me not be confounded, O Lord:
for I haue called vpon thee: let the wicked be put to confusion, and to silence in the graue.

18 Let the lying lips bee made dumbe, which cruelly, proudly & spitefully speake against the righteous.

19 How great is thy goodnes, which thou hast layd vpon them that feare thee, and done to them that trust in thee, euen before the sonnes of men!

i Let death destroy them to the intent that they may hurt no more. n The treasures of Gods mercie are alwayes layd vp in store for his children, albeit at all times they doe not enioy them.

1 Ebr. in the secret of thy face.

o That is, in a place where they shall have thy comfort, and be hid safely fro the enemies pride.

p Meaning, there was no citie lo strong to preferre him, as the defence of Gods fauour.

q And so by my rashnesse and infidelitie deserued to haue bene forsaken.

r Be constant in your vocation, and God will confirme you with heavenly strength.

20 Thou dost hide them *o pfully in thy presence from the pride of men: thou keepest them secretly in thy tabernacle from the strife of tongues.

21 Blessed be the Lord: for he hath shewed his marvellous kindnesse toward me in a strong citie.

22 Though I said in mine haste, I am cast out of thy sight, yet thou heardest the voyce of my prayer, when I cried vnto thee.

23 Loue ye the Lord, all his * Saints: for the Lord preferreth the faithfull, and rewardeth abundantly the proud doer.

24 All ye that trust in the Lord, be strong, and he shall establish your heart.

Or, yet that feele his mercies. Be constant in your vocation, and God will confirme you with heavenly strength.

PSAL. XXXII.

1 David punished with grievous sickness for his sinnes, counteth them blessed to whom God doeth not impute their transgressions. 5 And after that he had confessed his sinnes and obtained pardon, 6 He exhorteth the wicked men to take godly, 11 And the good to reioyce.

A Psalm of David to giue instruction. Blessed is he whose wickednesse is forgiven. Buen, and whose sinne is couered.

2 Blessed is the man vnto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquitie, and in whose spirit there is no guile.

3 When I held my tongue, my bones consumed, or when I roared all the day.

4 For thine hand is heavy vpon me, day and night: and my moisture is turned into the drought of Summer. Selah.

5 Then I acknowledged my sinne vnto thee, neither hidde I mine iniquitie: for I thought, I will confesse against my selfe my wickednesse vnto the Lord, and thou shalt neglect the punishment of my sinne. Selah.

6 Therefore shall euery one that is godly, make his prayer vnto thee in a time when thou mayest be found: surely in the flood of great waters: they shall not come nere him.

7 Thou art my secret place: thou preferrest me from trouble: thou compassest me about with thy faithful deliuerance. Selah.

8 I will instruct thee, and teach thee in the way that thou shalt goe, and I will guide thee with mine eye.

9 We be not like an horse, or like a mule, which understand not: whose mouthes thou dost binde with bit & bridle, lest they come nere thee.

10 Many sorowes shall come to the wicked: but he that trusteth in the Lord, mercy shall compasse him.

11 Be glad ye righteous, and reioyce in the Lord, and be ioyfull all ye that are vpright in heart.

PSAL. XXXIII.

1 He exhorteth good men to praise God, for that he hath not onely created all things, and by his prouidence gouerneth the same, but also is faithful in his promises. 10 He understandeth mans heart & seareth the counsell of the wicked, 16 So that no man can be preferred by any creature or mans strength: but they that put their confidence in his mercy, shall be preferred from all aduersities.

Reioyce in the Lord, O ye righteous: for it becometh vpright men to be thankfull.

2 Praise ye Lord with harpe: sing vnto him with viole, and instrument of ten strings.

3 Sing vnto him a new song: sing cheerfully with a loud voyce.

4 For the word of the Lord is righteous, and all his * workes are faithfully.

5 He * loueth righteousnes & iudgement: the earth is full of the goodnesse of the Lord.

6 By the word of the Lord were the heauens made, and all the hoste of them by the breath of his mouth.

7 He * gathereth the waters of the sea together as vpon an heape, and layeth by the depths in his treasures.

8 Let all the earth feare the Lord: let all them that dwell in the world, feare him.

9 For he spake, and it was done: he commanded, and it * stood.

10 The Lord * speaketh the counsell of the heathen, and bringeth to nought the desires of the people.

11 The counsell of the Lord shall stand for euer, and the thoughts of his heart shall rownt all ages.

12 Blessed is that nation, whose * God is the Lord: euen the people, that he hath chosen for his inheritance.

13 The Lord * looketh downe from heauen and beholdeth all the children of men.

14 From the habitation of his dwelling he beholdeth all them that dwell in the earth.

15 He * fashioneth their hearts euery one, and understandeth all their workes.

16 The * King is not saved by the multitude of an hoste: neither is the mightie man deliuered by great strength.

17 A hoste is a vaine helpe, and shall not deliuer any by his great strength.

18 Behold, the eye of the Lord is vpon them that feare him, and vpon them that trust in his mercy.

19 To deliuer their soules from death, and to preserve them in famine.

20 Our * soules waiteth for the Lord: for he is our helpe and our shield.

21 Surely our heart shall reioyce in him, because we trusted in his holy Name.

22 Let thy mercy, O Lord, be vpon vs, as we trust in thee.

cutie Dauid: against whom he prayeth God to please and to avenge his cause, 8 that they may be taken in their nets and snares, which they laid for him, that his innocency may be declared, 27 and that the innocent, which taketh part with him, may reioyce and praye the Name of the Lord, that thus deliuereth his seruant, 28 And so he promisseth to speake forth the iustice of the Lord, and to magnifie his Name all the dayes of his life.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

PLeased thou my cause, O Lord, with them that strue with mee: fight thou against them that fight against me.

2 Lay hand vpon the shield and buck-ler, and stand vp for mine helpe.

3 Bring out alio the speare, and stop the way against them that persecute me: say vnto my soule, I am thy saluation.

4 Let them bee confounded and put to shame, that seeke after my soule: let them bee turned backe and byought to confusion, that imagine mine hurt.

5 Let them be as chaffe before the wind, and let the Angel of the Lord scatter them.

6 Let their way be darke & slippery: and let the Angel of the Lord persecute them.

7 For without cause they haue hid the pit and their net for me: without cause haue they digged a pit for my soule.

8 Let destruction come vpon him at vnwares, and let his net that hee hath laid priuily, take him: let him fall into the same destruction.

9 Then my soule shall bee ioyfull in the Lord: it shall reioyce in his saluation,

10 All my bones shall say, Lord, who is like vnto thee, which deliuerest the poore from him that is too strong for him? yea, the poore, and him that is in miserie, from him that spoyleth him!

11 Cruell witnessles did rise vp: they asked of me things that I knew not.

12 They rewarded me euill for good, to haue spoiled my soule.

13 Yet I, when they were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke, I humbled my soule with fasting: and my prayer was turned vpon my bosome.

14 I behaued my selfe as to my friend, or as to my brother: I humbled my selfe, mou-ning as one that beuaileth his mother.

15 But in mine aduersitie they reioyced, and gathered themselves together: the absects assembled themselves against me, and I knew not: they tare me and ceased not,

16 With the false scoffers at o bankets, gnashing their teeth against me:

17 Lord, how long wilt thou behold this?
 deliuer my soule from the tumult, even my desolate soule from the lions.

18 So will I giue thee thanks in a great congregation: I will praye thee among much people.

f The depth of thy providence gouerneth all things and disposeth them, albeit the wicked seeme to ouerwhelme the world.

1. neither let them wink with the eye, that hate mee without a cause.

2. For they speake not as friends: but they imagine deceitfull wordes against the quiet of the land.

3. And they gaped on mee with their mouthes, saying, Aha, aha, our eye hath scene.

4. Thou hast scene it, O Lord: keepe not silence: be not farre from me, O Lord.

5. Arise and wake to my iudgement, euen to my cause, my God, and my Lord.

6. Judge me, O Lord my God, according to thy righteousness, and let them not reioyce ouer me.

7. Let them not say in their hearts, I ouerloue reioyce: neither let them say, We haue deuoured him.

8. Let them be confounded, and put to shame together, that reioyce at mine hurt: let them bee clothed with confusion and shame, that lift vp themselves against me.

9. But let them be toyfull and glad, that loue my righteousness: yea, let them say alway, Let the Lord be magnified, which lo- ueth the prosperitie of his seruant.

10. And my tongue shall utter thy righteousness, and thy praise every day.

11. This prayer shall alwayes bee verified against them that persecute the faithfull.

12. That at least fauour my right, though they bee not able to helpe me.

13. He exhorteth the Church to praise God for the deliuerance of his seruants, and for the destruction of his aduersaries.

14. The Prophet grievously vexed by the wicked, doth complaine of their malicious wickednes.

15. Then he turneth to consider the unspeakable goodnesse of God toward all creatures.

16. But specially toward his children, that by the faith thereof may be comforted and assured of his deliuerance by his ordinary course of Gods worke.

17. Who in the end destroyeth the wicked, and sauneth the iust.

18. To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David the seruant of the Lord.

19. Wickednesse faueth to the wicked man, euen in mine heart, that there is no feare of God before his eyes.

20. For he flattereth himselfe in his owne eyes, while his iniquitie is found worthy to be hated.

21. The wordes of his mouth are iniquity and deceit, hee hath left off to vnderstand, and to doe good.

22. Hee imagineth mischief vpon his bed: he setteth himselfe vpon a way, that is not good, and doeth not abhorre euill.

23. Thy mercie, O Lord, reacheth vnto the heauens, & thy faithfulness vnto the clouds.

24. Thy righteousness is like the mighty mountains: thy iudgements are like a great deepe: thou, Lord, dost saue man & beast.

25. How excellent is thy mercie, O God!

therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadow of thy wings.

2. They shalbe satisfied with the fatnesse of thine house, & thou shalt giue them drinke out of the riuier of thy pleasures.

3. For with thee is the well of life, and in thy light shall we see light.

4. Extend thy louing kindnes vnto them that know thee, and thy righteousness vnto them that are vpright in heart.

5. Let not the foot of pride come against mee, and let not the hand of the wicked man moue me.

6. There they are fallen that worke iniquitie: they are cast downe, and shall not be able to ryle.

7. I haue kept myselfe against mee, neither the power of the wicked driue mee away.

8. That is, in their pride, wherein they flatter themselves.

9. This Psalme containeth exhortation and consolation for the weak, that are grieved at the prosperitie of the wicked, and the affliction of the godly.

10. For how prosperously seuer the wicked do liue for the time, he doth affirme their felicitie to be vaine and transitory, because they are not in the fauour of God, but in the end they are destroyed as his enemies.

11. And how miserably that the righteous seemeth to liue in the world, yet his end is peace, and he is in the fauour of God, he is deliuered from the wicked, and preserved.

12. A Psalme of David.

13. Ret not thyselfe because of the wicked men, neither be mutous for the euil doers.

14. For they shall soone be cut downe like grasse, and shall wither as the greene herbe.

15. Trust thou in the Lord, & do good: dwell in the land, and thou shalt be fed assuredly.

16. And delight thyselfe in the Lord, and he shall giue thee thine hearts desire.

17. Commit thy way vnto the Lord, and trust in him, and he shall bring it to passe.

18. And hee shall bring forth thy righteousness as the light, and thy iudgement as the none.

19. Wait patiently vpon the Lord, & hope in him: feet not thy selfe for him which prospereth in his way: nor for the man that bringeth his enterprises to passe.

20. Cease from anger, and leaue off wrath: feet not thy selfe as also to doe euill.

21. For euil doers shalbe cut off, and they that wait vpon the Lord, they shall inherite the land.

22. Therefore yet a little while, and the wicked shall not appeare, and thou shalt looke after his place, and he shall not be found.

23. But make men shall possesse the earth, and shall haue their delight in the multitude of peace.

24. The wicked practiseth against the offended with the darknesse of the night: so ought we patiently to trust that God will cleare our cause, and restore vs to our right.

25. When God suffereth the wicked to prosper, it seemeth to the flesh that he fauoureth their doings.

k For they are dayly fed as with Manna from heauen, and haue sufficient, when the wicked haue neuer enough, but euer hunger.

l God knoweth what dangers hang ouer his, and by what means to deliuer them.

m For God will giue them contented mindes, and that which shalbe necessary.

s They shal continually be preserved vnder Gods wings, and haue at least inward rest.

t These three points are required of the faithfull, that their talke be godly, that Gods Law be in their heart and that their life be vpright.

u For though it be some time so expedient both for Gods glory and their salvation, yet he wil approue their cause and reuenge their wrong.

x So that the prosperity of the wicked is but as a cloud, which vanisheth away in a moment.

iust, and gnashed his teeth against him.

13 But the Lord shal laugh him to scorn: for he seeth that his day is coming.

14 The wicked haue drawen their sword, and haue bent their bowe, to cast downe the poore and needy, and to slay such as be of vpright conuersion.

15 But their sword shall enter into their owne heart, and their bowes shall be broken.

16 A small thing vnto the iust man, is better then great riches to the wicked and mightie.

17 For the armes of the wicked shall be broken, but the Lord upholdeth the iust men.

18 The Lord knoweth the dayes of vpright men, and their inheritance shall be perpetual.

19 They shall not be confounded in the perillous time, and in the dayes of famine they shall haue enough.

20 But the wicked shall perishe, and the enemies of the Lord shall be consumed, as the farr of lambes: euen with the smoke shall they consume away.

21 The wicked bozoweth and payeth not againe: but the righteous is mercifull, and giueth.

22 For such as be blessed of God, shall inherit the land, and they that be cursed of him shall be cut off.

23 The pacifies of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his way.

24 Though he fall, he shall not be cast off: for the Lord putteth vnder his hand.

25 I haue bene yong, and am old: yet I saw neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread.

26 But he is euer mercifull and tender, and his seed enioyeth the blessing.

27 Fleed from euill and do good, and dwell for euer.

28 For the Lord loueth iudgement and forsaketh not his saints: they shall be preferred for euermore: but the seed of the wicked shall be cut off.

29 The righteous men shall inherit the land, and dwell therein for euer.

30 The mouth of the righteous will speake of wisdom, and his tongue will talke of iudgement.

31 For the law of his God is in his heart, and his steps shall not slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.

33 But the Lord will not leaue him in his hand, nor condemne him, when he is iudged.

34 Wait thou on the Lord, and keepe his way, and he shall exalt thee, that thou shalt inherit the land: when the wicked men shall perishe, thou shalt see.

35 I haue seene the wicked strong, and spreading himselfe like a greene bay tree.

36 Per he passed away, and loe, hee was gone, and I sought him, but he could not be found.

37 Marke the vpright man, and beholde the iust: for the end of such man is peace.

38 But the transgressors shall be destroyed together, and the end of the wicked shall be cut off.

39 But the saluation of the righteous men shall be of the Lord: hee shall bee their strength in the time of trouble.

40 For the Lord shall helpe them, and deliuer them: hee shall deliuer them from the wicked, and shall saue them, because they trust in him.

PSAL. XXXVIII.

1 David lying sicke of some grievous disease, acknowledgeth himselfe to be chastised of the Lord for his sinnes, and therefore prayeth God to turne away his wrath.

5 He uttereth the greatnesse of his griefe by many words and circumstances, as wounded with the arrowes of Gods ire for saken of his friends, evil treated of his enemies.

22 But in the end with firm confidence he commendeth his cause to God, and hopeth for speedie helpe at his hand.

1 A Psalm of David for remembrance. Lord, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

2 For thine arrowes haue light vpon me, and thine hand lieth vpon me.

3 There is nothing sound in my flesh, because of thine anger: neither is there rest in my bones, because of my sinne.

4 For mine iniquities are gone ouer mine head, and as a weighty burden, they are to heaue for me.

5 My wounds are putrified and corrupt because of my foolishnesse.

6 I am bowed, and crooked very sore, I goe mourning all the day.

7 For my reins are full of burning, and there is nothing sound in my flesh.

8 I am weakened and sore broken: I roare for the very griefe of mine heart.

9 Lord, I powre mine whole desire before thee, and my sighing is not hid from thee.

10 Mine heart panteth: my strength faileth me, and the light of mine eyes, euen they are not mine owne.

11 My louers and my friends stand aside from my plague, and my kindred stand as farre off.

12 They also that seeke after my life lay snares, and they that go about to do me euill, talke wicked things, and imagine deceit continually.

13 But I as a deafe man heard not, and am as a dumbe man, which openeth not his mouth.

14 Thus am I as a man, that heareth not, and in whose mouth are no reproofes.

1 David uttereth with what great griefe and bitterness of mind he was drunke to these outrageous complaints of his infirmities. 2 For he confesseth that when he had determined silence, he brast forth yet into words that he would not, through the greatnesse of his griefe. 4 Then he rehearseth certaine requests which taste of the infirmities of man. 8 and mixeth with them many prayers: out all doe shew a mind wonderfully troubled, that it may plainly appeare how he did strive mightily against death and desperation.

A Psalm of David.

I Thought, I will take heede to my wayes that I sinne not with my tongue, I will keepe my mouth hydeled, while the wicked is in my sight.

2 I was dumbe and spake nothing: I kept silence even from good, and my sorrow was more stirred.

3 Mine heart was hote within mee, and while I was musing, the fire kindled, and I spake with my tongue, saying,

4 Lord, let me know mine end, and the measure of my dayes, what it is: let mee know how long I haue to liue.

5 Behold, thou hast made my dayes as an hand breath, and mine age is nothing in respect of thee: surely every man in his best state is altogether vanitie. Selah.

6 Doublelesse man walketh in a shadow, and disquieteth himselfe in vaine: he heapeth vp riches, and cannot tell who shall gather them.

7 And now Lord, what wait I for? mine hope is euen in thee.

8 Deliuer mee from all my transgressions, and make me not a rebuke vnto the foolish.

9 I should haue bene dumbe, & not haue opened my mouth, because e thou diddest it.

12 Heare my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my cry: keepe not silence at my teares, for I am a stranger with thee, and a sojourner as all my fathers.

13 Stay thine anger from me, that I may recouer my strength, before I goe hence, and be not.

Take away all that is desired in this world. k For his sorrow caused him to thinke that God would destroy him utterly: whereby we see how hard it is for the very Saints to keepe a measure in their words, when death and despair assaile them.

P S A L. XL.

1 David deliuered from great danger, doth magnifie and praise the grace of God for his deliuerance, and commendeth his prouidence toward all mankind.

5 Then doeth he promise to giue himselfe wholly to Gods seruice, and so declar eth how God is truly worshipped. 14 Afterward he giueth thanks and praise to God, and hauing complained of his enemies, with good courage he calleth for ayde and succour.

3 And he hath put in my mouth a new song of praise vnto our God: many shall see it and feare, and shall trust in the Lord.

4 Blessed is the man that maketh the Lord his trust, & regardeth not the proud, nor such as turne aside to lies.

5 O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderfull workes so many, that none can count in order to thee thy thoughts toward vs: I would declare, and speake of them, but they are more then I am able to expresse.

3 My teares haue bene my meate day and night, while they daily say vnto mee, Where is thy God?

4 When I remembred these things, I poured out my very heart, because I had gone with the multitude, & led them into the house of God with the voyce of singing, and praise, as a multitude that keepeth a feast.

5 Why art thou cast downe my soule, and binquier wthin me? waite on God for I will yet giue him thanks for the helpe of his presence.

6 My God, my soule is cast downe wthin mee, because I remember thee from the land of Iordan, and Hermonim, and from the mount Bizaz.

3 For they inherited not the land by their owne sword, neither did their owne arme saue them: but thy right hand, and thine arme, and the lighe of thy countenance, because thou didest fauour them.

4 Thou art my King, O God: send helpe vnto Iacob.

5 Though they haue we thrust backe our aduersaries: by thy name haue we tro-den downe them that rose vp against vs.

6 For I doe not trust in my bow, neither can my sword saue me.

7 But thou hast saued vs from our ad-uersaries, and hast put them to confusion that hate vs.

8 Therefore tell we praise God continually, and will confesse thy name for euer. Selah.

9 But now thou art farre off, and puttest vs to confusion, and goest not forth with our armies.

10 Thou makest vs to turne backe from the aduersarie, and they, which hate vs, spottle || forth themselves.

11 * Thou giuest vs as sheepe to be caten, and dost scatter vs among the nations.

12 Thou sellest thy people without gaine, and dost not increase their price.

13 Thou makest vs a reproch to our neighbours, a iest and a laughing stocke to them that are round about vs.

14 Thou makest vs a prouerbe among the nations, and a nodding of the head among the people.

15 My confusion is daily before me, and the shame of my face hath couered me,

16 For the voyce of the slanderer and rebucker, for the enemye and auenger.

17 All this is come vpon vs, yet doe we not forget thee, neither deale we falsely concerning thy covenant.

18 Our heart is not turned backe: neither our steps gone out of thy pathes,

19 Albeit thou hast smitten vs downe into the place of dragons, and couered vs with the shadow of death.

20 If we haue forgotten the name of our God, and holden vp our hands to a strange god,

21 Shall not God search this out? for he knoweth the secrets of the heart.

22 Surely for thy sake are we staine continually, and are counted as sheepe for the slaughter.

23 O why sleepest thou, O Lord? awake, be not farre off for euer.

24 Therefore hidest thou thy face: and forgettest our miserie and our affliction:

25 For our soule is beaten downe vnto the dust: our belly cleaueth vnto the ground.

26 Rise vp for our succour, and redeeme vs for thy mercies sake.

¶ Or, wailes: meaning, the bottomlesse seas of sensations. Here we see the power of faith which can le ouer-come by no perils. p They shew that they honoured God aright, because they trusted in him alone q They take God to witnesse, that they were vpright to himward. r The faithfull make this their comfort, vha the wicked punish them not for their finnes, but for Gods cause, Math. 5. 10. 1. pet. 4. 14. f There is no hope of recovery, except thou put to thine hand, and raise vs vp. t Which is the onely and sufficient rancome to deliuer both body and soule from all kinde of slauerie and miserie.

P S A L. XLV.

1 The maiestie of Salomon, his honour, strength, beautie, riches, and power are praised, and also his ma-riage with the Egyptian being an heathen woman is blessed, 10 If that she can renounce her people, and the loue of her country, and giue her self wholly to her husband. Vnder the which figure the wonderfull maiestie and inheritance of the kingdom of Christ, and his Church his Spouse now taken of the Gentiles, is described.

¶ To him that excelleth on. Sholhannim, a along of loue to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

MY heart wil utter forth a good matter:
my tongue is as the pen of a swift writer.

2 Thou art fairer than the children of the wife,
God hath blessed thee for euer.

¶ Or, Salomons beauty and clo-quence to winne fauour with his people, and his power to ouer-come his enemies, is here described.

d He aludeth to them that ride in chariots in their triumphs, shewing that the quiet state of a kingdom standeth in truth, meeknesse and iustice, not in worldly pomp and vanity.

e Vnder this figure of this kingdom of iustice is set forth the everlasting kingdom of Christ.

f Hath established thy kingdom as the figure of Christ, which is the peace and ioy of the church.

g In the which palace the people made thee ioyfull to see them giue thanks and reioyce for thee.

h Though he had many kings daughters among his wives, yet he loued Pharaohs daughter best.

i Vnder the figure of Pharaohs daughter, he sheweth that the Church must cast off all carnal affections to obey Christ onely.

k He signifieth, that diuers of them that be rich shall be benefactors to the Church, albeit they giue not perfect obedience to the Gospel. Or, Zor. 1 There is nothing fained nor hypocritical, but she is glorious both within and without: and howbeit the Church hath not at all times this outward glory, the fault is to be imputed onely to their owne ingratitude. m They shall haue greater graces then their fathers. n He signifieth the great compasse of Christs kingdom, which shall be sufficient to enrich all his members. o This must onely be referred to Christ, and not to Salomon.

3 God thy sword vpon thy thigh, O most mighty: so win by worship and thy glory.

4 And prosper with thy glory: ride vpon the word of truth and of iustice, and of righteousness: so thy right hand shall reach thee terrible things.

5 Thine arrows are as sharpe to pearce the heart of the kings enemies: therefore the people shall fall vnder thee.

6 Thy throne, O God, is for euer and euer: the scepter of thy kingdom is a scepter of righteousness.

7 Thou lovest righteousness, and hatest wickednes, because God euen thy God hath anointed thee with the oyle of gladnesse above thy fellows.

8 All thy garments smell of myrrhe and aloes, and Cassia, when thou comest out of thy palace, where they haue made thee glad.

9 Kings daughters were among thine honourable wives: vpon thy right hand did stand the Queene in a vesture of golde of Ophir.

10 Hearken, O daughter, and consider, and incline thine ear: forget also thine own people, and thy fathers house.

11 So shall the king haue pleasure in thy beautie: for he is thy Lord, and reuerence thou him.

12 And the daughter of Tyrus, with the rich of the people shall doe homage before thy face with presents.

13 The kings daughters be all glorious within: her clothing is of broidered gold.

14 She shall be brought vnto the king in raiment of needle worke: the virgins that follow after her, and her companions shall be brought vnto thee.

15 With ioy and gladnesse shall they be brought, and shall enter in to the kings palace.

16 In stead of thy fathers shall thy children be: thou shalt make them princes throughout all the earth.

17 I will make thy Name to be remembered throughout all generations: therefore shall the people giue thee thanks vnto thee without end.

PSAL. XLVI.

1 A song of triumph or thanksgiving for the deliverance of Ierusalem, after Sennacherib with his army was driven away, or some other like sudden and marvellous deliverance by the mighty hand of God. 2 Whereby the Prophet commending this great benefite, doeth exhort the faithfull to giue themselves wholly into the hand of God, doubting nothing but that vnder his protection they shall be safe against all the assaults of their enemies, because this is his delight, to affluage the rage of the wicked, when they are most busie against the iust.

1 To him that excelleth vpon Asanath. A

2 God is our hope and strength, and helpe in troubles, ready to be found.

3 Therefore will not we feare, though the earth be moued, and though the mountains fall into the mids of the sea.

4 Yet there is a River, whose streames shall make glad the citie of God: euen the Sanctuary of the tabernacles of the most High.

5 God is in the mids of it: therefore shall it not be moued: God shall helpe it very early, but will not be overcome.

6 When the nations rage, and the kingdomes were moued, God is thundring, and the earth melted.

7 The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iacob is our refuge.

8 Come, and behold the workes of the Lord: what desolations hee hath made in the earth.

9 He maketh warres to cease vnto the ends of the world: he breaketh the bow and cutteth the speare, and burneth the chariots with fire.

10 We will speake, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, and I will be exalted in the earth.

11 The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iacob is our refuge.

f Always when neede requireth. † Ebr. gaue his voyce. g They are assured that God can and will defend his Church from all dangers and enemies. h To wit, how often he hath destroyed his enemies, and deliuered his people. i He warneth them that persecute the Church, to cease their cruelty: for els they shall see that God is too strong for them, against whom they fight.

PSAL. XLVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all people to the worship of the true and euersuing God, commending the mercie of God toward the posteritie of Iacob: 2 And after prophesying of the kingdom of Christ in the same of the Gospel.

1 To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Iezrah.

2 All people clap your hands, sing loud vnto God with a topfull voyce.

3 For the Lord is high, and terrible: a great king ouer all the earth.

4 He hath subdued the people vnder vs, and the nations vnder our feete.

5 He hath chosen our inheritance for vs: euen the glory of Iacob whom hee loued.

6 God is gone by with triumph, euen the Lord with the sound of the trumpet.

7 Sing praises to God, sing praises: sing praises vnto our King, sing praises.

8 For God is the king of all the earth: sing praises euery one that hath vnderstanding.

9 Gladnesse obey them: God hath chosen vs above all other nations to enioy a most glorious inheritance.

10 He doth allude vnto trumpets that were blown at solemne feasts, but he doth further signifie the triumph of Christ and his glorious ascension into the heauens.

11 He requireth that vnderstanding be ioyned with singing, lest the Name of God be prophaned with vaine crying.

f He praiseh Gods his hnesse, for that he ioy-neth the great princes of the world (whom he callesh shields) to the fellowship of his Church.

8 God reigneth ouer the heathen : God sitteth vpon his holy thron.

9 The princes of the people are gathered vnto the people of the God of Abraham : for the shields of the world belong vnto God: he is greatly to be exalted.

PSAL. XLVIII.

a A notable deliuerance of Ierusalem from the hand of many kings is mentioned, for the which thanks are giuent to God, and the state of that citie is praised that hath God so perfectly at all times ready to defend them. The Psalme seemeth to be made in the time of Ahaz, Iehoshaphat, Asa, or Ezechiah : for in their times chiefly was the city by sorme princes assaulted.

A song or Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

Great is the Lord, and greatly to be pray-sied in the City of our God, euen vpon his holy mountaine.

2 Mount Zion lying Northward is faire in situation: it is the joy of the whole earth, and the citie of the great King.

3 In the palaces thereof God is known for a refuge.

4 Forsoke the kings were gathered and went together.

5 When they saw it, they marvelled: they were astonied, and suddenly diuen backe.

6 Feare came there vpon them, and sorrow, as vpon a woman in trauel.

7 As with an East winde thou breakest the ships of Tarshish, so were they destroyed.

8 As we haue heard, so haue we seene in the citie of the God of holies, in the citie of our God: God will stablish it for euer.
Selah.

9 We waite for thy louing kindnesse, O
God, in the mids of thy Temple.

10 O God, according vnto thy Name, so is thy praise vnto the worlds end: thy right hand is full of righteousness.

11 Let mount Zion reioice, & the daughters of Iudah be glad, because of thy iudge-ments.

12 Compasse about Zion, and go round about it, and tell the towers thereof.

13 Marke well the Wall thereof: behold her towers, that you may tell your posterity.

14 For this God is our God for euer and euer: he shall be our guide vnto the death.

The enemies were afraid at the sight of the citie.

g That is, of Cilicia, or of the sea called Mediterranean. h To wit, of our fathers, so haue we proued: or, God hath performed his promise. i In all places where thy Name shall be head of, men shall praise thee, when they heare of thy marvellous works. k Let Ierusalem and the cities of Iudea reioyce for thy iust iudgements against thine enemies. l For in this outward defence and strength Gods blessings did also appeare, but the chiefe is to be referred to Gods fauour and secret defence, who neuer leaueh his.

PSAL. XLIX.

1 The holy Ghost calleth all men to the consideration of mans life, 7 Shewing them not to bee most blessed that are most wealthy, and therefore not to be feared: But contrariwise he lieth vpon our mindes to consider how all thinge are ruled by Gods prouidence lasting torments, 15 So doeth he preserve his, and will reward them in the day of the resurrection, 2.

To him that exceleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

Hear this, all ye people: giue care, all ye that dwell in the world.

2 As well low as he, both rich and poore.

3 By mouth shall I speake of wisdom, and the meditation of my heart is of knowledge.

4 I will incline mine eare to a parable, and vter my graine matter vpon the harpe.

5 Wherefore should I feare in the euill dayes, when iniquity shall compasse mee about, as at mine heeles?

6 They trust in their goods, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches.

7 Yet a man can by no means redeeme his brother: he cannot giue his ransom to 9 That he may liue still for euer, and not see the graue.

10 For he seeth that wise men die, and also that the ignorant and foolish perish, and leaueth their riches for others.

11 Yet they thinke their houses, and their habitations shall continue for euer, euen from generation to generation, all call their lands by their names.

12 But man shall not continue in honore, he is like the beasts that die.

13 This their way vcereth their foolish-nesse: yet their posteritie delight in their talke. Selah.

denoureth them, and the righteous shall haue domination ouer them in the morning: for their beaurie shall consume, when they shall goe from their heale to graue.

15 But God shall deliuer my soule from the power of the graue: for he will receiue me. Selah.

16 Be not thou afraid when he is made rich, and when the glory of his house is increased.

17 For he shall take nothing away when he dieth, neither shall his pompe descend after him.

18 For while he liued, he reioyced him-with outward ceremonies only, without the heart, and especially the lawes were of this opinion, because of their figures and ceremonies of the Law, thinking that their sacrifices were sufficient, 21 Therefore the Prophet doth reprove this grosse error, and pronounceth the Name of God to be blasphemed, where holiness is set in ceremonies. 23 For he declaroth the worship of God to be spiritual, whereof are two principall parts, inuocation and thanksgiving.

A Psalm of Asaph.

THe God of gods, even the Lord hath sworn, and called the earth from the rising up of the Sonne unto the going downe thereof.

2 Out of Zion, which is the perfection of beaurtie hath God shined.

3 Our God hath come and hath not kept silence: a fire shall deuoure before him, and a mighty tempest shall be moued round about him.

4 He hath call the heauen above, and the earth to iudge his people.

5 Gather my Saints together vnto me, thole that make a covenant with mee with sacrifice.

6 And the heauens shall declare his righteousness: for God is Iudge himselfe. Selah.

7 Heare, O my people, and I will speake: heare, O Israel, and I will testifie vnto thee: for I am God, even thy God.

8 I will not reprove thee for thy sacrifices, or thy burnt offerings, that haue not bin continually before me.

9 I will take no bullocke out of thine house, nor goates out of thy folds.

10 For all the beasts of the forest are mine, and the beastes on a thousand mountaines.

11 I know all the fowles on the mountaines: and the wilde beasts of the field are mine.

12 If I bee hungry, I will not tell thee: for the world is mine, and all that therein is.

13 Will I eate the flesh of bulles: or drinke the blood of goates?

14 Offer vnto God prayle, and pay thy vowes vnto the most High.

15 And call vpon mee in the day of trouble: so will I deliuer thee, and thou shalt glorifie mee.

16 But vnto y wicked said God, What hast thou to doe to declare mine ordinances, that thou shouldest take my covenant in thy mouth.

17 Seeing thou hatest to bee reformed, and hast cast my wordes behind thee?

18 For when thou feedst a thief, thou runnest with him, and thou art partaker with the adulterers.

19 Thou giuest thy mouth to euill, and with thy tongue thou forgettest deccit.

20 Though hee did delight in sacrifice, yet had hee no need of mans helpe thereunto.

21 Though mans life for the infirmity thereof hath need of food, yet God whose life quickeneth all the world, hath no need of such means.

22 Shew thy selfe mindfull of Gods benefits by thanksgiving.

23 Why dost thou saie to be of my people, and talkest of my covenant, seeing thou art but an hypocrite?

24 And to liue according to my word. O He sheweth what are the fruits of the man that contemne Gods word.

20 Thou sittest, & speakest against thy brother, and slanderest thy mothers sonne.

21 These things hast thou done, and I held my tongue: therefore thou thoughtest that I was like thee: but I will reprove thee, and I set them in order before thee.

22 O consider this, yee that forget God, lest I teare you in pieces, and there be none that can deliuer you.

23 We that offereth prayle, shall glorifie mee: and to him that disposeth his way aright, will I shew the saluation of God.

1 When David was rebuked by the Prophet Nathan for his great offences, hee did not onely acknowledge the same to God with protestation of his naturall corruption and iniquity, but also left a memorie thereof to his posteritie. 7 Therefore first hee desireth God to forgive his sinnes, 10 And to renew in him his holy Spirit, 13 With promise, that hee will not be unkindfull of these great graces. 16 Finally, fearing lest God would punish the whole Church for his fault, hee requirerh that hee would rather increase his graces toward the same.

TO him that excelleth. A Psalm of David, when the Prophet Nathan came vnto him, after hee had gone in to Bathsheba.

1 Que mercy vpon me, O God, according to thy louing kindenesse: according to the multitude of thy compassions put away mine iniquities.

2 Wash mee thoroughly from mine iniquitie, and cleanse me from my sinne.

3 For I know mine iniquities, and my sinne is euil before me.

4 Against thee, against thee onely haue I sinned, and done euil in thy sight, that thou mayest be iust when thou speakest, and pure when thou iudget.

5 Behold, I was borne in iniquitie, and in sinne hath my mother conceived me.

6 Beholde, thou truest truth in the inward affections: therefore hast thou taught mee wisdom in the secret of mine heart.

7 Purge me with hyssope, and I shall be cleane: wash mee, and I shall be whiter then snow.

8 Make me to heare of ioy and gladnesse, that the bones, which thou hast broken, may reioyce.

9 Hide thy face from my sinnes, and put away all mine iniquities.

10 Create in me a cleane heart, O God, against sinners, they must needs confesse thee to be iust, and themselves sinners. f Hee confesseth that God, who loueth purenesse of heart, may iustly destroy man, who of nature is a sinner, much more him whom hee had instructed in his heauenly wisdom. Leuit. 14. 6. g Hee meaneth Gods comfortable mercies toward repentant sinners. h By the bones hee understandeth all strength of soule and body, which by cares and mourning are consumed. i Hee confesseth that when Gods Spirit is colde in vs, to haue it againe reuiued, is as a new creation.

and renew a right spirit within me.

11 Call me not away from thy presence, and take not thy holy Spirit from me.

12 Restore to me the top of thy saluation, and stablish me with thy free Spirit.

13 Then shalt I teach thy wayes vnto the wicked, and sinners shall be converted vnto thee.

14 Deliver mee from blood, O God, which art the God of my saluation, and my tongue shall sing topfully of thy righteousness.

15 Open thou my lips, O Lord, and my mouth shall shew forth thy praise.

16 For thou desirest no sacrifice, though I would giue it: thou delightest not in burnt offering.

17 The sacrifices of God are a contrite spirit: a contrite and a broken heart, O God, thou wilt not despise.

18 Be favourable vnto Zion for thy good pleasure: build the wailes of Ierusalem.

19 Then shalt thou accept the sacrifices of righteousness, even the burnt offering and oblation: then shall they offer calues vpon thine altar.

1 David describeth the arrogant tyrannie of his adversary Doeg, who by false surmises caused Achimelech with the rest of the Priests to be slaine. 5 David prophesieth his destruction. 6 And encourageth the faithful to put their confidence in God, whose iudgements are most sharpe against his adversaries. 9 And finally he rendereth thanks to God for his deliverance. In this Psalm is lively set forth the kingdom of Antichrist.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David to giue instruction. When Doeg the Edomite came and shewed Saul, and said to him, David is come to the house of Achimelech.

Why boastest thou thy selfe in thy wickednesse, O man of power: the forgetting kindnesse of God endureth dayly.

2 Thy tongue imagineth mischief, and is like a sharpe razor that cutteth deceitfully.

3 Thou dost loue euill more then good, and lies, more then to speake the truth. Selah.

4 Thou lonest all wordes that may destroy, O deceitfull tongue!

5 So shall God destroy thee for ever; he shall take thee and plucke thee out of thy tabernacle, and roote thee out of the land of the living. Selah.

6 The righteous also shall see it, and feare, and shall laugh at him, saying.

¶ To him that excelleth on Meginoth. A Psalm of David to God for instruction.

Hear: my prayer, O God, and hide not thy selfe from my supplication.

2 Hearken vnto me, and answere me: I moue in my prayer, and make a noyle,

3 For the voyce of the enemye, and for the beation of the wicked, because they haue brought iniquitie vpon mee, and turne outly hate me.

4 Mine heart trembleth within me, and the terrors of death are fallen vpon me.

5 Feare and trembling are come vpon me, and an horrible feare hath conuered me.

6 And I said, Oh that I had wings like a dove: then would I flee away and rest.

7 Behold, I would take my flight farre off, and lodge in the wilderness. Selah.

8 Hee would make haile for my deliuerance: from the storme winde and tempest.

9 Destroy, O Lord, and diuine their tongues: for I haue seene crueltie and strife in the city.

10 Day and night they go about it vpon the walles thereof: both iniquity and mischief are in the mids of it.

11 Wickednes is in the mids thereof: deceit and guile depart not from her streetes.

12 Surely mine enemye did not defame mee: for I could haue borne it: neither did mine aduersarye reate himselfe against mee: for I would haue hid me from him.

13 But it was thou, O man, euen my companion, my guide and my familiar.

14 Which delighted in consulting together, and went into the house of God as companions.

15 Let death seaze vpon them: let them goe downe quicke into the graue: for wickednesse is in their dwellings, euen in the mids of them.

16 But I will call vnto God, and the Lord will saue me.

17 Evening and morning, and at noone will I pray, and make a noyle, and he will heare my voyce.

18 He hath deliuered my soule in peace from the battell, that was against mee: for many were with me.

19 God shall haue and afflict them, euen he that reigneth of old, Selah. because they haue no changes, therefore they feare not God.

21 The wordes of his mouth were softer then butter, yet warre was in his heart, his wordes were more gentle then oyle, yet they made warre against me.

22 Cast thy burden vpon the Lord, and he shall nourish thee: hee will not suffer the righteous to fall for ever.

23 And thou, O God, shalt bring them downe into the pit of corruption: the bloodie and deceitfull men shall not liue: halfe their bettering their dayes: but I will reue in thee.

A Psalm of David. When he was in the wilderness of Iudah. O God, thou art my God, early will I seeke thee: my soule b thirsteth for thee: my flesh longeth greatly after thee in a barren and drie land without water. 2 Thus I behold thee as in the sanctuaries, when I behold thy power and thy glory. 3 For thy louing kindnesse is better then life: therefore my lips shall praise thee. 4 These will I magnifie thee all my life, and lift vp mine hands in thy Name. 5 My soule shall be satisfied, as with marrow and fatnesse, and my mouth shall praise thee with ioyfull lips. 6 When I remember thee on my bed, and when I thinke vpon thee in the night watches. 7 Because thou hast bene my helper, therefore vnder the shadow of thy wings will I reioyce.

PSALM. LXIII. 1 David prayeth against the furie and false reports of his enemies. 7 He declareth their punishment and destruction, 10 To the comfort of the iust, and the glory of God.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David. Care my voyce, O God, in my prayer, I preferre my life from feare of the enemy.

2 Hide mee from the conspiracie of the wicked, and from the rage of the workers of iniquitie. 3 Which haue whet their tongue like a sword, and shot for their arrowes bitter words: 4 To shote at the bright in secret: they shote at him suddenly, and feare not. 5 They encourage themselves in a wicked purpose: they commune together to lay snares priuily, and say, Who shall see them? 6 They haue sought out iniquities, and haue accomplished that which they sought out, euen euery one in his secret thoughts, and the depth of his heart. 7 But God will shote an arrow at them suddenly: their strokes shall be at once. 8 They shall cause their owne tongue to fall vpon them: and whosoever shall see them, shall see away. 9 And all men shall see it, and declare the worke of God, and they shall vnderstand, what he hath wrought. 10 But the righteous shall be glad in the Lord, and trust in him: and all that are vpright of heart, shall reioyce.

a In that he called to God with his voyce, it is a signe that his prayer was vehement, and that his life was in danger. b That is, from their secret malice. c To wit, their outward violence. d False reports and slanders. e To be without feare of God, and reuerence of man, is a signe of reprobation. f The more that the wicked see Gods children in misery, the more bold and impudent are they in oppressing them. g There is no way so secret and subtil to doe hurt, which they inuented not for his destruction. h To see Gods heauy iudgements against them, and how hee hath caught them in their owne snares. i When they shall consider that he will be fauourable to them, as he was to his seruant David.

PSALM. LXV. 1 A prayse and thanksgiving vnto God by the faithfull, who are signified by Zion. 4 For the chusing, preferment and governance of them, 9 And for the plentiful blessing poured forth vpon all the earth, but specially toward his Church.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm or song of David. O God, praise waiteth for thee in Zion, & vnto thee shall the vow be performed. 2 Because thou hearest the prayer, vnto thee shall all flesh come. Jewes, but also the Gentiles in the kingdome of Christ.

8 My soule cleaueth vnto thee: for thy right hand hath upholden me. 9 Therefore they that seeke my soule to destroy it, they shall goe into the lowest parts of the earth. 10 They shall cast him downe with the edge of the sword, and they shall be a portion for foxes. 11 But the king shall reioyce in God, and all that sweare by him, shall reioyce in him: for the mouth of them that speake lies, shall be stopped.

PSALM. LXVI. 1 David prayeth for the Church, and for the world, that they may be preserved from all perils, and brought to the glory of God.

c He imputeth it to his sinnes, and to the sinnes of the people that God who was accustomed to assist them, withdraweth his succour from them. d Thou wilt declare thy selfe to be the preferuer of thy Church, in destroying thine enemies, as thou didst in the red Sea. e As of all barbarous nations and farre off. f He sheweth that there is no pare nor creature in the world, which is not governed by Gods power and providence.

a He prophesieth that all nations shall come to the knowledge of God, who was only known in Iudea. b As the faithfull shall obey God willingly, so the infidels for feare shall dissemble themselves to be subiects. c He toucheth the foughfull dulnesse of man, who is cold in the consideration of Gods works, d His providence is wonderful in maintaining their estate.

2 Wicked deeds have preuailed against me: but thou wilt bee mercifull unto our transgressions.

4 Blessed is hee whom thou chusest, and canst to come to thee: hee shall dwell in thy courts, and wee shall bee satisfied with the pleasures of thine house, euen of thine holy Temple.

5 O God of our saluation, thou wilt answer vs with fearefull signes in thy righteousness, O thou the hope of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are farre off in the sea.

6 He establisheth the mountaines by his power: and is girded about with strength.

7 He appealeth the noise of the seas, and the noise of the waues thereof, and the tumults of the people.

8 They also, that dwell in the uttermost parts of the earth, shall be afraid of thy signes: thou shalt make the East and the West to reioyce.

9 Thou visitest the earth, and waterest it: thou makest it very rich: the river of God is full of water: thou preparest them corne: for to thou appointest it.

10 Thou waterest abundantly the furrows thereof: thou causest the raine to descend into the valleys thereof: thou makest it soft with showers, and blestest the bud thereof.

11 Thou crownest the yeere with thy goodnesse, and thy wayes drop fatnesse.

12 The pastures vpon the pastures of the wilderness: and the hills shall be compassed with gladnesse.

13 The pastures are clad with sheepe: the valleys also shall be covered with corne: therefore they shout for ioy, and sing.

PSAL LXVI.

1 He prouoketh all men to praise the Lord, and to consider his workes. 6 He setteth forth the power of God to assay the rebels, 10 and sheweth how God hath deliuered Israel from great bondage and afflictions. 13 He promisseth to giue sacrifices, 16 and prouoketh all men to heare what God hath done for him, and to praise his Name.

To him that excelleth. A song or Psalm.

2 Sing forth the glory of his Name, make his praise glorious.

3 Say vnto God, how terrible art thou in thy workes: though the greatnesse of thy power shall thine enemies be in subiection vnto thee.

4 All the world shall worship thee, & sing vnto thee, euen sing of thy Name. Selah.

5 Come and behold the workes of God: he is terrible in his doing toward the sons of men.

6 Hee hath turned the sea into dry land: they passed thow the river on foot: there did we reioyce in him.

PSAL LXVII.

1 A prayer of the Church to obtaine the fauour of God, and to be lightened with his countenance, 2 to the end that his way and iudgements may be known throughout the earth. 7 And finally is declared the kingdom of God, which should be universally erected at the coming of Christ.

35 Finally he doth prouoke all creatures to praises, prophecising of the kingdom of Christ, and the preservation of the Church, where all the faithfull, 37 and their seedes shall dwell for ever.

To him that excelleth vpon a Shoshannim. A Psalm of Dauid.

1 Que me, O God: for the waters are entered euen to my soule.

2 I sticke fast in the deepe myre, where no stay is: I am come into deepe waters, and the streames runne ouer me.

3 I am weary of crying: my throat is dry: mine eyes faile, whiles I wait for my God.

4 They that hate me without a cause, are more then the haire of mine head, they that would destroy mee, and are mine enemies: falsely, are mighty, so that I restored that which I rooke not.

5 O God, thou knowest my foolishnes, and my faults are not hid from thee.

6 Let not them that trust in thee, O Lord God of hostes, be ashamed for mee: let not those that seeke thee, be confounded through me, O God of Israel.

7 For thy sake haue I suffered reproofe: shame hath couered my face.

8 I am become a stranger vnto my brethren, euen an alien vnto my mothers sonnes.

9 For the zeale of thine house hath eaten mee, and the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon me.

10 I wept, and my soule fasted, but that was to my reproofe.

11 I put on a sacke also: and I became a prouerbe vnto them.

12 They that late in the gate, spake of me, and the drunkards sang of me.

13 But Lord, I make my prayer vnto thee in an acceptable time, euen in the multitude of thy mercy: O God, heare me in the truth of thy saluation.

14 Deliver mee out of the myre, that I sinke not: let mee be deliuered from them that hate me, and out of the deepe waters.

15 Let not the water flood downe mee, neither let the deepe swallowe me vp: and let not the pit shut her mouth vpon me.

16 Heare me, O Lord, for thy louing kindnesse is good: turne vnto me according to the multitude of thy tender mercies.

17 And hide not thy face from thy seruants, for I am in trouble: make hast, and heare me.

18 Draw nere vnto my soule, & redeeme it: deliuer me, because of mine enemies.

19 Thou hast known my reproofe, and my shame, and my dishonour: all mine euersaries are before thee.

20 Rebuke hath broken mine heart, and I am full of heauinesse, and I looked for some to haue pittie on me, but there was none: and for comforters, but I found none.

21 For they gaue me gall in my meat, and in my thirst they gaue me vinegar to drinke.

22 Let their table be a snare before them, and their prosperitie then ruine.

23 Let their eyes bee blinded, that they see not: and make their waynes alway to tremble.

24 Powre out thine anger vpon them, and let thy wrathfull displeasure take them.

25 Let their habitation be voyd, and let none dwell in their tents.

26 For they persecute him, whom thou hast smitten: and they adde vnto the sorrow of them whom thou hast wounded.

27 Lay iniquity vpon their iniquity, and let them not come into thy righteousness.

28 Let them be put out of the booke of life, neither let them be written with the righteous.

29 When I am poore and in heauinesse, thine helpe, O God, shall exalt me.

30 I wil praise the Name of God with a song, and magnifie him with thanksgiving.

31 This also shall please the Lord better then a yong bullocke, that hath homes and hoofes.

32 The humble shall see this, and they that seeke God shall be glad, and your heart shall liue.

33 For the Lord heareth the poore, and despiseth not his prisoners.

34 Let heauen and earth praise him: the seas and all that moueth in them.

35 For God will laue Zion, and build the cities of Iudah, that men may dwell there, and haue it in possession.

36 The seede also of his seruants shall inherit it: and they that loue his Name, shall dwell therein.

f The people shall embrace thy true religion, when thou givest a King that ruleth according to thy word.

g As this is true in all godly kings, so is it chiefly verified in Christ, who with his heavenly dew maketh his Church ever to flourish. h That is, from the red sea, to the sea called Syria-cum, and from Euphrates forward: meaning, that Christ's kingdome should be large and vniuersall. i Of Sicilia and of all other countreys beyond the sea, which be meaneth by the yles. k That is, of Arabia that rich countrey, whereof Sheba was a part bordering vpon Ethiopia. l Though tyrants passe not to shed blood, yet this godly king shall preferre his subiects from all kind of wrong. m God wil both prosper his life, and also make the people most willing to obey him. n Vnder such a King shall be most great plenty both of fruit, and also of the increase of mankind. o They shall pray to God for his continuance, and know that God doth prosper them for his sake. p He confesseth that except God miraculously preferre his people, that neither the King nor the kingdome can continue. q Concerning his sonne Salomon.

6 He shall come: dwone like the raine vpon the mowen grasse, and as the showers that water the earth. 7 In his dayes shall the righteous flourish, and abundance of peace shall bee so long as the moone endureth. 8 His dominion shall be also from sea to sea, and from the river vnto the ends of the land. 9 They that dwell in the wilderness, shall kneele before him, and his enemies shall lick the dust. 10 The kings of Tarshish and of the yles shall bring presents: the Kings of Sheba and Seba shall bring gifts. 11 Yea, all Kings shall worship him: all nations shall serue him. 12 For he shall deliuer the poore when he cryeth: the needy also and him that hath no helper. 13 He shall be mercifull to the poore and needy, and shall preserve the soules of the poore. 14 He shall redeeme their soules from deceit and violence, and he shall keepe their blood from being in sight. 15 Yea, he shall liue, and vnto him shall they giue of the gold of Sheba: they shall also pray for him continually, and daily beseech him. 16 An handfull of corne shall be sowne in the earth, even in the top of the mountaines, and the fruit thereof shall shake like the trees of Lebanon: and the children shall flourish out of the crie like the grasse of the earth. 17 His Name shall be for euer: his Name shall endure as long as the Sunne: all nations shall beseech him, and be blessed in him. 18 Blessed be the Lord God, even the God of Israel, which onely doeth wondrous things. 19 And blessed be his glorious Name for euer: and let all the earth be filled with his glory. So be it, even so be it.

HERE END THE PRAYERS OF DAVID THE SONNE OF ISRAEL.

PSAL. LXXIII.

1 The Prophet teacheth by an example, that neither the worldly prosperitie of the vngodly, nor yet the affliction of the good, ought to discourage Gods children, but rather ought to moue vs to consider our Fathers providence, and so cause vs to reuerence Gods iudgements. 19 Forasmuch as the wicked vanishe away, 24 And the Godly enter into life everlasting, 28 In hope whereof he resigneth himselfe into Gods hands.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

YET: God is good to Israel: euen to the pure in heart. 2 As for me, my feet were almost gone: my steps had welnere slipt.

a As it were betwene hope and despair he breatheth forth into this affliction, being assured that God would continue his fauour toward such as were godly indeede, and not hypocrites.

3 For I fretted at the foolish, when I saw the prosperitie of the wicked. 4 For there are no bands in their death, but they are lusty and strong. 5 They are not in trouble as other men, neither are they plagued with other men. 6 Therefore pride is as a chaine vnto them, and crueltie couereth them as a garment. 7 Their eyes stand out for fatnes: they haue more then heart can with. 8 They are licentious, and speake wickedly of their oppression: they talke presumptuously. 9 They set their mouth against heauen, and their tongue walketh thorow the earth. 10 Therefore his people turne hither: for waters of a full cup are wrung out to them. 11 And they say, How doeth God know? for is there knowledge in the most high? 12 Lo, these are the wicked, yet prosper they alway, and increase in riches. 13 Certainly I haue cleansed mine heart in vaine, and washed mine hands in innocencie. 14 For dayly haue I bene punished, and chailented every morning. 15 If I say, I wil iudge thus, behold, the generation of thy children: I haue trespassed. 16 Then thought I to know this, but it was too painefull for me. 17 Until I went into the Sanctuary of God: then understood I their end. 18 Surely thou hast set them in slippery places, & castest them down into desolation. 19 How suddenly are they destroyed, perished, and horribly consumed. 20 As a dreame when one awaketh! O Lord, when thou raisest them vp, thou shalt make their image despitful. 21 Certainly mine heart was vexed, and I was pickt in my reines: 22 So foolishly was I and ignorant: I was as a beast before thee. 23 Yet I was alway with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand. 24 Thou wilt guide me by thy counsell, and after ward receive me to glory. 25 Whom haue I in heauen but thee? and I haue desired none in the earth with thee. 26 My flesh faileth, and mine heart also: but God is the strength of mine heart, and my portion for euer. 27 Forso, they that with draw themselves from thee, shall perish: thou destroyest all them that goe a whoying from thee. 28 My flesh faileth, and mine heart also: but God is the strength of mine heart, and my portion for euer.

b The wicked in this life liue at pleasure, and are not drawen to death like prisoners, that is, by sickness, which is deathes messenger. c They glory in their pride, as some doe in their chiuines: and in crueltye, as some doe in apparell. d They blaspheme God and feare not his power, and saile vpon men because they esteeme themselves above all others. e Not onely the reprobate, but also the people of God oftentimes fall backe, seeing the prosperous estate of the wicked, and are ouerwhelmed with sorrowes, thinking that God considereth not aright the cheate of the godly. f Thus the flesh moueth euen the godly to dispute with God touching their poore estate, and the profane of the wicked. g He giue place to this wicked thought, I offend against thy providence, seeing thou disposest all things most wisely, and preferuest thy children in their greatest dangers. h Vntill I entered into thy schoole and learned by thy word and holy Spirit, that thou orderest all things most wisely and iustly. i By thy fearefull iudgement. k When thou openest our eyes to consider thy heauenly felicitie, wee contemne all their vaine pompe. l For the more that man goeth about by his owne reason to seeke out Gods iudgements, the more doeth he declare himselfe a beast. m By faith I was assured that thy providence did watch alwaies ouer me, to preserve me. n He sought neither helpe nor comfort of any, save of God onely. o He teacheth vs to denie our selves, to haue God our whole sufficiency, and onely contentment. p That is, forsake thee to seeke others.

q Though all the world thinke from God, yet hee promiſeth to truit in him, and to magnifie his workes.

28 As for me, it is good for me to draw nere to God: therefore I haue put my truit in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy workes.

1 The faithfull complainte of the destruction of the Church and true religion, 2 Under the name of Zion, and the Temple destroyed: 11 And trusting in the might and free mercies of God, 20 By his covenant, 24 They require helpe and succour for the glory of Gods holy Name, for the saluation of his poore afflicted seruants, 23 And the confusion of his proud enemies.

¶ A Psalm to giue instruction, committed to Alaph.

O God, why hast thou put vs away for euer? why is thy wrath kindled against the sheepe of thy pasture?

2 Thinke vpon thy Congregation, which thou hast possided of old, and on the brood of thine inheritance which thou hast redeemed, and on this mount Zion, wherein thou hast dwelt.

3 Lift vp thy // strokes, that thou mayest for euer destroy euery enemy that doeth euil to the Sanctuary.

4 Thine aduersaries roare in the mids of thy Congregation, and let by their banuiers for signes.

5 He that a lifted the axes vpon the thicke trees, was renowned, as one that brought a thing to perfection:

6 But now they breake down the carned worke thereof with axes and hammers.

7 They haue cait thy Sanctuary into the fire, and rated it to the ground, and haue defiled the dwelling place of thy Name.

8 They said in their hearts, Let vs destroy them altogether: they haue burnt all the Synagogues of God in the land.

9 Wee see not our signes: there is not one Prophet more, nor any with vs that knoweth how long.

10 O God, how long shall the aduersary reproch thee? shall the enemy blasphemie thy Name for euer?

11 Why with drawest thou thine hand euen thy right hand? draw it out of thy bosome, and consume them.

17 Thou hast set all the borders of the earth: thou hast made summer and winter.

18 Remember this, that the enemy hath reproached the Lord, and the foolish people hath blasphemed thy Name.

19 Giue not the soule of thy turtle dove into the beast, and forget not the Congregation of thy poore for euer.

20 Consider thy covenant: for the darke places of the earth are full of the habitations of the cruel.

21 I let not the oppressed returne ashamed, but let the poore and needy praise thy Name.

23 Forget not the boyce of thine enemies: for the tumult of them that rise against thee, // ascendeth continually.

14 In the day time also hee led them with a cloud, and all the night with a light of fire.

15 He claued the rocks in the wilderness, and gaue them drinke out of the great depths.

16 He brought floods also out of the flony rocks, so that he made the waters to descend like the riuers:

17 Yet they sinned still against him, and prouoked the Highest in the wilderness, 18 And tempted God in their hearts, in requiring meat for their lust.

19 They spake against God also, saying, Can God prepare a table in the wilderness?

20 Behold, he smote the rocks, that the water gushed out, and the streames overflowed: can he giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people?

21 Therefore the Lord heard and was angry, and the fire was kindled in Jaakob, and also wrath came vpon Israel, 22 Because they beleened not in God, and trusted not in his helpe.

23 Yet he had commanded the cloudes to abide, and had opened the doores of heaven, 24 And had rained downe MAN vpon them for to eat, and had giuen them of the wheate of heauen.

25 Man did eate the bread of Angels: he sent them meat enough.

26 He caused the East wind to passe in the heauen, & through his power he brought in the South wind.

27 He rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered soule as the land of the sea.

28 And he made it fall in the middes of their campe, euen round about their habitations.

29 So they did eat, and were well filled: for he gaue them their desire.

30 They were not turned from their lust, but the meat was yet in their mouthes, 31 When the wrath of God came euen vpon them, and slew the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel.

32 For all this they sinned still, and beloued not his wondrous works.

33 Therefore their dayes did be consume in vanity, and their yeeres hastily.

34 And when hee slew them, they sought him, and they returned, and sought God early.

35 And they remembered that God was their strength, and the most high God their Redemer.

36 But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their tongue.

37 For their heart was not byright with him: neither were they faithfull in his covenant.

38 Yet he being mercifull, forgave their iniquity, & destroyed them not, but oft times called backe his anger, and did not stirre vp all his wrath.

39 For hee remembered that they were flesh: yea, a wind that passeth, and cometh nor againe.

40 How oft did they prouoke him in the wilderness: & grieve him in the desert?

41 Yea, they returned & tempted God, and limited the Holy one of Israel.

42 They remembered not his hand, nor the day when he deliuered them from the enemye,

43 Nor him that set his signes in Egypt, and his wonders in the field of Zoan, 44 And turned their riuers into blood, and their floods that they could nor drinke.

45 Hee sent a swarme of flies among them, which deuoured them, & frogs which destroyed them.

46 He gaue also their stinkes vnto the caterpillar, and their labour vnto the grasshopper.

47 Hee destroyed their vines with haille, and their wilde figges with the haillestone.

48 He gaue their cattell also to the haille, and their flocks to the thunderbolts.

49 He cast vpon them the fiercenes of his anger, indignation and wrath, and vocation by the sending out of euill angels.

50 He made a way to his anger: he spared not.

p God vsed he means of the winde to teach them, that all elements were at his commandement, and that no distance of place could let his working. q Such is the nature of concupiscence, that the more it hath, the more it lusteth. r Though other were not spared, yet chiefly they suffered, which trusted in their strength against God.

s Thus sinne by continuance maketh men insensible, so that by no plagues they can be amended. t Such was their hypocrisy, that they sought vnto God for feare of punishment, though in their heart they loued him not.

u Whatsoeuer cometh nor from the pure fountain of the heart, is hypocrisie. x Because hee would euer haue some remnant of a Church to praise his Name in earth, he suffered not their finnes to ouercome his mercy.

y That is, they tempted him oft times.

z As they alldoe that measure the power of God by their capacitie.

a The forgetfulness of Gods benefites, is the root of rebellion, and all vice.

b This word significeth a confused mixture of flies and venomous wormes. Some take it for all sorts of serpents: some for all wilde beasts.

c He repeateth not here all the miracles that God did in Egypt, but certaine, which might be sufficient to conuince the people of malice and ingratitude.

d So called either of the effect, that is, of punishing the wicked, or else because they were wicked spirits, whom God permitted to vex men.

nor their soule from death, but gaue their life to the pestilence, 51 And smote al the first borne in Egypt, euen the beginning of their strength in the tabernacles of Ham.

52 But he made his people to go out like flepe, and led them in the wilderness like a flocke, 53 Then, he caried them out safely, and they feared not, and the Sea covered their enemies.

54 And hee brought them vnto the borders of his Sanctuary: euen to this Mountaine, which his right hand purchaseth.

55 Hee cait out the heathen also before them, and caused them to fall to the lot of his inheritance, and made the tribes of Israel to dwell in their tabernacles.

56 Yet they tempted, and provoked the most high God, & kept not his testimonies, 57 But turned backe and dealt falshly like their fathers: they turned like a deceitfull bowe.

58 And they provoked him to anger with their high places, and moued him to wrath with their grauen images.

59 God heard this, and was wroth, and greatly abhorred Israel.

60 So that hee forsooke the habitation of Shilo, euen the Tabernacle where he dwelt in the children, among men, 61 And deliuered his power into captiuitie, and his beauty into the enemies hand.

62 And hee gaue vs his people to the sword, and was angry with his inheritance.

63 The fire deuoured their chosen men, and their maidens were not payned.

64 Their Priests fell by the sword, and their widowes lamented not.

65 But the Lord awaked as one out of slepe, and as a strong man that after his wine cryeth out, 66 And smote his enemies in the hinder parts, and put them to a perpetual shame.

67 Yet he refused the tabernacle of Joseph, and chose not the tribe of Ephraim.

68 But chose the tribe of Iudah, and mount Zion which he loued.

69 And hee built his Sanctuary as an high place like the earth, which he established for euer.

70 Hee chose David also his seruant, and toke him from the shepherds.

71 Euen from behind the Cues with yong brought he him to feede his people in Iakob, and his inheritance in Israel.

72 So hee led them according to the simplicitie of his heart, and guided them by the direction of his hands.

73 They had no marriage songs: that is, they were not married.

74 p Either they were slave before, or taken prisoners of their enemies, and so were forbidden.

75 q Because they were drunken in their sinnes, they iudged Gods patience to be slumbering, as though he were drunken: therefore he answering their beastly iudgement, saith, he will awake and take iudgment vengeance.

76 r Shewing that he spared not altogether the Israelites, though he punished their enemies.

77 l By building the Temple and establishing the kingdome he declareth that the signes of his fauour were among them.

78 t Hee sheweth wherein a Kings charge standeth to wit, to prouide faithfully for his people, to guide them by counsel, and defend them by power.

PSAL. LXXIX.

1 The Israelites complaine to God for the great calamitie and oppression that they suffered by Gods enemies, 8 and confessing their sinnes, flee to Gods mercies with full hope of deliuerance, 10 because their calamities were ioynd with the contempt of his Name, 13 for the which they promise to be thankful.

2 A Psalm committed to Asaph.

O God, the heathen are come into thine inheritance: thine holy Temple haue they desied, and made Ierusalem heapes of stones.

3 The dead bodies of thy seruants haue they giuen to bee meate vnto foules of the heauen: and the flesh of thy Saines vnto the beastes of the earth.

4 Their blood haue they shed like waters round about Ierusalem, and there was none to bury them.

5 We are a reproch to our neighbours, euen a scoone & derision vnto them that are round about vs.

6 Lord, how long wilt thou be angry, for euer? shall thy iouslie burne like fire?

7 How long wilt thou wroth vpon the heathen that haue not known thee, and vpon the kingdoms that haue not called vpon thy Name.

8 For they haue deuoured Iakob, and made his dwelling place desolate.

9 Remember not against vs thy former iniquities, but make haste, and let thy tender mercies preuent vs: for we are in great misery.

10 Help vs, O God of our saluation, for the glory of thy Name, and deliuer vs, and be mercifull vnto our sinnes for thy Names sake.

11 Wherefore should the heathen say, Where is their God? let them bee knowne among the heathen in our sight by the vengeance of the blood of thy seruants that is shed.

12 Let the sighing of the prisoners come before thee: according to thy mighty armie persecue the children of death.

13 And render to our neighbours seven fold into their bosome their reproch, where with they haue reproched thee O Lord.

14 So we thy people, and shepe of thy pasture shall praise thee for euer: and from generation to generation we shall let forth thy praise.

5 And God wil accomplish his promises. That is, Egypt, and these other countreys shall come to the knowledge of God.

6 It shall befall of him that is regenerate and come to the Church, that he is as one that was borne in the Church.

e By crying and calling continually, he sheweth how we may not be weary, though God graunt not forthwith our request, but that we must earnestly aduen- ture vpon him. f This proueth, that David pray- ed in the Name of Christ the Messias, of whose kingdome he doth here prophie. g He confesseth him selfe igno- rant till God hath taught him, and his heart vari- able and separate from God, till God ioyned it to him, and con- firme it in his obedience. i That is, from most great danger of death: out of the which none but onely the mighty hand of God could deliuer him. k He sheweth that there can be no moderation nor equitie, where proud tyrants reigne, and that the lacke of Gods feare is as a priuledge to all vice & cruelty. l He bo- reth not of his owne vertues, but confesseth that God of his free good- nesse hath euer bene mercifull vnto him, and giuen him power against his enenies, as to one of his owne household.

a They confesse that Gods tree- mercy was the cause of their deliuerance, because he loued the land which he had chosen. b Thou hast buried them that they shall not come into iudge- ment. c Not onely withdrawing thy rod, but in forgiv- ing our finnes, and in touching our hearts to confesse them. d As in times past they had felt Gods mercies, so now being op- pressed by the long continu- ance of euils, they pray vnto God, that accord- ing to his na- ture he would be mercifull vnto them. e He confesseth that our saluation cometh onely of Gods mercy. f He will send all prosperity to his Church, when he hath sufficiently corrected them. Also by his punishments the faithfull shall learne to beware that they retorne not to like offences. g Though for a time God thus exercise them with his rods, yet vnder the kingdome of Christ they should haue peace and ioy. h Iustice shall then flourish and haue free course and passage in euery place.

a David persecut- ed of Saul, thus prayed, leaving the same to the Church, as a mo- nument how to be redresse against their mis- eries. b I am not ene- mie to them, but pitie them though they be cruell toward me. c Which was a sure token that he beleued that God would deliuer him. d He doth confesse that God is good to all, but only mercifull to poore sinners.

a I desire to be in thy care, O Lord, and heare me: for I am poore and needie. b Deliuer thou my soule for I am mercifull: my God saue thy seruant, that trusteth in thee. c Be mercifull vnto me, O Lord: for I cry vpon thee continually. d Reioyce the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, O Lord, doe I lift vp my soule. e For thou Lord, art good & mercifull, a God did chuse that place among the hills, to stablish Ieru- salem and his Temple. b Though thy Babel among them that know me: behold glorious estate Palestine & Tyus with Ethiopia, There is he borne. c That is, Egypt, and these other countreys shall come to the knowledge of God. d It shall befall of him that is regenerate and come to the Church, that he is as one that was borne in the Church.

e Out of all quarters they shall come into the Church, and be counted as citizens.

f When he calleth by his word them into the Church, whom hee had elected and written in his booke.

g The Prophet teacheth his whole afflictions and comfort in the Church.

PSAL. LXXXVIII.

1 A grievous complaint of the faithfull sore afflicted by sickness, persecutions, and aduersitie, 7 Being as it were left of God without any consolation: 13 Yet he calleth on God by faith, and striueth against desperation, 18 complaining himselfe to be forsaken of all earthly helpe.

A Song or Psalm of * Deman the Tzarabite, to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah for him that excelleth vpon Harath. * I cannot.

O Lord God of my saluation, I crye day and night ^b before thee.

2 Let my prayer enter into thy presence: encline thine eare vnto my cry.

3 For my soule is filled with evils, and my life draweth neere to the graue.

4 I am counted among them that goe downe vnto the pit, and am as a man without strength:

5 Free among the dead, like the flaine lying in the graue, whom thou rememberest no more, and they are cut off from thine ^d hand.

6 Thou hast laid me in the lowest pit, in darkness, and in the deepe.

7 Thine indignation lieth vpon me, and thou hast berured mee with all thy ^e waues. Selah.

8 Thou hast put away mine ^f acquaintance farre from me, and made me to be abhorred of them: I am shut vp, and cannot get forth.

9 Mine eye is sorrowfull through mine affliction: Lord, I call dayly vpon thee: I stretch out mine hands vnto thee.

10 Wilt thou shew a ^g miracle to the dead? ^h shall the dead rise and praise thee? Selah.

11 Shall thy louing kindnesse be declared in the graue? or thy faithfullnesse in destruction?

12 Shal thy wondrous works be knowne in the darke? and thy righteousnesse in the land of ⁱ oblation?

13 But vnto thee haue I cried. O Lord, and early shall my prayer come ^b fore thee.

14 Lord, why dost thou reiect my soule, and blottest thy face from me?

15 I am afflicted, and at the point of death: ^j from my youth I suffer thy terrors, providence, whereby he partly punisheth and partly reueth his. g I see none end of my sorrowes.

h Mine eyes and face declare my sorrowes. i He sheweth that the time is more conuenient for God to helpe, when men call vnto him in their dangers, then to try till they be dead, and then raise them ^k againe.

k That is, in the graue, where onely the body lieth without all sense and remembrance. l I am euer in great dangers and sorrowes, as though my life should vtterly be cut off euery moment.

Doubting of my life.

16 Thine indignations go ouer mee, and thy feare hath cur me off.

17 They came round about me daily like water, and compassed me together.

18 My louers and friends had thou put away from me, and mine acquaintance [†] hid themselves. [†] Ebr were in darkness.

PSAL. LXXXIX.

1 With many words doth the Prophet praise the goodness of God, 23 for his Testam. nt and covenant that he had made betwene him and his elect by Iesus Christ the sonne of David. 38 Then dooth he complain of the great ruine & desolation of the kingdom of David, so that to the outward appearance the promise was broken. 46 Finally he prayeth to be deliuered from his afflictions, making mention of the shortnes of mans life, and confirming himselfe by Gods promises.

A Psalm to giue instruction, of Ethan the Tzarabite.

I will sing the mercies of the Lord for euer: with my mouth will I declare thy truth from generation to generation.

2 For I ^a said, Mercy shall be set vp for euer: thy truth shall thou ^b establish in the very heauens.

3 I haue made a covenant with my chosen: I haue twoune to David my seruant,

4 Thy seede will I establish for euer, and set vp thy throne from generation to generation. Selah.

5 O Lord, euen the ^c heauens shall praise thy wondrous worke: yea, thy truth in the Congregation of the Saints.

6 For who is equal to the Lord in the heauen? and who is like the Lord among the ^d sonnes of the gods?

7 God is very terrible in the assembly of the ^e Saints, and to be reuerenced aboue all that are about him.

8 O Lord God of hosts, who is like vnto thee, which art a mighty Lord, and thy truth is about thee!

9 Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them.

10 Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy mighty arme.

11 The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast laid the foundation of the world, and all that therein is.

12 Thou hast created the North and the South: ^f Tabor and Hermon shall reioyce in thy name.

13 Thou hast a mighty arme: strong is thine hand, and high is thy right hand.

14 Righteousnes and equitie are the stars heauens.

Angels. h If the Angels tremble before Gods maiestie and infinite iustice, what earthly creature by oppressing the Church, dare set himselfe against God?

i For as he deliuered the Church by the red sea, and by destroying Rahab, that is, the Egyptians: so will hee deliuee deliuee it, when the dangers bee great.

k Tabor is a mountaine Westward from Ierusalem, and Hermon Eastward: so the Prophet signifieth that all parts and places of the world shall obey Gods power for the deliuerance of his Church.

1 Moses in his prayer setteth before vs the eter-nall fauour of God toward him, 3 who are neither admonished by the breuitie of their life, 7 nor by his plagues to be thankfull, 12 therefore Moses prayeth God to turne their hearts, and continue his mercies toward them and their posterity for euer.

A prayer of Moses the man of God.
L O D D, thou hast bin our habitation from generation to generation.

2 Before the mountaines were made, and before thou hadst formed the earth, and the world, euen from everlasting to everlasting thou art our God.

3 Thou turnest man to destruction:
again thou sayest, Returne, ye sonnes of Adam.

4 For a thousand yeeres in thy sight are as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night.

5 Thou hast ouerflowed them: they are as a sleepe: in the morning wee groweth like the grasse:

menting the frailty and shortnesse of mans life, n ouerth God to pitty, e Though man thinke his life long, which is in deede most short, yea, though it were a thousand yeeres, yet in Gods sight it is as nothing, and as the watch that lasteth but three houres. f Thou ta-kest them away suddenly as with a flood.

bles and trauels

sen vs to be thy menting the frailty and shortnesse of mans life, n ouerth God to pitty, e Though man thinke his life long, which is in deede most short,

yea, though it were a thousand yeeres, yet in Gods sight it is as nothing, and as the watch that lasteth but three houres. f Thou ta-kest them away suddenly as with a flood.

g Thou callest vs by thy rods to consider the shortnesse of our life, and for our finnes thou abridgest our dayes.

h Our dayes are not onely short, but miserable, for as much as our finnes dayly provoke thy wrath.

i Meaning, according to the common state of life.

k If mans life for the breuitie bee miserable, much more if thy wrath lie vpon it, as they which feare thee onely know.

l Which is by considering the shortnesse of our life, and by meditating the heavenly ioyes.

m Meaning, wilt thou be angry?

n Or, take comfort in thy seruants. n Euen thy mercy, which is thy chiefest worke. o As Gods promises appertaine as well to their posteritie, as to them, so Moyses prayeth for the posterity. p Meaning, that it was obscured, whē he ceased to do good to his Church. q For except thou guide vs with thine holy Spirit, our enterprises can haue no good successe.

1 Here is described in what assurance hee trusteth that putteth his whole trust in God, and committeth himselfe wholly to his protection in all tentations. 14 A promise of God to those that loue him, know him, and trust in him, to deliuer them and giue them immortal glory.

Who so dwelleth in the secret of the most high, shall abide in the shadow of the Almighty.

2 I will say vnto the Lord, O mine hope, and my fortresse: he is my God, in him will I trust.

3 Surely, hee will deliuer thee from the snare of the hunter, and from the noysome pestilence.

4 Hee will couer thee vnder his wings, and thou shalt bee sure vnder his feathers: his truth shall bee thy shield and buckler.

5 Thou shalt not bee afraid of the feare of the night, nor of the arrow that flieth by day:

6 Nor of the pestilence that walketh in the darknesse: nor of the plague that destroyeth at noone day.

7 A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand, but it shall not come neere thee.

8 Doubtlesse with thine eyes shalt thou behold and see the reward of the wicked.

9 For thou hast sayd, The Lord is mine hope: thou hast set the most high for thy refuge.

10 There shall none euill come vnto thee, neither shall any plague come neere thy tabernacle.

11 For he shall giue his Angels charge ouer thee, to keepe thee in all thy wayes.

12 They shall beare thee in their hands, that thou hurt not thy foot against a stone.

13 Thou shalt walke vpon the lion and aspe: the young lion and the dragon shalt thou tread vnder feete.

14 Because he hath loued me, therefore will I deliuer him: I will exact him because he hath known my name.

15 He shall call vpon me, and I will heare him: I will be with him in trouble: I will deliuer him, and glorifie him.

16 With long life will I satiate him, and shew him my saluation.

ouercome it, whether it bee secret or open. i To assure the faithfull of Gods protection, he bringeth in God to confirme the same. k For he is contented with that life that God giueth: for by death the shortnesse of this life is recompensed with immortalitie.

PSAL. XCII.

1 This Psalme was made to be sung on the Sabbath so stir vp the people to acknowledge God, & to praise him in his workes: the Prophet reioyceth therein. 6 But the wicked is not able to consider that the vngodly, when he is most flourishing, shall most speedily perish. 12 In the end is described the felicitie of the iust, planted in the house of God to praise the Lord.

A Psalme or song for the Sabbath day. It is a good thing to praise the Lord, and to sing vnto thy name, O most high,

2 To declare thy louing kindnesse in the morning, and thy truth in the night,

3 Upon an instrument of ten strings, and vpon the viole, with the long vpon the harpe.

4 For thou, Lord, hast made me glad by thy workes, and I will reioyce in the workes of thine hands,

5 O Lord, how glorious are thy workes! and thy thoughts are very deepe.

6 An vnwise man knoweth it not, and a scole doeth not vnderstand this,

7 When the wicked grow as the grasse, and all the workes of wickednesse doe flourish: that they shall be destroyed for euer.

8 But thou, O Lord, art most high, for euermore.

9 For loe, thine enemies, O Lord: for loe thine enemies shall perish: all the workes of iniquitie shall be destroyed.

day: to wit, to mediate Gods workes. e That is, the wicked consider not Gods workes, nor his iudgements against them, and therefore most iustly perish. f Thy iudgements are most constant against the wicked, and passe our reach.

P S A L. XCIX.

1 He commendeth the power, equity, and excellencie of the kingdom of God by Christ ouer the Lawes and Gentiles, 5 and prouoketh them to magnifie the same, and to serue the Lord, 6 following the example of the ancient Fathers, Moses, Aaron, Samuel, who calling vpon God, were heard in their prayers.

The Lord reigneth, let the people tremble: he sitteth betwene the Cherubims, let the earth be moued.

2 The Lord is great in Zion, and he is high aboue all the people.

3 They shall praise thy great and fearefull Name (for it is holy)

4 And the kings power that loneth indgement: for thou hast prepared equity: thou hast executed indgement and iustice in Iaakob.

5 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall down before his footstole: for he is holy.

6 Moses and Aaron were among his Priests, 4 and Samuel, among such as call vpon his Name: these called vpon the Lord, and he heard them.

7 He spake vnto them in the cloudy pillar: they kept his testimonies, and the Law that he gaue them.

8 Thou heardest them, O Lord our God: thou wast a fauourable God vnto them, though thou didst take vengeance for their inuentions.

9 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall down before his holy mountaine: for the Lord our God is holy.

d Vnder these three he comprehendeth the whole people of Israel, with who God made his promise. e For the more liberally that God dealeth with his people, the more doth he punish them that abuse his benefits.

P S A L. C.

1 Hee exhorteth all to serue the Lord, 3 who hath chosen vs, and prescribed vs, 4 and to enter into his assemblies to praise his Name.

A Psalme of praise.

Sing ye loud vnto the Lord, all the earth.

2 Serue the Lord with gladnes: come before him with ioyfullnesse.

3 Know ye that euen the Lord is God: he hath made vs, and not we our selues: we are his people, and the sheepe of his pasture.

4 Enter into his gates with praise, and into his courts with reioycing: praise him, and blesse his Name.

5 For the Lord is good: his mercy is euerslasting, and his truth is from generation to generation.

c He sheweth that God will not be worshipped, but by that means which hee hath appointed. d Hee declareth, that we ought neuer to bee weary in praising him, seeing his mercies toward vs last for ever.

1 David describeth what gouernment he will obserue in his house and kingdom 5 He will punish and correct by rooting forth the wicked, 6 and cherishing the godly persons.

A Psalme of David.

I will sing merite and indgement: vnto thee, O Lord will I sing.

a David considereth what manner of king hee would be when God should place him in the throne, promising openy, that he would be mercifull and iust.

2 I will doe wisely in the perfit way: fill thou comest to me: I will walke in the by rightnesse of mine heart in the midst of mine house.

3 I will let no wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate the worke of them that fall away: it shall not cleaue vnto me.

4 A froward heart shall depart from me: I will know none euill.

5 Him that prauily slandereth his neighbour will I destroy: him that hath a proude looke and high heart, I cannot suffer.

6 Mine eyes shall be vnto the faithfull of the land, y they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfect way, he shall serue me.

7 There shall no deceitfull person dwell within mine house: he that telleth lyes, shall not remaine in my sight.

8 Sometimes will I destroy all the wicked of the land, that I may cut off all the workers of iniquitie from the cite of the Lord.

He sheweth what is the true vse of the sword to punish the wicked, and to maintaine the good. f Magistrates must immediately punish vice, lest it grow to further inconuenience: and if heathen Magistrates are bound to doe this, how much more they that haue the charge of the Church of God?

P S A L. CII.

1 It seemeth that this prayer was appointed to the faithfull to pray in the captiuitie of Babylon. 16 A consolation for the building of the Church: 18 Whereof followeth the praise of Gods to be published to all posteritie. 22 The conuersion of the Gentiles, 28 And the stability of the Church.

A prayer: of the afflicted, when he shall be in distress, and powre forth his meditation before the Lord.

O Lord, heare my prayer, and let my cry come vnto thee.

2 Hide not thy face from me in the time of my trouble: incline thine eares vnto me: when I call, make haste to heare me.

3 For my dayes are consumed like smoke, and my bones are burnt like an hearth.

4 Mine heart is smitten, and withereth like grasse, because I forgate to eate my bread.

5 For the voyce of my growning my bones doe cleaue to my skin.

6 I am like a pellicane of the wilderness: I am like an owle of the deserts.

7 I watch and am as a sparrow alone vpon the house top.

8 Mine enemies reuile me dayly, & they that rage against me, haue sworn against me.

9 Surely I haue eaten ashes as bread, and mingled my drinke with weeping,

10 Because of thine indignation and thy wrath: for thou hast heaued me vp, and cast me downe.

f Haue conspired my death, g I haue not risen out of my mourning to take my refection. h He sheweth that the afflictions did not only thus moue him, but chiefly the feeling of Gods displeasure, i Howsoeuer we be fraile: yet thy promise is sure, and the remembrance thereof shall conuince vs for ever.

b Though as yet thou deterrest to place me in the kingly dignitie, yet will I giue my selfe to wisdom: and vprightnes being a private man. c He sheweth that magistrates doe not their duties, except they be enemies to all vice.

d In promising to punish these vices, which are most pernicious in them that are about kings, he declareth that he will punish the wicked, and to maintaine the good. f Magistrates must immediately punish vice, lest it grow to further inconuenience: and if heathen Magistrates are bound to doe this, how much more they that haue the charge of the Church of God?

a Whereby is signified, that albeit we be in neuer so great miseries, yet there is euer place left for prayer.

b He declareth that in our prayer we must liuely feele that which we desire, and steadfastly beleue to obaine.

which thing is chiefly accomplished vnder the Kingdome of Christ.

uen and earth perish, much more shall man perish: but the Church by reason of Gods promise endureth for euer. s Seeing thou hast chosen t y Church out of the world and ioyned it to thee, it cannot but continue for euer: for thou art euerslasting.

PSAL. CIII.

1 He prouoketh all to praise the Lord, which hath pardoned his finnes, delivered him from destruction, and giuen him sufficient of all good things. 10 Then he addeth the tender mercies of God, which he sheweth like a most tender father toward his children. 14
The frailtie of mans life. 20 An exhortation to man and Angels to praise the Lord.

¶ A Psalm of David.

M y soule, praise thou the Lord, and all that is within me, praise his holy Name.
2 My soule, praise thou the Lord, and forget not all his benefites.

3 Which b forgetteth all thine iniquities, and healerth all thine infirmities.

a He wakeneth his dulnesse to praise God, shewing that ding and affe-cti-chiefeft of all benefites: remission of sinne.

uer, and thy remembrance from generation to generation.

13 Thou wilt arise, and haue mercy vpon Zion: for the time to haue mercy thereon, for the appointed time is come.

14 For thy seruants delight in the stones thereof, and haue pittie on the dust thereof.

15 Then the heathen shall feare the Name of the Lord, and all the Kings of the earth thy glory,

16 When the Lord shall build vp Zion, and shall appeere in his glory,

17 And shall turne vnto the prayer of the desolate, and not despise their prayer.

18 This shall bee written for the generation to come, and the people which shall bee created, shall praise the Lord.

19 For hee hath looked downe from the height of his Sanctuary: out of the heauen did the Lord behold the earth,

20 That hee might heare the mourning of the prisoner, and deliuer the children of death:

21 That they may declare the Name of the Lord in Zion, & his praise in Ierusalem.

22 When the people shall be gathered together, and the kingdoms to leue the Lord.

23 He abated my strength in the way, and shortened my dayes.

24 And I said, O my God, take mee not away in the mids of my dayes: thy yeeres endure from generation to generation.

25 Thou hast aboretine laid the foundation of the earth, and the heauens are the worke of thine hands.

26 They shall perish, but thou shalt endure: euen they shall all ware olde as doeth a garment: as a besture shalt thou change them, and they shall be changed.

27 But thou art the same, and thy yeeres shall not faile.

28 The children of thy seruants shall continue, and their seede shall stand fast in thy sight.

4 Which redeemeth thy life from the grave, and crowneth thee with mercie and compassions.

5 Which satisfieth thy mouth with good things: and thy youth is renewed like the eagles.

6 The Lord erretheth righteousness and iudgement to all that are oppressed.

7 He made his waies known vnto e-les, & his works vnto the children of Israel.

8 The Lord is full of compassion and mercy, slow to anger and of great kinde-nesse.

9 He will not alway chide, neither keepe his anger for euer.

10 We hath not dealt with vs after our sinnes, nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities.

11 For as high as the heauen is about the earth, so great is his mercie toward them that feare him.

12 As far as the East is from the West:
so farre hath hee remooued our sinnes from vs.

13 As a father hath compassion on his children, so hath the Lord compassion on them that feare him.

14 For he knoweth whereof we be made:
he remembereth that we are but dust.

15 The dayes of man are as grasse: as a flower of the field, so flourisheth he.

16 For the winds goeth ouer it, and it is gone, and the place thereof shall know it no more.

17 But the louing kindeesse of the Lord endureth for euer and euer vpon them that feare him, and his righteousness vpon chis-dens children.

18 Vnto them that keepe his covenant, and thinke vpon his commandements to do them.

19 The Lord hath prepared his throne in heauen, and his kingdome ruleth ouer all.

20 Praise the Lord, ye his Angels, that excell in strength, that doe his commaunde-ment in obeying the voyce of his word.

21 Praise the Lord, all ye his hostes, yee his seruants that doe his pleasure.

22 Praise the Lord, all yee his works, in all places of his dominion: my soule, praise thou the Lord.

infirmities and miserie, k His iust and faithfull keeping of his

1 An excellent Psalm to praise God for the creation of the world, and the gouernance of the same by his marueilous providence, 35 wherein the Prophet prayeth against the wicked, who are occasions that God diminish his blessings.

Gods power and providence

Psalmes.

b As the Prophet here sheweth that all visible powers are ready to serue God: so the Apostle to f Heb. 1. 7. beholdeth in this glaife, how the very Angels also are obedient to his commandement.

c Thou makest the sea to be an ornament vnto the earth.

d If by thy power thou diddest not bridle the rage of the waters, it were not possible but the whole world should be destroyed.

e If God provide for very beasts, much more will hee extend his provident care to man.

f There is no part of the world so barren where most euident signes of Gods blessings appeare not.

g From f clouds.

h He describeth Gods provident care ouer man, who doth not onely provide necessary things for him as herbes and other meate: but also things to reioyce, & comfort him, as wine and oyle, or ointments.

i Or, does, sees and such like.

j As to separate the night from the day, and to note dayes, moeths and yeeres.

k That is, by his counle either far or neere, it noteth summer, winter, and other seasons.

l That is, they onely finde meate according to Gods providence, who careth euen for the brute beasts.

m To wit, when the day springeth: for the light is as it were a shield to defend man against the tyrannic and fierceness of beasts.

n Hee confelleth that no tongue is able to expresse Gods workes, nor minde to comprehend them.

o Or, whale.

p God is a most nourishing Father, who provideth for all creatures their daily food.

3 Which layeth the beames of his chambers in the waters, and maketh the cloudes his chariot, and walketh vpon the wings of the winde.

4 Which maketh the spirits his messengers, and a flaming fire his ministers.

5 He set the earth vpon her foundations, so that it shall neuer moue.

6 Thou coveredst it with the deepe, as with a garment: the waters would stand about the mountaines.

7 But at thy rebuke they flee: at the voice of thy thunder they haile away.

8 And the mountaines ascend, and the valleys descend to the place which thou hast established for them.

9 But thou hast set them a bound which they shall not passe: they shall not returne to couer the earth.

10 Hee sendeth the springs into the valleys, which run betwene the mountaines.

11 They shall giue drinke to all the beasts of the field, and the wilde asses shall quench their thirst.

12 By these springs shal the foules of the heauen dwell, and sing among the branches.

13 He watereth the mountaines from his chambers, and the earth is filled with the fruit of thy workes.

14 He causeth grasse to grow for the cattell, and herbe for the vse of man, that hee may bring forth bread out of the earth.

15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, and oile to make the face to shine, and bread that strengtheneth mans heart.

16 The high trees are satisfied, euen the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted.

17 That the birds may make their nests there: the stoake dwelleth in the firs trees.

18 The high mountaines are for the goats: the rocks are a refuge for the conies.

19 He appointed the moone for certaine seasons: the Sunne knoweth his going downe.

20 Thou makest darkenesse, and it is night, wherein all the beasts of the forest creep forth.

21 The Lyons roare after their pray, and seeketh their meat at God.

22 When the Sunne riseth, they retire, and couch in their dens.

23 Then goeth man forth to his worke, and to his labour vntill the evening.

24 O Lord, how manifold are thy workes! in wisdome hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches.

25 So is this sea great and wilde: for therein are things creeping innumerable, both small beasts and great.

26 There goe the ships, yea, that Linathan, whom thou hast made to play therein.

27 All these waite vpon thee, that thou mayest giue them food in due season.

28 Thou giuest it to them, & they gather it: thou openest thine hand, and they are filled with good things.

29 But if thou hide thy face, they are troubled: if thou take away their breath, they die, and returne to their dust:

30 Again, if thou send forth thy spirit, they are created, and thou renewest the face of the earth.

31 Gloe be to the Lord for euer: let the Lord reioyce in his workes.

32 Hee looketh on the earth and it trembleth: he toucheth the mountaines, and they smoke.

33 I will sing vnto the Lord all my life: I will praise my God, while I liue.

34 Let my wordes bee acceptable vnto him: I will reioyce in the Lord.

35 Let the sinners bee consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there bee no more: O my soule, praise thou the Lord, Praise ye the Lord.

burneth the mountaines. Who infect the world, and so cause God that he cannot reioyce in his workes.

P S A L. CV.

1 He praiseth the singular grace of God, who hath of all the people of the world chosen a peculiar people to himselfe, and hauing chosen them, neuer ceaseth to doe them good, euen for his promise sake.

Praise the Lord, and call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people.

2 Sing vnto him, sing praise vnto him, and talke of all his wonderous workes.

3 Reioyce in his holy Name: let the heart of them that seeke the Lord, reioyce.

5 Remember his marvellous workes, that hee hath done, his wonders and the iudgements of his mouth.

19 They made a calfe in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image.

20 Thus they turned their ^k gloze into the similitude of a bullocke, that eateth grasse.

21 They forgate God their Saviour which had done great things in Egypt.

22 Wonderous workes in the land of Ham, and fearefull things by the red Sea.

23 Therefore he minded to destroy them, had not Moses his chofen stood in the breach before him to turne away his wrath, lest he should destroy them.

24 Also they contemned that ^m pleasant land, and belieued not his word.

25 But murmured in their tents, and hearkened not unto the voyce of the Lord.

26 Therefore he lifted up his hand against them, to destroy them in the wilderness.

27 And to destroy their seed among the nations, and to scatter them throughout the countreys.

26 They mount vp to the heauen, and descend to the deepe, so that their soule melteth for reioice.

Psalm. CXIII.

This Psalm is composed of two other Psalmes before, the fowen and fiftieth and the sixtieth. The matter here contained is, 1 That David giueth himselfe with heart and voyce to praise the Lord, 7 And assureth himselfe of the promise of God concerning his kingdom ouer Israel, and his power against other nations: 11 Who though he seeme to forsake vs for a time yet he alone will in the end call downe our enemies.

1 I long or Psalme of Danto.

2 God, mine heart is prepared, so is my tongue: I will sing and giue praise.

3 Awake viol and harpe: I will awake early.

4 I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people, and I will sing vnto thee among the nations.

5 For thy mercy is great aboue the heauens, and thy truth vnto the clouds.

6 Great thy deede, O God, aboue the heauens, and let thy glorie bee vpon all the earth.

10 Moab shall be my washpott: ouer Edom will I cast out my shoe: vpon Palestina will I triumph.

11 Who will leade me into the strong citie: who will bring me into Edom?

12 Wait not thou, O God which haddest forsaken vs, and didst not goe forth, O God with our armies?

18 And the fire was kindled in their assembly: the flame burnt vp the wicked.
19 They made a calfe in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image.
20 Thus they turned their^k glorie into the similitude of a bullocke, that eateth graile.
21 They forgate God their Saviour which had done great things in Egypt,
22 Wonderous workes in the land of Ham, and fearefull things by the red Sea.
23 Therefore he minded to destroy them, had not Moyses his chiefe stood in the breach before him to turne away his wrath, lest he should destroy them.
24 Also they contemned that^m pleasant land, and beleued not his word, 25 But murmured in their tents, and hearkened not vnto the voyce of the Lord.
26 Thereforeⁿ he lifted vp his hand against them, to destroy them in the wilderness.
27 And to destroy their seed among the nations: and to scatter them throughout the countreys.
28 They toynd themselves also vnto^o Baal peoz, and did eate the offerings of the dead.
29 Thus they prouoked him vnto anger with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.
30 But^p Phinias stood vp, and executed iudgement, and the plague was stayed.
31 * And it was^q imputed vnto him for righteousness from generation to generation for cure.
32 They angered him also at the waters of^r Meribah, so that^s Moyses was punished for their sakes, 33 Because they bereed his spirit, so that he spake vnadvisedly with his lips.
34 Neither destroyed they the people, as the Lord had commanded them, 35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their workes, 36 And serued their idoles, which were their ruine.
37 Yea, they offered their^t sonnes, and their daughters vnto deuils, 38 And shed innocent blood, euen the blood of their sonnes, & of their daughters, whom they offered vnto the idoles of Canaan, and the land was defiled with blood.
39 Thus were they stained with their owne workes, and went a^x whooring with their owne inuentions.
40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and he abhorred his owne inheritance.
41 And he gaue them into the hand of the heathen: & they that hated them, were lords ouer them.
42 Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand.

43 Many a time did he deliuer them, y^t The prophet but they prouoked him by their counsels: sheweth that therefore they were brought downe by their iniquitie.
44 Yet he saw when they were in affliction, and he heard their cry.
45 And he remembered his covenant toward them, and^z repented according to the multitude of his mercies, 46 And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them that led them captiues.
47 Saue vs, O Lord our God, and^a gather vs from among the heathen, that we may praise thine holy name, and glory in thy praise.
48 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer, and let all the people say. So be it. Praise ye the Lord.
a Gather thy Church which is dispersed, and vnder the crosse, that with one consent we may all praise thee.

PSAL. CVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all those that are redeemed by the Lord, & gathered vnto him to give thanks for this mercifull prouidence of God governing all things at his good pleasure, 20 sending good and euill, prosperitie and aduersitie to bring men vnto him, 42 Therefore as the righteous thereto reioyce, so shall the wicked haue their mouthes stopped.

Praise^a the Lord, because hee is good: for his mercy endureth for euer.
2 Let them^b which haue bene redeemed of^c the Lord, shew how he hath deliuered them from the hand of the oppressour.
3 And gathered them out of the landes, from the East and from the West, from the North, and from the^d South.
4 When they wandered in the desert, and wilderness out of the way, and found no city to dwell in,
5^e Both hungry and thirsty, their soules fainted in them.
6 Then they cryed vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse.

without a cause.

4 For my friendship they were mine aduersaries, but I gaue my selfe to prayer.

5 And they haue rewarded mee euill for good, and hatred for my friendship.

6 Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let the aduersarie stand at his right hand.

7 When he shall be iudged, let him bee condemned, and let his prayer bee turned into sinne.

8 Let his dayes be few, and let another take his charge.

9 Let his children be fatherlesse, and his wife a widow.

10 Let his children bee vagabonds and begge and seeke bread, comming out of their places destroyed.

11 Let the extortioner catch all that hee hath, and let the stranger spoyle his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercy vnto him, neither let there be any to shew mercie vpon his fatherlesse children.

13 Let his posteritie be destroyed, and in the generation following let their name bee put out.

14 Let the iniquitie of his fathers bee had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the sinne of his mother bee done away.

15 But let them alway be before the Lord that he may cut off their memoriall from the earth.

16 Because hee remembered not to shew mercie, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorrowfull hearted, to slay him.

17 As he loued cursing, so shall it come vnto him, and as he loued not blessing, so shall it be farre from him.

18 As hee clothed himselfe with cursing like a raiment, so shall it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones.

19 Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle, wherewith he shall be alway girted.

20 Let this be the reward of mine aduersarie from the Lord, and of thum, that speake euill against my soule.

21 But thou, O Lord my God: deale with me according to thy name: deliuer him. h Hee sheweth that God accustometh to plague them after a strange sort, that shew themselves cruell toward other. i Thus giueth the Lord to euery man the thing wherein hee delighteth, that the reprobate cannot accuse God of wrong, when they are giuen vp to their lust, and reprobate minds. k For being destitute of mans helpe, he fully trusteth in the Lord, that he would deliuer him. l As thou art named merciful gracious and long suffering, so, shew thy selfe in affliction.

a The Prophet declareth that he will praise God both privately and openly, and that from the heart, as be that consecrath himself wholly and onely vnto God.

b He sheweth that Gods works are a sufficient cause wherefore we should praise him, but chiefly his benefits toward his church.

c God hath giuen to his people all that was necessary for them, and will doe still euen for his covenants sake: and in this sense the Hebrew word is taken,

PSAL. CXIII.

1 An exhortation to praise the Lord for his providence. 7 In that that contrary to the course of nature he worketh in his Church.

Praise ye the Lord.
Praise ye servants of the Lord, praise the Name of the Lord.

2 Blessed be the Name of the Lord, from henceforth and for euer.

3 The Lords Name is prayed from the rising of the Sunne, vnto the going downe of the same.

4 The Lord is high above all nations, and his glory about the heauens.

5 Who is like vnto the Lord our God, that hath his dwelling on high!

6 Who abaseth himselfe to behold things in the heauen and in the earth.

7 Hee raiseth the needy out of the dust, and lifteth vp the poore out of the dung,

8 That he may set him with the princes, euen with the Princes of his people.

9 He maketh the barren woman to dwindle into a family, and a tofull mother of children. Praise ye the Lord.

3 The sea law it and fled: Iordan was turned backe.

4 The mountaines leaped like rams, and the hills as Lambes.

5 What ailed thee, O sea, that thou fleddest? Iordan, why wast thou turned backe?

6 Doe mountaines, why leaped ye like rams, and ye hills as lambes?

7 The earth trembled at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Iacob.

C H E T H.

57 O Lord, that are my portion, I haue determined to keepe thy wordes.

58 I made my supplication in thy presence with my whole heart: be mercifull vnto me according to thy promise.

59 I haue considered my wayes, and turned my feete into thy testimonies.

60 I made haste, and delayed not to keepe thy commandments.

61 The bands of the wicked haue troubled me: but I haue not forgotten thy Law.

62 At midnight wil I rise to giue thanks vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.

63 I am a companion of all them that feare thee, and keepe thy precepts.

64 The earth, O Lord, is full of thy mercie: teach me thy statutes.

a I am perswaded that to keepe thy law is an heritage and great gain for me.
b He sheweth that none can embrace the word of God, except he consider his owne imperfections and wayes.
c They haue gone about to draw mee into their company.
d Not onely in mutuall content but also with ayde and succour. e For the knowledge of Gods word is a singular token of his fauour.

T E T H.

65 O Lord, thou hast dealt graciously with thy seruant according vnto thy word.

66 Teach mee good iudgement & knowledge: for I haue defected thy commandments.

67 Before I was afflicted, I went astray: but now I keepe thy word.

68 Thou art good and gracious: teach me thy statutes.

69 The proud haue imagined a lie against mee: but I will keepe thy precepts with my whole heart.

a Having proued by experience that God was true in his promise, he desireth that hee would increase in him knowledge and iudgement.
b So Ieremie saith that before the Lord touched him, hee a Because God leaueth not his worke that he hath begun, he desireth a new grace, that is, that he would continue his mercies.

b When God sheweth his grace toward any, he forsaketh to others, that he saileth not them that trust in him.

c Ebr. in truth, c. He declareth that when hee felt not Gods mercies, he was as dead.

d That is, bee comforted by mine example.

e He sheweth that there can bee no true feare of God without the knowledge of his word.

C A P H.

a Though my strength faile me, yet my soule groweth and ligheth, resting still in thy word.

b Like a skin-bottle or bladder that is parched in the smoke.

c How long wilt thou afflict thy seruant?

d They haue not onely oppressed the earth: but I persecuted me violently, but also craftily conspired against thy mee.

e He assureth himselfe that God will deliuer his, and destroy such as vnjustly persecuted them.

L A M E D.

d Because none should esteeme Gods word, according to the changes of things in this world, he sheweth that it abideth in heauen, and therefore is immutable.

b Seeing the earth and all creatures remaine in that state, wherein thou hast created them, much more thy truth remaineth constant and vnable to changeable, 73 Thine hands haue made me and fashioned mee: giue me vnderstanding therefore, that I may learne thy Commandements.

74 So they that feare thee, seeking mee, shall reioyce, because I haue trusted in thy word.

75 I know, O Lord, that thy iudgments are right, and that thou hast afflicted mee justly.

76 I pray thee that thy mercie may comfort mee according to thy promise vnto thy seruant.

77 Let thy tender mercies come vnto mee, that I may liue for thy Law is my delight.

78 Let the proude bee ashamed: for they haue dealt wickedly, and falsely with mee: but I meditate in thy precepts.

79 Let such as feare thee, turne vnto mee: and they that know thy testimonies.

80 Let mine heart bee by sight in thy statutes, that I be not ashamed.

83 For I am like a bottle in the smoke, yet doe I not forget thy statutes.

84 How many are the dayes of thy seruant? When wilt thou execute iudgement on them that persecute mee?

85 The proude haue digged pits for mee, which is not after thy law.

86 All thy commandements are true: they persecute mee falsly: c helps me.

87 They haue almost consumed me vpon the earth: but I forsake not thy precepts.

88 Quicken mee according to thy louing kinde: so shall I keepe the testimonie of thy mouth.

89 O Lord, thy word endureth for euer in heauen.

90 Thy truth is from generation to generation: thou hast laide the foundation of the earth, and it abideth.

91 They continue euen to this day by thine ordinances: for all are thy seruants.

92 Except thy Law had bin my delight, I would not haue perished in mine affliction.

93 I will neuer forget thy precepts: for by them thou hast quickened me.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

1 This Psalm containeth the commendation of brotherly amitie among the seruants of God.

A song of degrees, or Psalm of Dauid.

Beholde, how good and how comely a thing it is, brethren to dwell euē together.

a That is, with how great difficultie he came to the kingdom, and with how great zeale and care he went about to build thy Temple. b Because the chiefe charge of the king was to see forth Gods glory, he sheweth, that he could take no rest, neither would hee be about any worldly thing, were it neuer so necessarie, before hee had executed his office. c That is, the Arke, which was a signe of Gods presence. d The common brute was that the Arke should remaine in Bethlehem a plentiful place: but after, we perceived that thou wouldst place it in Ierusalem, which was barren as a Forrest, and compassed about only with hilles. e That is, Ierusalem, because that afterward his Arke should remoue to none other place. f Let the effect of thy grace both appeare in the priests and in the people. g As thou hast made promise to Dauid, so continue it to his posterity, that whatsoever they shall aske for their people it may be granted. h Because this cannot be accomplished but in Christ, it followeth that the promise was spirituall. i Meaning, for his owne sake, and not for the plentifullesse of the place: for he promised to blisse it, declaring before, that it was barren. k That is, with my protection, whereby they shall be safe. l Though his force for a time seemed to be broken, yet hee promised to restore it.

a Because the greatest part were against David, though some fauoured him, yet when he was established king, at length they ioyed altogether like brethren, and therefore he sheweth by these similitudes the commodity of brotherly loue. b The oymnt was a figure of the graces, which come from Christ the head vnto his Church. c By Hermon and Zion he meaneth the plentiful countrey about Ierusalem.

2 It is like to the precious^b oymnt vpon the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, euen vnto Aarons beard, which went downe on the border of his garments;

3 And as the Dewe of Hermon, which falleth vpon the mountaines of Zion: for there the Lord appointed the blessing, and life for euer.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

1 He exhorteth the Leuites, watching in the Temple, to praise the Lord.

a Long of degrees.

Behold, praise ye the Lord, all ye seruants of the Lord, yet that by night stand in the house of the Lord.

2 Lift vp your^b hands to the Sanctuarie, and praise the Lord.

3 The Lord that hath made heauen and earth, bless thee out of Zion.

4 And therefore hath all power, blese thee with his fatherly loue declared in Zion. Thus the Leuites vied to praise the Lord, and blese the people.

PSAL. CXXXV.

1 He exhorteth all the faithful, of what estate soeuer they bee, to praise God for his marvellous workes, and especially for his graces toward his people, wherein he hath declared his maiestie, 15 to the confusion of all idolaters, and their idoles.

a Praise ye the Lord.

Praise the Name of the Lord: ye seruants of the Lord, praise him.

2 Wee that stand in the^a house of the Lord, and in the^b courts of the house of our God.

3 Praise ye the Lord: for the Lord is god: sing praises vnto his Name: for it is a comely thing.

4 For the Lord hath chosen Iakob to himselfe, and Israel for his chiefe treasure.

5 For I know that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is aboue all gods.

6 Whatsoeuer pleased the Lord, that did he in heauen and in earth, in the Sea, and in all the depths.

7 He bringeth vp the cloudes from the ends of the earth, and maketh the^a lightnings with the raine: he draweth forth the winde out of his treasures.

8 He smote the first borne of Egypt both of man and beast.

9 He hath sent tokens and wonders into the mids of the^a Egypt, vpon Pharaoh, and vpon all his seruants.

10 He smote many nations, and slew mighty kings:

11 As Sihon king of the Amorites, and Og king of Bashan, and all the kingdomes of Canaan.

12 And gaue their land for an inheritance, euen an inheritance vnto Israel his people.

13 Thy name, O Lord, endureth for euer: O Lord, thy remembrance is from generation to generation.

14 For the Lord will iudge his people, and be pacified towards his seruants.

15 The idoles of the heathen are siluer and gold, euen the worke of mens hands.

16 They haue a mouth, and speake not, they haue eyes and see not.

17 They haue eares and heare not, neither is there any breath in their mouth.

18 They that make them are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them.

19 Praise the Lord ye house of Israel, praise the Lord, ye house of Aaron.

20 Praise the Lord, ye house of Levi: yet that feare the Lord, praise the Lord.

21 Praised be the Lord out of Zion, which dwelleth in Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXXXVI.

1 A most earnest exhortation to giue thanks vnto God for the creation and governance of all things, which standeth in confessing that hee giueth vs all of his mere liberaltie.

Praise ye the Lord, because he is good: for his^a mercy endureth for euer.

2 Praise ye the God of gods: for his mercy endureth for euer.

3 Praise ye the Lord of lords: for his mercy endureth for euer.

4 Which onely doth great wonders: for his mercy endureth for euer.

5 Which by his wise dome made the heauens: for his mercy endureth for euer.

6 Which hath stretched out the earth vpon the waters: for his^b mercy endureth for euer:

7 Which made great lights: for his mercy endureth for euer:

8 As the sunne to rule the day: for his mercy endureth for euer:

9 The moone and the starres to gouerne the night: for his mercy endureth for euer:

10 Which smote Egypt with their first borne: (for his mercy endureth for euer)

11 And brought out Israel from among them: (for his mercy endureth for euer)

12 Which a mighty hand and^a stretched out arme: for his mercy endureth for euer:

13 Which diuided the red Sea in two parts: for his mercy endureth for euer:

14 And made Israel to passe thorow the mides of it: for his mercy endureth for euer:

15 And ouerthrew Pharaoh and his host in the red Sea: for his mercy endureth for euer:

16 Which led his people thorow the^a wilderness: for his mercy endureth for euer:

17 Which smote great kings: for his mercy endureth for euer:

18 And slew^a mighty kings: for his mercy endureth for euer:

19 And hee hath sent tokens and wonders into the mids of the^a Egypt, vpon Pharaoh, and vpon all his seruants.

20 He smote many nations, and slew mighty kings:

21 As Sihon king of the Amorites, and Og king of Bashan, and all the kingdomes of Canaan.

22 And gaue their land for an inheritance, euen an inheritance vnto Israel his people.

f That is, gouerne & defend his people.
g By shewing what punishment God appointeth for the heathen idolaters, he warneth his people to beware the like offence, seeing that idoles haue neither power nor life, and that their deliuerance come not by idoles, but by the mighty power of God, reade Psal. 115. vers. 4.

a By this repetition he sheweth that the least of Gods benefits binde vs to thanksgiving: but chiefly his mercy which is principally declared towards his Church
b This was a common kinde of thanksgiving, which the whole people vied, when they had receiued any benefit of God, as 2 Chron. 7. 6. and 20. 21. meaning, that God was not onely mercifull to their fathers, but also continued the same to their posteritie.
c God, mercifull providence toward man appeareth in all his creatures, but chiefly in that that he deliuered his Church from the thraldome of their enemies.
d In doing such a worke as was neuer done before, nor that any other could doe.
e Where for the space of fortie yeeres he shewed infinite and most strange wonders.
f Declaring thereby that no power, nor authoritie was so deare vnto him, as the loue of his Church.

a Ye that are Leuites and chiefly appointed to this office.
b For their charge was not onely to keepe the Temple, but to pray there, and to giue God thanks. c And therefore hath all power, blese thee with his fatherly loue declared in Zion. Thus the Leuites vied to praise the Lord, and blese the people.

a Ye Leuites that are in his Sanctuary.
b Meaning the people: for the people and Leuites had their courts, which were places of the Temple separate.
c That is, hath freely loued the posteritie of Abraham.
d Heroyne Gods power with his will, to the intent that we should not separate them: and hereby he willett Gods people to depend on his power, which he confirmeth by examples.
Iere. 10. 13.

Exod. 12. 29. Num. 21. 24, 34. e He sheweth what fruit the godly conceiue of Gods power, whereby they see how he destroyeth his enemies, and deliuereth his people.

g In our greatest affliction and slauerie, when we looked for nothing lesse then to haue had any succour.
h Seeing y God provideth euen for the beastes, much more hath he care ouer his.
i Seeing that all ages haue had most plaine testimonies of Gods benefits.

19 As Sihon king of the Amorites: for his mercy endureth for euer:
20 And Og the king of Bashan: for his mercy endureth for euer:
21 And gaue their land for an heritage: for his mercy endureth for euer:
22 Euen an heritage vnto Israel his seruant: for his mercy endureth for euer:
23 Which remembered vs in our base estate: for his mercy endureth for euer.
24 And hath rescued vs from our oppressors: for his mercy endureth for euer.
25 Which giueth food to all flesh: for his mercy endureth for euer.
26 Praise ye the God of heauen: for his mercy endureth for euer.

1 The people of God in their banishment seeing Gods true religion decay, lined in great anguish and sorrow of heart: the which grieft the Caldeans did so little pity, 3 that they rather increased the same daily with taunts, reproches and blasphemies against God.
7 Wherefore the Israelites desire God, first to punish the Edomites, who provoked the Babylonians against them, 8 and moued by the Spirit of God, prophesie the destruction of Babylon, where they were handled so tyrannously.

2 By the riuers of Babel we sate, and there we wept, when we remembered Zion.

3 We hanged our harpes vpon the willowes in the mids thereof.

4 Then they that led vs captiues, required of vs songs and mirth, when we had hanged vp our harpes, saying, Sing vs one of the songs of Zion.

5 How shall we sing, said we, a song of the Lord in a strange land?

6 If I forget thee, O Ierusalem, let my right hand forget to play.

7 If I doe not remember thee, let my tongue cleaue to the roofof my mouth: yea, if I preferre not Ierusalem to my chiefe toy.

8 Remember the children of Edom, O Lord, in the day of Ierusalem, which said, Rake it, rake it to the foundation thereof.

9 O daughter of Babel, worthy to bee destroyed, blessed shall he be that rewardeth thee as thou hast serued vs.

10 Blessed shall hee bee that taketh and dalbeth thy childeyn against the stones.

11 The sorow of the Church is most grievous vnto them, and is such as they cannot but remember and lament. c The decay of Gods religion in their country was so grievous, that no ioy could make them glad, except it were restored. f According as Ezekiel 25. 13. and Ier 49. 7. verse prophesied: and Obadias verse 10. the we h that the Edomites, which came of Esau, conspired with the Babylonians against their brethren and kinsfolke. g When thou diddest visit Ierusalem. h He alludeth to Eiaies prophesie, Chap 13. & 16. verse promising good successe to Cyrus and Darius, whose ambition moued to fight against B. bylon: but God vsed them as his rods to punish his enemies.

1 David with great courage praised the goodness of God toward him, the which is so great, 4 that it is known to foraine princes, who shall praise the Lord together with him. 6 And hee is assured to haue like comfort of God in the time following, as hee hath had heretofore.

A Psalme of David.

1 I will praise thee with my whole heart: euen before the gods will I praise thee.

2 I will worship toward thine holy temple, and praise thy name, because of thy loving kindnesse and for thy truth: for thou hast magnified thy name about all things by thy word.

3 When I called, then thou heardest me, and hast increased strength in my soule.

4 All the kings of the earth shall praise thee, O Lord: for they haue heard the words of thy mouth.

5 And they shall sing of the wayes of the Lord, because the glory of the Lord is great.

6 For the Lord is high: yet he beholdeth the lowly, but the proud he knoweth afarre off.

7 Though I walke in the middes of trouble, yet wilt thou reuie me: thou wilt stretch forth thine hand vpon the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall saue me.

8 The Lord will performe his worke toward mee: O Lord, thy mercy endureth for euer: forsaake not the works of thine hands.

9 Distance of place cannot hinder God to shewe mercie to his, and to iudge the wicked, though they thinke that he is farre off. f Though mine enemies rage neuer so much, yet the Lord, which hath begun his worke in me, will continue his grace to the end.

10 Yet thither shall thine hand leade me, and thy right hand hold me.

11 If I say, Per the darkenesse shall hide me, euen the night shall be light about me.

12 Per, the darkenesse hideth not from thee: but the night shineth as the day: the darkenesse and light are both alike.

1 David complaineth of the cruelty, falshood and injuries of his enemies, 8 Against the which he prayeth vnto the Lord, and assureth himselfe of his helpe and succour. 12 Wherefore he prouoketh the iust to praise the Lord, & to assure themselves of his iustition.

C To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

Deliver me, O Lord, from the euill man: preserve me from the cruel man.

2 Which imagine euill things in their heart, and make ware continually.

3 They haue sharpened their tongues like a serpent: adders poison is vnder their lips. Selah.

4 Keepe mee, O Lord, from the hands of the wicked: preserve mee from the cruel man, which purpoiseth to cause my steps to slide.

5 The proud haue layd a snare for mee, and spread a net with cords in my pathway, and let grimes for me. Selah.

6 Therefore I said vnto the Lord, Thou art my God: heare, O Lord, the voyce of my prayers.

7 O Lord God the strength of my salvation, thou hast covered mine head in the day of battell.

8 Let not the wicked haue his desire, O Lord, performe not his wicked thought, lett they be proud. Selah.

9 As for the chiefe of them, that compass me about, let the mischief of their own lips come vpon them.

10 Let coales fall vpon them: let him cast them into the fire, and into the deepe pits that they rise not.

11 For the backslider shall not be established vpon the earth: euill shall hunt the cruel man to destruction.

3 Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, and keepe the doore of my lips.

4 Encline not mine heart to euill, that I should commit wicked works with men that worke iniquitie: and let me not eate of their delicacies.

5 Let the righteous sinke mee: for that is a benefite: and let him reprove me, and it shall bee a precious oyle, that shall not breake mine head: for with in a while I shall euill pray in their miseries.

6 When their Iudges shall be cast downe from their places, they shall heare my words, for they are true.

7 Our bones lie scattered at the graues mouth, as he that beweth wood, or diggeth in the earth.

8 But mine eyes looke vnto thee, O Lord God: in thee is my trust: leave not my soule destitute.

9 Keepe mee from the snare, which they haue layd for mee, and from the grimes of the workers of iniquity.

10 Let the wicked fall into his nets together, whilst I escape.

PSAL. CXLII.

1 The Prophet neither afflicted with feare, nor carried away with anger, nor forced by desperation, would kill Saul; but with a quiet minde directed his earnest prayer to God, who did preserve him.

2 A Psalm of David to give instruction, and a prayer when he was in the cave.

I Cried vnto the Lord with my voice; with my voice I prayed vnto the Lord.

3 I powred out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence.

4 Though my spirit was in perplexity in me, yet thou knowest my path: in the way wherein I walked, haue they pitifully laid a snare for me.

5 I looked vpon my right hand, and beheld, but there was none that would know me: all refuge failed mee: and none cared for my soule.

6 Then cryed I vnto thee, O Lord, and said, Thou art mine hope, and my portion in the land of the liuing.

7 Harken vnto my cry, for I am brought very low: deliuer me from my persecuters, for they are too strong for me.

8 Bring my soule out of prison, that I may praise thy Name: then shall the righteous come about me, when thou art beneficiall vnto me.

PSAL. CXLI.

1 An earnest prayer for the remission of finnes, acknowledging that the enemies did thus cruelly persecute him by Gods iust iudgement. 2 He desireth to be restored to grace. 3 To be governed by his holy Spirit, that he may spend the remnant of his life in the true feare and seruice of God.

A Psalm of David.

Hearke my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my supplication: and neuer mee in thy truth, and in thy righteousness.

2 (And enter not into iudgement with thy seruant: for in thy sight shall none that liueth be iustificed.)

3 For the enemy hath persecuted my soule, he hath smitten my life downe to the earth: he hath laide me in the darknesse, as they that haue bene dead long agoe:

4 And my spirit was in perplexity in me, and mine heart within me was amazed.

5 Yet doe I remember the time past: I meditate in all my workes, yea, I doe meditate in the works of thine hands.

6 I stretch forth mine handes vnto thee my soule desireth after thee, as the thiristie land. Selah.

7 Heare me speedily O Lord, for my spirit faileth: hide not thy face from mee, else I shall be like vnto them that goe downe into the pit.

8 Let mee heare thy louing kindnesse in the morning, for in thee is my trust: shew me the way that I should walke in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee.

9 Deliuer me, O Lord, from mine enemies: for I hid me with thee.

10 Teach me to doe thy will: for thou art my God: let thy good spirit leade me vnto the land of righteousness.

11 Quicken me, O Lord, for thy Names sake, and for thy righteousness bring my soule out of trouble.

12 And for thy mercie slay mine enemies, and destroy all them that oppresse my soule: for I am thy seruant.

f Though wicked kings, he called Gods seruants, as Cyrus, Isa. 45. 1. forasmuch as he vseth them to execute his iudgements, yet David because of Gods promise, and they that rule godly, are properly so called because they serue not their owne affections, but set forth Gods glory.

k He desireth God to continue his benefites toward his people, counting the procreation of children and their good education among the chiefest of Gods benefites. l That the very corners of our houses may be full of store for the great abundance of thy blessings. m Hee attributesh not onely the great commodities, but even the least also to Gods fauour. n And if God giue not to all his children all these blessings, yet he recompenseth them with better things.

P S A L. CXLV.

This Psalm was composed, when the kingdom of David flourished. 1 Wherein he describeth the wonderful prouidence of God aswell in gouerning man, as in preserving all the rest of his creatures. 17 He praiseth God for his iustice and mercy. 18 But specially for his loving kindnesse toward those that call upon him, that feare him, and loue him: 21 For the which he promisseth to praise him for euer.

A Psalm of David of praise.

O my God, and King, I will extoll thee, and will blesse thy Name for euer and euer.

2 I will blesse thee dayly, and praise thy Name for euer and euer.

3 Great is the Lord, and most worthy to be praised, and his greatnesse is incomprehensible.

4 Generation shall praise thy workes vnto generation, and declare thy power.

5 I will meditate of the beauty of thy glorious Name, and thy wonderfull workes.

6 And they shall speake of the power of thy fearefull actes, and I will declare thy greatnesse.

7 They shall breake out into the mention of thy great goodnesse, and shall sing aloud of thy righteousness.

8 The Lord is gracious and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great mercy.

9 The Lord is good to all, and his mercies, are our all his workes.

10 All thy workes praise thee, O Lord, and thy Saints blesse thee.

a He sheweth what sacrifices are pleasant and acceptable vnto God: euen praise and thanksgiving, and seeing that God still continueth his benefites towards vs, we ought neuer to be weary in praising him for the same. b Hereby he declareth that all power is subiect vnto God, and that no worldly promotion ought to obscure Gods glory. c Forasmuch as the end of mans creation, and of his preferatiō in this life, is to praise God, therefore he requireth that not onely we our selues doe this, but cause all other to doe it the same. d Of thy terrible iudgements against the wicked. Exod. 34. 6. e He describeth after what sort God sheweth himselfe to all his creatures, though our finnes haue prouoked his vengeance against all: to wit, mercifull, not only in pardoning the finnes of his elect, but in doing good euen to the reprobate, albeit they cannot feelee the sweet comfort of the same.

11 They shew the glory of thy kingdom, and speake of thy power, 12 To cause his power to be knowne to the sonnes of men, & the glorious renowne of his kingdom.

13 Thy Kingdom is an euerlasting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth throughout all ages.

14 The Lord byholdeth all that fall, and lifeth vp all that are ready to fall.

15 The eyes of all waite vpon thee, and thou giest them their meate in due season.

16 Thou openest thine hand and fillest all things with thy good pleasure.

17 The Lord is righteous in all his wayes, and holy in all his workes.

18 The Lord is neare vnto all that call vpon him: yea, to all that call vpon him in earnest.

19 He will fulfil the desire of them that feare him: hee also will heare their cry, and will saue them.

20 The Lord preferreth all them that loue him: but he will destroy all the wicked.

21 By mouth shall speake the praise of the Lord, and all flesh shall blesse his holy Name for euer and euer.

in heaven, and suffer themselves to be gouerned by him. i To wit, aswell of man as of beast. k He praiseth God not onely for that he is beneficiall to all his creatures, but also in that that he iustly punisheth the wicked, and mercifully examineth his by the crosse, giuing them strength, and deliuering them. l Which onely appertaineth to the faithfull: and this vertue is contrary to inuidie, doubting, impatientie, and murmuring. m For they will aske or wish for nothing, but according to his will. n. Iohn 5. 14. n That is, all men shall be bound to praise him.

David declareth his great zeale that he hath to praise God, 3 and teacheth not to trust in man, but onely in God almighty, 7 which deliuereth the afflicted, 9 defendeth the stranger, & fortheth the fatherlesse, and the widowes, 10 and reigneth for euer.

A Psalm of the Lord.

Praise thou the Lord, O my soule.

2 I will praise the Lord during my life: as long as I haue any being, I will sing vnto my God.

3 But not your trust in princes, nor in the sonne of man, for there is no helpe in him.

4 His breath departeth, and he returneth to his earth: then his thoughts perish.

5 Blessed is he, that hath the God of Iacob for his helpe, whose hope is in the Lord his God.

6 Which made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that therein is: which keepeth his fidelitie for euer.

7 Which erreth not in iustice: for the oppressed, which giueth bread to the hungry: the Lord loosed the prisoners.

PSAL. CXLVII.

1 The Prophet praifeth the bounty, wisdom power, iustice, & prouidence of God upon all his creatures 2 But specially vpon his Church, which he gathereth together after their disorder. 19 Declaring his word and iudgement so vnto them, as he hath done to none other people.

Praise ye the Lord, for it is good to sing vnto our God: for it is a pleasant thing, and praise is comely.

2 The Lord doeth build vp Jerusalem, and gather together the dispersed of Israel.

3 Hee healeth those that are broken in heart, and bindeth vp their sores.

4 He counteth the number of the stars, and calleth them all by their names.

5 Great is our Lord, and great is his power: his wisdom is infinite.

6 The Lord reuerceth the make, and abaleth the wicked to the ground.

7 Sing vnto the Lord with praise: sing vpon the harpe vnto our God.

8 Which couereth the heauen with cloudes, and prepareth rafine for the earth, and maketh the grass to growe vpon the mountaines:

9 Which giueth to beasts their food, and to the young rauen the crye.

10 He hath not pleasure in the strength of an horse, neither delighteth hee in the legs of man.

11 But the Lord delighted in them that feare him, and ascend vpon his mercy.

12 Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem: praise thy God, O Zion.

13 For hee hath made the barres of thy gates strong, and hath blessed thy children within ther.

14 He setteth peace in thy borders, and satisfieth thee with the flower of wheat.

15 He sendeth forth his commandement vpon earth, and his word runneth very swiftly.

16 Hee giueth snow like wooll, and scattereth the hoare frost like ashes.

17 He casteth forth his pee like moyses: who can abide the cold thereof?

a He sheweth wherein wee ought to exercise our selues continually, and to take our pastime: to wit, in praising God. b Because the Lord is the founder of this Church, it cannot be destroyed, though the members thereof be dispersed, and seeme as if it were for a time to be cut of. c With affliction, or sorrow for sinne. d Though it seem to man incredible that God should assemble his Church, being so dispersed, yet nothing can be too hard for him, that can number and name all the stars. e For the more high is the wicked climb, the greater is their fall in the end. f He sheweth by the examples of Gods mighty power, goodnes and wisdom, that we can neuer want most iust occasion to praise God. g For their crying is as it were a confession of their need, which cannot be relieved, but by God onely: then if God shew himselfe mindefull of the most contemptible soules, can hee offer them to die with famine, whom he hath assured of life euerslasting? h Thought to vse lawfull meanes is both profitable and pleaseeth God, yet to put our trust in them, is to defraud God of his honour. i Hee doeth not onely furnish his Church with all things necessarie, but preferueth also the same, and maketh it strong against all outward force. k His secret working in all creatures is as a commandement to keepe them in order, and to giue them mouing and force. l For immediately and without resisting all things obey him.

18 Hee sendeth his word and melteth them: hee causeth his winde to blowe, and the waters flow.

19 He sheweth his word vnto Iacob, his statutes and his iudgements vnto Israel.

20 Hee hath not dealt so with euery nation, neither haue they knowne his iudgements. Praise ye the Lord.

he hath left to his Church, as a most precious treasure. n The cause of this difference, is Gods free mercy, which hath elected him in his Sonne Christ Iesus to saluation: and his iust iudgement, whereby he hath appointed the reprobate to eternall damnation.

PSAL. CXLVIII.

1 He prouoketh all creatures to praise the Lord in heauen & earth & all places. 14 Specially his Church for the power that he hath giuen to the same after that he had chosen them and signed them vnto him.

Praise ye the Lord, for it is good to sing vnto our God: for it is a pleasant thing, and praise is comely.

2 Praise ye him, all ye his Angels: praise him all his army.

3 Praise ye him, Sunne and Moone: praise ye him all bright starrs.

4 Praise ye him, heauens of heauens, and waters, that be aboute the heauens.

5 Let them praise the name of the Lord: for he commanded, and they were created.

6 And he hath established them for euer and euer: he hath made an ordinance which shall not passe.

7 Praise ye the Lord from the earth, ye dragons and all depths:

8 Fire and helle, snowe and vapours, stormie winde, which execute his word:

9 Mountaines and all hilles, fruitfull trees and all cedars:

10 Beasts and all catel, creeping things and feathered fowles:

11 Kings of the earth and all people, princes and all iudges of the world:

12 Young men and maidens, also old men and children:

13 Let them praise the name of the Lord: for his name onely is to be reuered, and his praise aboue the earth and the heauens.

14 For he hath created the home of his people, which is a praise for all his Saints, whole heauen, euen for the children of Israel, a people that is decreed vnto him. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXLIX.

1 An exhortation to the Church to praise the Lord for his victorie and conquest that hee giueth his Saints against all man's power.

Sing ye vnto the Lord a new song: let his praise bee heard in the Congregation of Saints.

As before he called Gods secret working in all his creatures his word: so he meaneth here, by his word, the doctrine of life euerslasting, which he hath left to his Church, as a most precious treasure. n The cause of this difference, is Gods free mercy, which hath elected him in his Sonne Christ Iesus to saluation: and his iust iudgement, whereby he hath appointed the reprobate to eternall damnation.

a Because they are members of the same body he setteth them before our eyes, which are most willing hereunto, and by their prompt obedience, teach vs to doe our dutie. b In that Gods glory shineth in these insensible creatures, this their beauty is as a continual praising of God. c Not that there are diuers heuens: but because of the spheres & of the situation of the fixed stars and planets he comprehendeth by this word the whole heauen. d That is, the raine which is in the middle region of the aire, which here he comprehendeth vnder the name of the heuens. e Meaning the great and monstrous fishes, as whales and such like. f Which come not by chance or fortune, but by Gods appointed ordinance. g For the greater gifts that any hath received, and the more high that one is preferred, the more bound is he to praise God for the same: but neither his nor low condition or degree can be exempted from this duty. h That is, the dignitie power and glory of his Church. i By reason of his covenant made with Abraham.

a For his rare and manifold benefites bestowed on his Church

b In that that they were preferred before all other nations, it was as a new creation, and therefore Psal. 95. 7. they were called the sheepe of Gods hands. c For God as he is the Creator of the soule and body, so will hee that both two serue him, and that his people be continually subiect vnto him as to their most lawfull King. d He alludeth to that continuall rest and quietnesse, which they should haue, if they would suffer God to rule them. e This is chiefly accomplished in the kingdome of Christ, when Gods people for iust causes execute Gods iudgements against his enemies: and it giueth no libertie to any to reuenge their priuate iniuries. f Not onely the people, but the kings that were their enemies, should be destroyed. g Hereby God bindeth the hands and mindes of all his to enterprize no further then he appointeth.

2 Let Israel reioyce in him that made him, and let the children of Zion reioyce in their King.

3 Let them praise his Name with the flute: let them sing praises vnto him with the timbrell and harpe.

4 For the Lord hath pleasure in his people: he will make the meeke glorious by deliverance.

5 Let thy Saints bee ioyfull with glory: let them sing loud vpon their beds.

6 Let the high actes of God be in their mouth, and a two edged sword in their hands.

7 To execute vengeance vpon the heathen, and corrections among the people.

8 To binde the ierikings in chaines, and their nobles with fetters of yron.

9 That they may execute vpon them the iudgement that is written: this honour shall be to al his Saints. Praise ye the Lord.

1 An exhortation to praise the Lord without ceasse by all manner of wayes, for all his mighty and wonderfull workes.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

Praise ye God in his Sanctuarie: praise ye him in the firmament of his power. 2 Praise ye him in his mighty Actes: praise ye him according to his excellent greatness.

3 Praise ye him in the sound of the trumpet: praise ye him vpon the viole and the harpe.

4 Praise ye him with timbrell and flute: praise ye him with virginals and organs.

5 Praise ye him with sounding cymbals: praise ye him with high sounding cymbals.

6 Let euery thing that hath breath praise the Lord. Praise ye the Lord.

a That is, in the heauen. b For his wonderful power appeareth in the firmament, which in Ebrewis called a stretching out or spreading abroad, wherein the mighty work of God shineth. c Exhorting the people onely to reioyce in praising God, he maketh mention of those instruments, which by Gods commandement were appointed in the old Law, but vnder Christ the vse thereof is abolished in the Church. d He sheweth that al the order of nature is bound to this duty, and much more Gods children, who ought neuer to cease to praise him, til they be gathered into that kingdome which he hath prepared for his, wherethey shall sing euermolting praise.

*This word, Prouerbe, or parable signifieth a graue and notable sentence, worthy to be kept in memory and is sometime taken in the euill part for a mock or scotte.

¶ The *Prouerbs of Salomon.

THE ARGVMENT.

THE wonderful loue of God toward his Church is declared in this booke: forasmuch as the sum and effect of the whole Scriptures is here set forth in these briefe sentences, which partly containe doctrine and partly maners, and also exhortations to both. Whereof the nine first Chapters are as a prefacefull of graue sentences, and deepe mysteries, to allure the hearts of men to the diligent reading of the parables that follow: which are left as a most precious iewel to the Church of those threethousand parables mentioned. 1. King. 4. 32, and were gathered, and committed to writing by Salomons seruants, and indited by him.

CHAP. I.

1 The power and vse of the word of God. 7 Of the feare of God and knowledge of his word. 10 We may not consent to the ensifings of sinners. 20 Wisdome complaineth that she is contemned. 24 The punishment of him that contemne her.

¶ The Parables of Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israel.

2 To knowe wisdom, and instruction, to vnderstand the words of knowledge.

3 To receiue instruction, to doe wisely, by iustice and iudgement and equitie.

4 To giue vnto the simple tharpnesse of wit, and to the childe knowledge and instruction.

5 A wise man shall heare and increase in learning: and a man of vnderstanding shall attaine vnto wise counsels.

a That is, what we ought to know & follow, and what we ought to refuse. b Meaning the word of God, wherein is the only true knowledge. c To learne to submit ourselues to the correction of those that are wise. d By liuing iustly, and rendring to euery man that which appertaineth vnto him. e To such as haue no discretion to rule themselves. f As he sheweth that these parables, containing the effect of Religion as touching maners and doctrine, doe appertaine to the simple people, so doeth he declare, that the same is also necessary for them that are wise and learned.

6 To vnderstand a parable, and the interpretation, the words of the wise, and their darke sayings.

7 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles despise wisdom and instruction.

8 By some, heare thy fathers instruction, and forsake not thy mothers teaching.

9 For they shall be a comely ornament vnto thine head, and as chaines for thy necke.

10 By some, if sinners doe entice thee, consent thou not.

11 If they say, Come with vs, we will lay wait for blood, and lie in wait for the innocent without a cause:

12 We will swallow them by as a lion like a graue euen without, as those that goe downe into the pit:

13 Thou shalt finde at precious riches, and fill our houses with spoyle.

*Ebr. increase of grace. i To wit, the wicked, which haue not the feare of God. k He speaketh not onely of the shedding of blood with hand, but of all crafty practises, which tend to the detriment of our neighbour. l As the graue is neuer satiate, so the auarice of the wicked and their cruelty hath none end.

m Heweth whereby the wicked are allured to ioyne together, because they haue eury one part of the spoile of the innocent.

n That is, haue nothing at all to doe with them.
o He sheweth that there is no cause to moue these wicked to spoile the innocent, but their auarice & cruelty.
p Whereby hee concludeth that the couetous man is a murderer.

q This wisdom is the eternall word of God.
r So that none can pretend ignorance.
s Wisdom re. prooueth three kinds of men: the foolish or simple, which erre of ignorance, and the mockers that cannot suffer to be taught, and the fooles which are drowned in worldly lusts, and hate the knowledge of godlinesse.

t This is spoken according to our capacity, signifying that the wicked which mocke and iest at Gods word, shall haue the iust reward of their mocking.
u That is, your destruction, which thing you feared.
x Because they fought not with an affliction to God, but for ease of their owne griefe.
y Shewing, that without faith and obedience wee cannot call vpon God aught.
z They shall feele what commodity their wicked life shall giue them.
a That is, the prosperity and sensuality wherein they delight.

a That is, keepe them in thine heart.
b If thou giue that, I will be thy father.
c We knowe ge. at 28. man. at 28. man.

14 Cast in thy lot among vs: we will all haue one^m purse.

15 My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: restraîne thy foote from theirⁿ path.

16 For their feete run to euill, and make haste to shed blood.

17 Certainly as without cause the net is spread before the eyes of all that hath thing:

18 So they lay wait for blood, and lie in wait for^o their liues.

19 Such are the wayes of euery one that is greedy of gaine: hee would take away the life of the owners thereof.

20 ¶ Wisdom crieth without: she vttereth her voice in the^p streets.

21 Shee calleth in the hie freete, among the pleale in the entrings of the gates, and vttereth her words in the city, saying,

22 O ye^q foolish, how long wil ye loue foolishnes: and the come full take their pleasure in learning: and the fooles haue knowledge?

23 (Turne you at my correction: loe, I will pouce out my munde vnto you, and inake you vnderstand my wordes.)

24 Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, and none would regard.

25 But ye haue despised all my counsell, and would none of my correction.

26 I will also^r laugh at your destruction, and mocke when your feare cometh.

27 When^s your feare cometh like sudden delouation, & your destruction shall come like a whetstone: when affliction and angust shall come vpon you,

28 Then shall they call vpon me, but I will not answere: they shall seeke mee early, but they shall not^t finde me, 29 Because they haue despised knowledge, and did not chuse the feare of the Lord.

30 They would none of my counsell: but ye despised all my correction.

31 Therefore shall they eate of the^u fruit of their owne way, and bee filled with their owne deuises.

32 For^v cast: slaueth the foolish, and the prosperity of fooles deli. opeth them.

33 But hee that obepeth me, shall dwell safely, and bee quiet from feare of euill.

5 Then shalt thou vnderstand the feare of the Lord, & finde the^d knowledge of God.

6 For the Lord giueth wisdom, out of his mouth cometh knowledge and vnderstanding.

7 He^e preferreth^f y^e state of the righteous, he is a shield to them that walke vprightly,

8 That they may keepe the wayes of iudgement: and he preferreth the way of his Saints.)

9 Then shalt thou vnderstand righteousness, and iudgement, and equity, and euery good path.

10 ¶ When wisdom entereth into thine heart, and knowledge delighteth thy soule, e By this parable comprehendeth the whole body, as by health he meaneth all the benefits promised in the Law both corporall and spirituall. f As was commanded in the Law, Exod. 23. 19 Deut. 26. 2. and by this, they acknowledged that God was the giuer of all things, and that they were ready to bestow all at his commandement.

g For to the faithful distributor, God giueth in greater abundance. Hebr. 12. 5. ruel. 3. 19.

h Meaning, that hee that seeketh wisdom, that is, subiecteth himselfe to be gouerned by the word of God, shall haue all prosperitie both corporall and spirituall. i Which bringeth forth such fruit, that they that eate thereof, haue life: and he alludeth to the tree of life in Paradise. k Herby hee sheweth that this wisdom, whereof hee speaketh, is euertlasting, because it was befor al creatures, & that al things, euen the whole world were made by it. || Or, throughe, reade chap. 1. 9. l For when God destroyeth the wicked, he will saue his, as he did Lot in Sodome. m Not onely from them to whom the possession belougeth, but also thou shalt not keepe it from them, which haue neede of the vse thereof. n That is, proueeth his trust in thee,

4 So shalt thou find fauour and god in derstanding in the sight of God and man.

5 Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wisdom.

6 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy wayes.

7 Be not wise in thine owne eyes; but feare the Lord and depart from euill.

8 So health shall be vnto thy nauill, and marrow vnto thy bones.

9 Honour the Lord with thy riches, and with the first frutes of all thine increase.

10 So shall thy barnes bee filled with abundance, and thy presses shall be burst with new wine.

11 By sonne, refuse not the chastening of the Lord, neither be grieved with his correction.

12 For the Lord correcteth him, whom he loueth, euen as the father doeth the child in whom he delighteth.

13 Blessed is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth vnderstanding.

14 For the merchandise thereof is better then the merchandise of siluer, and the gaine thereof is better then gold.

15 It is more precious then pearles: and all things that thou canst desire, are not to be compared vnto her.

16 Length of dayes is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and glory.

17 Her wayes are wayes of pleasure, and all her paths prosperitie.

18 She is a tree of life to them that lay hold on her, and blessed is hee that retaineth her.

19 The Lord by wisdom hath layd the foundation of the earth, and hath established the heauens through vnderstanding.

20 By his knowledge the depths are broken vp, and the cloudes drop down the dew.

21 By sonne, let not these things depart from thine eyes, but obserue wisdom and counsell.

22 So they shall bee life to thy soule, and grace vnto thy necke.

23 Then shalt thou walke safely by thy way, and thy foor shall not stumble.

24 If thou sleepest, thou shalt not be afraid, and when thou sleepest, thy sleepe shall be swete.

25 Thou shalt not feare for any sudden feare, neither for the destruction of the wicked, when it cometh.

26 For the Lord shall be for thine assurance, and shall preserve thy foot from taking.

27 Withhold not the good from the owners thereof, though there bee power in thine hand to doe it.

28 Say not vnto thy neighbour, See and come againe, and to morrow I will giue thee, if thou now haue it.

29 Intend none hurt against thy neighbour, seeing hee doeth dwell without feare by thee.

30 Strive not with a man causelesse, when he hath done thee no harme.

31 Be not eniuous for the wicked man, neither chule any of his wayes.

32 For the froward is abomination vnto the Lord: but his secret is with the righteous.

33 The curse of the Lord is in the house of the wicked: but he blesteth the habitation of the righteous.

34 With the scornfull he scorneth, but he giueth grace to the humble.

35 The wise shall inherit glory: but fooles dishonour, though they be exalted.

CHAP. 1111.

1 Wisdom and her fruit sought to be searched, 14 The way of the wicked must be refused. 20 By the word of God, the heart, eyes, and course of life must be guided.

Hear, O ye children, the instruction of a father, and giue care to learne vnderstanding.

2 For I doe giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake ye not my law.

3 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and deare in the sight of my mother.

4 When he taught me, & saide vnto me, Let thine heart holde fast my wordes: keepe my commandements, and thou shalt liue.

5 Set wisdom; get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from the wordes of my mouth.

6 Forsake her not, and she shall keepe thee: loue her, and she shall preferre thee.

7 Wisdom is the beginning; get wisdom, therefore: and aboute all thy possession get vnderstanding.

8 Exalt her, & she shall exalt thee: she shall bring thee to honour if thou embrace her.

9 She shall giue a comely ornament vnto thine head, yea, she shall giue thee a crowne of glory.

10 Heare, my sonne, and receiue my wordes, & the yeares of thy life shall be many.

11 I haue taught thee in the way of wisdom, and led thee in the pathes of righteousness.

12 When thou goest, thy gate shall not be strait, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fall.

13 Take hold of instruction, & leane not: keepe her, for she is thy life.

14 Enter not into the way of the wicked, and walke not in the way of euill men.

15 Auid it, and goe not by it: turne from it, and passe by.

16 For they cannot sleepe, except they haue done euill, and their sleepe departeth, except they cause some to fall.

17 For they eate the bread of wickednesse, and drinke the wine of violence.

18 But the way of the righteous shineth as the light: that shineth more and more vnto the perfect day.

o Desire not to be like vnto him. p That is, his covenent & fatherly affectio which is hid and secret from the world. q He will shew by his plagues that their comes that turn to their owne destruction, as Chap. 1. 26.

a Hee speaketh this in the person of a preacher and minister, which is as a father vnto the people, reade Chap. 1. 8.

b In Hebrew, it is Onely: for though he had three others, as 1 Chro. 3. 5. yet so tenderly the loued Salomon, that he was vnto her as her onely sonne.

c Meaning, Dauid his father.

d Hee sheweth that we must first begin at Gods word, if so be we will that other things prosper with vs, contrary to the iudgement of the world, which make it their last study, or else care not for it at all.

e Salomon declareth what care his father had to bring him vp in the true feare of God: for this was Dauids protection, f Thou shalt walke at libertie without offence.

g Meaning, that to doe euill is more proper and naturall to the wicked then to sleepe, eate or drinke. h Gotten by wicked meanes and cruell oppression. i Signifying, that the godly increase dayly in knowledge and perfection, till they come to full perfection, which is, when they shall be ioyned to their head in the heauens.

k That is, they shall haue health of body: vnder the which all other blessings promised in the Law, are contained.
l For as $\frac{1}{2}$ heart is either pure or corrupt, so is the whole course of mans life.
m Keepe a measure in all thy doings.

19 The way of the wicked is as the darkness: they know not wherein they shall fall.
20 $\frac{1}{2}$ Sonne, hearken vnto my wordes, encline thine eare vnto my sayings, 21 Let them not depart from thine eyes, but keepe them in the mids of thine heart.
22 For they are life vnto those that finde them, and health vnto all their flesh.
23 Keepe thine heart with all diligence: for therout commeth life.
24 But away from thee a froward mouth, and put wicked lips farre from thee.
25 Let thine eyes behold the right, and let thine eye lids direct thy way before thee.
26 $\frac{1}{2}$ Wonder the path of thy feet, and let all thy wayes be ordered aright.
27 Turne not to the right hand, nor to the left, but reuocate thy foot from euill.

CHAP. V.

3 Whoredome forbidden, 9 And prodigality.
15 He willeth a man to liue on his labours, and to helpe others. 18 To loue his wife. 22 The wicked taken in their owne wickednesse.

|| Or, understanding.

M $\frac{1}{2}$ Sonne, hearken vnto my wisdom, and encline thine eare vnto my knowledge, a That is, an harlot which giueth her selfe to another then to her husband.

b By oyle and honie becometh flattering and craftie intiments.

c All her doings leade to destruction.

d She hath euer new meanes to allure to wickednesse.

e That is, thy strength and goods toher that will haue no pity vpon thee, as is read of Samson, and the prodigall sonne.

f The goods gotten by thy trauell.

g Although I was faithfully instructed in the truerh, yet had I almost fallen to vnter shame and destruction, notwithstanding my good bringing vp in the assembly of the godly.

2 That thou mayest regard counsell, and thy lips obseurke knowledge.

3 For the lips of a strange woman drop as an honie combe, and her mouth is more soft then $\frac{1}{2}$ oyle.

4 But the end of her is bitter as wormewood, and sharpe as a two edged sword.

5 Her feet goe downe to death, and her steps take holde on hell.

6 She weigheth not the way of life: her pathes are $\frac{1}{2}$ moucable: thou canst not know them.

7 Heare ye mee now therefore, O children, and depart not from the wordes of my mouth.

8 Keepe thy way farre from her, & come not nere the doore of her house,

9 Lest thou giue thine honour vnto others, and thy verities to the cruell:

10 Lest the stranger should be filled with thy strength, and thy labours bee in the house of a stranger,

11 And thou incurme at thine end, (when thou hast consumed thy flesh and thy body)

12 And say, how haue I hated instruction, and mine heart despised correction!

13 And haue not obeyed the voice of them that taught mee, nor enclined mine eare to them that instructed me!

14 I was almost brought into all euill in the mids of the Congregation & assembly.

15 I Drinke the water of $\frac{1}{2}$ thy cistern, and of the riuers out of the middes of thine owne well.

16 Let thy fountaines flow forth, and the riuers of waters in the streets.

17 But let them be thine, euery thine only, and not the strangers with thee.

h He teacheth vs sobriety, exhorting vs to liue of our owne labours, and to be beneficiall to the godly that want. i Distributeth them not to the wicked and infidels, but reserue them for thy selfe, thy family, and them that are of the household offaith.

18 Let thy fountain be blessed, and re-joyce with the wife of thy youth.

19 Let her be as the fouling hynde, and pleasant roe: let her breasts satisfie thee at all times, and delight in her loue continually.

20 For why shouldst thou delight, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger?

21 For the wayes of man are before the eyes of $\frac{1}{2}$ Lord, & he pondereth all his pathes.

22 His owne iniquitie shall take the wicked himselfe, and he shall be holden with the cordes of his owne limme.

23 Hee shall die for fault of instruction, and shall goe astray throught his great folly.

His wife both in heart and in outward conuersation, that hee shall not escape the iudgements of God. n Because he will not giue eare to Gods word and bee admonished.

CHAP. VI.

1 Instruction for seruies. 6 The slothfull and sluggish stirred to worke. 12 Hee declareth the nature of the wicked. 16 The things that God hateth. 20 To obserue the word of God. 24 To flee adulterie.

M $\frac{1}{2}$ Sonne, if thou be suretie for thy neighbour, and hast stricken hands with the stranger,

2 Thou art $\frac{1}{2}$ snared with the wordes of thy mouth: thou art euery taken with the wordes of thine owne mouth.

3 Doe this now, my sonne, and deliuer thy selfe: seeing thou art come into the hand of thy neighbour, goe and humble thy selfe, and sollicit thy friends.

4 Giue no sleepe to thine eyes, nor slumber to thine eyelids.

5 Deliuer thy selfe as a Doe from the hand of the hunter, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler.

6 Goe to $\frac{1}{2}$ the Disintre, O sluggard: behold her wayes, and be wise.

7 For shee hauing no guide, gouernour, nor ruler,

8 Prepareth her meate in the summer, and gathereth her food in barne.

9 How long wilt thou sleepe, O sluggard: when wilt thou arise out of thy sleepe?

10 $\frac{1}{2}$ Yee a little sleepe, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleepe.

11 Therefore thy pouertie commeth as one that $\frac{1}{2}$ traualleth by the way, and thy necessity like $\frac{1}{2}$ an armed man.

12 The vnthriftie man and the wicked man walke with a froward mouth.

13 Hee maketh a signe with his eyes, hee $\frac{1}{2}$ signifieth with his feet: hee instructeth with his fingers.

14 Lewd things are in his heart: hee imagineth euill at all times, and casteth by contentions.

15 Therefore shall his destruction come speedily: hee shall be destroyed suddenly without recovery.

16 These are things doeth the Lord hate: yea, his soule abhorreth them:

17 The hautie eyes, a lying tongue, and the hands that shed innocent blood, them vnchristie, or the men of Belial, and slanderous. 18 Thus all his gesture tendeth to wickednesse.

k Thy children which shall come of thee in great abundance, shewing that God blesseth marriage, and curseth whoredome.

l Which thou didst marry in thy youth.

o For, goe astray with a stranger.

m He declareth that except man doe ioine to his wife both in heart and in outward conuersation, that hee shall not escape the iudgements of God.

n Because he will not giue eare to Gods word and bee admonished.

1 Hee forbiddeth vs not to become surety one for another, according to the rule of charitie, but that wee consider for whom and after what sort, so that the creditor may not bee defrauded.

b If the word of God cannot instruct thee, yet learne at the little pismire to labour: for thy selfe, and not to burden others.

chap. 24. 33.

c Hee expresseth liuely the nature of the sluggards, which though they sleepe neuer so long, yet haue neuer enough, but euery seeke occasions thereunto.

d That is, suddenly, and when thou lookest not for it.

e It shall come in such sort as thou art not able to resist it.

f He sheweth to what inconvenient enche the idle persons & sluggards come by calling h Meaning, the raging affections which cary a man away in ſuch ſort that hee cannot tell what he doeth.

Or, neighbours.

1 Reade Chap.

3. 7.

k By the commandement hee meaneth the word of God: and by the inſtruction, the preaching and declaration of the ſame, which is committed to the Church.

l And reprehensions when the word is preached bring vs to life.

m With her wanton looks and geſture.

n Meaning, that ſhee will neuer ceaſe til ſhe haue brought thee to beggary, and then ſeeketh thy deſtruction.

o He approueth not theft, but ſheweth that it is not ſo abominable as whore-dome, for as much as theft might be redeemed, but adultery was a perpetuall infamie, and death by the Law of God.

p Meaning, for very neceſſitie.

† Ebr. ſaith in heart. q That is, death appointed by the Law. r He ſheweth that man by nature ſeeketh his death that hath abuſed his wife, & ſo concludeth that neither Gods Law, nor the law of nature admitteth any ranſome for the adultery.

a By this diuerſitie of words hee meaneth that nothing ought to be ſo deare vnto vs, as the word of God, nor that we looke on any thing more, nor minde any thing ſo much.

18 An heart that imagineth wicked enterpriſes, h ſeeth that he ſwift is running to miſchiefe.

19 A falſe witneſſe that ſpeaketh lies, and him that raiſeth vp contentions among brethren.

20 ¶ My ſonne, keepe thy fathers commandement, and forſake not thy mothers inſtruction.

21 Bind them alway vpon thine heart, and tie them about thy necke.

22 It ſhall leade thee, when thou walkeſt: it ſhall watch for thee when thou ſleepeſt, and when thou wakeſt it ſhall talke with thee.

23 For the k commandement is a lanterne, and inſtruction a light: and l corrections for inſtruction are the way of life.

24 To keepe thee from the wicked woman, and from the flattery of the tongue of a ſtrange woman.

25 Deſire not her beauty in thine heart, neither let her take thee with her m eyes.

26 For becauſe of the whooriſh woman, a man is brought to a morſell of bread, & a woman will hunt for the precious life of a man.

27 Can a man take fire in his boſome, and his clothes not bee burnt?

28 Or can a man goe vpon coales, and his feet not be burnt?

29 So be that goeth in to his neighbours wife ſhall not be innocent, whoſoeuer toucheth her.

30 When doeſt thou not deſpiſe a thief when he ſtealeth, to ſatiſſie his ſoule, becauſe hee is hungry?

31 But if he be found, he ſhall reſtore ſeuen fold, or he ſhall giue all the ſubſtance of his houſe.

32 But he that committeth adultery with a woman, he ſhall deſtroye of underſtanding: he that doeth it, deſtroyeth his owne ſoule.

33 He ſhall find a wound and diſhonour, and his reproch ſhall neuer be put away.

34 For ſeloniſie is the rage of a man: therefore he will not ſpare in the day of vengeance.

35 Hee cannot beare the ſight of any ranſome: therefore will hee conſent, though thou augment the gifts.

CHAP. VII.

1 An exhortation to wiſedome and to the word of God, 5 which will preſerue vs from the harlot, 6 whoſe manners are deſcribed.

¶ My ſonne, keepe my wordes, and hide my commandements with thee.

2 Keepe my commandements and thou ſhalt liue, and mine inſtruction as the a apple of thine eyes.

3 Bind them vpon thy fingers, and write them vpon the table of thine heart.

4 Say vnto wiſedome, Thou art my ſiſter: & call vnderſtanding thy kinſwoman.

5 That they may keepe thee from the ſtrange woman, euen from the ſtranger that is ſmoother in her wordes.

6 ¶ As I was in the window of mine houſe, I looked through my window,

7 And I ſaw among b fooles, and conſidered among the children a pong man deſtitute of underſtanding.

8 Who paſſed through the ſtreets by her corner, and went toward her houſe.

9 In the twilight in the evening, when the night began to be blacke and darke.

10 And behold, there met him a woman, with an harlots c behauiour, and ſubtil in heart.

11 (She d is babbling and lowd: whoſe ſeete cannot abide in her houſe.

12 Now ſhe is without, now in the ſtreets, and ſiech in wait at euery corner.)

13 So ſhee caught him, and kiſſed him, and e with an impudent face, ſaid vnto him, 14 I haue f peace offerings: this f day haue I payed my vowes.

15 Therefore came I forth to meet thee, that I might ſeeke thy face: & I haue found thee.

16 I haue deckt my bed with ornaments, g carpets, and ſaces of Egypt.

17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cynamom.

18 Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntill the morning: let vs take our pleaſure in dalliance.

19 For mine husband is not at home: hee is gone a iourney farre off.

20 He hath taken h with him a bag of ſiluer, & will come home at the day appointed.

21 Thus with her great craft hee cauſed him to yeeld, and with her flattering lips ſhe enticed him,

22 And he followed her ſtraight wayes, as an i ore that goeth to the ſlaughter, and h as a foolle to the ſtocks for correction,

23 Till a dart ſtrike through his liver, as a bird haſteth to the ſnare, not knowing that j he is in danger.

24 I ſpake me now therefore, k children, and hearken to the wordes of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her wayes: wander thou not in her paths.

26 For thee hath cauſed many to fall downe wounded, and the l ſtrong men are all ſlaine by her.

27 Her houſe is the way m vnto the graue, which goeth downe to the chambers of death.

ings to make ſatiſfaction for their ſins, Or, earned worke. † Ebr. in his hand. g Which thinking hee goeth to the paſture, goeth willingly to his owne deſtruction. h Which goeth cherefully, not knowing that he ſhall be chaſtiſed. † Ebr. it is for his life. i Neither wit nor ſtrength can deliuer them that fall into the hands of the harlot. Chap. 2. 18.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Wiſedom declareth her excellencie, 11 Riches, 15 Power, 22 Et vniſie. 32 Shee exhorteth all to loue and follow her.

D † Not a wiſedome cry: and vnderſtanding vnto her voyce?

2 She ſtanderh in the top of the hie places by the way in the place of the pathes.

he can proceed no ignorance, for as much as God calleth to all men by his word, & by his workes, to follow vertue, & to flee from vice.

b Where the people did most resort, and which was the place of iustice.

c Meaning, that the word of God is easie vnto all that haue a desire vnto it, & which are not blinded by the Princes of this world.

d That is, except a man haue wisdom, which is the true knowledge of God, he can neither be prudent nor good counsellor.

e So that he that doeth not hate euil, feareth not God.

f Whereby he declareth that honour, dignity or riches come not of mans wisdom or industrie, but by the providence of God.

g That is, studie the word of God diligently, and with a desire to profite.

h Signifying, that he chiefly meaneth the spiritual treasures & heavenly riches.

i For there can be no true iustice or iudgement, which is not directed by this wisdom.

k He declareth hereby the diuinitie and eternitie of this wisdom, which he magnifieth and prayseth through this booke: meaning thereby the eternall Sonne of God Iesus Christ our Sauour, who l Iohn calleth the Word, that was in the beginning, Ioh. 1. 1 He declareth the eternitie of the Sonne of God, which is meant by this word Wisdom, who was before all time, and euer present with the Father.

3 Shee city besides the gates before the cite at the entry of the dayes, 4 O men, I call vnto you, and utter my voyce to the children of men.

5 O yee foolish men, vnderstand wisdom, and yee, O fooles, be wise in heart.

6 Giue eare, for I will speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lips shall teach things that be right.

7 For my mouth will speake the trueth, and my lips abhorre wickednes.

8 All the wordes of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdnesse, nor frowardnesse in them.

9 They are all plaine to him that will vnderstand, & streight to them that would find knowledge.

10 Receiue mine instruction and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fine gold.

11 For wisdom is better then precious stones: and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her.

12 I wisdom dwell with prudence, and I find forth knowledge and counsels.

13 The feare of the Lord is to hate euil, as pride, and arrogancie, and the euill way: and a mouth that speaketh lewd things, I do hate.

14 I haue counsell and wisdom: I am vnderstanding, and I haue strength.

15 By mee Kings reign, and princes decree iustice.

16 By mee princes rule, and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth.

17 I loue them that loue mee: and they that seeke me early, shall find me.

18 Riches and honour are with me: euen durable riches and righteousness.

19 My fruit is better then gold, euen then fine gold, and my reuenues better then fine siluer.

20 I cause to walke in the way of righteousness, and in the middes of the pathes of iudgement.

21 That I may cause them that loue me, to inherite substance, and I will fill their treasures.

22 The Lord hath possessed me in the beginning of his way: I was before his works of old.

23 I was set by from everlasting, from the beginning, and before the earth.

24 When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water.

25 Before the mountains were setled: and before the hills was I begotten.

26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the world.

27 When hee prepared the heauens, I was there, when hee set the compasses vpon the deepe:

28 When hee established the cloudes aboue, when he confirmed the fountaines of the deepe:

29 When hee gaue his decree to the sea, that the waters should not passe his commaundment, when he appointed the foundations of the earth,

30 Then was I with him as a nourisher: and I was daily his delight reioycing alway before him, 31 And tooke my solace in the compasses of his earth: and my delight is with the children of men.

32 Therefore now hearken, O children, vnto mee: for blessed are they that keepe my wayes.

33 Heare instruction, and be ye wise, and refuse it not: blessed is the man that heareth me, watching daily at my gates, and giuing attendance at the postes of my doores.

34 For hee that findeth mee, findeth life, and shall obtaine fauour of the Lord.

35 But hee that smeret h against me, hurteth his own soule, & all that hate me, loue death.

o By earth he meaneth man, which is the worke of God in whom wisdom tooke pleasure: in so much as for mans sake the Diuine Wisdom tooke mans nature, and dwelt among vs, and filled vs with vnpeakable treasures, and this is that solace and pastime whereof is here spoken.

CHAP. IX.

3 Wisdom calleth all to her feast. 7 The scorner will not be corrected. 10 The feare of God, 13 The conditions of the harlot.

V Wisdom hath build her house, and hath bewen out her seven pillars.

2 Shee hath killed her drailles, drawen her wine, and prepared her table.

3 Shee hath sent forth her maydens, and cryeth vpon the highest places of the city, saying,

4 Who so is simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisdom, shee saith,

5 Come and eate of my meate, & drinke of the wine that I haue drawen.

6 Forlake your way ye foolish, and ye shall liue: & walke in the way of vnderstanding.

7 Hee that reprooueth a scorner, purchaseth to himselfe shame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, getteth himselfe a blot.

8 Rebuke not a scorner, lest he hate thee, but rebuke a wise man, and he will loue thee.

9 Giue admonition to the wise, and he will be the wiser: teach a righteous man, and he will increace in learning.

10 The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord, and the knowledge of holy things, is vnderstanding.

11 For thy dayes shall be multiplied by mee, and the yeeres of thy life shall be augmented.

12 If thou be wise, thou shalt be wise for thy selfe, and if thou bee a scorner, thou shalt suffer.

CHAP. X.

In this Chapter & all that follow unto the thirtieth the wise man exhorteth by diuers sentences, which he calleth parables, to follow vertue and flee vice: and sheweth also what profit cometh of wisdom, and what hinderance proceedeth of foolishnesse.

THE PARABLES OF SALOMON.

A foolish woman maketh a glad father: but a foolish sonne is an heauinesse to his mother.

2 The treasures of a wickednesse profite nothing: but righteousness deliuereth from death.

3 The Lord will b not famish the soule of the righteous: but hee casteth away the substance of the wicked.

4 A || slouthfull hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh rich.

5 Hee that gathereth in summer, is the sonne of wisdom: but hee that sleepeth in harvest, is the sonne of confusion.

6 Blessings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shall couer the mouth of the wicked.

7 The memoriall of the iust shall be blessed: but the name of the wicked shall rot.

8 The wise in heart will receiue commandements: but the foolish in ¶ talke shall be beaten.

9 Hee that walketh vprightly, walketh || boldly: but he that peruertereth his wayes, shall be known.

10 He that ¶ winketh with the eye, worketh sorrow, and he that is ¶ foolish in talke, shall be heauen.

11 The mouth of a righteous man is a wellspring of life: but iniquity couereth the mouth of the wicked.

12 Hatred stirreth vp contentions: ¶ but loue couereth all trespasses.

13 In the types of him that hath vnderstanding, wisdom is found, and ¶ a rod shall be for the backe of him that is destitute of wisdom.

14 The men say vp knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is a present destruction.

15 The rich mans gods are his ¶ strong city: but the feare of ¶ needy is their pouerty.

16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: but the reuenues of the wicked to sinne.

17 He that regardeth instruction, is in the do euil, whereas pouerty brideleth the poore from many euil things.

way of life: but he that refuseth correction, goeth out of the way.

18 He that dissembleth hatred with lying lips, and he that inuentereth slander, is a foole.

19 In many wordes there cannot want iniquitie: but he that refraineth his lips, is wise.

20 The tongue of the iust man is as fined silver: but the heart of the wicked is little worth.

21 The lips of the righteous doe: feede many: but foolcs shall die for want of wisdom.

22 The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he doeth adden no sorrowes with it.

23 It is as a pastime to a foole to doe wickedly: but wisdom is vnderstanding to a man.

24 That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but God will grant the desire of the righteous.

25 As the whirlewinde passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an euertlasting foundation.

26 As vineger is to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the slouthfull to them that ¶ send him.

27 The feare of the Lord increaseth the dayes: but the yeeres of the wicked shall be diminished.

28 The patient abiding of the righteous shall be gladnesse: but the hope of the wicked shall perish.

29 The way of the Lord is strength to the vpright man: but feare shall be for the workers of iniquitie.

30 The righteous shall ¶ neuer be removed: but the wicked shall not dwell in the land.

31 The mouth of the iust shall be fruitfull in wisdom: but the tongue of the froward shall be cut out.

32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaketh froward things.

CHAP. XI.

False ¶ balances are an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfect ¶ weight pleaseh him.

2 When pride cometh, then cometh shame: but with the lowly is wisdom.

3 The vprightnesse of the iust shall guide them: but the frowardnesse of the transgressors shall destroy them.

4 Riches auail not in the day of wrath: but righteousness deliuereth from death.

5 The righteousness of the vpright shall direct his way: but the wicked shall fall in his owne wickednesse.

6 The righteousness of the iust shall deliuer them: but the transgressors shall be taken in their owne wickednesse.

7 ¶ When a wicked man dieth, his hope perisheth, and the hope of the vniust shall perish.

8 The righteous ¶ careth out of trouble, and the wicked shall come in his stead.

9 An ¶ hypocrite with his mouth burtheth his neighbour: but the righteous shall be deliuered by knowledge.

citie reioyce, and when the wicked perish, there is ioy.

11 By the blessing of the righteous, the citie is exalted: but it is subverted by the mouth of the wicked.

12 He that despiseth his neighbour, is destitute of wisdom: but a man of vnderstanding will keepe silence.

13 Hee that goeth about as a slanderer, discouereth a secret: but he that is of a faithful heart, concealeth a matter.

14 Where no counsell is, the people fall: but where many counsellors are, there is health.

15 He shalbe sore berred, that is surely for a stranger, and he that hateth thriftship, is sure.

16 A gracious woman attaineth honour, and the strong men attaine riches.

17 He that is mercifull, rewardeth his owne soule: but he that troubleth his owne flesh, is cruell.

18 The wicked woorketh a deceitfull worke: but hee that soweth righteousness, shall receive a sure reward.

19 A righteousness leadech to life, so hee that followeth euill, seeketh his owne death.

20 They that are of a froward heart, are abomination to the Lord: but they that are vpright in their way, are his delight.

21 Though hand ioyne in hand, the wicked shal not be unpunished: but the seede of the righteous shal escape.

22 As a fetwell of gold in a swines snout: so is a faire woman, which lacketh discretion.

23 The desire of the righteous is onely good: but the hope of the wicked is indignation.

24 There is that scattereth, and is more increased: but he that spareth more, then is right, surely cometh to pouerty.

25 The liberal person shal haue plenty: and he that watereth, shal also haue raine.

26 Hee that withdraueth the come, the people will curse him: but blessing shalbe vpon the head of him that sceketh come.

27 Hee that seeketh good things, getteth fauour: but he that seeketh euill, it shal come to him.

28 He that trusteth in his riches, shal fall: but the righteous shal flourish as a tree.

29 Hee that troubleth his owne house, shal inherit the winde, and the foole shal be seruanto to the wife in heart.

30 The fruit of the righteous is as a tree of life, and he that winneth soules, is wise.

31 Behold, the righteous shal be recompensed in the earth: how much more the wicked and the sinner?

2 A good man getteth fauour of the Lord: but the man of wicked imaginations will be condemne.

3 A man cannot bee established by wickednesse: but the roote of the righteous shal not be moued.

4 A vertuous woman is the crowne of her husband: but the that maketh him ashamed, is as corruption in his bones.

5 The thoughts of the iust are right: but the counsels of the wicked are deceitfull.

6 The talking of the wicked is to lie in wait for blood: but the mouth of the righteous will not deliuer them.

7 God overthroweth the wicked, and they are not: but the house of the righteous shal stand.

8 A man shalbe commended for his wisdom: but the froward of heart shal be despised.

9 Hee that is despised, and is his owne seruant, is better then he that boasteth himselfe, and lacketh bread.

10 A righteous man regardeth the life of his beak: but the mercies of the wicked are cruell.

11 He that tilleth his land, shalbe satisfied with bread: but hee that followeth the idle, is destitute of vnderstanding.

12 The wicked desireth the net of euils: but the roote of the righteous giueth fruit.

13 The euil man is snared by the wickednesse of his lips, but the iust shal come out of aduersitie.

14 A man shal bee satiate with good things by the fruit of his mouth, and the recompense of a mans hands shal God giue vnto him.

15 The way of a foole is a right in his owne eyes: but hee that heareth counsell, is wise.

16 A foole in a day shal bee knownen by his anger: but hee that couereth shame, is wise.

17 Hee that speaketh truth, will shew righteousness: but a false witness vseth deceit.

18 There is that speaketh words like the prickings of a sword: but the tongue of wise men is health.

19 The lippe of truth shal be stable for ever: but a lying tongue varieth continually.

20 Deceit is in the heart of them that imagine euill, but to the counsellors of peace shalbe iay.

21 There shall none iniquity come to the iust: but the righteous is full of euill.

22 The lying lips are an abomination to the Lord: but they that deale truly, are his delight.

23 A wise man concealeth knowledge: but the heart of the foolcs publisheth foolishnesse.

24 The hand of the diligent shal beare rule: but the idle shalbe vnder tribute.

9 The heart of man purpoiseth his way:
but the Lord doeth direct his steps.

10 A diuine sentence shall bee in the lips of the King: his mouth shall not transgresse in iudgement.

11 A true weight and ballance are of the Lord: all the weightes of the bagge are his worke.

12 It is an abomination to kings to commit wickednes: for the throne is established by iustice.

13 Righteous lippes are the delight of kings, and the king loneth him that speaketh right things.

14 The wrath of a king is as messengers of death: but a wise man will pacifie it.

15 In the light of the kings countenance is life: and his fauour is as a cloude of the latter raine.

16 How much better is it to get wise-dome then gold: and to get vnderstanding, is more to be desired then siluer.

17 The path of the righteous is to decline from euill, and hee keepeth his soule that keepeth his way.

18 Pride goeth before destruction, and an high mind before the fall.

19 Better it is to be of humble mind with the lowly, then to diuide the spoiles with the proud.

20 Hee that is wise in his businesse, shall find good: and he that trusteth in the Lord, he is blessed.

21 The wise in heart shall be called iudent: and the sweetnesse of the lips shall increase doctrine.

22 Understanding is a wellspring of life vnto them that haue it: and the instruction of foolies is folly.

23 The heart of the wise guideth his mouth wisely, & addeth doctrine to his lips.

24 Faire wordes are as an hony combe, sweetnesse to the soule, & health to the bones.

25 There is a way that seemeth right vnto man: but the issue thereof are the wayes of death.

26 The person that transiereth, transiereth for himselfe: for his mouth & craueth it of him.

27 A wicked man diggeth vp euill, and in his lips is like a burning fire.

28 A froward person loneth strife: and a taleteller maketh diuision among princes.

29 A wicked man deceiueth his neighbour, and leadeeth him into the way that is not good.

30 He shutteth his eyes to denie wickednesse: he moueth his lips, and bringeth euill to passe.

31 Age is a crowne of glory, when it is found in the way of righteousness.

32 He that is slow vnto anger, is better then the mighty man: and he that ruleth his owne minde, is better then he that winneth a citie.

33 The lot is cast into the lappe: but the whole disposition thereof is of the Lord.

Petter is a drie mortell, if peace bee with it, then an house full of sacrifices with strife.

2 A discreet seruant shall haue rule ou-er a fewe sonne, and he shall diuide the heritage among the brethren.

3 As is the fining pot for siluer, & the fornace for gold, so the Lord tryeth the hearts.

4 The wicked giueth heed to false lips, and a lyer hearkeneth to the naughty tongue.

5 He that mocketh the poore, reprocheth him that made him: and he that reuolpeth his destruction, shall not be unpunished.

6 Childrens children are the crowne of the Elders: and the glory of the children are their fathers.

7 A high talke becommeth not a foole, much lesse a lying talke a prince.

8 A reward is as a stone pleasant in the eyes of them that haue it: it prospereth whithersoeuer it turneth.

9 He that couereth a transgression, se-kereth loue: but he that repeateth a matter, se-parateth the prince.

10 A reproofe entreth more into him that hath vnderstanding, then an hundred stripes into a foole.

11 A lecherous person seeketh onely euill, and a cruell messenger shall be sent against him.

12 It is better for a man to meete a beare robbed of her whelpes, then a foole in his follicie.

13 He that rewardeth euil for good, euil shall not depart from his house.

14 The beginning of strife is as one that openeth the waters: therefore vce the contention be medled with, leaue off.

15 He that iustifieth the wicked, and he that condemnethe the iust, euen they both are abomination to the Lord.

16 Wherefore is there a spice in the hand of the foole to get wisdom, and he hath none heart?

17 A friend loneth at all times: and a brother is borne for aduersity.

18 A man destitute of vnderstanding, toucheth the hand, and becommeth suretie for his neighbour.

19 Wee loneth transgression that loneth strife: and he that exalteth his gate, seeketh destruction.

20 The froward heart findeth no good:
and he that hath a naughty tongue, shall fall into euill.

21 He that begetteth a foole, getteth himselfe sorrow, and the father of a foole can haue no joy.

22 A toyfull heart carseth good hearty:
but a sorrowfull minde diueth the bones.

23 A wicked man taketh a gift out of the bosome to waxe the wayes of iudgement.

24 A lifedome is in the face of him that hath vnderstanding: but the eyes of a foole are in the corners of the way.

25 A foolish sonne is a griefe vnto his father, and a heauinesse to her that bare him.

26 Surely it is not good to condemne the iust, nor that the Princes should iustice such

CHAP. XVIII.

FOR the desire thereof he will separate himselfe to seeke it, and occupie himselfe in all wisdom.

2 A foole hath no delight in understanding: but that his heart may be discovered.

3 When the wicked commeth, then commeth contempt, and with the vile man reproch.

4 The words of a mans mouth are like deepe waters, and the wel spring of wisdom is like a flowing river.

5 It is not good to accept the person of the wicked, to cause the righteous to fall in iudgement.

6 A foolles lips come with strife, and his mouth calleth for stripes.

7 A foolles mouth is his owne destruction, and his lips are a snare for his soule.

8 The wordes of a calbearer are as flatterings, and they go downe into the bowels of the belly.

9 He also that is slouthfull in his worke, is euen the brother of him that is a great waster.

10 The name of the Lord is a strong tower: the righteous runneth vnto it, and is created.

11 The rich mans riches are his strong citie: and as an high wall in his imagination.

12 Before destruction the heart of a man is haughty, and before gloyp goeth lowliness.

13 He that answereth a matter before he heareth it, it is folly and shame vnto him.

14 The spirit of a man will sustaine his infirmities: but a wounded spirit, who can beare it?

15 A wise heart getteth knowledge, and the care of the wise seeketh learning.

16 A mans gift enlargeth him, and lea- deth him before great men.

17 He that is first in his owne cause, is iust: then commeth his neighbour, and maketh enquire of him.

18 The lot causeth contentions to cease, and maketh a partition among the mighty.

19 A brother offended is harder to winne then a strong citie, and their contentions are like the barre of a palace.

20 With the fruit of a mans mouth shall his belly be satisfied, and with the increase of his lips shall he be filled.

21 Death and life are in the power of the tongue, and they that loue it, shall eat the fruit thereof.

found, which are more ready to doe pleasure then hee that is more bound by duty.

CHAP. XIX.

BETTER is the poore that walketh in his uprightnes, then he that abuseth his lips, and is a foole.

2 For without knowledge the minde is not good, and he that halteth with his feet, sinneth.

3 The foolishnesse of a man peruerteth his way, and his heart crieth against the Lord.

4 Riches gather many friends: but the poore is separated from his neighbour.

5 A false witness shall not be unpunished: and he that speaketh lies, shall not escape.

6 Many reuerence the face of the prince, and every man is friend to him that giveth gifts.

7 All the brethren of the poore doe hate him: how much more wil his friends depart farre from him: though he be instant with words yet they will not.

8 He that possideth understanding, shall lo- ueth his owne soule, and keepeth wisdom to find goodnesse.

9 A false witness shall not be unpunished: and he that speaketh lies, shall perish.

10 Pleasure is not comely for a foole, much lesse for a seruaut to haue rule ouer his lord.

11 The discretion of a man deferreth his anger: and his gloyp is to passe by an of- fence.

12 The Kings wrath is like the roaring of a lion: but his fauour is like the dew vpon the grasse.

13 A foolish sonne is the calamitie of his father, and the contentions of a wife are like a continuall dropping.

14 Houle and riches are the inheritance of the fathers, but a prudent wife commeth of the Lord.

15 Slouthfulnessse causeth to fall as a stone, and a deceitfull person shall be ashamed.

16 He that keepeth the commandment, keepeth his owne soule: but he that despiseth his wayes, shall die.

17 Hee that hath mercy vpon the poore, lendeth vnto the Lord: and the Lord will recompense him that which he hath giuen.

18 Chasten thy sonne while there is hope, and let not thy soule spare for his mur- muring.

19 A man of much anger shall suffer punishment: and though thou detest him, yet will his anger come againe.

24 * The shrewd hideth his hand in his boosome, and will not put it to his mouth againe.

25 * Smite a scorner, and the foolish will beware: and reprove the prudent, and he will understand knowledge.

26 He that destroyeth his father, or cha- ceth away his mother, is a lewde and shame- full child.

28 A wicked witnesse mocketh at iudge- ment, and the mouth of the wicked * swal- loweth vp iniquity.

29 But iudgements are prepared for the scorner, and stripes for the backe of the scolar.

CHAP. XX.

Wine is a mocker, and strong drinke is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby, is not wise.

2 * The feare of the King is like the roa- ring of a lyon: hee that prouoketh him vnto anger, * sinneeth against his owne soule.

3 It is a mans honour to cease from strife: but every foole will be meddling.

4 The shrewd shall not plow, because of winter: therefore shall he beg in summer, but haue nothing.

5 The counsell in the heart of a man is like deepe waters: but a man that hath vnderstanding, will draw it out.

6 Many men will boast, every one of his owne goodnesse: but who can find a faithfull man?

7 Hee that walketh in his integrity, is just: and blessed shall his children bee after him.

8 A King that sitteth in the throne of iudgement, * cha- ceth away all euill with his eyes.

9 * Who can say, I haue made mine heart cleane, I am cleane from my sinne?

10 Diuers * weights, and diuers mea- sures, both these are euen abomination vnto the Lord.

11 A child also is knowne by his do- ings, whether his worke bee pure and right.

12 The Lord hath made both these, euen the eare to heare, and the eye to see.

13 Loue not sleepe, lest thou come vnto povertie: open thine eyes, and thou shalt bee satisfied with bread.

23 * Diuers weights are an abomination vnto the Lord, and deceitfull balances are not good.

24 * The steps of man are ruled by the Lord: how can a man then vnderstand his owne way?

25 It is a destruction for a man to * de- noure that which is sanctified, and after the vowes to enquire.

26 A wise King scattereth the wicked, and causeth the * whole to turne ouer them.

2 Every * way of a man is right in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth the hearts.

3 * To do iustice and iudgement, is more acceptable to the Lord then sacrifice.

4 A haughty looke, and a proud heart, which is the light of the wicked, is sinne.

5 The thoughts of the diligent do surely bring abundance: but * whosoever is hastie, commeth surely to povertie.

6 * The gathering of treasures by a de- ceitfull tongue, is vanity tolled to and fro of them that seeke death.

14 Thou shalt smite him with the rod, and shalt deliuer his soule from a hell.

15 My soune, if thine heart be wise, mine heart shall reioyce, and I also.

16 And my reines shall reioyce, when thy lips speake righteous things.

21 For the drunkard and the glutton shall be poore, and the sleeper shall be clothed with ragges.

22 Obey thy father that hath begotten thee, and despise not thy mother when he is old.

23 Buy the truth but sell it not: like wise wisdom, and instruction, and understanding.

24 The father of the righteous shall greatly reioyce, and he that begetteth a wise child, shall haue ioy.

25 Thy father and thy mother shall bee glad, and shee that bare thee, shall reioyce.

26 My sonne, giue me thine heart, and let thine eyes delight in my wayes.

27 * For a whore is as a deepe pit, and a strange woman is as a narrow pit.

28 * Also she lieth in waite as for a pray, and she increaseth the transgressours among men.

29 To whom is woe? to whom is sorrow? to whom is strife? to whom is murmuring? to whom are wounds without cause? and to whom is the rednesse of the eyes?

30 Euen to them that tarry long at the wine, to them that go, and seeke mirt wine.

31 Loke not thou vpon the wine, when it is red, and when it sheweth his colour in the cup, or goeth downe pleasantly.

32 In the end thereof it will bite like a serpent, and hurt like a cockatrice.

33 Thine eyes shall looke vpon strange women, and thine heart shall speake lewde things.

34 And thou shalt be as one that sleepeeth in the mids of the sea, and as he that sleepeeth in the top of the mast.

6 * For with counsel thou shalt enterprise thy war, and in the multitude of them that can giue counsel, is health.

7 Wisdom is high to a foole: therefore he cannot open his mouth in the gate.

8 He that imagineth to doe euill, men shall call him an author of wickednesse.

9 The wicked thought of a foole is sinne, and the scorner is an abomination vnto men.

10 If thou be faint in the day of aduersitie, thy strength is small.

27 Prepare thy worke without, and make ready thy things in the field, * and after, build thine house.

28 We not a witness against thy neighbour without cause: for wilt thou deceiue with thy liyes?

29 * Say not, I will doe to him, as hee hath done to me, * I will recompence euery man according to his worke.

30 I passed by the field of the Southfull, and by the vineyard of the man destitute of vnderstanding.

31 And loe, it was all growen ouer with thornes, and nettles had covered the face thereof: and the stone wall thereof was broken downe.

32 Then I beheld, and I considered it well: I looked vpon it, and * receiued instruction.

33 Yet a little sleepe, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleepe.

34 So thy pouertie commeth as one that trauaileth by the way, and thy necessitie like an armed man.

CHAP. XXV.

1 THESE ARE ALSO PARABLES of Salomon, which the men of Hezekiah King of Iudah^b copied out.

2 The glory of God is to conceale a thing secret: but the^d Kings honour is to search out a thing.

3 The heauens in height, and the earth in deprenesse, and the^e Kings heart can no man search out.

4 Take the^f drossie from the siluer, and there shall pceced a vessel for the finer.

5 Take saway the wicked from the king, and his throne shall be established in righte-ousnesse.

6 Boast not thy selfe before the king, and stand not in the place of great men.

7 * It is better, that it be sayd vnto thee, Come by hither, then thou to bee put lower in the presence of the prince whom thine eyes hath seene.

8 See not forth hastily to strife, lest thou know not what to doe in the end thereof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to shame.

9 Debate thy matter with thy neighbour, and discouer not the secret to another.

10 Lest he that heareth it, put thee to shame, and thine infamie doe no^g cease.

11 A word spoken in his place is like apples of gold with pictures of silver.

12 He that reproveth the wise, and the obedient eare, is as a golden earring and an ornament of fine gold.

13 As theⁱ colde of the snow in the time of harvest, so is a faithfull messenger to them that send him: for he refresheth the soule of his masters.

14 A man that boasteth of false liberality, is like^k clouds and wind without raine.

15 A prince is pacified by flaying^l of anger, and a soft tongue breaketh the^m bones.

16 If thou haue found horie, cate that is sufficient for thee, lest thou be ouer full, and vomit it.

17 Withdraw thy foote from thy neighbours house, lest he be weary of thee, and hate thee.

28 A man that beareth false witness against his neighbour, is like a hammer, and a sword, and a sharpe arrow.

19 Confidence in an unfaithfull man in time of trouble, is like a broken tow and a slitting tow.

20 He that taketh away the garment in the colde season, is like vinegar powred vponⁿ nitre, or like him that singeth songs to an heauie heart.

21 * If hee that hateth thee bee hungry, giue him bread to eate, and if he bee thirstie giue him water to drinke:

22 For thou shalt lay^o coales vpon his head, and the Lord shall recompence thee.

23 As the North wind driueth away the raine, so doeth an angry countenance the slanderer tongue.

24 * It is better to dwell in a corner of the house top, then with a contentious woman in a wide house.

25 As are the cold waters to a weary soule, so is good newes from a farre countrey.

26 A righteous man falling downe before the wicked, is like a troubled well, and a corrupt spring.

27 It is not good to eate much honey: * so to search their owne glory is not glory.

28 A man that refraintly not his appetite, is like a citie which is^p broken downe, and without walles.

foolishnesse, lest thou also be like him.

5 Answer me a foole according to his foolishnesse, lest hee bee wise in his owne conceit.

6 He that sendeth a message by the hand of a foole is as hee that cutteth off the feete, and drinketh iniquitie.

7 As they that lift vp the legs of the lame, so is a parable in a fooles mouth.

8 As the cloving vp of a precious stone in an heape of stones, so is he that giueth glory to a foole.

9 As a thorne standing by in the hand of a drunkard: so is a parable in the mouth of fooles.

10 The excellent that formed all things, both rewardeth the foole and rewardeth the transgressors.

11 As a dog turneth againe to his owne vomite, so a foole turneth to his foolishnesse.

12 Seest thou a man wise in his owne conceit: more hope is of a foole then of him.

13 The slothfull man sayth, A Lyon is in the way: a Lyon is in the streets.

14 As the dooze turneth upon his hinges, so doeth the slothfull man upon his bed.

15 The slothfull hideth his hand in his bosome, and it grieveth him to put it againe to his mouth.

16 The sluggard is wiser in his owne conceit, then seven men that can render a reason.

17 He that passeth by and medleth with the strife that belongeth not vnto him, is as one that taketh a dog by the eares.

18 As hee that fainerh himselfe madde, casteth firebrands, arrows, and mortall things,

19 So dealeth the deceitfull man with his friends, and saith, Am not I in sport?

20 Without wood the fire is quenched, and without a talebearer strife ceaseth.

21 As the cole maketh burning coles, and wood a fire, so the contentious man is apt to kindle strife.

22 The wordes of a talebearer are as flatterings, and they goe downe into the bowels of the belly.

23 As silver doosle overlaid vpon a potsheard, so are burning lips, and an euill heart.

24 He that hateth, will counterfeite with his lips, but in his heart he layeth vp deceit.

25 Though he speake fauourably, belaeue him not: for there are seven abominations in his heart.

26 Watred may bee covered by deceit:
but the malice thereof shall be discovered in the congregation.

27 He that diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, and he that rolleth a stone, it shall returne vnto him.

28 A false tongue hateth the afflicted, and a flattering mouth causeth ruine.

8 Hast not thyselfe of to morrow: for a Delay not the 7 The person that is full, despiseth an hony combe: but vnto the hungry soule eue-ry bitter thing is sweet.

8 As a bird that wandreth from her nest:
so is a man that wandreth from his owne place.

9 As oymment and perfume reioyce the heart, so doeth the sweetnesse of a mans friend by hearty counsell.

10 Thyne owne friend, and thy fathers friend forsake thou not: neither enter into thy brothers house in the day of thy cala-mitie: for better is a neighbour that is neere, then a brother farre off.

11 By some, be wise, and reioyce mine cheth me.

sharpen the face of his friend.

18 He that keepeth the fig tree, shall eat the fruit thereof: so he that waiteth vpon his master, shall come to honour.

19 As in water face answereth to face, so the heart of man to man.

20 The graue and destruction can neuer be full, so the eyes of man can neuer be satisfied.

21 As is the fining pot for silver, and the foznace for gold, so is every man according to his dignitye.

a Because their owne conscience accuseth them.
b The state of the common weale is oftentimes changed.

The wicked shall when none pursueth, but the righteous are bold as a lion.
2 For the transgression of the land there are many princes thereof: but by a man of understanding and knowledge, a realme likewise endureth long.
3 A poore man, if he oppresseth the poore, is like a raging fire, that leauech no coode.
4 They that forsake the Law, praiſe the wicked: but they that keepe the Law, set themselves against them.
5 Wicked men understand not iudgement: but they that seeke the Lord, understand all things.

Chap. 19. 1.

6 Better is the poore that walketh in his uprightnesse, then he that peruertereth his wayes, though he be rich.
7 He that keepeth the Law, is a childe of understanding: but he that feedeth the gluttons, shameth his father.
8 He that increaseth his riches by usury and interest, gathereth them for him that will be mercifull unto the poore.

c For God will take away the wicked vniuer, and giue his goods to him that shall bestow them well.
d Because it is not of faith, which is grounded of Gods word or Law, which the wicked contemne.
e And iudge that he is not wise.
f He is known by his doings to be wicked.
g Which standeth in awe of God, & is afraid to offend him.
h For he can neuer be satisfied, but euer oppresseth & spoileth.
i None shall be able to deliuer him.

9 He that turneth away his eare from hearing the Law, euen his prayer shall be accounted abominable.
10 He that causeth the righteous to go astray by an euill way, shall fall into his owne pit, and the upright shall inherite good things.
11 The rich man is wise in his owne conceit: but the poore that hath understanding can trye him.
12 When righteous men reioyce, there is great glory: but when the wicked come by, the man is tried.
13 He that hideth his sinnes, shall not prosper: but he that confesseth, and forsaketh them, shall haue mercy.
14 Blessed is the man, that feareth all way: but he that hardeneth his heart, shall fall into euill.

16 A prince destitute of understanding, is also a great oppressor: but he that hateth courtesie, shall prolong his dayes.

19 He that tilleth his land, shall be satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, shall be filled with pouerty.
20 A faithfull man shall abound in blessings, and he that maketh haste to be rich, shall not be innocent.
21 To haue respect of persons is not good: for that man will transgresse for a piece of bread.

22 A man with a wicked eye hateth riches, and knoweth not that pouertie shall come vpon him.

k He will be abused for nothing.
l Meaning him that is couetous.

23 Hee that rebuketh a man, shall finde more fauour at the length, then he that flattereth with his tongue.
24 Hee that robbeth his father and mother, and saith, It is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroyeth.
25 He that is of a proud heart, stirreth by strife: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shall be safe.
26 He that trusteth in his owne heart, is a foole: but hee that walketh in wisdom, shall be deliuered.

m Shall haue all things in abundance.

27 Hee that giveth vnto the poore, shall not lacke: but hee that hideth his eyes, shall haue many curses.

5 A man that flattereth his neighbour, spreadeth a net for his steps.

6 In the transgression of an euill man is his snare: but the righteous doth sing and reioyce.

a He that giueth eare to the flatterer, is in danger as the bird is before the fowler.

7 The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: but the wicked regardeth not knowledge.

b He is euer ready to fall into the snare that he layeth for others.

8 Scoonefull men bring a citie into a snare: but wise men turne away wrath.

9 If a wife man contend with a foolish man, whether he be angry or laugh, there is no rest.

c He can beare no admonition, in what sort soeuer it is spoken.

10 Bloody men hate him that is upright, but the iust haue care of his soule.

20 Seekest thou a man hastic in his matters: there is more hope of a foole, then of him.
21 He that delicately bringeth vp his seruant from youth, at length he will be euen as his sonne.
22 * An angry man stirreth vp strife, and a furious man aboundeth in transgression.
23 * The pride of a man shall bring him low: but the humble in spirit shall enioy glory.
24 Hee that is partner with a thiefe, hateth his owne soule: y^e heareth cursings, and declareth it not.

22 She maketh her selfe carpets: fine linnen and purple is her garment.

23 Her husband is known in the gates, when he sitteth with the Elders of the land.

24 She maketh shewes, & selleth them, and giueth girles vnto the merchant.

25 Strength & honour is her clothing, and in the latter day she shal reioyce.

26 She openeth her mouth with wisdom, and the law of grace is in her tongue.

27 She ouerleth the wayes of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness.

28 Her children rise vp, and cal her blessed: her husband also shal praise her, saying, Ecclesiastes, or the Preacher.

THE ARGVMENT.

Salomon, as a Preacher and one that desired to instruct all in the way of saluation, describeth the deceiueable vanities of this world, that man should not be addicted to any thing vnder the Sunne but rather inflamed with the desire of the heavenly life: therefore he confuteth their opinions, which see their felicitie either in knowledge, or in pleasures, or in dignitie and riches, shewing that mans true felicity consisteth in that that hee is vnited with God, and shall enioy his presence: so that all other things must be reiected, saue in as much as they further vs to attaine to this heavenly treasure, which is sure and permanent, and cannot be found in any other saue in God alone.

CHAP. I.

2 All things in this world are full of vanitie, and of vane endurances. 13 All mans wisdom is but folly and griefe.

He words of the Preacher, the sonne of Dauid King in Ierusalem.

2 Vanitie of vanities, saith the Preacher: vanity of vanities, all is vanitie.

3 What remaineth vnto man in all his trauel, which hee suffereth vnder the sunne?

4 One generation passeth, and another generation succeedeth: but the earth remaineth for euer.

a Salomon is here called a Preacher, or one that assemblh the people, because he teacheth the true knowledge of God, and how men ought to passe their life in this transitory world.

b He condemneth the opinions of all men, that see felicitie in any thing but in God alone, seeing that in this world all things are as vanitie & nothing. c Salomon doth not cōdemne mans labor or diligence, but sheweth that there is no full cōtēntation in any thing vnder the heauen, nor in any creature, forasmuch as all things are transitory. d One man dieth after another, and the earth remaineth longest, euen to the last day, which yet is subiect to corruption

5 The sunne riseth, and the sunne goeth downe, and draweth to his place where he riseth.

6 The wind goeth toward the South, and compasseth toward the North: the wind goeth round about, and returneth by his circuits.

7 All the riuers goe into the sea, yet the sea is not full: for the riuers go vnto the place whence they returne and goe.

8 All things are full of labour: man cannot vter it: the eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the eare filled with hearing.

9 What is it that hath bene? that that shall bee: and what is it that hath bin done? that which shall be done: and there is no new thing vnder the sunne.

10 Is there any thing, wherof one may poure out springs and riuers into the sea againe. g He speaketh of times and seasons, and things done in them, which as they haue bene in times past, so come they to passe againe.

e By the sunne, wind and riuers he sheweth that the greatest labour and longest hath an end, and therefore there can be no felicity in this world.

Eccles. 40. 11.

f The sea which compasseth the earth, filleth the veines thereof, the which may poure out

springes and riuers

into the sea againe.

g He speaketh of times and seasons, and things done in them, which as they haue bene in times past, so come they to passe againe.

h He prooueth that if any could haue attained to felicitie in this world by labour and study, hee chiefly should haue obtained it, becaufe he had gifts and ayde of God therein to aboue all other.

1 Man of nature hath a desire to know, and yet is not able to come to the perfection of knowledge, which is the punishment of sin, to humble man, and to teach him to depend onely vpon God.

k Man is not able by all his diligence to cause things to goe otherwise then they doe: neither can he number the fautes that are committed, much lesse remedie them.

1 That is, vaine things which serued vnto pleasure, wherein was no commodity, but griefe and trouble of conscience. m Wisdome and knowledge cannot be come by without great paine of body and mind: for when a man hath attained to the highest, yet is his minde neuer fully content: therefore in this world is no true felicitie.

12 There is no memory of the former, neither shall there bee a remembrance of the latter that shalbe, with them that shall come after.

13 And I haue giuen mine heart to search and find out wisdom by all things that are done vnder the heauen: (this Ioseph traueled hath God giuen to the sonnes of men, to humble them thereby.)

14 I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the sunne: and behold, all is vanitie and vexation of the spirit.

15 That which is crooked, can none make straight: and that which faileth, can not be numbered.

16 I thought in mine heart, and said, Behold, I am become great, and excell in wisdom: all them that came before me in Jerusalem: and mine heart hath seene much wisdom and knowledge.

17 And I gaue mine heart to know wisdom and knowledge, madnes and foolishnesse: I knew also that this is a vexation of the spirit.

18 For in the multitude of wisdom I am much grieued: and be that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

19 That is, vaine things which serued vnto pleasure, wherein was no commodity, but griefe and trouble of conscience. m Wisdome and knowledge cannot be come by without great paine of body and mind: for when a man hath attained to the highest, yet is his minde neuer fully content: therefore in this world is no true felicitie.

20 Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wrought vnder the sunne is grievous vnto mee: for all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

21 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne, which I like haue leave to the man that shall bee after mee.

22 And who knoweth whether hee shall bee wise or foolish: yet shall he haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauailed, and wherein I haue shewed my selfe wise vnder the sunne. This also is vanitie.

23 Therefore I went about to make mine heart: I abhorre at the labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne.

24 For there is a man whose trauell is in wisdom, and in knowledge, and in equity: yet to a man that hath not trauailed herein, shall hee geue his portion: this also is vanitie and a great griefe.

25 For what hath man of all his trauell and griefe of his heart wherein he hath trauailed vnder the sunne?

26 For all his dayes are sorrowes, and whom he knew not whether he were a wise man or a foole.

8 I haue gathered vnto mee also silver, and gold, and the chiefe treasures of kingdoms and Provinces: I haue provided mee men fingers and women fingers, and the delights of the sonnes of men, as a woman taken captiue, and women taken captiues.

9 And I was great and increased aboue all that were before mee in Jerusalem: also my wisdom remained with mee.

10 And whatsoever mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withheld not mine heart from any toy: for mine heart reioyced in all my labour: and this was my portion of all my trauell.

11 Then I looked on all my workes that mine hands had wrought, and on the trauaile that I had laboured to doe: and behold, all is vanitie and vexation of the spirit: and there is no profite vnder the sunne.

12 And I turned to behold wisdom, and madnesse, and folly: (for who is the man that shall come after the King in things which men now haue done?)

13 Then I saw that there is profite in wisdom more then in folly: as the light is more excellent then darkenesse.

14 For the wise mans eyes are in his head, but the foole walketh in darkenesse: yet I know also that the same condition faileth to them all.

15 Then I thought in mine heart, It befalleth vnto mee, as it befalleth to the foole: why therefore doe I then labour to bee wise? And I sayd in mine heart, that this also is vanitie.

16 For there shall be no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole: for ever: for that that now is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten. And how dieth the wise man, as doeth the foole?

17 Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wrought vnder the sunne is grievous vnto mee: for all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

18 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne, which I like haue leave to the man that shall bee after mee.

19 And who knoweth whether hee shall bee wise or foolish: yet shall he haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauailed, and wherein I haue shewed my selfe wise vnder the sunne. This also is vanitie.

20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart: I abhorre at the labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne.

21 For there is a man whose trauell is in wisdom, and in knowledge, and in equity: yet to a man that hath not trauailed herein, shall hee geue his portion: this also is vanitie and a great griefe.

22 For what hath man of all his trauell and griefe of his heart wherein he hath trauailed vnder the sunne?

23 For all his dayes are sorrowes, and whom he knew not whether he were a wise man or a foole.

24 For there is a man whose trauell is in wisdom, and in knowledge, and in equity: yet to a man that hath not trauailed herein, shall hee geue his portion: this also is vanitie and a great griefe.

25 For what hath man of all his trauell and griefe of his heart wherein he hath trauailed vnder the sunne?

26 For all his dayes are sorrowes, and whom he knew not whether he were a wise man or a foole.

CHAP. II.

Pleasures, sumptuous building, riches and possessions are but vanitie. 15 The wife and the foole haue both one end touching the bodily death.

1 Said in mine heart, Go to now, I will proue thee with toy: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and behold, this also is vanitie.

2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of toy, What is this that thou doest?

3 I fought in mine heart: to giue my selfe to wine, & to leade mine heart in wisdom, and to take hold of folly, till I might see where is that goodnesse of the children of men, which they enjoy vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of their life.

4 I haue made my great works: I haue built me houses: I haue planted me vineyards.

5 I haue made me gardens & orchards and planted in them trees of all fruit.

6 I haue made me cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that grow with trees.

7 I haue gotten seruants and maydes, and had children borne in the house: also I had great possession of beeces and sheepe about all that were before mee in Jerusalem.

8 For in the multitude of the children borne in their seruitude, were I masters

f For all this warre, as Iudg. 5. 30. Some vnderstand by these words, no women, but instruments of musick.

g This was the fruit of al my labour, a certaine pleasure mixt with care, which he calleth vanity in the next verse.

h I be thought with my selfe whether it were better to follow wisdom, or mine owne affections and pleasures, which hee calleth madnes.

i Or, compare with the King. Prou. 17. 34.

j He foreseeth things, which the foole cannot for lacke of wisdom.

k For both die, and are forgotten, as verse 16.

l Meaning in this world.

m He wondreth that men forget a wife man being dead, asfoone as they doe a foole.

n That I might seeke the true felicitie which is in God.

o Among other griefes this was not the least, to leaue that which hee had gotten by great trauell, to one that had taken his trauaile griefe: his heart also taketh not rest in the night: which also is vanitie.

24 There is no profit to man, but that he eate and drinke, and delight his soule with the profit of his labour: I saw also this, that it was at the hand of God.

25 For who could eate, and who could haile to outward things more then I?

26 Surely to a man that is good in his sight, God giueth wisdom, and knowledge, and top: but to the sinner he giueth paine to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God: this is also vanitie and veratation of the spirit.

CHAP. II.

1 All things haue their time. 14 The workes of God are perfect, and cause vs to feare him. 17 God shall iudge both the iust and vniust.

a He speaketh of this diuersitie of time for two causes: first to declare that there is nothing in this world perpetual: next to reach vs not to be grieved if we haue not all things at once according to our desires, neither inioy them so long as wee would wish.

T All things there is an appointed time, and a time to euery purpose vnder the heauen.

2 A time to be borne, and a time to die: a time to plant, and a time to plucke up that which is planted.

3 A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to build.

4 A time to wepe, and a time to laugh: a time to mouene, and a time to dance.

5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing.

6 A time to seeke, and a time to lose: a time to keepe, and a time to cast away.

7 A time to rent, and a time to sewe: a time to keepe silence, and a time to speake.

8 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.

9 What profit hath hee that worketh, of the thing wherein he trauaileth?

10 I haue seene the trauaile that God hath giuen to the sonnes of men to humble them thereby.

11 We hath made euery thing beautifull is his time: also hee hath set the world in their heart, yet cannot man finde out the worke that God hath wrought from the beginning euen to the end.

12 I know that there is nothing good in them, but to reioyce, and to doe good in his life.

13 And also that euery man eateth and drinketh, and seeth the commodity of all his labour: this is the gift of God.

14 I know that whatsoeuer God shall doe, it shall bee for euery: so it can no man adde, and from it can none diminish: for God hath done it, that they should feare before him.

15 What is that that hath bene? that is now: and that that hath bee, hath now bene: for God requireth that which is so it shall come to passe.

16 And moreover, I haue seene vnder the sunne the place of iudgement, where was wickednesse, and the place of iustice, where is past to returne, was insatiable.

17 I thought in mine heart, God will iudge the iust and the wicked: for time is there for euery purpose and for euery worke.

18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men, that God had purged them: yet to see to, they are in themselves as beasts.

19 For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beasts, are euen as one: condition vnto them. As the one dieth, so dieth the other: for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellencie of man above the beast: for all is vanity.

20 All go to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shall returne to the dust.

21 Who knoweth whether the spirit of man ascend hyward, and the spirit of the beast descend downewarde to the earth?

22 Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man should reioyce in his affaires, because that is his portion. For who shall bring him to see what shall be after him?

and faith we easily know the diuersitie, as vers 21. k Meaning, that reason cannot comprehend that which faith beleeueth herein. l By the often repetition of this sentence, as Chap. 2. 24, and 3. 12, 22, and 5. 17, and 8. 15. hee declareth that man by reason can comprehend nothing better in this life, then to vse the gifts of God soberly and comfortably: for to know further, is a speciall gift of God revealed by his Spirit.

CHAP. II.

1 The innocents are oppressed. 4 Mens labours are full of abuse and vanitie. 9 Mans societie is necessary. 13 A young man poore and wise, is to be preferred to an oldaking that is afoole.

S I turned, and considered all the oppressions that are wrought vnder the sun, heere another and behold, the teares of the oppressed, and none comforteth them: and loe, the strength is of the hand of them that oppress them, and none comforteth them.

2 Wherefore I praised the dead which oppressed the now are dead, above the liuing which are yet aliu.

3 And I count him better then them both which hath not yet bene: for hee hath not seene the euill works which are wrought vnder the sunne.

4 Also I beheld all trauaile, and all persecution of workes, that this is the curse of the man against his neighbour: this also is vanity and veratation of spirit.

5 The fool so doeth his hands, and reacheth by his owne fleshy.

6 Better is an handfull with quietnes, then two handfuls with labour and vexation of spirit.

7 Again I returned, and saw vanity vnder the sunne.

8 There is one alone, and there is not a second, which hath neither sonne nor brother, yet is there none ende of all his trauaile, neither can his eye be satisfied with riches: neither doeth hee thinke, for whom doe I trauaile, and defraud my soule?

g Meaning, with God, howeouer man neglect his duty.

h And made them pure in their first creation.

i Man is not able by his reason and iudgment to put difference betweene man and beast, as touching those things whereunto both are subiect: for the eye cannot iudge any otherwise of a man being dead, then of a beast, which is dead: yet by the word of God

k Meaning, that reason cannot comprehend that which faith beleeueth herein. l By the often repetition of this sentence, as Chap. 2. 24, and 3. 12, 22, and 5. 17, and 8. 15. hee declareth that man by reason can comprehend nothing better in this life, then to vse the gifts of God soberly and comfortably: for to know further, is a speciall gift of God revealed by his Spirit.

m Because they are no more subiect to these oppressions.

o Therefore perfit that the work is, the more it is enuied of the wicked.

p For idleness he is compelled to destroy himselfe.

f Forasmuch as when man is alone, he can neither helpe himselfe nor others, he sheweth that men ought to liue in mutuall societie, to the intent they may bee profitable one to another, and that their things may increase.

g By this prouerbe he declareth how necessary it is, that men should liue in societie

h That is, from a poore, and bale estate, or out of erouble, and prison, as Ioseph did, Gen 41. 14.

i Meaning, that is borne a King.

k Which follow and flatter the Kings sonne, or him that shall succeed, to enter into credit with them in hope of gaine. l They neuer cease by all meanes to creepe into fauour: but when they obtaine not their greedy desires, they thinke themselves abused, as others haue bin in times past, and so care no more for him. m That is, with what affection thou comest to heare the word of God. n Meaning of the wicked, which thinke to please God with ceremonies, and haue neither faith nor repentance.

CHAP. V.

1 Not to speake lightly, chusly in Gods matters.

soule of pleasure? this also is vanitie, and this is an euill traualle.

9 Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour.

10 For if they fall, the one will lift vp his fellow: but woe vnto him that is alone: for hee falleth, and there is not a second to lift him vp.

11 Also if two sleepe together, then shall they haue heat: but to one how should there be heate?

12 And if one ouercome him, two shall stand against him: and a threefold a coward is not easily broken.

13 Better is a poore and wise childe, then an old and foolish king, which will no more be admonished.

14 For one of the prison hee cometh forth to reign: when as he that is borne in his kingdome, is made poore.

15 I beheld all the liuing, which walke vnder the sunne, k with the second childe, which shall stand vp in his place.

16 There is no end of all the people, nor of all that were before them, and they that come after, shall not reioyce in him: surely this is also vanitie, and vexation of spirit.

17 Take heede to thy wote when thou entrest into the house of God, and be more nere to heare then to giue the sacrifice of fooles: for they know not that they doe euill.

woke of thine hands?

6 For in the multitude of dreames, and vanities, are also many wordes: but feare thou God.

7 If in a countrey thou seeest the oppression of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iustice, bee not astonished at the matter: for he that is higher then the highest, regardeth, and there be higher then they.

8 And the abundance of the earth is one: all the king also consisteth by the field that is tilled.

9 He that loueth siluer shall not be satisfied with siluer, and hee that loueth riches, shall bee without the fruit thereof: this also is vanitie.

10 When goods increase, they are increased that eat them: and what good cometh to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes?

11 The sleepe of him that traualleth, is sweet, whether hee eate little or much: but the societie of the rich will not suffer him to sleepe.

12 There is an euill sicknesse that I haue seene vnder the sunne: to wit, riches referred to the owners thereof for their euill.

13 And these riches perishe by euill traualle, and he begetteth a sonne, and in his hand is nothing.

14 As hee came forth of his mothers belly, hee shall returne naked to goe as hee came, and shall beare away nothing of his labour.

15 And this also is an euill sicknesse, that in all points as he came, so shall he goe, and what profit hath he that hee hath trauailed for the winde?

16 Also all his dayes he eateth in darkness with much griefe, and in his sorow and anger.

17 Behold then what I haue seene good, that it is comely to eat, and to drinke, and to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein hee traualleth vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

18 Also to euery man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to eate thereof and to take his part, and to enioy his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely hee will not much remember the dayes of his life, because God answered to the top of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

1 The miserable estate of him to whom God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to vse them.

There is an euill, which I saw vnder the sunne, and it is much among men.

2 A man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures and honour, and hee wanteth nothing for his soule of all that it desireth: but God giueth him not power to eate thereof, but a strange man shall eate it vp: this is vanitie, and this f Meaning, that God will redresse these things, and therefore wee must depend vpon him.

this is an euill sickenesse.

3 If a man beget an hundred children, and liue many yeeres, and the dayes of his yeeres be multiplied, and his soule bee not satisfied with good things, and he be not buried, I say that an vntimely fruit is better then he.

4 For hee cometh into vanitie, and goeth into darknesse: and his name shall be couered with darknesse.

5 Alfo he hath not seene the Sunne, nor knowen it: therefore this hath more rest then the other.

6 And if hee had liued a thousand yeeres twice cold, and had leene no good, shall not all goe to one place?

7 All the labour of man is for his mouth: yet the soule is not filled.

8 For what hath the wise man more then the fool? what hath the poore that knoweth how to walke before the liuing?

9 The sight of the eye is better then to walke in the darknesse: this also is vanitie, and vocation of spirit.

10 What is that that hath bene? the name thereof is now named: and it is known that it is man: and he cannot strue with him that is stronger then he.

is better then the proud in spirit.

11 Bee not thou of an hadie spirit to bee angry: for anger resteth in the bosome of fooles.

12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former dayes were better then these? for thou dost not enquire wisely of this thing.

13 Wise-dome is good with an inheritance, and excellent to them that see the Sunne.

14 For man shall rest in the shadow of wise-dome, and in the shadow of siluer: but the excellency of the knowledge of wise-dome giueth life to the possessor thereof.

15 Behold the worke of God: for who can make straight that which hee hath made crooked?

16 In the day of wealth be of good comfort, and in the day of affliction: confide: God also hath made this contrary to that, to the intent that man should finde nothing after him.

17 I haue seene all things in the dayes of my vanitie: there is a iust man that perishest in his iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

18 Be thou not iust ouermuch, neither make thy selfe ouerwise: wherefore shouldst thou be desolate?

19 Be not thou wicked ouermuch, neither be thou foolish: wherefore shouldst thou perish not in thy time?

20 It is good that thou lay hold on this: but yet with draw not thine hand from that: for he that feareth God shall come forth of them all.

21 Wise-dome shall strengthen the wise man more then ten mightie princes that are in the citie.

22 Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doeth good and sinneth not.

23 Sinne not thine heart also to all the words that men speake, lest thou doe heare thy seruant cursing thee.

24 For often times also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast cursed others.

25 All this haue I proued by wise-dome: I thought, I will be wise, but it went farre from me.

26 It is farre off, what may it be? and it is a profound deepenesse, who can finde it?

27 I haue compassed about, both I and mine heart to know, and to inquire, and to searce wise-dome, and reason, and to know the wickednesse of follie, and the foolishnesse of madnesse.

28 And I find more bitter then death, the woman whose heart is as nets and snares, and her hands as bands: he that is good before God, shall be deliuered from her, but the sinner shall be taken by her.

29 Behold, saith the Preacher, this haue I found, seeking one by one to finde the count:

30 And yet my soule seeketh, but I find it not: I haue found one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not found.

Murmure not against God when he sendeth aduersities for mans finnes.

He answered them that esteeme not wise-dome, except riches be ioyned therewith, shewing that both are the gifts of God, but that wisdom is farre more excellent, and may be without riches.

Chap. viij. Consider wherefore God doth send it, and what may comfort thee.

That man should be able to controll nothing in his workes.

Meaning, that cruell tyrants put the godly to death, and let the wicked goe free.

Boast not too much of thine owne iustice and wise-dome.

Tary not long when thou art admonished to come out of the way of wickednesse.

To wit, on these admonitions that goe before.

Consider what desolation and destruction shall come, if thou doe not obey them.

Or, spoken euill of others.

Meaning, wise-dome.

CHAP. VII.

Diners precepts to follow that which is good, and to auoide the contrary.

1 Surely there be many things that increase Vanitie: and what analler it a man?

2 For who knoweth what is good for man in the life, and in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seeing he maketh them as a shadow? For who can shew vnto man what shall be after him vnder the sunne?

3 A good name is better then a good oymntment, and the day of death, then the day that one is borne.

4 It is better to goe to the house of mourning, then to goe to the house of feasting, because this is the end of all men: and the liuing shall lay it to his heart.

5 Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wife is in the house of mourning: but the heart of fooles is in the house of mirth.

7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wife man, then that a man should heare the song of fooles.

8 For like the noyse of the thornes vnder the rose, so is the laughter of the fool: this also is vanitie.

9 Surely oppression maketh a wise man madde: and the reward destroyeth the heart.

10 The end of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, and the patient in spirit beginning thereof, and the patient in spirit

b If he can neuer haue enough.

c As we see oftentimes, that the couetous man either falleth into crimes that deserve death, or is murdered, or drowned, or hanged himselfe, or such like, and so lacketh the honour of buriall, which is the last office of humanity.

d Meaning the vntimely fruit, whose life did neither profite nor hurt any.

e His desire and affection.

f That knoweth to vs his goods well in the iudgement of men.

g To be content with that which God hath giuen, is better then to follow the desires that neuer can be satisfied.

b He speaketh thus after the iudgement of the flesh, which thinke death to be the end of all euils: or els, because that this corporal death is the entering into life euerlasting.

c Where wee may see the hand of God, and learne to examine our liues.

d Which crackle for a while, and profit nothing.

e A man that is esteemed wise, when he falleth to oppression, becometh like a beast.

f Hee noteth their lightnesse which enterprife a thing, and suddenly leaue it off againe.

e And so are cause of their owne destruction.

31 Only loe, this haue I found, that God hath made man righteous: but they haue fought many inuentiones.

CHAP. VIII.

2 To obey princes and magistrates. 17 The works of God passe mans knowledge.

Who is as the wise man? & who knoweth the interpretation of a thing: the wisdom of a man doeth make his face to shine: and the strength of his face shall be changed.

2 I aduertise thee to take heede to the mouth of the king, and to the word of the other of God.

3 Vastie not to goe forth of his sight:
stand not in an euill thing: for hee will doe whatsoeuer please him.

4 Where the word of the King is, there is power, and who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?

5 Hee that keepeth the commandment, shall knowe none euill thing, and the heart of the wise shall knowe the time and iudge-ment.

6 For to euery purpose there is a time and iudgement, because the miserie of man is great vpon him.

7 For he knoweth not that which shall be: for who can tell him when it shall be?

8 Man is not lord ouer the spirit to retaine the spirit: neither hath he power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither shall wickednesse deliuer the possessors thereof.

9 All this haue I seene, and haue giuen mine heart to euery worke which is wrought vnder the Sunne, and I sawe a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne hurt.

10 And likewise I sawe the wicked buried, and they returned, and they that came from the holy place, were yet forgotten in the city where they had done right: this also is vanitie.

11 Because sentence against an euill worke is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in them to doe euill.

12 Though a sinner doe euill an hundred times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I knowe that it shall bee well with them that feare the Lord, & doe reuerence before him.

13 But it shall not be well to the wicked, neither shall hee prolong his dayes: he shall be like a shadow, because he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie which is done vpon the earth, that there bee righteous men to whom it cometh according to the workes of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whom it cometh according to the workes of the iust: I thought also that this is vanitie.

15 And I prayd for: for there is no goodnesse to man vnder the Sunne, saue to eate and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the Sunne.

16 When I applyed mine heart to know wisdom, and to beholde the businesse that is done on earth: that mither day nor night

the eyes of man take sleepe,

17 Then I beheld the whole worke of God, that man cannot finde out the worke that is wrought vnder the Sunne: for the which man laboureth to seeke it, and cannot finde it: yea, and though the wise man thinke to know it, he cannot finde it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By no outward thing can man know whom God looueth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his ende.
16 Wisdom excelleth strength.

I haue surely giuen mine heart to all this,
I and to declare all this, that the iust, and the wise, and their workes are in the hand of God: and no man knoweth either loue or hatred of all that is before them.

2 All things come alike to all: and the same condition is to the iust and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the sinner, hee that sweareth, as he that feareth an oath.

3 This is euill among all that is done vnder the Sunne, that there is one condition to all, and also the heart of the sonnes of men is full of euill, and madnesse is in their hearts whiles they liue, and after that, they goe to the dead.

4 Surely whosoener is toynd to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a liuing dogge, then to a dead lion.

5 For the liuing know that they shall die, but the dead know nothing at all: neither haue they any more a reward: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Also their loue, and their hatred, and their enuy is now perished, and they haue no more portion for euery, in all that is done vnder the sunne.

7 Goe, eate thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a cheerefull heart: for God now accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garments be white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head.

9 * Reioyce with the wife whom thou hast loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which God hath giuen thee vnder the Sunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the labour, and in thy trauell wherein thou labourest vnder the Sunne.

10 All that thine hand shall finde to doe, doe it with all thy power: for there is neither worke, nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the graue whither thou goest.

11 I returned, and I sawe vnder the sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battell to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding, neither yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and chance cometh to them all.

in abundance. * Reioyce, be merrie, and spare for no cost: thus speake the wicked belly gods. * Ebr. regard the life. Chap. 5. 18.

8 That is, hee doeth not foresee but as the fishes which are taken in an euill net, and as the birds that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euill time when it falleth vpon them suddenly.

12 I haue also seene this wisdome vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto me.

14 A little cite and few men in it, and a great king came against it, and compassed it about, and builded forts against it.

15 And there was found therein a poore and wise man, and hee deliuered the city by his wisdome: but none remembred this poore man.

16 Then said I, Better is wisdome then strength: yet the wisdome of the poore is despised, and his words are not heard.

17 The words of the wise are more heard in quietnesse, then the crye of him that ryleth among fooles.

18 Better is wisdome then weapons of warre: but one siner destroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

1 The difference of foolishnesse and wisdome. 11 A slanderer is like a serpent that cannot be charmed. 16 Of foolish kings and drunken princes. 17 And of good kings and princes.

God fliese canke to stinke, and putrifie the department of the Apothecarie: so doeth a little folly him that is in estimation for wisdome, and for glory.

2 The heart of a wise man is at his right hand: but the heart of a foole is at his left hand.

3 And also when the foole goeth by the way, his heart faileth, and he relecth vnto all that he is a foole.

4 If the spirit of him that enleth rise vpon against thee, leaue not thy place: for gentle-nesse pacifieth great sinnes.

5 There is an euill chat I haue seene vnder the sunne, as an error that proceedeth from the face of him that ruleth.

6 Folly is set in great excellencie, and the rich set in the low place.

7 I haue seene seruants on horses, and princes walking as seruants on the ground.

8 He that diggeth a pit, shall fall into it, and he that breakech the hedge, a serpent shall bite him.

9 Hee that remoueth stones, shall hurt himselfe thereby, and he that cutteth wood, shall be in danger thereby.

10 If the yon be blunt, and one hath not whet the edge, hee must then put to more strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing, is wisdome.

11 If the serpent bite, when he is not charmed: no better is a babler.

12 The words of the mouth of a wise man haue grace: but the lips of a foole de- house himselfe.

13 The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishnes, and the latter end of his mouth is wicked madnes.

14 For the foole multiplieth words, saying, I can knoweth not what shall be: and thus can tel him what shall be after him.

15 The labour of the foolish doth weary him: for he knoweth not to go into the city.

16 Doe to thee, O land, when thy king is a child, and thy princes eate in the morning.

17 Blessed art thou, O land, when thy king is the sonne of nobles, and thy princes eate in time, for strength and not for drunkennesse.

18 By slothfulness the roose of the house goeth to decay: and by the idleness of the hands, the house droppeth thoroow.

19 They prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the lining, but siluer answereth to all.

20 Cursed not the king, no not in thy thought, neither curse the rich in thy bed chamber: for the foule of the heauen shall carry the voice, and that which hath wings, shall declare the matter.

CHAP. XI.

1 To be liberrall to the poore. 4 Not to doubt of Gods providence. 8 A worldly prosperitie is but vanity. 9 God will iudge all.

Cast thy bread vpon the waters: for after many dayes thou shalt find it.

2 Giue a portion to seuen, y also to eight: for thou knowest not what euill shall be vpon the earth.

3 If the cloudes be full, they wil poutre forth raine vpon the earth: and if the tree doe fall toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tree falleth, there it shall be.

4 He that obserueth the wind, shall not sow, and he that regardeth the cloudes, shall not reape.

5 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones doe grow in the wombe of her that is with child, so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

6 In the morning sowe thy seed, and in the evening let not thine hand rest: for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, this or that, or whether both shall be alike good.

7 Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne.

8 Though a man liue many yeres, and in them all be reioyce, yet he shall remember the dayes of darkness, because they are many, all that cometh is vanity.

9 Reioyce, O young man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth, and walke in the wayes of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but know that for all these things, God will bring thee to iudgement.

10 Therefore take away griefe out of thine heart, and cause euill to depart from thy flesh: for childhood and youth are vanity.

God would not call them to an account. i To wit, anger, and enuie. k Meaning, carnall lust, whereunto youth is giuen.

An excellent Song which was Salomons.

THE ARGUMENT.

In this song Salomon by most sweet & comfortable allegories and parables describeth the perfect loue of Iesus Christ, the true Salomon & King of peace, and the faithful soul or his Church, which he hath sanctified and appointed to be his spouse, holy, chaste, and without reprehension, so that here is declared the singular loue of the bridegrome toward the bride, and his great and excellent benefits wherewith he doth enrich her of his pure bounty and grace without any of her desertings. Also the earnest affection of the Church which is inflamed with the loue of Christ, desiring to be more and more ioyoued to him in loue, and not to be forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

CHAP. I.

1 The familiar talke and mysticall communication of the spirituall loue betwene Iesus Christ and his Church. 2 The domestick enemies that persecute the Church.

Let him kisse me with the kisse of his mouth: for thy loue is better then wine.

2 Because of the fauour of thy good oymntments thy name is as an oymntment pow-red out: therefore the virgins loue thee.

3 Draw me: we will runne after thee:
the King hath brought mee into his chambers: we wil reioyce and be glad in thee: we will remember thy loue more then wine: the righteous doe loue thee.

9 And the more wise the Preacher was,
the more hee taught the people knowledge, and caused them to heare, and searched forth and prepared many parables.

sant words, and an vpright writing, even the words of tructh.

11 The words of the wise are like goads, and like nailes fastened by the makers of the assemblies, which are giuen by one Pa-stour.

my sonne, take thou vade, for there is and keepe his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man.

it be good or euill.

k The Church desireth Christ to bee most readie to helpe her in all dangers.

CHAP. III.

1 The Church desireth to be ioyned inseparably to Christ her husband. 6 Her deliuerance out of the wilderness.

I As my bed by night I sought him that my soule loued: I sought him, but I found him not.

2 I will rise therefore now, and goe about in the citie, by the strretes and by the open places, and will seeke him that my soule loveth: I sought him, but I found him not.

3 The watchmen that went about the citie, found mee: to whom I said, Waue you scene him whom my soule loveth?

4 When I had said a lillie from them, then I found him whom my soule loued: Iooke holde on him and lett him not, till I had brought him vnto my mothers house, into the chamber of my char conuenced me.

5 I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the bindes of the field, that yee stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill he please.

6 Also is see that cometh vp out of the wilderness like pillars of smoke perfumed with myrrhe and incense, and with all the spices of the merchant.

7 Behold his bed which is Salomons: therefore strong men are round about it, of the valiant men of Israel.

8 They all handle the sword, and are expert in warre, euery one hath his sword vpon his thigh for the feare by night.

9 King Salomon made himselfe a palace of the trees of Lebanon.

10 He made the pillars thereof of silver, and the pavement thereof of golde, the hangings thereof of purple, whose midwes was paved with the soue of the daughters of Ierusalem.

11 Come forth ye daughters of Zion, and beholde the King Salomon with the crowne wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his marriage, and in the day of the gladnesse of his heart.

12 The King Salomon was crowned with the crowne wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his marriage, and in the day of the gladnesse of his heart.

Behold, thou art faire, my lone: behold, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doves: among thy locks thine haire is like the flocke of goates, which looke downe from the mountaine of Seirad.

2 Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe in good order, which goe vp from the washing: which every one bring out twinnes, and none is barren among them.

3 Thy lips are like a thred of scarlet, and thy talke is comely: thy temples are within thy locks, as a piece of a pomegranat.

4 Thy necke is as the towre of David built for defence: a thousand shields hang therein, and all the targets of the strong men.

5 Thy two breasts are as two yong roses that are twinnes, feeding among the lillies.

6 Untill the day breake, & the shadowes flee away, I will goe into the mountaine of myrrhe, and to the mountaine of incense.

7 Thou art all faire, my lone, and there is no spot in thee.

8 Come with mee from Lebanon, my spouse, even with mee from Lebanon, and looke from the top of Amanah, from the top of Shebir, and Hermon, from the dennes of the lions, and from the mountaines of the leopards.

9 My sister, my spouse, thou hast wounded mine heart: thou hast wounded mine heart with one of thine eyes, and with a chaine of thy necke.

10 My sister, my spouse, how faire is thy lone: how much better is thy lone then wine, and the favour of thine oynments then all spices?

11 Thy lippes, my spouse, drop as honycombes: hony and milke are under thy tongue, and the favour of thy garments is as the favour of Lebanon.

12 My sister my spouse is as a garden inclosed, as a spring shut vp, and a fontaine sealed vp.

13 Thy plants are as an orchard of pomegranates with sweete fruites, as camphire, spikenard,

2 O sheepe, but mine heart waketh, it is the voyce of my welbeloued that knocketh, saying, Open unto mee, my sister, my lone, my dove, my undefiled: for in the head is full of draw, and my lockes with the drops of the night.

3 I haue put off my coate, how shall I put it on: I haue washed my feet, how shall I defile them?

4 My welbeloued put in his hand by the hole of the dore, and mine heart was affectioned toward him.

5 I rose vp to open to my welbeloued, and mine hands did drop downe myrrhe, and my fingers pure myrrhe vpon the handles of the barre.

6 I opened to my welbeloued: but my welbeloued was gone and past: mine heart was gone when he did speake: I sought him, but I could not find him: I called him, but he answered me not.

7 The watchmen that went about the cite, found me: they mocked me and wounded mee: the watchmen of the wals tooke away my baile from me.

8 I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem, if you find my welbeloued, that ye tell him that I am like of lone.

9 O the fairest among women, what is thy welbeloued more then other welbeloued? what is thy welbeloued more then another lone, that thou dost to charge vs?

10 My welbeloued is white and ruddie, the chiefe of ten thousand.

11 His head is as fine gold, his locks curled, and blacke as a rauen.

12 His eyes are like dones vpon the rimmes of waters, which are washed with milke, and remaine in full vessels.

13 His cheekes are as a bed of spices, and as sweet flowers, and his lips like lillies dropping downe pure myrrhe.

14 His hands as rings of gold set with the chrysolite, his belly like white porpise conered with Sapphires.

15 His legges are as pillars of marble set vpon sockets of fine golde: his countenance as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars.

16 His mouth is as sweete things, and he is wholly delectable: this is my welbeloued, and this is my lone, O daughters of Jerusalem.

Isaiah.

THE ARGUMENT.

God according to his promise, Deut. 28. 15. that he would neuer leaue his Church destitute of a Prophet, hath from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was, not onely to declare vnto the people the things to come, whereof they had a speciall reuelation, but also to interpret and declare the Law, and to apply particularly the doctrine contained briefly therein, to the vilitie and profit of those to whom they thought it chiefly to appertain, and as the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Law, they had respect to three things, which were the ground of their doctrine. First, to the doctrine contented briefly in the two tables: secondly, to the promises and threatnings of the Law: and thirdly, to the covenant of grace and reconciliation, grounded vpon our Saviour Iesus Christ, who is the end of the Law. Whereunto they neither added nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the sense and meaning thereof. And according as God gaue them vnderstanding of things, they applyed the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also deuounced the menaces against the enemies of the same: not for any cure or regard to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their safeguard by the destruction of their enemies, and as touching the doctrine of reconciliation, they haue more clearly entreated it then Moses, and set forth more liuely Iesus Christ, in whom this covenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophets, and was most diligent to set out the same, with most vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations: euer applying the doctrine, as he saw that the disease of the people required. He declareth also many notable prophecies which he had receiued of God, as touching the promise of the Messiah, his office and his kingdome. Also of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, and their vniou with the Iewes, Which are as most principall points contained in this booke, and a gathering of his Sermons that he preached. Which after certaine dayes that they had stood vpon the Temple doore (for the manner of the Prophets was to set vp the summe of their doctrine for certaine dayes, that the people might the better marke it, as Isai. 8. 1. and Habac. 2. 2.) the Priests tooke it downe and reuerued it among the registers: and so by Gods providence these booke were prelerued as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his person and time, he was of the kings stocks. (For Amos his father was brother to Azariah king of Iudah, as the best writers agree) and prophesied more then 64. yeeres, from the time of Vzziah vnto the reigne of Manasseh, whose father in law he was (as the Ebrewes write) and of whom he was put to death. And in reading of the Prophets, this one thing among others is to be obserued, that they speake of things to come, as though they were now past, because of the certaintie thereof, and that they could not but come to passe, because God had ordained them in his secret counsell, and so reuealed them to his Prophets.

k By naming the chiefe parts of the body he signifieth that there was no part of the whole body of the Iewes free from his rods.

l Every part of the body, as well the least as the chiefeft was plagued.

m Their plagues were so grievous that they were incurable, & yet they would not repent.

n Meaning, of them that dwell farre off, which because they looke for no advantage of the care remaineth, destroy all before them.

o That is, Ierusalem.

p Because that he will euer haue a Church to call vpon his name, q That is, all destroyed.

a That is, a reuelation, or prophesie, which was one of the two meanes, whereby God declared himself to his seruants in old time, as Numb. 12. 6. and therefore the Prophets were called Seers, 1. Sam. 9. 9.

b Isaiah was chiefly sent to Iudah & Ierusalem, but not only: for in this booke are prophecies concerning other nations also. c Called also Azariah, 2. King. 15. 1. of these kings, read 2. king. from Chap. 14. vnto Chap. 21. and 2. Chron. from Chap. 25. vnto Chap. 33. d Because men were obstinate and in sensible, he calleth to the dumbe creatures, which were more prompt to obey Gods word, as Deut. 32. 1. e He declareth his great mercy toward the Iewes, for as much as he chose them above all other nations to be his people & children, as Deut. 10. 15. f The most brut and dul beasts do more acknowledge their duty toward their masters, then my people do toward me, of whom they haue reueiued benefits without comparison. g They were not onely wicked, as were their fathers, but vtterly corrupt, and by their euill example infected others. h That is, him that sanctifieth Israel. i What can I thinke it to seeke to amend you by punishment, seeing the more I correct you, the more ye rebel?

u Your sacrifices offered in the new moon and feasts: he condemneth hereby hypocrites, which think to please God with ceremonies, and they themselves are voyde of faith and mercy. x He sheweth that wheremen be giuen to auarice, deceit, cruelty and extortion, which is meant by blood, where God will shew his anger, and not accept them, though they seeme neuer so holy as Chap. 59. j. y By this outward washing, he meaneth the spiritual exhorting the Lewes to repent and amend their liues. z This kinde of reasoning by the second table, the Scriptures vse in many places against the hypocrites, who pretend most holiness and religion in worde, but when their charity and louetoward their brethren should appeare, they declare that they haue neither faith nor religion. a To know if I doe accuse you without cause. b Left sinners should pretend any rigour on Gods part, he onely willetch them to be pure in heart, and he will forgieue all their finnes, were they neuer so many or great. c He sheweth that whateuer aduersitie man endureth, it ought to be attributed to his owne incredulity and disobedience. d That is Ierusalem, which had promised fidelitie vnto me, as a wife to her husband. e Giuen to couetousnes and extortion, which he signified before by blood verse 15. f Whatlouer was pure in thee before is now corrupt, though thou haue an outward shew. g That is, they maintaine the wicked and the extortioners, and not onely doe not punish them but are themselves such. h When God will shew himselfe mercifull to his Church he calleth himselfe, The holy One of Iffrael: but when he hath to do with his enemies, he is called Mightie, as against whom no power is able to resist. i I will take vengeance of mine aduersaries the Lewes, and so satisfie my desire by punishing them: Which thing yet he doeth with a grieve, because of his covenant. k Left the faithfull among them should be overcome with this threatening he addeth this consolation. l It is onely the worke of God to purifie the heart of man, which thing he doeth because of his promise, made concerning the saluation of his Church. m By iustice is meant Gods faithfull promise, which is the cause of the deliuerance of his Church.

14 My soule hateth your new moones and your appointed feasts: they are a burden vnto me, I am weary to beare them. 15 And when you shall stretch out your hands, I will hide mine eyes from you: and though yee make many prayers, I will not heare: for your hands are full of blood. 16 O that you, make you cleane: take away the euill of your workes from before mine eyes: cease to doe euill. 17 Learne to do well: seeke iudgement, relieve the oppressed: iudge the fatherlesse, and defend the widow. 18 Come now, and let vs reason together, saith the Lord: though your sins were as crimson, they shall bee made white as snow: though they were redde like scarlet, they shall be as wool. 19 If ye consent and obey, ye shall eate the good things of the land. 20 But if ye refuse and be rebellious, yee shall be distressed with the sword: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it. 21 How is the faithfull citie become an harlot? It was full of iudgement, and iustice lodged therein, but now they are murdurers. 22 Thy silver is become dross: thy wine is mixt with water. 23 Thy princes are rebellious and companions of thieves: eury one loueth gifts, and followeth after rewards, they iudge not the fatherlesse, neither doeth the widowes cause come before them. 24 Therefore saith the Lord God of hosts, the mighty one of Israel, Ah, I will ease me of mine aduersaries, and avenge me of mine enemies. 25 Then I will turne mine hand vpon thee, and burne out thy dross, til it be pure, and take away all thy time. 26 And I will releeue thy iudges as at the first: and thy counsellors as at the beginning: afterward shall thou be called a citie of right counsellors, and a faithfull citie. 27 Zion shall be redeemed in iudgement, and they that returne in her, in iustice.

28 And the destruction of the transgressors and of the sinners, shall bee together: and they that forsake the Lord shall be consumed, 29 For they shall bee confounded for the oakes, which yee haue desired, and yee shall bee ashamed of the gardens, that yee haue chosen, 30 For yee shall be as an oke, whose leafe fadeth: and as a garden that hath no water. 31 And the strong shall be as tow, and the maker thereof as a sparke: and they shall both burne together, and none shall quench them.

your confidence, shall be consumed as easily as a piece of tow.

CHAP. II.

2 The Church shall be restored by Christ, and the Gentiles called. 6 The punishment of the rebellious and obstinate.

The word that I saiah the sonne of Amoz saw vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.

2 It shall be in the last dayes, that the mountaine of the house of the Lord shall bee prepared in the top of the mountaines, and shall be exalted aboue the hills, and all nations shall flow vnto it.

3 And many people shall go, & say, Come and let vs goe vnto the mountaine of the Lord, to the house of the God of Iacob, and he will teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his pathes: For the Law shall go forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Ierusalem.

4 And a breake shall iudge among the nations, and rebuke many people: they shall breake their swords into mattocks, and their speares into fishes: nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learne to fight any more.

5 The house of Iacob, come ye, and let vs walke in the light of the Lord.

6 Surely thou hast forsaken thy people, the house of Iacob, because they are full of the East manners and are forcerers as the Philistines, and abound with strange children.

7 Their land also was full of silver and golde: and there was none end of their treasures: and their land was full of horses, and their charrets were infinite.

8 Their land also was full of idols: they worshipped the worke of their owne hands, when the Gospel was first preached in Ierusalem, and from thence went through all the world. g The Lord, which is Christ, shall haue all power giuen him. h That they may acknowledge their finnes, and turne to him. i He sheweth the fruit of the peace, which the Gospel should bring, to wit, that men should doe good one to another, whereas before they were enemies. k Hee speaketh not against the vse of weapons and lawfull warre, but sheweth how the hearts of the godly shall be affected one toward another: which peace and loue doeth beginne and growe in this life, but shall be perfected, when we are ioyned with our head Christ Iesus. l Seeing the Gentiles will be so ready, make you halte, and shew them the way to worship God. m The Prophet teeing the final hope that the Lewes would conuert, complineth to God, as though he had vtterly forsaken them for their finnes. n Full of the corruptions that reigned chiefly in the East parts. o They altogether giue themselves to the fashions of other nations. p The Prophet first condemned their superstition and idolatry, next their couetousnesse, and thirdly, their vaine trust in worldly meanes.

f This was accomplished.

Q He noteth the nature of the idolaters, which are neuer satisfied in their superstitious. 9 Thus the Prophet spake, being inflamed with the zeale of Gods glory, and that he might feare them with Gods iudgments. f Meaning, as soone as God shall begin to execute his iudgements. r By high trees and mountaines are meant them that are proud, and lofty, and thinke themselves most strong in this world. n He condemneth their vaine confidence which they had in strong holdes and in their rich merchandise, which brought in vaine pleasure, wherewith mens mindes became effeminate. Hose. i. 8. Luke 23. 30. reuel. 6. 16. and 9. 6. x They shall cast them into most vile and filthy places when they perceiue that they are not able to helpe them. y Cast off your vaine confidence of man, whose life is so fraile, that if his nose be stopped he is dead, and consider that you haue to doe with God.

CHAP. III.

1 For the sinne of the people God will take away the wife men, & giue them foolish princes 14 The covetousnesse of the gouernours. 16 The pride of the women.

P For the Lord God of hostes will take away from Ierusalem and from Iuda, the stay, and the strength: euen all the stay of bread, and all the stay of water, 2 The strong man, and the man of war the Iudge and the Prophet, the prudent and the aged, 3 The captaine of fiftie, and the honourable, and the counsellor, and the cunning artificer, and eloquent man. 4 And I will appoint children to be their princes, and babes shall rule ouer them. 5 The people shall be oppressed one of another, and euery one by his neighbour: the children shall presume against the ancient, and the vile against the honourable. 6 When euery one shall take hold of his brother of the house of his father, and say, Thou hast clothed: thou shalt bee our prince, and let this fall be vnder thine hand: 7 In that day he shall sweare, saying, I cannot be an helper: for there is no bread in mine house, nor clothing: therefore make me no prince of the people. 8 Doubtlesse Ierusalem is fallen, & Iudah is fallen downe, because their tongue and workes are against the Lord, to prouoke the eyes of his glory. 9 The trial of their countenance testifieth against them, yea, they declare their sinnes, as Sodom, they hide them not. Moe be vnto their soules: for they haue rewarded euill vnto themselves. 10 Say ye, Surely it shall be well with the Iust: for they shall eate the fruit of their workes. 11 Moe be to the wicked, it shall be euill with him: for the reward of his hands shall be giuen him. 12 Children are extortioners of my people, and women haue rule ouer them: O my people, they that leade thee, cause thee to erre, and destroy the way of thy paths. 13 The Lord standeth vp to plead, yea, he standeth vp to iudge the people. 14 The Lord shall enter into iudgement with the Ancients of his people and the princes thereof: for yee haue eaten vp the vineyard: the spoyle of the poore is in your houses. 15 What haue ye to doe, that yee beate my people to pieces, and grinde the faces of the poore, saith the Lord, euen the Lord of hostes? 16 The Lord also saith, Because the daughters of Zion are haughty, and walke with stretched out neckes, and with wandering eyes, walking and minning as they goe, and making a tinkling with their feete, 17 Therefore shall the Lord make the heads of the daughters of Zion balde, and the Lord shall discouer their secret partes. 18 In that day shall the Lord take away the ornament of the slippers and the calles, and the round tiere, 19 The sweete balles, and the bracelets and the bouners, 20 The tyres of the head, and the strops and the headbands, and the tablets, and the earerings, 21 The rings and the mufflers, 22 The costly apparell and the balles, and the wimples and the crisping pinnes, 23 And the glasse, and the fine linnen, a Because they trusted in their abundance and prosperitie, he sheweth that they should be taken from them. b The temporal gouernour and the minister. c By these he meant that God would take away euery thing that was in any estimation, & wherein they had any occasion to vaunt themselves. d Not only in age, but in witt, maners knowledge and strength. c For lacke of good regiment and order, f He sheweth that this plague shall be so horrible, that contrarie to the common maner of men, which by nature are ambitious, none shall be found able or willing to be their gouernour. g Feare shall rather cause him to forswear himselfe, then to take such a dangerous charge vpon him. h When God shall examine their dedes, whereupon they now see an impudent face, he shall finde the marke of their impiety in their forehead. i Beye that are godly assured that God will defend you in the middes of these troubles. k Because the wicked people were more addicted to their princes, then to the commandments of God, he sheweth that he would giue them such princes, by whom they should haue no helpe, but that should be manifest tokens of his wrath, because they should be fooles and effeminate. l Meaning that the rulers and gouernours had destroyed his Church, and not preferred it according to their duty. m That is, yee shewal cruelty against them. n He meaneth the people, because of the arrogancie and pride of their women, which gaue themselves to al wantonnesse and dissolution. o which declared their pride. p As a signe, that they were not chaste. q Which shewed their wantonnesse. r They delighted them in slippers that did creake, or had little plates sowed vpon them, which tinkled as they went.

f In rehearsing and the goods, and the f launes.

24 And in stead of sweete savour there shall be stinke, and in stead of a girdle, a rent, and in stead of dressing of the haire, baldnes, and in stead of a stomacher, a girding of sackloth, and burning in stead of beaurtie.

25 Thy men shall fall by the sword, and thy strength in the battell.

26 Then shall her gates mourne and lament, and she being desolate shall sit vpon the ground.

e Meaning, that God will not onely punish the women, but their husbands, which have suffered this dissolutenesse, & also the common wealth, which hath not remedied it.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The small remnant of men after the destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The graces of God vpon them that remaine.

a When God shall execute this vengeance, there shall not be one man found to be the head to many women, and they, contrary to womanly shamefastnesse, shall seeke vnto men, and offer themselves to any condition.

b Bechour husband, and let vs be called thy wiues.

c For so they thought it to be without an head and husband.

d He comforteth the Church in this desolation, which shall spring vp like a bud, signifying that Gods graces should bee as plentiful toward the faithfull, as though they sprang out of the earth, as Cha. 4. 5. 8. Some by the bud of the Lord, meane Christ.

e Hee alludeth to the booke of life, whereof reade Exod. 32. 32 meaning Gods secret counsel, wherein his elect are predestinate to life everlasting.

f That is, the cruelty, extortion, auarice and all wickednesse.

g When things shall bee redressed that were amisse, h Hee alludeth to y pillar of the cloud, Exod. 13. 21 meaning, that Gods fauour and protection should appeare in euery place.

1 The faithfull are called the glory of God, because his image and tokens of his grace shine in them. k God promisseth to be the defence of his Church against all troubles and dangers.

CHAP. V.

1 Under the similitude of the vine, hee describeth the state of the people. 8 Of their auarice.

11 Their drunkennesse. 13 Of their captiuitie.

a The Prophet by this song doth let before the peoples eyes their ingratitude.

2 And he bedged it, and gathered out the stones of it, and he planted it with the best.

plants, and he built a tower in the middes thereof, and made a winepresse therein: then he looked that it should bring forth grapes: but it brought forth wilde grapes.

3 Now therefore, O inhabitants of Ierusalem, and men of Iudah, iudge, I pray you, betwene me and my vineyard.

4 What could I haue done any more to my vineyard, that I haue not done vnto it? why haue I looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it bringeth forth wilde grapes?

5 And now I will tell you what I will doe to my vineyard: I will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten vp: I will breake the wall thereof, and it shall be troden downe.

6 And I will lay it waste: it shall not be cut, nor digged, but hedges, and thornes shall grow vp: I will also command the cloudes that they raine no raine vpon it.

7 Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Iudah are his pleasant plant, and hee looked for iudgement, but beholde oppression: for righteousnesse, but beholde a crying.

8 Come vnto them that toyne house to house, and lay field to field, till there bee no place, that ye may be placed by your selues in the mids of the earth.

9 This is in mine eares, saith the Lord of hosts. Surely many houses shall bee desolate, even great, and faire without inhabitant.

10 For ten acres of vines shall yeeld one bush, and the seed of an homer shall yeeld an ephab.

11 Come vnto them that rise by early to follow drunkennesse, and to them that continue vntill a night, all the wine doth inflame them.

12 And the harpe, and viol, timbrel, and pipe, and wine are in their feasts: but they regard not the worke of the Lord, neither consider the worke of his hands.

13 Therefore my people is gone into captiuitie, because they had no knowledge, and the glory thereof is men famished, and the multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst.

14 Therefore heell hath enlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth without measure, and their glory, and their multitude, and their pomp, and he that reioiceth among them, shall descend into it.

15 And man shall be brought downe, and man shall be humbled, even the eyes of the proud shall be humbled.

16 And the Lord of hosts shall be exalted in iudgement, and the holy Ghost shall bee sanctified in iudice.

s That is, shall certainly goe: for so the Prophets vse to speake, as though the thing which shall come to passe, were done already.

t Because they would not obey the word of God. u Meaning, the graue shall swallow vp them that shall die for hunger and thirst, and yet for all this great destruction, it shall neuer be satiate.

d He spared no diligence nor cost.

e In the seventh verse he declareth what they were,

f Hee maketh them iudges in their own cause, forasmuch as it was euident that they were the cause of their owne ruine.

g I will take no more care for it: meaning that he would take from them his word there is no religion.

t Because they would not obey the word of God.

u Meaning, the graue shall swallow vp them that shall die for hunger and thirst, and yet for all this great destruction, it shall neuer be satiate.

x God comforteth the poore Lambes of his Church, which had bene strangers in other countreys, promising that they should dwell in those places againe, whereof they had bene deprived by the fat and cruell tyrants.

y Which vse all allurements, occasions, and excuses to harden their conscience in sinne.

z Hee sheweth what are y words of the wicked, when they are menaced with Gods iudgements.

2. Pet 3. 4. a Which are not ashamed of sin, nor care for honesty, but are growen to a desperate impiety.

b Which are contempters of all doctrine and admonition

c Which are neuer weary but shewe their strength, & brag in gluttony and drunkenesse.

d Both they and their posterity, so that nothing shall be left.

e He sheweth that God had so fore punished this people, that the dumme creatures, if they had bene so plagued, would haue bene more sensible, & therefore his plagues must continue till they begin to feele them.

f Hee will make the Babylonians to come against him at his becke, & to fight vnder his standard.

17 Then shall the lambs feed after their manner, and the strangers shall eate the desolate places of the fat.

18 Come vnto them that draw iniquity with y cords of vanitie, and sin, as with cart ropes, 19 Which say, Let him make speede: let him hasten his worke that we may see it: and let the counsell of the holy one of Israel draw nere and come, that wee may know it.

20 Come vnto them that speake good of euill, and euill of good, which put darkenes for light, and light for darkenesse, that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for lowe.

21 Come vnto them that are wile in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Come vnto them that are mighty to drinke wine, and to them that are strong to powre in strong drinke:

23 Which iustifie y wicked for a reward, and take away the righteousnes of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire denoureth the stubble, and as the chaffe is consumed of the flame, so their root shall be as rottennesse, and their bud shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast off the Lawe of the Lord of hostes, and contemned the word of the holy one of Israel.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and he hath stretched out his hand vpon them & hath limited them that the mountaines did tremble: and their carriages were torne in the mids of the streets, and for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hand was stretched out still.

26 And he will lift vp a signe vnto the nations afare, & will blisse vnto them from the end of the earth: and behold, they shall come hastily with speed.

27 None shall saue nor sal among them: none shall flumbe nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loynes be loosed, nor the latchet of his shooes be broken:

28 Whose arrows shall be sharpe, and all his bowes bent: his horse hooues shall bee thought like flint, and his wheeles like a whirlewind.

29 His roaring shall be like a lion, and hee shall roare like lions whelpes: they shall roare and lay hold of the pray: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it.

30 And in that day they shall roare vpon them as the roaring of the sea: and if they looke vnto the earth, behold it shall be darknesse, and sorrow, and the light shall be darkened in their sight.

31 Hee will make the Babylonians to come against him at his becke, & to fight vnder his standard.

g They shall be prompt, and lusty to execute Gods vengeance. h The enemy shall haue none impediment. i Whereby is declared the cruelty of the enemy. k The Iewes shall find no succour. l In the land of Iudah.

CHAP. VI.

1 Isaiah sheweth his vocation by the vision of the dumme man. 2 Hee sheweth the obstinacie of the people. 3 The destruction of the land. 4 The remnant reformed.

1 In the yeere of the death of King Oziah, I saw also the Lord sitting vpon an high throne, and lifted vp, and the lower parts thereof filled the Temple.

2 The Seraphims stood vpon it: euery one had six wings: with twaine hee covered his face, and with twaine hee covered his feet, and with twaine hee did sit.

3 And cried to another, & said, Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hostes: the whole world is full of his glory.

4 And the linells of the doore checkes moved at the voyce of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 Then I said, Woe is me: for I am undone, because I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwell in the mids of a people of polluted lips: for mine eyes haue seen the King and Lord of hostes.

6 Then flew one of the Seraphims vnto mee with an hote coale in his hand which hee had taken from the Altar with the tongs.

7 And hee touched my mouth, and said, Loe, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquity shall be taken away, and thy sinne shall be purged.

8 Also I heard the voyce of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send? and who shall goe for vs? Then I said, Here am I, send mee.

9 And he said, Goe, and say vnto this people, He shall heare in deed, but ye shall not vnderstand: yee shall plainly see, and not perceiue.

10 Make the heart of this people fatte, make their eares heauie, and shut their eyes, lest they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, & vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and heale them.

11 Then said I, Lord, how long? And hee answered, Until the cities bee wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be utterly desolate.

12 And the Lord haue remooued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids of the land.

13 This often repetition signifieth that the holy Angels cannot satisfie themselves in praising God, to teach vs, that in all our liues we should giue ourselues to the continuall praye of God.

14 His glory doeth not onely appeare in the heauens, but through all the world, and therefore all creatures are bound to praye him.

15 Which things were to confirme the Prophet that it was not the voyce of man: and by the smoke was signified the blindness that should come vpon the Iewes.

16 He speaketh this for two causes: the one, because hee that was a mortall creature and therefore had more need to glorifie God then the Angels, did it not: and the other because the more neerer that man approacheth to God, the more doeth hee know his owne sinne and corruption.

17 Of the burnt offerings, where the fire neuer went out. 18 This declareth that man cannot render true obedience to God, till hee haue purged vs.

19 Whereby is declared, that for the malice of man, God will not immediately take away his word, but hee will cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when as they will not learne thereby to obey his will, and be saved: hereby hee exhorteth the Ministers to doe their durie, and answereth to the wicked murderers, that through their owne malice their heart is hardened.

20 As he was mooued with the zeale of Gods glory, so was he touched with a charitable affection toward the people.

q Meaning, the tenth part: or as ſome write, it was revealed to Iſaiah for the confirmation of his prophetic, that ten kings ſhould come before their captivity, as were from Vziah to Zedekiah. r For the ſewneſſe they ſhall ſeeme to be eaten vp: yet they ſhall after flouriſh as a tree, which in winter loſeth his leaues, and ſeemeth to bee dead, yet in ſummer is freſh and greene.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ieruſalem beſieged. 4 Iſaiah comforteth the King. 14 Chriſt is promiſed.

2 King. 16. 5. A To wit, the ſecond time: for in the firſt battell Ahaz was overcome. b Meaning, the kings houſe. c That is, Iſrael, becauſe that tribe was the greateſt, Gen. 48. 19. d For feare. e That is to ſay, the reſt ſhall returne: which name Iſaiah gave his ſonne, to ſignifie, that the reſt of the people ſhould returne out of their captivity. f Which haue but a little ſmoke and ſhall quickly be quenched. g Which was as Iſraelite, and as ſeemeth, enemy to the houſe of David. h Counting from the ſix & twentieth yeere of the reigne of Vziah, at what time Amos prophieſied this thing, and now Iſaiah confirmeth that the Iſraelites ſhould be led into perpetual captivity, which thing came to paſſe within twenty yeere after that Iſaiah did this meſſage. i For the confirmation of this thing, that thine enemies ſhall be deſtroyed, and thou preſerued. k Not to beleeue Gods word without a ſigne, is to tempt God but to eniue a ſigne when God offereth it for the ayde and helpe of our infirmities, is to rebel againſt him. l You thinke you haue to do with men, when ye contemne Gods meſſengers: but it is God againſt whom you bend your ſelues.

And in the dayes of Ahaz, the ſonne of Iotham, the ſonne of Aſſah king of Iudah, Rezin the king of Aram came vp, and Pekah the ſonne of Remaliah king of Iſrael, to Ieruſalem to fight againſt it, but hee could not overcome it.

2 And it was told the houſe of David, ſaying, Aram is toynd with Ephraim: therefore his heart was moued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the foreſt are moued by the wind.

3 Then ſaid the Lord vnto Iſaiah, Go forth now to meet Ahaz (ſay thou and Shearaias thy ſonne) at the end of the conduit of the upper poole, in the path of the fullers ſide,

4 And ſay vnto him, Take heed, and be ſil, feare not, neither be faint hearted for the two talles of the ſmoking firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliahs ſonne:

5 Becauſe Aram hath taken wicked counſell againſt thee, and Ephraim, and Remaliahs ſonne, ſaying,

6 Let vs goe vp againſt Iudah, and let vs waſen them vp, and make a breach therein for vs, and let a king in the mids thereof, euen the ſonne of Tabal.

7 Thus ſaith the Lord God, It ſhall not ſtand, neither ſhall it be:

8 For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: and within ſixe and threſcore yeere Ephraim ſhall be deſtroyed from being a people.

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs ſonne. If ye beleeue not, ſurely ye ſhall not be eſtabliſhed.

10 And the Lord ſpake againe vnto Ahaz, ſaying,

11 Aſke a ſigne for thee of the Lord thy God: aſke it, either in the depth beneath, or in the height above.

12 But Ahaz ſaid, I will not aſke, neither will I tempt the Lord.

13 Then hee ſayd, Heare you now, O houſe of David, Is it a ſmall thing for you to grieue men, that yet will alſo grieue my God?

i For the confirmation of this thing, that thine enemies ſhall be deſtroyed, and thou preſerued. k Not to beleeue Gods word without a ſigne, is to tempt God but to eniue a ſigne when God offereth it for the ayde and helpe of our infirmities, is to rebel againſt him. l You thinke you haue to do with men, when ye contemne Gods meſſengers: but it is God againſt whom you bend your ſelues.

14 Therefore the Lord himſelfe will giue you a ſigne. Behold, the virgin ſhall conceive and beare a ſonne, and ſhe ſhall call his name Immanuel.

15 Butter and hony ſhall hee eate, till hee haue knowledge to reſuſe the euill, & to chuſe the good.

16 For afore the child ſhall haue knowledge to eſchew the euill, & to chuſe the good, the land that thou abhorreſt, ſhall be forſaken of both thy kings.

17 The Lord ſhall bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers houſe (the dayes that haue not come from the day that Ephraim departed from Iudah) euen the king of Aſſhur.

18 And in that day ſhall the Lord hiſſe for the ſlie that is at the uttermoſt part of the floodes of Egypt, and for the Bee which is in the land of Aſſhur.

19 And they ſhall come and ſhall light all in the deſolate valleyes, and in the holes of the rocks, and vpon all thornie places, and vpon all buſhie places.

20 In that day ſhal the Lord ſhaue with a razor that is hired euen by them beyond the riuer, by the king of Aſſhur, the head and the haire of the feet, and it ſhall conſume the beard.

21 And in the ſame day ſhal a man nor riſh a yong kow, and two ſheepe.

22 And for the abundance of milke that they ſhal giue, he ſhall eat butter: for butter and hony ſhall euery one eate, which is left within the land.

23 And at the ſame day euery place where in ſhalbe a thouſand vines, ſhall be at a thouſand pieces of ſiluer: ſo it ſhalbe for the briers and for the thornes.

24 With arrowes and with bow ſhall one come thither: becauſe all the land ſhalbe viuers and thornes.

25 But on the mountains which ſhal be digged with the mattocke, there ſhall not come thither the feare of briers and thornes: but they ſhall bee for the ſending out of bullockes, and for the treading of ſheepe.

1 Signifying, that no place ſhall be free from them. r That is, that which is from the belly downward: meaning, that he would deſtroy both great and ſmall. u He that before had a great number of cattell, ſhall bee content with one kow and two ſheepe. x The number of men ſhall be ſo ſmall, that a few beaſts ſhall bee able to nourish all abundantly. y As they that go to ſecke wild beaſts among the buſhes. z The mountains contrary to their wont, ſhall be tilled by ſuch as ſhall flee to them for ſuccour.

7 The increase of his gouernement and peace shall haue none ende: hee shall sit vpon the throne of David, & vpon his kingdome, to ordert, and to stablish it with iudgement and with iustice from henceforth, euen for euer: the zeale of the Lord of hostes wil persewme this.

8 The Lord hath sent a word vnto Iasakob, and it hath lighted vpon Israel.

9 And all the people shall know, euen Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart.

10 The brickets are fallen, but wee will build it with hewen stones: the wilde figge trees are cut downe, but wee will change them into cedars.

12 Aram before, and the Philistims behinde, and they shall deniue Israel with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

13 For the people turneth not vnto him that limiteth them, neither do they seeke the Lord of hostes.

14 Therefore will the Lord cut off fro Israel head & taile, branch and cuse in one day.

15 The ancient and the honourable man, he is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies he is the taile.

16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them are deuoured.

17 Therefore shall the Lord haue no pleasure in their young men, neither will hee haue compassion of their fatherlesse and of their widowers: for euery one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euery mouth speaketh folly: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

18 For wickednesse burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the briars and the thornes, and will kindle in the thicke places of the forest: and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke.

19 By the wrath of the Lord of hostes shall the land be burned, and the people shall be as the meate of the fire: no man shall spare his brother.

20 And he shall snatch at the right hand, and be hungry: and hee shall eat on the left hand, and shall not be satisfied: euery one shall cate the flesh of his owne arme.

2 Of wicked lawmakers. 5 God will punish his people by the Assyrians, and after destroy them. 21 The remnant of Israel shall be saved.

WE vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and write grieuous things, 2 To keepe backe the poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may be their pray, and that they may spoyle the fatherlesse.

3 What wilt ye doe now in the day of visitation, and of destruction, which shall come from farre: to whom will ye flee for helpe? and where wilt ye leaue your glory?

4 Althowt me euery one shall fall among them that are bound, and they shall fall down among the slaine: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

5 O Assyrie, the rod of my wrath: and the staffe in their hands is mine indignation.

6 I will send him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoyle and to take the pray, and to tread them vnder feete like the mire in the streete.

7 But he thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but hee imagineth to destroy, and to cut off not a few nations.

8 For he saith, Are not my princes altogether kings?

9 Is not Calno as Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

10 Like as mine hand hath found the kingdomes of the idoles, seeing their idoles were aboue Jerusalem, and aboue Samaria.

11 Shall not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Jerusalem, and to the idoles thereof?

12 But when the Lord hath accomplished all his worke vpon mount Zion and Jerusalem, I will visit the fruit of the ppond heart of the king of Assyrie, and his glorious and ppond looks,

13 Because hee saide, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisdom, because I am wise: therefore I haue remooued the borders of the people, and haue spoyled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitantes like a valiant man.

14 And mine hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth eeggs that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing, or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

him that beweth therewith? or shall the saw exalt it selfe against him that moueth it? as if the rod should lift up it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe should exalt it selfe, as it were no wood.

16 Therefore shall the Lord God of hosts send among his fat men leannes, and vnder his glory bee shall kindle a burning, like the burning of fire.

17 And the light of Israel shall bee as a fire, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shall burne and deuoure his thornes, and his bryers in one day:

18 And shall consume the glory of his forest, & of his fruitfull fields both loule and fleshy: and hee shall bee as the faincing of a standard bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shall bee few, that a child may tell them.

20 ¶ And at that day shall the remnant of Israel, & such as are escaped of the house of Iacob, stay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall stay vpon the Lord, the Holy one of Israel in truth.

21 The remnant shall retuene, even the remnant of Iacob vnto the mighty God.

22 For though thy people, O Israel, be as the sand of the Sea, yet shall the remnant of them retuene. The consumption I decreed shall ouerflow with righteousness.

23 For the Lord God of hosts shall make the consumption, euen decreed in the mids of all the land.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hosts, O my people that dwellest in Zion, be not afraid of Assur: he shall smite thee with a rod, and shall lift vp his staffe against thee after the manner of Egypt:

25 But yet a very little time, & the wrath shall be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction.

26 And the Lord of hosts shall raise vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of Chanaan in the rocke Deth: and as his staffe was vpon the Sea, so he will lift it vp after the manner of Egypt.

27 And at that day shall his burden bee taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: and the yoke shall be destroyed because of the anointing.

28 For he is come y to Aiath, he is passed into Migron: at Bethmarch shall hee lay vp his armour.

29 They haue gone ouer the fowd: they lodged in the lodging at Gebai Ramah is afraid, Gibeah of Saul is fled away.

30 Lift vp thy voice, O daughter Gallim, cause Lath to heare: O poyse Anathoth.

31 Madmenah is remoued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselves together.

32 Yet there is a time that hee will say vnto Assur: hee shall lift vp his hand toward Jerusalem, to consume it, to destroy it, to bring it downe as Sodom, to bring it downe as Gomorrah.

33 Behold, the Lord God of hosts shall smite the faithfull cut off the bough with feare, and they of when it should high stature shall be cut off, and high the shall be humbled.

34 And hee shall cut away the thicke places of the forest with yron, and Lebanon shall haue a mighty fall.

¶ At there shall come a rod fourth of the stocke of Iubah, and a grasse shall grow out of his rootes.

2 And the Spirit of the Lord shall rest vpon him: the Spirit of wisdom and vnderstanding, the Spirit of counsell and strength, the Spirit of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord,

3 And shall make him pudent in the feare of the Lord: for hee shall not iudge after the sight of his eyes, neither reprove by the hearing of his eares.

4 But with righteousness shall he iudge the poore, and with equitie shall he reprove for the meekes of the earth: and he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall hee slay the wicked.

5 And iustice shall bee the girdle of his loynes, and faithfullnesse the girdle of his reines.

6 The Wolfe also shall dwell with the Lambe, and the Leopard shall lie with the Kidde, and the Calfe and the Lion, and the fat beast together, and a little child shall lead them.

7 And the Cow, and the Beare shall feed: their young ones shall lie together: and the Lion shall eat straw like the bullocke.

8 And the sucking child shall play vpon the hole of the Aspe, & the weaned child shall put his hand vpon the Cockatrice hole.

9 Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of mine holinesse: for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters that couer the sea.

10 And in that day the roote of Ishai, which shall stand vp for a signe vnto the people, the nations shall seeke vnto it, and his rest shall be glorious.

11 And in the same day shall the Lord stretch out his hand against the second time to possesse the remnant of his people (which shall be left) of Assur, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elam, and of Shinear, and of Yamath, and of the yles of the sea.

a Because the captiuitie of Babylon was a figure of the spiritual captiuitie vnder sinne, hee sheweth that our true deliuerance must come by Christ: for as David came out of Ishai a man without dignity, so Christ should come of a poore carpenters house, as out of a dead stock, chap 5. 3. b All these properties can agree to none but only vnto Christ: for it is he that toucheth the hearts of the faithfull, and mortifieth their concupiscences: & to the wicked he is the saour of death, and to them that shall perish: so that all the world shall be smitten with this rod, which is his word.

c Men because of their wicked afflictions are named by 8 names of beasts, where in the like afflictions reigne: but Christ by his Spirit shall reforme them, and worke in them such mutual charity, that they shall be like lambs fauouring and louing one another, and cast

13 The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, and the adversaries of Judah shall be cut off: Ephraim shall not enute ^a Judah, neither shall Judah bere Ephraim:

14 But they shall lie upon the shoulders of the Philistines toward the West: they shall spoile them of the Galt together: Edom and Moab shall be the stretching out of their hands, and the children of Ammon in their obedience.

15 The Lord also shall utterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptians sea, and with his mighty winde shall lift up his hand ^a suer the river, and shall smite him in his seven streames, and cause men to walke therein with shoes.

16 And there shall be a path to the remnant of his people, which are left of Assur, like as it was unto Israel in the day that he came up out of the land of Egypt.

12 How art thou fallen from heauen, O Lucifer, ſonne of the morning: and art thou brought to the ground, which didſt caſt lots vpon the nations?

13 Per thou ſaydeſt in thine heart, I will aſcend into heauen, and exalt my throne aboue the ſtars of God: I will ſit alſo vpon the mount of the Congregation in the ſides of the North.

14 I will aſcend into heauen, and exalt my throne aboue the ſtars of God: I will ſit alſo vpon the mount of the Congregation in the ſides of the North. g In ſtead of thy coſtly carpets and coverings. h Thou that thoughteſt thy ſelfe moſt glorious, and as it were placed in the heauen: for the morning ſtarre that goeth before the ſunne is called Lucifer, to whom Nebuchadnezzar is compared. i Meaning Ieruſalem, whereof the Temple was on the North ſide, as Pſal. 48. 2, whereby he meant that tyrants fight againſt God, when they perſecute his Church, and would ſet themſelues in his place.

14 I will aſcend aboue the height of the cloudes, and I will be like the moſt high.

15 But thou ſhalt be brought downe to the graue, to the ſides of the pit.

16 They that ſee thee ſhall looke vpon thee, & conſider thee, ſaying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, and that did ſhake the Kingdomes?

17 Hee made the world as a wilderneſſe, and deſtroyed the cities thereof, and opened not the houſe of his priſoners.

18 All the Kings of the Nations, euen they all ſleepe in gloſſe: euery one in his owne houſe.

19 But thou art caſt out of thy graue like an abominable branch, like the rayment of thole that are ſtaine, and thruſt thorow with a ſword: which goe downe to the ſtones of the pit, as a cartle troden under ſeete.

20 Thou ſhalt not be ioynd with them in the graue, becauſe thou haſt deſtroyed thine owne land, and ſtaine thy people: the ſeede of the wicked ſhall not be renowned for euer.

21 Prepare a ſlaughter for his children, for the iniquity of their fathers: let them not riſe vp, nor poſſeſſe the land, nor fill the face of the world with enemies.

22 For I will riſe vp againſt them (ſaith the Lord of hoſts) and will cut off from Babel the name and the remnant, and the ſonne and the nephew, ſaith the Lord.

23 And I will make it a poſſeſſion to the hedgehog, and holes of water, and I will ſweepe it with the beſome of deſtruction, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

24 The Lord of hoſts hath ſworne, ſaying, Surely like as I haue purpoſed, ſo ſhall it come to paſſe, and as I haue conſidered, it ſhall ſtand:

25 That I will breake to pieces Aſſur in my land, and vpon my mountaines will I tread him vnder foot: ſo that his yoke ſhall depart from vpon them, and his burden ſhall be taken from off their ſhoulder.

26 This is the counſell that is conſidered vpon the whole world, and this is the hand ſtretched out ouer all the nations, 27 Becauſe the Lord of hoſts hath determined it, and who ſhall diſannull it: and his hand is ſtretched out, and who ſhall turne it away?

28 In the yere that king Abaz died, was this a burden:

29 Reioyce not (thou whole Paleſtina) becauſe the rod of him that did beate thee, is broken: for out of the ſerpents root ſhal come forth a cockatrice, and the fruit thereof ſhall be a ſtery ſpying ſerpent.

30 For the ſiſt borne of the poepe ſhal be ſed, and the needie ſhall lie downe in ſafetie: and I will kill thy roote with famine, and it ſhall ſlay thy remnant.

31 Howle, O gate, cry, O city: thou whole land of Paleſtina art diſſolued, for there ſhal come from the North a ſmoke, & none ſhall be alone at his time appointed.

32 That is, from the Iewes or Aſſyrians: for they were both North from Paleſtina. x But they ſhall be al ready and ioyne together.

k In marueiling at thee.

l To ſet them at libertie: noting his crueltye.

m Thou waſt not buried in the ſepulchre of thy fathers, thy tyranny was ſo abhorred, n He calleth to the Medes and Perſians, and all thole that ſhould execute Gods vengeance.

o Or, tortiſe.

o As I haue begun to deſtroy the Aſſyrians in Saneherib, ſo will I continue, & deſtroy them wholly, when I ſhall deliuer you from Babylon.

t To wit, my people.

y Which ſhall come to enquire of the ſtate of the Church.

z They ſhall anſwer that the Lord doeth defend his Church, and them that ioyne themſelves thereunto.

d Which were cities of Moab, e For as in the Weſt parts the people uſed to let their haire grow long when they mourned, ſo in the Eaſt parts they cut it ſh.

f The Prophet ſpeaketh this in the perſon of the Moabites, or as one that felt the great iudgement of God that ſhould come vpon them.

g Meaning, that it was a citie that euer liued in pleaſure and neuer felt ſorrow.

h He deſcribeth the miſerable diſſipation and flight of the Moabites.

i To hide themſelves and their goods there.

k Of them that are ſlaine. l So that by no means they ſhould eſcape the hand of God: thus wil God puniſh the enemies of his Church.

CHAP. XVI.

A prophesie againſt Moab.

The burden of Moab. Surely Ar of Moab was deſtroyed, and brought to ſilence in a night: ſurely Kir of Moab was deſtroyed, and brought to ſilence in a night.

2 He ſhall goe by to the Temple, and to Dibon to the high places to weep: for Nebo and for Medeba ſhall Moab howle: vpon all their heads ſhall be baldnes, and euery beard ſhallen.

3 In their ſtreets ſhall they be girded with ſackcloth: on the tops of their houſes, and in their ſtreets euery one ſhall howle, and come downe with weeping.

4 And Heſhbon ſhall cry, and Elealeh: their voyce ſhall be heard vnto Iahaz: therefore the warriors of Moab ſhall howle: the ſoule of euery one ſhall lament in himſelfe.

5 Mine heart ſhall cry for Moab: his fugitives ſhall flee vnto Zoar, an heifer of three yeeres old: for they ſhall goe by with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhith: and by the way of Horonaim they ſhall raiſe vp a cry of deſtruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim ſhall be dried vp: therefore the graſſe is withered, the herbs conſumed, and there was no greene herbe.

7 Therefore what euery man hath left, and their ſubſtance ſhall they beare to the bowke of the willowes.

8 For the cry went round about the borders of Moab: and the howling thereof vnto Eglatim, and the ſcreeking thereof vnto Beer Elin.

9 Becauſe the waters of Dimon ſhall be full of blood: for I will bring more vpon Dimon, euen ſpous: vpon him that eſcaped of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

Of them that are ſlaine. l So that by no means they ſhould eſcape the hand of God: thus wil God puniſh the enemies of his Church.

CHAP. XVII.

The cauſes wherefore the Moabites are deſtroyed.

Send ye a lamb to the ruler of the world from the cocke of the wilderneſſe vnto the mountaine of the daughter Zion.

2 For it ſhall be as a bird that ſiereth, and a neſt forſaken: the daughters of Moab ſhall be as the fowls of Arnon.

3 Gather a counſel, exerceite iudgements: make the ſhadow as the night in the midday: hide them that are chafed out: betwix not blu that is ſled.

4 Let my baniſhed dwell with thee: Moab be thou ſet free from the face of the deſtroyer: for the extorſioner ſhall end: the deſtroyer ſhall be conſumed, and the oppreſſor ſhall ceaſe out of the land.

5 And in mercy ſhall the throne be prepared, and he ſhall ſit vpon it in ſtedfaſtneſſe, in the Tabernacle of Dauid, iudging, and ſeeking iudgement, and halting iuſtice.

6 We haue heard of the pride of Moab, (he is very proud) euen his pride and his arrogancie, and his indignation, but his lies ſhall not be ſo.

7 Therefore ſhall Moab howle vnto Moab: euery one ſhall howle: for the foundations of Kir-hareſeth ſhall ye moune, yet they ſhall be ſtricken.

8 For the vineyards of Heſhbon are cut downe, and the vine of Sibmah: the lords of the heathen haue broken the principall vines thereof: they are come vnto Iazer: they wandred in the wilderneſſe: her goodly branches ſtretched out themſelves, and went ouer the ſea.

9 Therefore wil I wepe with the weeping of Iazer, and of the vine of Sibmah, Heſhbon: and Elealeh. I will make thee drunke with my teares, becauſe vpon the ſummer fruits, and vpon the haueſell a ſhout- ing is fallen.

10 And gladneſſe is taken away, and ioy out of the plentiſull field: and in the vineyards ſhall be no ſinging nor ſhout- ing for ioy: the treader ſhall not tread wine in the wine preſſes: I haue cauſed the reioyng to ceaſe.

11 Wherefore, my bowels ſhall ſound like an harpe for Moab, and mine inward parts for Kir-hareſeth.

12 And when it ſhall appeare that Moab ſhall be weary of his high places, then ſhall he come to his temple to pray, but he ſhall not preuaile.

13 This is the word that the Lord hath ſpoken againſt Moab ſince that time.

14 And now the Lord hath ſpoken, ſaying, In three yeeres, as the yeeres of an hireling, and the glory of Moab ſhall be continued in all the great multitude, and the remnant ſhall be very ſmall and feeble.

n They ſhall uſe all meanes to ſeek helpe of their idoles, and all in vaine: for Chemoz their great god ſhall not be able to helpe them. o He appointed a certaine time to puniſh the enemies in. p Who will obſerue iuſtly the time, for the which he is hired, and ſerue no longer, but will euer long for it.

CHAP. XVII.

A prophesie of the deſtruction of Damascus, and Ephraim. 7 Calanias moueth to repentance.

The burden of Damascus. Behold, the burden of Damascus is taken away from being a citie, for it ſhall be a ruinous heape.

2 The cities of Arzor ſhall be forſaken: they ſhall be for the flocks: for they ſhall lie there, and none ſhall make them afraid.

3 The munition alſo ſhall ceaſe from Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram ſhall be as the glory of the children of Iſrael.

declaring the deſtruction of theſe two kings of Syria & Iſrael, when as they had conſpired the ouerthrow of Iudah. 8 The ten tribes gloried in their multitude, & alliance with other nations: therefore he ſaith that they ſhall be brought downe, and the Syrians alſo.

e Meaning, Chriſt.

f Their vaine confidence and proud brags that deceive them, as Iere 48. 2.

g For all your mourning, yet the citie ſhall be deſtroyed euen vnto the foundations.

h That is, the Aſſyrians, and other enemies.

i Meaning, that the countrey of Moab was now deſtroyed, and al precious things thereof were carried into the bot- deters, yea into other countreys, and ouer the ſea.

k He ſheweth that their plague was ſo great, that it would haue moued any man to lament with them, as Pſal. 141. 5.

b There is no remedy but you muſt flee. c He ſheweth what Moab ſhould haue done, when Iſrael their neighbour was in affliction, to whom becauſe they would giue no ſhadow nor comfort, they are now left comfortles.

d The Aſſyrians ſhall oppreſſe the Iſraelites, but for a while.

saith the Lord of hosts.

4 And in that day the glory of Jacob shall be impoverished, and the fatness of his flesh shall be made lean.

5 And it shall be as when the harvest man gathereth the eigne, and reapeth the eares with his arme, and he shall be as he that gathereth the eares in the bailey of Rephaim.

6 Yet a gathering of grapes shall be left in it as the shaking of an Olive tree, two or three berries are in the toppe of the remotest boughes, and foure or five in the high branches of the fruit thereof, saith the Lord God of Israel.

7 At that day shall a man looke to his Baker, and his eyes shall looke to the Holy one of Israel.

8 And he shall not looke to the altars, the workes of his owne hands, neither shall hee looke to those things which his owne fingers have made, as grones and images.

9 In that day shall the cities of their strength be as the forsaking of boughes and branches, which they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, and there shall be desolation.

10 Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluation, and hast not remembered the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou sit pleasant plants, & shalt graffe strange vine branches.

11 In the day shalt thou make the plant to grow, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seede to flourish: but the harvest shall be gone in the day of possession, and there shall be desperate sorrow.

12 Ah, the multitude of many people, they shall make a sound like the noise of the sea: for the noise of the people shall make a sound like the noise of many waters.

13 The people shall make a sound like the noise of many waters: but God shall rebuke them, and they shall flee farre off, and shall be chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the wind, and as a rowling thing before the whirlwind.

14 And loe, in the evening there is trouble: but before the morning it is gone. This is the portion of them that spoyle us, and the lot of them that rob vs.

Which are excellen, and brought out of other countries. n As the Lord threatned the wicked in his Law, Leviticus 26. 16. o The Prophet lamenteth, considering the horrible plague that was prepared against Israel by the Assyrians, which were infinite in number, and gathered of many nations. p He addeth this for the consolation of the faithfull which were in Israel. q He compareth the enemies, the Assyrians, to a tempest, which riseth over night, and in the morning is gone.

1 Of the enemies of the Church, 7 and of the vocation of the Gentiles.

Ob, the land shadowing with wings which is beyond the rivers of Ethiopia.

2 Sending ambassadours by the Sea, Sending which was to full of ships, that the sayles (which he compareth to wings) seened to shadow the Sea.

even in vessels of reed upon the waters, saying, Go ye swift messengers, to a nation that is scattered abroad, and spoiled, unto a terrible people from their beginning even hitherto: a nation by little & little even trodden under foot, whose land the floods have spoiled.

3 All ye the inhabitants of the world & dwellers in the earth, shall see when he setteth up a signe in the mountaines, and when he bloweth the trumpet, ye shall hear.

4 For to the Lord said vnto me, I will rest, and behold in my tabernacle, as the heat drying up the raine, and as a cloude of dew in the time of harvest.

5 For afore the harvest, when the floure is finished, and the fruite is riping in the floure, then he shall cut downe the branches with hookes, and shall take away, and cut off the boughes.

6 They shall be left together vnto the foules of the mountaines, and to the beasts of the earth: for the foule shall summer upon it, and every beast of the earth shall winter upon it.

7 At that time shall a present be brought vnto the Lord of hostes, (a people that is scattered abroad, and spoiled, and of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation by little and little even trodden under foot, whose land the rivers have spoiled) to the place of the name of the Lord of hostes, even the mount Zion.

Chap. 8. 7. f When the Lord prepareth to fight against the Ethiopians. g I will stay a while from punishing wicked. h Which two seasons are most profitable for the riping of fruites: whereby he meaneth, that he will seeme to fauour them and giue them abundance for a time, but he will suddenly cut them off. i Not onely men shall contemne them, but the brut beasts. k Meaning, that God will pittie his Church, and receiue that litle remnant as an offering vnto himselfe.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The deliuerance of the Egyptians by the Assyrians. 18 Of their conversion to the Lord.

The burden of Egypt. Behold, the Lord rideth upon a swift cloude, and shall come into Egypt, and the isoles of Egypt shall be mooued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the middes of her.

2 And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: so every one shall fight against his brother, and every one against his neighbour, citie against citie, and kingdome against kingdome.

3 And the spirit of Egypt shall faile in the middes of her, and I will destroy their counsell, and they shall seeke at the idoles, and at the forcerers, and at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the soothsayers.

4 And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of cruell lords, and a mighty king shall rule over them, saith the Lord God of hostes.

the Ammonites, Moabites, and Idumeans to kill one another, when they came to destroy the Church of God, 2. Chron. 20. 22. & Chap. 49. 26. d Meaning, their policie and wisdom.

b Which in those countries were great: in so much as they made ships of them for swiftnesse.

c This may be taken that they feared other to comfort the Iewes: & to promise them help against their enemies, & so the Lord did threaten to take away their strength: that the Iewes should not trust therein: that they did sollicite the Egyptians, and promised them aid to goe against Iudah.

d To wit, the Iewes, who because of Gods plagues made all other nations afraid of the like, as God threatned, Deut. 28. 27. e Meaning, the Assyrians, as a Reade Chap. 13. 1. b Because the Egyptians trusted in the defence of their country, in the multitude of their idoles, and in the valiantnes of their men, the Lord sheweth that he will come over all their munitions in a swift cloude, and that their idoles shall tremble at his comming, and that mens hearts shall faile.

k He noteth the flatterers of Pharaoh: who perswaded the king that he was wise and noble, and that his house was most anti-ent, and so hee flattered himselfe, saying, I am wise. l Or Memphis, others Alexandria, and now called the great Cairn. m The principall vp-holders thereof: are the chiefest cause of their destruction. n For the spirit of wisdom, be hath made them drunke and giddie with the spirit of flattery. o Neither the great nor the small, the strong nor the weak. p Considering that through their occasion the Iewes made not God their defence, but put their trust in them, and were therefore now punished, they shall feare lest the like light vp-on them. q Shall make one confession of faith with the people of God: by the speech of Canaan, meaning the language wherein God was then serued. r Shall renounce their superstitions, and protest to serue God aright. s Meaning, of sixe cities five should serue God, and the sixt remaine in their wickednesse, and so of the sixt part, there should be but one lost.

5 Then the waters of the sea shall faile, and the riuer shall be dried up and wasted.

6 And the riuer shall goe farre away:
the riuer of defence shall bee emptied and dried vp: the reedes and flags shall be cut downe.

7 The graile in the riuer and at the head of the riuer, and all the groweth by the ri-uer, shall wither, and be taken away, and be no more.

8 The fisher also shall be mourne, and all they that cast angell into the riuer, shall lament, and they that fished there, set vpon the waters, shall be weakened.

9 Moreover, they that worke in floure of diuers lores, shall be confounded, and they that weaue nets.

10 For their nets shall bee broken, and all they that make ponds, shall bee heauie in death.

11 Surely the princes of Zoan are fooles:
the counsell of the wise counsellors of Pharaoh is become foolishly: how say ye vnto Pharaoh, I am the sonne of the wise: I am the sonne of the ancient kings?

12 Where are now thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may know what the Lord of hostes hath determined against Egypt?

13 The Princes of Zoan are become foolies: the Princes of Zoan are deceived, they haue deceived Egypt, when the comers of the tribes thereof.

14 The Lord hath mingled among them the spirit of errors: and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a damned man erreth in his vomit.

15 Neither shall there bee any worke in Egypt, which the head may dot, nor the taile, the branch nor the rush.

16 In that day shall Egypt be like vnto women: for it shall bee afraid and feare because of the moouing of the hand of the Lord of hostes, which he maketh ouer it.

17 And the land of Iudah shall be a feare vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it, shall be afraid thereof, because of the counsell of the Lord of hostes, which hee hath determined vpon it.

18 In that day shall five cities in the land of Egypt: speake the language of Cana-an, and shall sweare by the Lord of hostes:
one shall bee called the citie of destruction.

19 In that day shall the altar of the Lord bee in the midoses of the land of Egypt, and a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lord. There shall be evident signes and tokens, that of Gods religion is there: which manner of speech is taken of the Patriarchs and ancient times,

tiles and the Iewes should be ioyned together in one faith and religion, and should be all one fold vnder Christ their shepherd.

and a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lord.

20 And it shall be for a signe and for a wit-nesse vnto the Lord of hostes in the land of Egypt: for they shall cry vnto the Lord, because of the oppressours, and hee shall send them a Saviour and a great man, and shall be the deliuerer them.

21 And the Lord shall be knowne of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall know the Lord in that day, and doe sacrifice and oblation, and shall bowe bowes vnto the Lord, and performe ch.m.

22 So the Lord shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heale it: for he shall returne vnto the Lord, and he shall be entreated of them, and shall heale them.

23 In that day shall there be a path from Egypt vnto Asshur, and Asshur shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Asshur: so the Egyptians shall worship with Asshur.

24 In that day shall Israel bee the third with Egypt and Asshur, euen a blessing in the mids of the land.

25 For the Lord of hostes shall bless it, saying, Blessed be my people Egypt, and Asshur, the worke of mine hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

tiles and the Iewes should be ioyned together in one faith and religion, and should be all one fold vnder Christ their shepherd.

CHAP. XX.

2 The three yeres captivity of Egypt and Ethiopia described by the three yeres going naked of Isaiah.

1 In the yere that Asshur came to Assyria, (when Sargon king of Asshur sent him) and had fought against Ashdod, and taken it.

2 At the same time spake the Lord by the hand of Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, saying, Goe, & loose the sackcloth from thy loynes, and put off the shoe from thy foot. And he did so, walking naked, and barefoot.

3 And the Lord said, I like as my seruant Isaiah hath walked naked, and barefoote three yeres: as a signe and wonder vpon Egypt and Ethiopia.

4 So shall the king of Asshur take away the captivity of Egypt, and the captivity of Ethiopia: both young men and old men, naked and barefoot, with their buttocks vncouered, to the shame of Egypt.

5 And they shall feare, and bee ashamed of Ethiopia: their expectation, and of Egypt their glory.

6 Then shall the inhabitant of this yle say in that day, Behold, such is our expectation, whither we fled for help to be deliuered from the king of Asshur, and how shall we be deliuered?

b come from the horrible land.

2 A grievous vision was shewed unto me, The transgressor against a transgressor, and the destroyer against a destroyer. See up o' Glam, besiege Media: I haue caused all the mourning thereof to cease.

3 Therefore are my lynes filled with sorrowe: sorrowes haue taken me as the sorrowes of a woman that trauaileth: I was bowed downe when I heard it: and I was amazed when I saw it.

4 Mine heart failed: fearefulness troubled me: the nightes of my pleasures hath be turned into feare unto me.

5 Prepare thou the table: watch in the watch towre: eat, drinke: arise, ye princes, anoynt the shield.

6 For thus hath the Lord said unto me, See, set a watchman to tell what he seeth.

7 And hee law a charret with two horsemen: a charret of an asse, and a charret of a camel: and he hearkened, and tooke diligent heed.

8 And hee cried, A Lyon: my Lord, I stand continually vpon the watch towre in the day time, and I am sit in my watch euery night.

9 And behold, this mans charret commerth with two horsemen. And he answered and said, Babel is fallen: it is fallen, and all the images of her gods hath he broken vnto the ground.

10 O my threshing, and the com of my floore. That which I haue heard of the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, haue I shewed vnto you.

11 The burthen of o' Dumah. He calleth vnto mee out of o' Seir. Watchman, what was in the night? Watchman, what was in the night?

12 The watchman said, The morning commerth, and also the night. If ye will awake, enquire: returne and come.

13 The burthen against Arabia. In the foret of Arabia shall ye rarie all night, euery in the wayes of Dedanum.

14 Inhabitants of the land of Tema, bring forth water to meet the thirstie, and present him that thirst with his bread.

15 For they flee from the drawn sword, and from the bent bowe, and from the grievousnesse of warre.

16 For thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Set a pierce according to the yeeres of an hireling, and all the glory of Kedar shall faile.

17 And the residue of the number of the strong archers of the sonnes of Kedar shall x Which was bee few: for the Lord God of Israel hath spoken it.

the name of a people of Arabia: and by the horrible destruction of all these nations, he teacheth the Iewes that there is no place for refuge or to escape Gods wrath, but onely to remaine in his Church, and to liue in his feare.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Hee propheseth of the destruction of Ierusalem by Nebuchad-nezzar. 15 A threatening against Shebna. 20 To whose office Eliakim is preferred.

The burden of the valley of vision. What aileth thee now that thou art wholly gone up vnto the house tops?

2 Thou that art full of noyse, a citie full of bruit, a ioyous citie: thy staine men shall not be staine with sword, nor die in battell.

3 All thy princes shall flee together from the bow: thy shall be bound: all that shall be found in thee, shall be bound together, which haue fled from farre.

4 Therefore said I, Turne away from mee: I will weep bitterly: labour not to comfort me for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

5 For it is a day of trouble, and of ruine, and of perperitie by the Lord God of hosts in the valley of vision, breaking downe the citie: and a crying vnto the mountaines.

6 And Glam bare the quier in a mans charret with horsemen, and hit vnto the shield.

7 And thy chiefe valleys were full of charrets, and the horsemen set themselves in aray against the gate.

8 And hee discouraged the covering of Iudah: and thou diddest looke in that day to the armour of the house of the secret.

9 And ye haue scene the breaches of the citie of David: for they were many, and ye gathered the waters of the lower poole.

10 And ye numbred the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses haue ye broken downe to fortifie the wall.

11 And haue also made a ditch betwene the two walles, for the waters of the olde poole: and haue not looked vnto the maker thereof, neither had respect vnto him that formed it of old.

12 And in that day did the Lord God of hostes call vnto weeping and mourning, and to baldnesse, and girding with sackcloth.

13 And behold, ioy and gladnesse, slaying open and killing sheepe, eating flesh, and a Meaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with mountains, and was called the valley of vision, because of the Prophets which were alwayes there, whom they named Seers. b He speaketh to Ierusalem, whose inhabitants were fled vp to the house tops for feare of their enemies. c Which wast would be full of people and ard ioy. d But for hunger. e And led into captiuitie. f Which haue fled from other places to Ierusalem for succour. g He sheweth what is the due tie of the godly, when Gods plagues hang ouer the Church, and specially of the Ministers. Jerem. 9. 1. h That is, the shour of the enemies whom God had appointed to destroy the citie. i Hee putteth them in mind how God deliuered them once from Saneherib, who brought the Persians and Cyrenians with him, that th y might by returning to God, auoyde that great plague which they should else suffer by Nebuchad-nezzar. k The secret place where the armour was: to wit, in the house of the fortress, 1 King 7. 2. l Ye fortified the ruinous places, which were negl. ed in time of peace: meaning, the whole city and the city o' David, which was within the compass of the other. m Either to pull downe such as might hurt, or else to know what men they were able to make. n To provide, if neede should be, of water. o To God that made Ierusalem: that is, they trusted more in these worldly meanes then in God.

p Instead of repentance ye were ioyfull and made great cheare, contemning the admonitions of the Prophets, saying Let vs eate and drinke: for our Prophets say, that we shall die to morrow.
q Because the brew word, doeth also signifie one that doth nourish and cherish, there are of the learned that thinke, that this wicked man did nourish secret friendship with the Assyrians and Egyptians, to betray the Church, and to prouide for himselfe against all dangers: in the meane season he packt craftily, and got of the best offices into his hand vnder Hezekiah, euer aspiring to the highest.

r Meaning, that he was a traitor and came vp of nothing.
s Whereas he thought to make his name immortal by his famous sepulchre, he died most miserably among the Assyrians. t Signifying, that whatsoeuer dignitie the wicked attaine vnto, at length it will turne to the shame of those Princes, by whom they are preferred.
u To be steward againe, out of the which office hee had bene put by the craft of Shebna. x I will commit vnto him the full charge and government of the kings house. y I will establish him and con firme him in his office: of his praise, read Ezra, 9. 9. z Meaning, that both small and great that had come of Eliakim, shall haue praise and glory by his faithfull officer. a He meant Shebna, who in mans iudgement should neuer haue fallen.

Drinking wine, eating and drinking: for to morrow we shall die.
14 And it was declared in the eares of the Lord of hostes, Surely this iniquitie shall not be purged from you, till ye die, saith the Lord God of hostes.
15 Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, Goe get thee to that treasurer, to Shebna, the steward of the house, and say, 16 What hast thou to do here? and whom hast thou here? that thou shouldest be here betwixt our sepulchre, as hee that beweth out his sepulchre in an high place, or that grauenth an habitation for himselfe in a rocke?
17 Behold, the Lord will carry thee away with a great captiuitie, and will surely conuer thee.
18 We will sorely roll and turne thee like a ball in a large court: there shalt thou die, and there the charers of thy glory shall be the shame of the Lords house.
19 And I will draine thee from thy station, and out of thy dwelling will he destroy thee.
20 And in that day will I call my servant Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, 21 And with thy garments will I clothe him, and with thy girdle will I strengthen him: thy power also will I commit into his hand, and he shall be a father of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and of the house of Judah.
22 And the key of the house of David will I lay vpon his shoulder: so he shall open and no man shall shut: and he shall shut and no man shall open.
23 And I will fasten him as a nagle in a sure place, & he shall be for the chyme of glorie to his fathers house.
24 And they shall hang vpon him all the glory of his fathers house, euen of the nephews and posteritie: all small vessels from the vessels of the cups, euen to all the instruments of musike.
25 In that day saith the Lord of hostes, shall the nagle, that is fastened in the sure place, depart, and shall bee broken, and fall and the burden that was vpon it, shall be cut off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAP. XXIIII. A prophetic against Tyrus. 17 A promise that it shall be restored.

a Read Chap. 33. 1.
b Ye of Cilicia, there is none house: none shall come from that come thither for merchandise. c Tyrus is destroyed by Nebuchad nezzar, the land of Chittim: it is revealed vnto them.

2 Be still, ye that dwell in the ples: the merchants of Sidon, and such as passe ouer the sea, haue replenished thee.
3 The seede of Nilus growing by the abundance of waters, & the harvest of the river was her reuenue, and she was a mart of the nations.
4 Be ashamed thou Sidon: for the sea hath spoken, euen the strength of the sea, saying, I haue not trauelled nor brought forth children, neither nourished yong men, nor brought vp virgins.
5 When the same cometh to the Egyptians they shall be a story concerning the ruin of Tyrus.
6 Goe you ouer to Tarshish: howle, ye that dwell in the ples.
7 Is not this that your glorious citie? her antiquities of ancient dayes: her owne fort shall leade her a farre off to be a iolourner.
8 Who hath decreed this against Tyrus (that a crownen men) whose merchants are princes, whose chapmen are the nobles of the world?
9 The Lord of hostes hath decreed this, to staine the pride of al glory, & to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth.
10 Passe thorow thy land like a flood, to the daughter of Tarshish: there is no more strength.
11 Hee stretched out his hand vpon the sea: hee shooke the kingdomes: the Lords hath giuen a commaundement concerning the place of merchandise, to destroy the power thereof.
12 And he said, Thou shalt no more reioyce, when thou art oppressed: O virgin daughter of Sidon, rile vp, goe ouer vnto Chittim, yet there thou shalt haue no rest.
13 Behold the land of the Caldeans: this was no people: Asinur founded it by the inhabitants of the wilderness: they set vp the towers therof: they raised the palaces therof, and he brought it to ruine.
14 Howle, ye ships of Tarshish: for your strength is destroyed.
15 And in that day shall Tyrus be forgotten seuentie yeeres (according to the yeeres of one king) at the ende of seuentie yeeres, shall Tyrus sing as an harlot.
16 Taken harp, and goe about the citie: (thou harlot that hast bin forgotten) make sweet melody sing no songs that thou mayest be remembered.
17 And at the end of seuentie yeeres shall the Lord visit Tyrus, and she shall returne to her wages, and shall commit fornication by the Prophet meaneth, that seeing the Caldeans were able to ouercome the Assyrians, which were to great a nation, much more shall these two nation of aldea and Assyria be able to overthrow Tyrus. f That is, Tyrus, by whom ye are enriched. t Tyrus shall lie destroyed seuentie yeeres, which he calleth the reigne of one King, or a mans age. u Shall vse all craft and subtiltie to enuise men against her. x She shall labour by all meanes to recover her first credit, as an harlot, when she is long forgotten, seeketh by all meanes to entertaine her louers. y Though shee hath beene chastised of the Lord, yet she shall returne to her old wicked practises, and for gaine shall giue her selfe to all mens lusts like an harlot.

z He sheweth that God yet by the preaching of the Gospel will call Tyrus to repentance, and turne her heart from avarice and filthy gaine, vnto the true worshipping of God and liberalitie toward his Saints.

with all the kingdomes of the earth, that are in the world.

11 Yet her occupying and her wages shall be holp vnto the Lord: it shall not be laid vp nor kept in store, but her merchandise shall be for them that dwell before the Lord: to eat sufficiently, and to haue durable clothing.

CHAP. XXI. III.

A prophesie of the curse of God for the sinnes of the people. 13 A remnant reserved shall praise the Lord.

a This Prophecy is as a conclusion of that which hath bene threatened to the Iewes and other nations, from the 13 Chapter, and therefore by the earth he meaneth those lands, which were before named.

b Because this was a name of dignitie, it was also applied to them which were not of Arams familie, & so signifieth also a man of dignitie, as 2o Sam 8. 18. & 2o. 25. 1. chron. 18. 17. and by these words, the Prophet signifieth an horrible confusion, where there shall bee neither religion, order, nor policy. Hose. 4. 9.

c That is, rendereth not her fruit for the sinne of the people, whom the earth decleued of their nouriture, because they deceived God of his honour.

e Written in the law, as Leuit. 26 14. deuter. 28 16.

thus the Prophe's vsed to apply particularly the menaces & promise, which are general in the Law. e With heate and drought, or else, that they were consumed with the fire of Gods wrath. f Which as it was without order, so now should it be brought to defolation and confusion: and this was not only meane of Ierusalem, but of all the other wicked cities. g Because they did not vse Gods benefits aright, their pleasures should faile, and the fall to mourning. h Hee comforteth the faithfull, declaring that in this great defolation the Lord will assemble his Church, which shall praise his Name, as Chap. 10. 22.

Hold, the Lord maketh the earth empty, and he maketh it waste: hee turneth it upside downe, and scattereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.

2 And there shall be like people, like priest, and like seruant, like master, like maide, like mistresse, like buyer, like seller, like lender, like borrower, like giuer, like taker to vsure.

3 The earth shall be cleane emptied, and utterly spoiled: for the Lord hath spoken this word.

4 The earth lamenteth & fadeth away: the world is seckled and decayed: the proud people of the earth are weakened.

5 The earth also deceiueth, because of the inhabitants thereof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the euerlasting couenant.

6 Therefore hath the curse denoured the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are desolate. And therefore the inhabitants of the land are burned vp, and few men are left.

7 The wine faileth, the vine hath no might: all that were of merry heart, doe mourne.

8 The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the noise of them that reioyce, endeth: the joy of the harp ceaseth.

9 They shall not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shall be bitter to them that drinke it.

10 The citie of vanity is broken downe: every house is shut vp, that no man may come in.

11 There is a crying for wine in the streets: all joy is darkened: the mirth of the world is gone away.

12 In the citie is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction.

13 Surely thus shall it be in the mids of the earth, among the people, as the shaking of an olive tree and as the grapes when the vintage is ended.

14 They shall lift vp their voice: they shall shout for the magnificence of the Lord: they shall reioyce from the sea.

15 And therefore praise ye the Lord in the valleys, euen the Name of the Lord God of Israel, in the yles of the sea.

16 From the uttermost part of the earth we haue heard praises, euen glory to the Just, and I saide, My kinne, my leane, woe is me: the transgressors haue offended: yea, the transgressors haue grievously offended.

17 Feare, and the pit, and the snare are vpon thee, O inhabitant of the earth.

18 And hee that stiech from the noise of the seare, shall fall into the pit, and hee that cometh by out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for the windows from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth doe shake.

19 The earth is utterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolved: the earth is moved exceeding.

20 The earth, shall reele to and fro like a drunken man, and shall be removed like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shall be heard vpon it: so that it shall fall, and rise no more.

21 And in that day shall the Lord visite the holie about that is on high, euen the kings of the world that are vpon the earth.

22 And they shall be gathered together as the prisoners in the pit: and they shall be shut vp in the prison, and after many dayes shall they be visited.

23 When the Boorne shall be abashed, and the Sunne ashamed, when the Lord of hostes shall reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glory shall be before his ancient man.

will visite him with his rods. o Not with his rods, as verse 21. but shall be comforted. p When God shall restore his Church, the glory thereof shall to shine, and his ministers (which are called his ancient men): the Sunne and the Moone shall be darke in comparison thereof.

CHAP. XXV.

A thanksgiving to God in that that he sheweth himselfe iudge of the world, by punishing the wicked, and maintainin the Godly.

Lord, thou art my God: I will exult other, I will praise thy Name: for thou hast done wonderfull things, according to the counsels of old, with a stable truth.

2 For thou hast made of a citie an heape, of a strong citie a ruine: euen the palace of strangers of a citie, it shall neuer be built.

3 Therefore shall the mightie people giue glory vnto thee: the citie of the strong nations shall feare thee.

4 For thou hast bene a strength vnto the poore, euen a strength to the needy in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadow against the heate: for the blaine have bin thine enemies. c That is, a place whereas all vagabonds may lue without danger, and as it were, at ease, as in a palace. d The arrogant and proud, which before would not know thee, shall by thy corrections feare and glorifie thee.

i From the very most coasts of the world, where the Gospell shall be preached, as verse 16.

k Meaning, to God, who will publish his Gospel through all the world.

l I am consumed with care, considering the affliction of the Church, both by foreine enemies and domestikall.

Some reade, my secret, my secret: that is, it was revealed to the Prophet; hat the good should be preferred, and the wicked destroyed.

m Meaning, that Gods wrath and vengeance should be ouer and vnder them: so that they should not escape no more than they did at Nabs flood.

n There is no power so high or mighty, but God will visite him with his rods.

o Not with his rods, as verse 21. but shall be comforted.

p When God shall restore his Church, the glory thereof shall to shine, and his ministers (which are called his ancient men): the Sunne and the Moone shall be darke in comparison thereof.

a Thus the Prophet giueth thanks to God, because he will bring vnder subiection these nations by his corrections, and make them of his Church which before were his enemies.

b Not onely of Ierusalem, but also of these other cities, which may lue without danger, and as it were, at ease, as in a palace.

d The arrogant and proud, which before would not know thee, shall by thy corrections feare and glorifie thee.

e The rage of the wicked is furious till God breake the force thereof.

f Meaning, that as the heate is abated by the raine, so shall God bring downe the rage of the wicked.

g As a cloude shadoweth from the heate of the Sunne, so shall God swage the reioicing of the wicked against the godly.

h To wit, in Zion, whereby hee meaneth his Church, which should vnder

Christ be assembled of the Iewes and the Gentiles, and is here described vnder the figure of a costly banker, as

Math. 23. 2. i Meaning, that ignorance and blindness, whereby we re kept backe from Christ. k Hee will take away all occasions of sorrow, and fill his wich perfect. i. y. Reuela 7. 17. and 21. 4.

l By Moab are meant all the enemies of his Church. m There were two cities of this name: one in Iudah, 1. Chr. 2. 49. and another in the land of Moab, Iere. 48. 2. which seemeth to haue bene a plentiful place of come, 1. hap. 10. 31.

a This song was made to comfort the faithfull, when their captiuitie should come affuring them also of their deliuerance, for the which they should sing this song.

b Gods protection and defence shall be sufficient for vs.

c He assurcth the godly to returne after the captiuitie to Ierusalem. d Thou hast decreed so and thy purpose can not be changed. e There is no power so hie that can ly God, when he will deliuer his.

of the mightie is like a storme against the wall.

f Thou shalt bring downe the noise of the strangers, as the heate in a drie place: he will bring downe the song of the mightie, as the heate in the shadow of a cloude.

g And in this h mountain shall the Lord of hostes make vnto all people a feast of fat things, even a feast of fined wines, and of fat things full of marrow, of wines fined and purified.

h And he will destroy in this mountaine the couerting that couereth all people, and the baile that is spread vpon all nations.

i Hee will destroy death for euer: and the Lord God will k wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people will he take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.

j And in that day shall men say. Loe, this is our God: we haue waited for him, and he will saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we will reioyce and be toyfull in his saluation.

k For in this mountaine shall the hand of the Lord rest, and l Moab shall be thersied vnder him, euen as strawe is thersied in m Gadmenah.

n And he shall stretch out his hand in the midde of them (as he that swimmeth, stretcheth them out to swimme) and with the strength of his handes shall hee bring downe their pride.

o The detence also of the height of thy walles shall he bring downe, and lay low, and cast them to the ground, euen vnto the dust.

k Hee will take away all occasions of sorrow, and fill his wich perfect. i. y. Reuela 7. 17. and 21. 4.

CHAP. XXVI.

A song of the faithfull, wherein is declared, in what consisteth the saluation of the Church, and wherein they ought to trust.

1 That day shall a this song be sung in the land of Iudah, where haue a strong citie: saluation shall God set for walles and bulwarkes.

2 Open vee the gates, that the righteous nation which keepeth the truth, may enter in.

3 By an assured d purpose wilt thou preserve perfect peace, because they trusted in thee.

4 Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God is strength for euermore.

5 For hee will bring downe them that dwell on high: the high citie he will abase: euen vnto the ground will he cast it downe, and bring it vnto dust.

6 The foote shall tread it downe, euen the feete of the f poore, and the steppes of the needy.

7 The way of the iust is righteousness: thou wilt make equal the righteous path of the iust.

8 Also we, O Lord, haue waited for thee in the way of thy iudgements: the desire of our soules is to thy Name, & to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirit within mee will I seke thee in the morning: for setting thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shall learne b righteousness.

10 Let mercy i be shewed to the wicked, yee he will not learne righteousness: in the land of vprightnes will he do wickedly, and will not behold the maine life of the Lord.

11 O Lord, they will not beholde thine high hand: but they shall see it, and bee confounded with k the zeale of the people, and the fire of thine l enemies shall deuoure them.

12 Lord, vnto vs thou wilt ordaine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our workes for vs.

13 O Lord our God, other m lords beside thee haue ruled vs, but we will remember thee only, and thy Name.

14 The dead shall not liue, neither shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their multitude.

15 Thou hast increased o the nation. O Lord: thou hast increased the nation: thou art made glorious: thou hast enlarged all the coasts of the earth.

16 Lord, in trouble haue they p visited thee: they powred out a prayer when thy chastening was vpon them.

17 Like as a woman with childe, that draweth neerer to the travails, is in sorrow, and crieth in her paines, so haue we bene in thy q sight, O Lord.

18 We haue conceiued, we haue borne in paine, as though we should haue brought forth r winde: there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of the world fall.

19 Thy dead men shall liue: euen with my body shall they rise. Awake, and sing vnto that dwell in dust: for thy s dew is as the dew of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the rance.

20 Come, my people: enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very little while, vntill the indignation passe ouer.

21 For loe, the Lord cometh out of his place, to visit the iniquitie of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them: and the

and men without religion were not destroyed. t He comforteth the faithfull in their afflictions, shewing them, that euen in death they shall haue life: and that they should most certainly rise to glory: the contrary should come to the wicked, as verse 14. u As herbes dead in winter flourish againe by the raine in y spring time: so they that lie in the dust, shall rise vp to ioy when they feele the dew of Gods grace. x He exhorteth the faithfull to be patient in their afflictions, and to wait vpon Gods worke.

y The earth shall vomite, and the innocent blood, which hath drunke, that it may cry for vengeance against the wicked.

CHAP. XXVII.

A prophesie against the kingdome of Satan, 2 and of the ioy of the Church for their deliuerance.

a At the time appointed, b That is, by his mighty power, & by his word, c He prophesieth here of the destruction of Satan & his kingdome vnder the name of Leuiathan, As hur, and Egypt.

1 In that day the Lord with his force and great and mighty sword shall visite Leuiathan, that piercing serpent, euen Leuiathan that crooked serpent, and he shall slay the dragon that is in the sea.

2 In that day sing of the vineyard of red wine.

3 If the Lord doe keepe it: I will water it euery morning: I will not let any assaile it, I will keepe it night and day.

4 Anger is not in me: who would set the brutes and the thornes against me in battell? I would goe thow them, I would burne them together.

5 I will be se. le my strength, that hee may make peace with me, and be at one with me?

6 Hereafter, Iacob shall take root: Iacob shall flourish and grow, and the world shall be filled with fruit.

7 Hath hee smitten him as hee smote those that smote him? or is he slaine according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him?

8 In measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contend with it, when he bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the East winde.

9 By this therefore shall the iniquitie of Iacob be purged, and this is all the fruit, the taking away of his sinne: when he shall make all the stones of the altars, as chalke stones broken in peeces, that the groues and images may not stand up.

10 Yet the defended citie shall bee desolate, and the habitation shall be forsaken and left like a wilderness. There shall the calves feede, and there shall he lye, and consume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughes of it are dry, they shall bee broken: the women come and let them on fire: for it is a people of none vnderstanding: therefore he that made them shall not haue compassion on them, and hee that formed them, shall haue no mercie on them.

12 And in that day shall the Lord thrust from the channell of the Riuer vnto the riuer of Egypt, and ye shall bee gathered spring againe and bring forth in great abundance. g He sheweth that God punisheth him in mercie, and his enemies in iustice. h That is, thou wilt not destroy the root of thy Church, though the branches thereof seeme to perish by the sharpe winde of affliction. i He sheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, till the heart be purged with all idolatrie, and the monuments thereof destroyed. k Notwithstanding his fauour that he will shew them after: yet Ierusalem shall be destroyed, and grass for cattell shall grow in it. l God shall not haue neede of mightie enemies: for the very women shall doe it to their great shame. m He shall destroy all from Euphrates to Nilus: for some fled toward Egypt, thinking to haue escaped.

one by one, O children of Israel.

13 In that day also shall the great trumpet be blown, and they shall come, which perished in the land of Assure: and they that were chased into the land of Egypt, they shall worship the Lord in the holy mount at Ierusalem.

n In the time of Cyrus by whom they should be deliuered: but this was chiefly accomplished vnder Christ.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Against the pride and drunkenness of Israel, 9 The unwariness of them that should learne the word of God. 24 God doeth all things in time and place.

Woe to the crowne of pride, the drunkenards of Ephraim: for his glorious beautie shall be a fading flour, which is vpon the head of the balley of them that bee fat, and are ouercome with wine.

2 Behold, the Lord hath a mighty and strong hoste, like a tempest of hayle, and a whirlwind that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that ouerflow, which throw to the ground mightily.

3 They shall be troden vnder foote, euen the crowne and the pride of the drunkenards of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beautie shall be a fading flour, which is vpon the head of the balley of them that be fat, and as the halfe of fruit afore summer, which when he hath looketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in his hand he catcheth it.

5 In that day shall the Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glorie, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the residue of his people:

6 And for a spirit of iudgement, and for strength that steeeth in iudgement, and for strength vnto them that come away the battell to the gate.

7 But they haue erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the Priest and the Prophet haue erred by strong drinke, they are swallowed vpon with wine: they haue gone astray through strong drinke, they faile in vision: they stumble in iudgement.

8 For all their tables are full of filthy vomiting: no place is cleane.

9 Whom shall he teach knowledge? and whom shall he make to vnderstand the things that he heareth? them that are weaned from the milke, and drawn from the breasts.

10 For precept must be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle, and there a litle.

11 For with a flaming sword, and with a strange language shall he speake vnto this people.

12 Vnto whom hee saith, This is the owne gates. g Meaning the hypocrites, which were among them, and were altogether corrupt in life & doctrine, which is here meant by drunkenness and vomiting. h For there was none that was able to vnderstand any good doctrine, but were foolish, and as vnmeet as young babes. i They must haue one thing oft times told. k Let on each what he can, yet they shall no more vnderstand him, then if he spake in a strange language. l That is the Prophet, whome God should send. m This is the doctrine whereupon ye ought to stay and rest.

Lord his vengeance:
for hee punisheth

another, so that his chosen seede is beaten, and cryed, but not broken, as are the wicked.

rest: ^a giue rest to him that is weary: and this is the refreshing, but they would not heare.

13 Therefore shall the word of the Lord be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little, that they may goe and fall backward, and be broken and be shamed, and be taken.

14 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, ye scornfull men that rule this people, which is at Ierusalem.

15 Because ye haue said, We haue made a covenent with death, and with hell are wee at agreement: though a scourge runne ouer, and passe through, it shall not come at vs: for wee haue made a falshood our refuge, and vnder vanitie are wee hid,

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will lay in Zion a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation. For that beleeueth, I shall not make haile.

17 Iudgement also wil I lay to the rule, and I righten the to the balance, and the haile shall sweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall ouerflowe the secret place.

18 And your covenent with death shall be disannulled, and your agreement with hell shall not stand: when a scourge shall runne ouer and passe through, then shall ye be trode downe by it.

19 When it passeth ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe through euery morn-ning in the day, and in the night, and there shall be onely y feare to make you to understand the hearing.

20 For the bed is: strait that it cannot suffice, and the covering narrow that one cannot wrap himselfe.

21 For the Lord shall stand as in mount Sion: he shall be worthy as in the valley of Gibeon, that he may doe his worke, his strange worke, and bring to passe his act, his strange act.

22 Now therefore bee no mockers, least your bonds increafe: for I haue heard of the Lord of hosts a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth.

23 Hearken ye, and heare my voice, hearken ye, and heare my speech.

24 Doeth thy plowman plow all the day, to loue? doth he open and breake the clots of his ground?

25 When hee hath made it plaine, will hee not then sow the fitches, and sow cum-min, and cast in wheate by measure, and the appointed barley and rie in their place?

26 For his God doth instruct him to haue discretion, and doth teach him.

27 For fitches shall not be threshed with a threshing instrument, neither shall a cart where hee turned about vpon the cummin:
but the fitches are beaten out with a staffe, and cummin with a roo.

28 Bread come when it is threshed, hee doeth not alway thresh it, neither doeth the wheele of his cart still make a noise, neither will hee breake it with the teeth thereof.

29 This also cometh from the Lord of hosts, which is wonderfull in counsaile, and excellent in works.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 A prophesie against Ierusalem, 13 The vengeance of God on them that follow the traditions of man.

A Altar, altar of the cite that David dwelt in: adde peece vnto peece: let them kill lambs.

2 But I wil bring the altar into distresse, and there shall be heaviness and sorrow, and it shall be vnto me like an Altar.

3 And I wil besiege thee as a circle, and fight against thee on a mount, and will cast vp ramparts against thee.

4 So shalt thou bee humbled, and shalt speake out of the ground, and thy speech shall be as out of the dust: thy voyce also shall be out of the ground like him that hath a spirit of domination, and thy talking shall whisper out of the dust.

5 Moreover, the multitude of thy strangers shall be like small dust: and the multitude of strong men shall be as chaffe that passeth away, and it shall be in a moment, euen suddenly.

6 Thou shalt bee visited of the Lord of hosts with thunder and shaking and a great noyse, a whirlewinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a denouring fire.

7 And the multitude of all the nations that fight against y altar, shall be as a dreame or vision by night: euen all they that make the war against it, and strong holdes against it, and lay siege vnto it.

8 And it shall be like as an hungry man dreameth, and behold, he eateth: and when he awaketh his soule is empty: or like as a thirsty man dreameth, & lo, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, behold, he is faint, and his soule longeth: so shall the multitude of all nations bee that fight against mount Sion.

9 Stay your selues and wonder: they are blinde, and make you blinde: they are drunken, but not with wine: they stagger but not by strong drinke.

10 For the Lord hath covered you with a makest thy vaine trust, shall come at vnawares, euen as a dreame in the night. Some reade, as if this were a comfort to the Church for the destruction of their enemies. g That is, he thinketh that he eateth. h Mufe hereon as long as you list, yet shall yee finde nothing but occasion to bee astonished: for your Prophets are blinde, and therefore cannot direct you.

spirit of slumber, and hath shut up your eyes: the Prophets, and your chiefe Seers hath he couered.

11 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a Booke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. Then shall hee say, I can not: for it is sealed.

12 And the Booke is giuen vnto him that cannot reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. And hee shall say, I cannot reade.

13 Therefore the Lord said, Because this people ^k come neere vnto mee with their mouth, and honour mee with their lippes, but haue reprobued their heart farre from me, and their ^l feare toward me was taught by the precept of men.

14 Therefore behold, I will againe doe a marvellous worke in this people, euen a marvellous worke, and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall ^m perishe, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shall be hid.

15 ⁿ Come vnto them that ^o seeke deepe to hide their counsell from the Lord: for their workes are in darkenesse, and they lay, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

16 Your turning of deuiCES shall it not be esteemed? as the potters clay? for shall the worke say of him that made it, Wee made me not? or the thing formed, say of him that fashioned it, We had none vnderstanding?

17 Is it not yet but a little while, and Lebanon shall bee ^p turned into Carmel: and Carmel shall be counted as a forest?

18 And in that day shall the deafe heare the wordes of the booke, and the eyes of the blinde shall see out of obscuritie, and out of darkenesse.

19 The meeke in the Lord shall receiue foy againe, and the poore men shall reioyce in the holy one of Israel.

20 For the cruel man shall cease, and the scornfull shall be consumed: and all that hastened to iniquity shall be cut off:

21 Which made a man to sinne in the word, and tooke him in a snare: which reprobued them in the gate, and made the iust to fall without cause.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Iaakob, euen hee that redeemed Abraham, Iaakob shall not now bee confounded, neither now shall his face bee pale.

23 But when hee seeth his children, the worke of mine handes, in the mids of him they shall sanctifie my name, and sanctifie the holy one of Iaakob, and shall feare the God of Israel.

24 Then they that erred in spirit, shall haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured shall learne doctrine.

1 He reprobued the Iewes which in their aduersitie used their owne counsels, 2 And sought helpe of the Egyptians, 10 Despising the Prophets, 16 Therefore hee sheweth what destruction shall come vpon them 18 But offereth mercy to the repentant.

WDe to the rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsell, but not of mee, and ^a couer with a coarcing, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

2 Which walke forth to go downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen themselves with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadow of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaoh shall be your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt, your confusion.

4 For his Princes were at Zoan, and his Ambassadors came into Hanes.

5 They shall bee all ashamed of the people that cannot piosite them, nor helpe nor doe them good, but shall be a shame and also a reproch.

6 The burden of the beastes of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shall come the pong and old lyon, the vlyer, and Arctielyng serpent against them that shall beare their riches vpon the shouldres of the colts, and their treasures vpon the bunches of the camels, to a people that cannot piosite.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cryed vnto her, Their strength is to sit still.

8 Now gor, and write it before them in a table, and note it in a booke, that it may be for the last day for euer and euer.

9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that would not heare the Law of the Lord.

10 Which say vnto the Seers, See not: and to the Prophets, Prophesie not vnto vs: right things: but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophesie errors.

11 Depart out of the way: gor aside out of the path: cause the holy One of Israel to cease from vs.

12 Therefore thus saith the holy One of Israel, Because yee haue cast off this word, and trust in violence and wickednesse, and stay therevpon, 13 Therefore this iniquitie shall be vnto you as a breach that falleth, or a swelling in an hie wall, whose breaking commeth suddenly in a moment.

14 And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a Potters pottle, which is broken without pittie, and in the breaking thereof is not found a sheard to take fire out of the hearth, or to take wa-

f And not to come too and fro to seeke helpe.

x By these diuers manners of speech hee sheweth that the felicity of the Church shall bee so great, that none is able sufficiently to expresse it.

y When the Church shall be restored, the glory thereof shall passe seven times the brightnes of the Sunne: for by the Sunne and Moone, which are two excellent creatures, he sheweth what shall be the glory of the children of God in the kingdom of Christ. z This threatening is against the Assyrians, the chiefe enemies of the people of God.

ter out of the pit.

15 For thus said the Lord God, the holy One of Israel, In rest and quietnesse shall ye be saued: in quietnesse and in confidence shall be your strength, but ye would not.

16 For ye haue sayd, No, but we will flee away vpon horses. Therefore shall ye flee. We will ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shall your persecuters be swifter.

17 A thousand as one shall flee at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of five shall yee flee, till yee be left as a shippe mast vpon the top of a mountaine, and as a beacon vpon an hill.

18 Yet therefore will the Lord wait, that hee may haue mercie vpon you, and therefore will he be exalted, that he may haue compassion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of iudgement. Blessed are all they that wait for him.

19 Surely a people shall dwell in Zion, and in Jerusalem: thou shalt weepe no more: hee will certainly haue mercie vpon thee at the voyce of thy cry: when hee heareth thee, he will answer thee.

20 And when the Lord hath giuen you the bread of aduerfite, and the water of affliction, thy raine shall be no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see thy raine.

21 And thine eares shall heare a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walke yee in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left.

22 And yee shall pollute the covering of the images of silver, and the rich ornament of thine images of gold, and cast them away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt lay vnto it, Get thee hence.

23 Then shall hee giue raine vnto thy seed, when thou shalt sow the ground, and bread of the increase of the earth, and it shall be fat, and as oyle: in that day shall thy cattell be fed in large pastures.

24 The oren also and the yong asses, that till the ground, shall eate cleane pender, which is winowed with the shoule, and with the same.

25 And vpon every high mountaine, and vpon every high hill shall there be riuers and streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towres shall fall.

26 Moreover, the light of the Moone shall be as the light of the Sunne, and the light of the Sunne shall be seven fold, and like the light of seven dayes in the day that the Lord shall binde vp the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound.

27 Behold, the Name of the Lord cometh from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heauie, his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a devouring fire.

28 And his Spirit is as a river that overfloweth up to the necke: it disbudeth as a funder, to fanne the nations with the same of banitie, and there shall bee a biddie to raise them to erre in the lawes of the people.

28 And his Spirit is as a river that overfloweth up to the necke: it disbudeth as a funder, to fanne the nations with the same of banitie, and there shall bee a biddie to raise them to erre in the lawes of the people.

29 But there shall be a song vnto you as in the night, when a solemne feast is kept: and gladnesse of heart, as hee that cometh with a pipe to goe vnto the mount of the Lord, to the Mighty one of Israel.

30 And the Lord shall cause his glorious voyce to be heard, and shall declare the lightning downe of his arme, with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a denouing fire, with scattering and tempest, and hailestones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lord shall Asshur be destroyed, which smote with the rod.

32 And in every place that the staffe shall passe, it shall cleane fast, which the Lord shall lay vpon him with tabrets and harps, and with battels, & lifting vp of hands shall he fight against it.

33 For a Prophet is prepared of olde: it is euen prepared for the King: hee hath made it deepe and large: the burning thereof is fire and much wood: the branch of the Lord, like a river of brimstone, doeth kindle it.

1 Saneherib sendeth Rabshakeb to besiege Ierusalem. 15 His blasphemies against God.

NDw in the fourteenth yeere of King Dizekiah, and Saneherib king of Assur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah, and tooke them.

2 And the king of Assur sent Rabshakeh from Lachish toward Ierusalem vnto King Dizekiah with a great host, and hee stood by the conduit of the vpper poole: in the path of the fullers field.

3 Then came forth vnto him Eliakim the Church to bee afflicted, but at the length would send deliuerance. b When he had abolished superstition and idolatry, and restored religion, yet God would exercise his Church to trie their faith, and patience.

c For he was now restored to his office, as Isaiah had prophesied, Chap. 55. 10. d This declareth that there were few godly to be found in Kings house, when he was driven to send this wicked man in such a weighty matter. e Saneherib chief captaine. f He speaketh of this in the person of Hezekiah, falsely charging him, that he put his trust in his wit & eloquence, whereas his only confidence was in the Lord, g Satan laboured to pull the godly king from one vaine confidence to another, to wit, from trust in the Egyptians whose power was weak and would deceive them to yeelde himselfe to the Assyrians, and so not to hope for any helpe of God.

[Or turne backe. h He reproacheth to Hezekiah his small power, which is not able to resist one of Saneheribs least captaines. i Thus the wicked to deceive vs, will pretend the Name of the Lord, but wee must try the spirits, whether they be of God or no.

k They were afraid left by his words he should haue stirred the people against the king, and also pretended to grow to some appointment with him. j Ebr the waters of their fesse. l The Ebrew word signifieth blessing: whereby this wicked captaine would haue persequed the people, that their condition should bee better vnder Saneherib, then vnder Hezekiah.

sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancelour, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder.

4 And Rabbahkei sayd vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus saith the great King, the king of Asshur, What confidence is this wherein thou trustest?

5 I say, Surely I haue eloquence, but counsell and strength are for the warre: on whom then dost thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

6 See, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reede, on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will goe into his hand and pearce it: so is Pharaoh king of Egypt vnto all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say vnto mee, We trust in the Lorde our God: Is not that hee whose high places and whose altars Hezekiah tooke downe, and sayd to Iudah and to Ierusalem, Ye shall worship before this altar?

8 Now therefore giue hostages to my lord the king of Asshur, and I will giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to sit riders vpon them.

9 For how canst thou despise any captaine of the least of my lords seruantes? and put thy trust on Egypt for chariots and for horsemen?

10 And am I now come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord said vnto me, See vp against this land and destroy it.

11 Then said Eliakim, and Shebna, and Ioah vnto Rabbahkei, Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruantes, in the Aramites language (for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

12 Then said Rabbahkei, Hath my master sent mee to thy master, and to thee to speake these words, and not to the men that sit on the wall, that they may eat their owne dowing, and drinke their owne piss with you?

13 So Rabbahkei stood and cried with a loud voice in the Iewes language, and said, heare the words of the great King, of the king of Asshur.

14 Thus saith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceive you: for he shall not be able to deliuer you.

15 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliuer vs: this city shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the king of Asshur.

16 Bearken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the king of Asshur, Make appointement with mee, & come out to mee, that every man may eate of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne fig tree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne well.

17 Till I come & bring you to a land like your owne land, euen a land of wheate and wine, a land of bread and vineyards,

18 Let Hezekiah deceive you, saying, The Lord will deliuer vs. Vnch any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the king of Asshur?

19 Where is the god of Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? how haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

20 Who is he among all the gods of these lands, that hath deliuered their countrey out of mine hand, that the Lord should deliuer Ierusalem out of mine hand?

21 Then they kept silence, and answered him not a word: for the kings commandement was, saying, Answer him not.

22 Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the Chancelour, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the Recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and tolde him the wordes of Rabbahkei.

nisteth cities for sinne. a Not that they did not shew by euident signes that they did detest his blasphemie: for they had now rent their clothes, but they knew it was in vaine to vie long reasoning with this infidell, whose rage they should haue so much more prouoked.

CHAP. XXXVII.

2 Hezekiah asketh counsell of Isaiah, who promisseth him the victory; 10 The blasphemie of Saneherib. 16 Hezekiahs prayer: 36 The armie of Saneherib is slaine of the Angel, 38 And he himselfe of his owne finnes.

And when the King Hezekiah heard it, he rent his clothes, & put on sackcloth, and came into the house of the Lord.

2 And hee sent Eliakim the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancelour, with the Elders of the Priestes clothed in sackcloth, vnto Isaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz.

3 And they said vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

4 It is to be the Lord thy God hath heard the wordes of Rabbahkei whom the king of Asshur his master hath sent to raile on the liuing God, and to reproch him with wordes which the Lord thy God hath heard, then are left.

5 So the seruants of the King Hezekiah came to Isaiah.

6 And Isaiah said vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus saith the Lord, Bee not afraid of y words that thou hast heard, whereby the seruants of the king of Asshur haue blasphemed me.

7 Behold, I will send a blast vpon him;

8 So Rabshakch returned, and found the King of Asshur fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.
9 He heard also men say of Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, Behold, he is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, he sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying,
10 Thus shall ye speake to Hezekiah king of Iudah, saying, Let not thy God deceive thee, in whom thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shall not bee giuen into the hand of the king of Asshur.
11 Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of Asshur haue done to all lands in destroying them, and shalt thou be deliuered?
12 Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed: as Gozan, and Haran, and Reseph, and the children of Eden, which were at Celsassar?
13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena, and Iuah?
14 So Hezekiah received the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it, and hee went vp into the house of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the Lord.
15 And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lord, saying,
16 O Lord of hosts, God of Israel, which dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdoms of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.
17 Encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare, open thine eyes, O Lord, and see, and heare all the words of Saneherib, who hath sent to blasphem the living God.
18 Truth it is, O Lord, that the kings of Asshur haue destroyed all lands, & their countrey.
19 And haue cast their gods in the fire: for they were no gods, but the worke of mens hands, euen wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them.
20 Now therefore, O Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know, that thou only art the Lord.
21 Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Because thou hast prayed vnto mee concerning Saneherib king of Asshur, 22 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against him, The virgin, the daughter of Zion hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorn: the daughter of Ierusalem hath shaken her head at thee.
23 Whom hast thou railled on, and blasphemed? and against whom hast thou exalted thy voyce, and lifted vp thine eyes on high? euen against the Holy one of Israel.
24 By thy seruants hast thou railled on the Lord, and said, By the multitude of my charrets, I am come vp to the toppes of the mountaynes, to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the high cedars thereof, and the faire fire trees thereof, and I will goe vp to the heighes of his top, and to the forefront of his fruitfull places.

25 I haue digged, and drunke the waters, and with the plant of my feete haue I dyed all the riuers closed in.
26 Hast thou not heard how I haue of old time made it, and haue formed it long agoe? should I now bring it, that it should be destroyed, and laid on ruinous heapes, as cities defenced, 27 Whole inhabitants haue small power, and are afraid and confounded? they are like the grasse of the field and greene herbe, or grasse on the house tops, or corne blasted afore it be growen.
28 But I know thy dwelling, and thy going out, and thy coming in, and thyurie against me.
29 Because thou ragest against mee, and thy tumult is come vp vnto mine eares, therefore will I put mine hook in thy nostrils, and my bridle in thy lips, and will bring thee backe againe the same way thou camest.
30 And this shall be a signe vnto thee, O Hezekiah. Thou shalt eate this yere such as groweth of it selfe: and the second yere such things as grow without sowing: and in the third yere thou shalt sow and reape, and plant vineyards, and eat the fruit thereof.
31 And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shall againe take roote downward, and bear fruit upward.
32 For out of Ierusalem shall goe a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Sion: the zeale of the Lord of hosts shall doe this.
33 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord concerning the king of Asshur, He shall not enter into this citie, nor shote an arrow there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it.
34 By the same way that he came, he shall retorne, and not come into this citie, saith the Lord.
35 For I will defend this citie to saue it for mine owne sake, and for my seruants Darius sake.
36 Then the Angel of the Lord went in the campe of Asshur an hundred fourscore and five thousand: so when they arose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses.

37 So Saneherib king of Asshur departed, and went away and returned and dwelt at Nineueh.

38 And as he was in the Temple worshipping of Asiroch his god, Adramelech and Shazzer his sonnes slew him with the sword, and they escaped into the land of Assyria: and Elarhaddon his sonne reigned in his stead.

39 And as he was in the Temple worshipping of Asiroch his god, Adramelech and Shazzer his sonnes slew him with the sword, and they escaped into the land of Assyria: and Elarhaddon his sonne reigned in his stead.

40 And as he was in the Temple worshipping of Asiroch his god, Adramelech and Shazzer his sonnes slew him with the sword, and they escaped into the land of Assyria: and Elarhaddon his sonne reigned in his stead.

41 About that time was Hezekiah sicke vnto the death, and the Prophet Iaiab sonne of Amoz came vnto him, and said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Put thine house in order, for thou shalt die, and not liue.

42 Then Hezekiah turned his face to the wall, and prayed to the Lord, 43 And said, I beseech thee, Lord, remember now how I haue walked before thee in truth, and with a perfect heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah wept sore.

44 Then came the word of the Lord to Iaiab, saying,

45 Goe, and say vnto Hezekiah, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and seene thy teares: behold, I will add vnto thy dayes fiftene yeeres.

46 And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the king of Asshur, and this city shall be inhabited for ever.

47 And this signe shalt thou haue of the Lord, that the Lord will doe this thing that he hath spoken.

48 Behold, I will bring againe the shadow of the degrees (whereby it is gone downe in the diall of Ahas by the sunne) ten degrees backward: so the sunne returned by ten degrees, by the which degrees it was gone downe.

50 I said in the cutting off of my dayes, I shall goe to the gates of the graue: I am deuiued of the residue of my yeeres.

51 I said, I shall not see the Lord, even the Lord in the land of the liuing: I shall see 54 Like a crane or a swallow, so did I chatter: I did moune as a dole: mine eyes were life vpon high: O Lord, it hath oppressed me, comfort me.

55 What shall I say? for he hath said it to me, and he hath done it: I shall walke feebly al my yeeres in the bitterness of my soule.

56 O Lord, I to them that ouerliue them, and to all that are in them, the life of my spirit shall be knowne, that thou causedst me to sleepe, and hast giuen life to me.

57 Beholde, for I felicitie I had bitter griefe, but it was thy pleasure to deliuer my soule from the pitte of corruption: for thou hast cast all my sinnes behinde thy backe.

8 But thou, Israel, at my seruant, and thou Iakob, whom I haue chosen, the seed of Abraham my friend.

9 For I haue taken thee from the endes of the earth, and called thee before the chiefe thereof, and sayd vnto thee, Thou art my seruant: I haue chosen thee, and not cast thee away.

10 Feare thou not, for I am with thee: bee not afraid, for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee, & helpe thee, & will susteine thee with the right hand of my iustice.

11 Beholde, all they that prouoke thee shall be ashamed, and confounded: they shall be as nothing, and they that strue with thee shall perish.

12 Thou shalt seeke them, and shalt not find them: to wit, the men of thy strife, for they shall be as nothing, and the men that warre against thee, as a thing of nought.

13 For I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not, I will helpe thee.

14 Feare not thou worke Iakob, and ye men of Israel: I will helpe thee, sayth the Lord, and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel.

24 Behold, yee are of no value, and your makings of no might: man hath created an abomination by them.

25 I haue raiyed vp from the North, and he shall come: from the East I will call vpon my Name, and shall come vpon princes as vpon clay, and as the potter treadeth mire vnder the foot.

26 Who hath declared from the beginning that we may know: or before time, that we may say, Hee is righteous? Surely there is none that sheweth: surely there is none that declareth: surely there is none that heareth your words.

27 I am the first that sayeth to Zion, Beholde, beholde: them: and I will giue to Jerusalem a one that shall bring good tidings.

28 But when I behelde, there was none, & when I requied of them, there was no counsellour, and when I demanded of them, they answered not a word.

29 Beholde, they are all vanitie: thei workes is of nothing, thei images are winde and confusion.

30 Both of the Chaldeans and others. y Meaning, that none of the Gentiles gods can worke any of these things. z That is, the Israelites, which returne from the captiuitie. a To wit, a continuall successe of Prophets & Ministers. b When I looked whether the idoles could doe these things, I found that they had neither wisdom nor power to doe any thing: therefore he concludeth that all are wicked, that trust in such vanities.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The obedience & humilitie of Christ. 6 Why he was sent into the world. 11 The vocation of the Gentiles.

1 Beholde, my seruant: b I will say vpon him: mine elect, in whom my soule delighteth: I haue put my Spirit vpon him: he shall bring forth iudgement to the Gentiles.

2 Hee shall not cry, nor lift vp, nor cause a That is, Christ, who in respect of his manhood is called here seruant. The Prophets vse to make mention of Christ after that they haue declared any great promise, because he is the foundation whereupon all the promises are made and ratified. b For I haue committed all my power to him, as to a most faithfull steward. Some read, I will establish him, to wit, in his office, by giuing him the fullness of my Spirit. c Hee onely is accepted vnto me, and they that come vnto me by him: for there is no other meane of reconciliation, Mat 12. 18. ephes. 1. 4. d Hee shall declare himselfe gouernour ouer the Gentiles, and call them by his word, and rule them by his Spirit. e His comming shall not be with pompe, and noyse, as earthly Princes.

his voice to be heard in the streete.

3 A bruised reed shall he not breake, and the smoking flaxe shall he not quench, hee shall bring forth iudgement in truth.

4 Hee shall not faile nor bee discouraged till he haue set iudgement in the earth: and the viles shall wait for his law.

5 Thus saith God the Lord, (he that created the heauens & spread them abroad: he that lietheth forth the earth, and the budde thereof: he that giueth breath vnto the people vpon it, and spirit to them that walke therein.)

6 If the Lord haue called thee in righteousnesse, and will hold thee fast, and I will keepe thee, and giue thee for a covenant of the people, and for a light of the Gentiles,

7 That thou mayest open the eyes of the blinde, and bring out the prisoners from the prison: and them that sit in darkness, out of the prison house.

8 I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my glory will I not giue to another, neither my praise to grauen images.

9 Behold, the former things are come to passe, and new things doe I declare: before they come forth, I tell you of them.

10 Sing vnto the Lord a new song, and his praye from the end of the earth: ye that goe downe to the sea, and all that is therein: the viles and the inhabitants thereof.

11 Let the wilderness and the cities thereof lift vp their voice, the towne that Kedar doeth inhabit: let the inhabitants of the rockes sing: let them shoute from the top of the mountaines.

12 Let them giue glory vnto the Lord, and declare his praise in the playdes.

13 The Lord shall goe forth as a grant: he shall stirre vp his courage like a man of warre, hee shall shoute and crye, and shall pteuaille against his enemies.

14 I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue been still and refrained my selfe: now will I crye like a trauiailing woman: I will destroy and deuoure at once.

15 I will make waste mountaines and hilles, and dy by all their herbes, and I will make the floods playdes, and I will drye by the wyles.

16 And I will bring the blinde by a way that they knew not, and leade them by paths that they haue not knownen: I will make darkness light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I doe vnto them, and not forsake them.

17 They shall be turned backe: they shall be greatly ashamed, that trust in grauen images, and say to the molten images, Yee are our gods.

18 Heare, yee deafe: and ye blind, regard that yee may see.

19 Who is blinde but my seruant: or f He will not hurt the weak and feeble, but support & comfort them.

g Meaning the week of a lampe, or candle, which is almost out, but he will cherish it and snuffe it, that it may shine brighter.

h Although he fauor the weak, yet will he not spare the wicked, but will iudge them according to truth and equitie.

i Till he haue set all things in good order.

k The Gentiles shall be desirous to receiue his doctrine.

l Meaning, vnto a lawfull and iust vocation.

m To assist and guide thee.

n As him by whom the promise made to all nations in Abraham, shall be fulfilled.

o I will not suffer my glory to be diminished: which I should doe, if I were not faithfull in performing the same, & the idolaters thereby would extol their idoles.

p As in times past I haue bene true in my promises, so will I be in time to come.

q Meaning, the Arabians, vnder whom he comprehended all the people of the East.

r He sheweth the zeale of the Lord, and his power in the confutation of his Church. s I will haste to execute my vengeance, which I haue long deferred, as a woman that desireth to be deliuered, when she is in trauaile. t That is, my poore people which are in perplexity and care. u To wit, Israel, which should haue most light, because of my Law.

z The Priest to whom my word is committed, which should not onely heare it himselfe, but cause others to heare it.

y As the Priests and Prophets, that should be lights to others:

z Because they will not acknowledge this benefite of the Lord, who is ready to deliuer them, he suffereth them to be spoiled of their enemies through their owne fault and incredulity.

a There shall be none to succour them, or to will the enemy to restore that which he hath spoiled.

deaf as my messenger, that I sent? who is blinde as the perfect, and blinde as the Lords servant?

20 Seeing many things, but thou keepest them not; opening the eares, but he heareth not?

21 The Lord is willing for his righteousness sake, that he may magnifie the Law, and exalt it.

22 But this people is robbed and spoiled, and shall be all shamed in dungeons, and they shall bee bid in prison houses: they shall be for a pray and none shall deliuer: a people, and none shall say, Restore.

23 Who among you shall hearken to this, and take heed, and heare for afterwards?

24 Who gaue Iacob for a people, and Israel to the robbers? Did not the Lord, because we haue sinned against him? for they would not walke in his wayes, neither be obedient vnto his Law.

25 Therefore hee hath powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the strength of battell: and it let him on fire round about, and hee knew not, and it burned him vp, yet he considered not.

b Meaning Gods wrath.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord comforteth his people. Hee promisseth deliuerance to the Iewes. 11 There is no God but one alone.

At now thus saith the Lord, that created thee, O Iacob: and he that formed thee, O Israel, feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, Thou art mine.

2 When thou passest through the waters, I will bee with thee, and through the floods, that they doe not ouerflowe thee. When thou walkest through the very fire, thou shalt not be burnt, neither shall the flame kindle vpon thee.

3 For I am the Lord thy God, the Holy one of Israel, thy Saviour: I gaue Egypt for thy ransome, Ethiopia & Seba for thee.

4 Because thou wast precious in my sight, and thou wast honourable, and I loued thee, therefore will I giue a man for thee, and people for thy sake.

5 Feare not, for I am with thee: I will bring thee from the East, and gather thee from the West.

6 I will say to the North, Give: and to the South, Keepe not backe: bring my sons from farre, and my daughters from the ends of the earth.

7 Every one shall be called by my Name for I created him for my glory, formed him and made him.

8 I will bring forth the blind people, and they shall haue eyes, and the deaf, and they shall haue eares.

9 Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this & shew vs former things: let them bring forth their witness, that they may be iudged: but let them heare, and say, It is truth.

10 You are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my servant, whom I haue chosen: therefore ye shall know and beleue me, and ye shall vnderstand that I am: before mee there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.

11 I, euen I am the Lord, and beside mee there is no Saviour.

12 I haue declared, and I haue sained, and I haue shewed, when there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, saith the Lord, that I am God.

13 Pea, before the day was, I am, and there is none that can deliuer out of mine hand: I will doe it, and who shall let it?

14 Thus saith the Lord your Redeemer, the Holy one of Israel, for your sake I haue sent to Babel, and brought it downe: they are all figment, and the Chaldeans cry in the streets.

15 I am the Lord your Holy one, the Creator of Israel, your King.

16 Thus saith the Lord which maketh a way in the sea, and a path in the mightie waters.

17 When hee bringeth out the chariot and hope, the arme and the power lie together, and shall not rise: they are extinct, and quenched as towne.

18 Remember yet not the former things, neither regard the things of old.

19 Behold, I doe a new thing: now shall it come forth: shall you not know it? I will euen make a way in the desert and floods in the wilderness.

20 The wilde beastes shall honour me, the dragons & the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert, and floods in the wilderness to giue drinke to my people, euen to mine elect.

21 This people haue I formed for my selfe: they shall shew forth my praise.

22 And thou hast not called vpon mee, O Iacob, but thou hast wearied mee, O Israel.

23 Thou hast not brought me the sacrifice of thy burnt offerings, neither hast thou honoured me with thy sacrifices. I haue not caused thee to serue with an offering, nor wearied thee with incense,

CHAP. XLIIII.

5 The Lord promiſeth comfort, and that hee will aſſemble his Church of the diuers nations. 9 The vanitie of idoles. 17 The beaſtneſſe of idolaters.

Y Et now heare, O Iakob my ſeruant, and Iſrael whom I haue choſen.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord that made thee, and formed thee from the wombe: hee wil helpe thee. Feare not, O Iakob, my ſeruant, and thou righteous, whom I haue choſen.

3 For I wil poure water vpon the thirſte, and floods vpon the dry ground: I wil poure my Spirit vpon thy ſeed, and my bleſſing vpon thy buds.

4 And they ſhall grow as among the graſſe, and as the willowes by the riuers of waters.

5 One ſhall ſay, I am the Lords: another ſhall be called by the name of Iakob: and another ſhall ſubſcribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himſelfe by the name of Iſrael.

6 Thus ſaith the Lord the King of Iſrael, and his redeemer the Lord of hoſtes, I am the firſt, and I am the laſt, and without me there is no God.

7 And who is like mee, that ſhall call, and ſhall declare it, and ſet it in order before mee, ſince I appointed the ancient people: and what is at hand, and what things are to come, let them ſhew vnto them.

8 Feare ye not, neither bee afraid: haue not I told thee of old, and haue declared it: you are euen my witneſſes, whether there be a God beſide mee, & that there is no God that I know not.

9 All they that make an image, are vanitie, and their deſectable things ſhall no.

10 All they that make an image, are vanity, and their deſectable things ſhall no. By this diuerſitie of ſpeech hee meaneth one thing, that is, that the people ſhall be holy, and receiue the true religion of God, as Pſal. 87. 5.

11 I am alwayes like my ſelfe, that is, merciful toward my Church, and moſt able to maintaine it, as Chap. 41. 4. & 48. 12. reuel. 1. 17. & 22. 13. g And appoint them that ſhall deliuer the Church. h That is, declare vnto mee how I ought to proceed herein. i God calleth the Iſraelites ancient, becauſe he preferred them to all other in his eternal election. k Meaning, their idoles. l Reade Chap. 43. 10. m Whatſoeuer they beſtow vpon their idoles to make them to ſeeme glorious.

10 Alſo hath made a god, or molten image, that is profitable for nothing.

11 Behold, all that are of the ſellowſhip thereof, ſhall be confounded: for the worke-men themſelves are men: let them all be gathered together, and ſtand vp, yet they ſhall feare, and be confounded together.

12 The ſmith taketh an inferment, and worketh in the coales, and faſhioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the ſtrength of his armes: yea, he is an hungred, and his ſtrength faileth: he drinketh no water, and is fatigued.

13 The carpenter ſtretcheth out a line: hee faſhioneth it with a red thread, hee planeth it, and hee putteth it with the compaſſe, and maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beaſtie of a man, that it may remaine in an houſe.

14 Hee will hew him downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oke, and taketh courage among the trees of the foreſt: hee planteth a ſiluer tree, and the raine doth nourish it.

15 And man burneth thereof: for hee will take thereof and warme himſelfe: hee alſo kindleth it, and baketh bread, yet hee maketh a god and worſhippeth it: hee maketh it an idole, and boweth vnto it.

16 Hee burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, and vpon the halfe thereof hee eateth fleſh: hee roſteth the roſte and is ſatiſfied: alſo hee warmeth himſelfe and ſaith, Aha, I am warme, I haue bene at the fire.

17 And the reſidue thereof hee maketh a god, euen his idole: hee boweth vnto it, and worſhippeth and prayeth vnto it, and ſaith, Deliuer me: for thou art my God.

18 They haue not knowne, nor vnderſtood: for God hath ſhut their eyes, that they cannot ſee, and their hearts, that they cannot vnderſtand.

19 And none conſidereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor vnderſtanding to ſay, I haue burnt halfe of it, euen in the fire, and haue baked bread alſo vpon the coales thereof: I haue roaſted fleſh, and eaten it, and ſhall I make the reſidue thereof an abomination? ſhall I bow to the ſtocke of a tree?

idolaters, which forget their owne neceſſities to ſet forth their deuotion toward their idoles. t To place it in ſome Temple.

u He ſetteth forth the obſtinacy and malice of the idolaters, which though they ſee by dayly experience that their idoles are no better then the reſt of the matter whereof they are made, yet they reſuſe the one part, and make a god of the other, as the Papifts make their cake god, and the reſt of their idoles.

x That is, hee either maketh a table or trenchers. y The Prophet giueth here an anſwere to all them that wonder how it is poſſible that God ſhould be ſo blind to commit ſuch abomination, ſaying, that God hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their hearts. z He is abuſed as one that would eate aſhes, thinking to ſatiſſie his hunger.

n That is, the idolaters ſeeing their idole blind, muſt needs be witneſſes of their owne blindneſſe, and ſeeing that they are not able to helpe them, muſt confeſſe that they haue no power.

fore will I weaken the loynes of Kings, and open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut.

and made it: he that prepared it, he created it not in vaine: he formed it so behabited) I am the Lord, and there is none other.

19 I haue not spoken in secret, neither in a place of darkenesse in the earth: I said not in vaine vnto the seede of Iacob, Seeke you me: I the Lord doe speake righteously, and declare righteous things.

20 Assemble your selues, and come: draw nere together, ye abiect of the Gentiles:
they haue no knowledge, that let vp the word of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that cannot haue them.

21 Tell ye and bring them, and let them take counsell together, who haue declared this from the beginning: or hath tolde it of olde: haue not I the Lord? & there is none other God beside mee, a iust God, and a Sa-uiour: there is none beside me.

22 Looke vnto me, and ye shall be saued:
all the ends of the earth shall be saued: for
I am God, and there is none other.

shall bow vnto mee, and euery tongue shall swear by me.

24 Surely he shall say, In the Lord haue I righteously and strength: he shall come vnto him, and at that shall be ashamed.

stified, and glorie in the Lord.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The destruction of Babylon and of their idoles, 3
He calleth the Jewes to the consideration of his works.

2 They are bowed downe: & Nebo is fallen:
their idoles were vpon the beastes, and vpon the cattell: they which did beare you, were laden with a wearie burden.

3 They are bowed downe, and fallen together: for they could not ridde them of the burden, and their soule is gone into captiuitie.

4 Heare ye me, O house of Iacob, and all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are borne of mee, from the wombe, and brought vp of me from the birth.

5 Therefore vnto old age, I the same, euen I will beare you: until the hoare haire:
I haue made you I will also beare you, and I will carry you, and I will deliuer you.

6 O To whom will ye make me like, or make mee equall, or compare mee, that I should be like him.

g The people of God, seeing their owne calamitie, and the flourishing state of the Babylonians, should be tempted to thinke that their God was not so mightie as the idoles of their enemies: therefore he describeth the original of all the idoles, to make them to be abhorred of all men, showing that the most that can be spoken in their commendation, is but to proue them vile, Baruch 6. 23.

6 They draw gold out of the haire, and weigh siluer in the balance, and hire a goldsmith to make a god of it, and they bow downe and worship it.

7 They beare it vpon the shoulders: they carry him and set him in his place: so doeth he stand, and cannot remoue from his place. Though one cry vnto him, yet can he not answer, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.

8 Remember the former things of olde:
it againe to minde, O you transgressors.

9 Remember the former things of olde:
for I am God, and there is none other God,
and there is nothing like me.

10 Which declare the last thing from the beginning: and from of olde, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stand, and I will do whatsoeuer I will.

11 I call a bird from the East, and the man of my counsell from farre, as I haue spoken to will I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and will do it.

12 Heare me, ye stubborne hearted, that are farre from iustice.

13 I bring nere my iustice: it shall not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tary:
for I will giue saluation in Zion, and my glory vnto Israel.

CHAP. XLVII.

The destruction of Babylon and the causes, wherefore.

1 Come downe and sit in the dust, O virgin, daughter Babel, sit on the ground:
there is no thorne O daughter of the Chal-deans: for thou shalt no more be called Tender and delicate.

2 Take the millstones, and grinde meale:
loose their lockes: make bare the feete: bacouer the legges, and passe through the floods.

3 Thy strength shall be discouraged, and thy shame shall be leene: I will take vengeance, and I will not meete thee as a man.

4 Our redeemer the Lord of hostes is his name, the holy one of Israel.

5 Sit still, and get thee into darkenesse:
O daughter of the Chaldeans, for thou shalt no more be called, The lady of king-domes.

6 I was wroth with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hand: thou diddest shew them no mercy, but thou diddest lay thy very heauy poeke vpon the ancient.

7 And thou saydest, I shall be a Lady for euer, so that thou diddest not let thy minde to these things, neither didst thou remember the latter end thereof.

8 Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, and dwellest carelesse,
She saith in her heart, I am and none like:
I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall I lose the losse of children.

9 But their two things shal come to thee suddenly on one day, the losse of children, and widowhood, they shal come vpon thee.

thee in their perfection, for the multitude of thy delusions, & for the great abundance of thine inchanters.

10 For thou hast trusted in thy wickednesse: thou hast said, none hath me. Thy wisdom, & thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebell, and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none else.

11 Therefore shall I will come vpon thee, and thou shalt not know the morning thereof: destruction shall fall vpon thee, which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shall come vpon thee suddenly, yet thou be aware.

12 Stand now among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy soothsayers (with whome thou hast wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so be thou mayest haue profit, or if so be thou mayest haue strength.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now thy Astrologers, the starr gazers, and Divinulators stand vp, and saue thee from these things, that shall come vpon thee.

14 Behold, they shall bee as stubble: the fire shall burne them: they shall not deliuer their own liues from the power of the flame: there shall bee no coals to warme at, nor light to it by.

15 Thus shall they serue thee with whom thou hast wearied thee, even thy merchants from thy youth: every one shall wander to his owne quarter: none shall saue thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

a The hypocisie of the Lewes is reproved. 11 The Lord alone will be worshipped. 20 Of their deliriance out of Babylon.

a He detesteth their hypocisie which vaunted themselves to be Israhetes, and were not to in deede.

b Meaning, the fountaine and stocks.

c They make a shew, as though they would haue none other God.

d Hee sheweth that they could not accuse him in anything, forasmuch as he had performed whatsoever he had promised.

Hear ye this, O house of Iakob, which are called by the name of Israel, & are come out of y^e waters of Iudab: which swear by the Name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truth, nor in right conscience.

2 For they are called of the holy citie, and stay themselves vpon the God of Israel, whose name is the Lord of hosts.

3 I haue declared the former things of olde, and they went out of my mouth, and I shewed them: I did them suddenly, and they came to passe.

4 Because I knew, that thou art obstinate, and thy necke is an yron sinew, and thy brow brass.

5 Therefore I haue declared to thee of olde: before it came to passe, I shewed it thee, lest thou shouldst say, I sinned alone, and I did none of these things: I haue shewed thee new things, even now, & hid things, which thou knewest not.

7 They are created now, and not of old, and euen before this thou heardest them not.

f How thou shouldst be deliuered out of Babylon. g Will ye not acknowledge thus my benefit, and declare it vnto others?

lest thou shouldst say, Beholde, I knew them.

8 Yet thou heardest them not, neither diddest know them, neither yet was thine eare opened of olde: for I knew that thou wouldest gruously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a traitor, & a rebellious wombe.

9 For my names sake will I deferre my wrath, and for my praise will I retrain it from thee, that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I haue fined thee, but not as siner: I haue cholent thee in the furnace of affliction.

11 For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake will I do it: for how should my Name be polluted? surely I will not giue my glory vnto another.

12 I care mee, O Iakob, and Israel my called, I am, I am the first, and I am the last.

13 Surely mine hand hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heauens, when I call them, they stand vp together.

14 All you, assemble your selues, & heare: which among them hath declared these things? The Lord hath loued him: he will doe his will in Babel, and his arme shall be against the Caldeans.

15 I, euen I, haue spoken it, and I haue called him, I haue brought him, and his way shall prosper.

16 Come neere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret from the beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lord God and his spirit hath sent me.

17 Thus saith the Lord thy Redeemer, the holy one of Israel, I am the Lord thy God, which reach thee to profit, and lead thee by the way, that thou shouldst goe.

18 Oh that thou hadst hearkened to my commandments: then had thy prosperitie bene as the flood, and thy righteousness as the waves of the Sea.

19 Thy seed also had bin as the sand, and the fruit of thy bosom like the grauit thereof: his name should not haue bene cut off, nor destroyed before me.

20 Go ye out of Babel: flee ye from the Caldeans, with a voyce of ioy: tell & declare this: shew it forth to the end of the earth: say ye, The Lord hath redeemed his servant Iakob.

21 And they were not thirde: hee led them through: the wilderness he caused the waters to flowe out of the rocke for them: for he cleane the rocke, and the water gushed out.

22 There is no peace, saith the Lord, vnto the wicked.

himselfe, and to assure them of these things, x What things shall doe thee good x That is, the prosperous estate of Israel y After that hee had forewarned them of their captiuitie, and of the cause thereof, he sheweth them the great ioy that shall come of their deliuerance. z He sheweth that it shall be as easie to deliuer them, as he did their fathers out of Egypt. a Thus hee speaketh, that the wicked by hypocrites should not abuse Gods promise, in whom was neither faith nor repentance, as Chap. 57. 21.

h Shewing that mans arrogancie is the cause why God doeth not declare all things at once, lest they should attribute this knowledge to their owne wisdom.

i From the time that I brought thee out of Egypt, for that deliuerance was as the birth of the Church.

k As it was my free mercy that I deliuered thee: so is it my free mercy that must saue thee.

l For I had respect to thy weakness, & in firmity, for in sickness there is some pureness, but in vs there is nothing but dross.

m Iooke thee out of the furnace where thou shouldst haue bene consumed.

n God ioyne the saluation of his with his own honour: so that they cannot perish, but his glory should be diminished, as Deut. 32. 27. O Reade Chap. 42. 8.

p Reade Chap. 41. 4.

q To obey me and to do what I command them.

r Meaning Cyrus, whom he had chosen to destroy Babylon.

s Since the time that I declared my selfe to your fathers, t Thus the Prophet speaketh for what things shall doe thee good x That is, the prosperous estate of Israel y After that hee had forewarned them of their captiuitie, and of the cause thereof, he sheweth them the great ioy that shall come of their deliuerance. z He sheweth that it shall be as easie to deliuer them, as he did their fathers out of Egypt. a Thus hee speaketh, that the wicked by hypocrites should not abuse Gods promise, in whom was neither faith nor repentance, as Chap. 57. 21.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The Lord exhorteth all nations to beleue his promises. 6 Christ is the saluation of all that beleue, and will deliuer them from the tyranny of their enemies.

a This is spoken in the person of Christ, to assure the faithfull that these promises should come to passe: for they were all made in him, and in him should be performed.

b This is meant of the time that Christ should be manifested to the world, as Psal. 2. 7.

c By the sword and shaft, he signifiesh the vertue and efficacie of Christes doctrine.

d God hath taken me to his protection and defence: This chiefly is meant of Christ, and may also be applied to the ministers of his word.

e By Israel, is meant Christ, and all the bodie of the faithfull, as the members, and their head.

f Thus Christ in his members complaineth that his labour and preaching take none effect, yet he is contented that his doings are approoued of God.

g Though the Iewes refuse my doctrine yet God will approve my ministry. h To declare my Gospel to the Gentiles, Chap. 42. 6, ades 13 47. Luke 2. 32. i Meaning, the Iewes, whom tyrants kept in bondage. k The benefite of their deliuerance shall be so great, that great and small shall acknowledge it, and reuerence God for it. l Thus hee speaketh of his Church, when he would shew his mercie toward it, 2. Cor. 6. 2. m Meaning Christ alone. n Signifying, that before Christ renew the earth by his word, there is nothing but confusion and disorder. o To them that are in the prison of sinne and death. p Being in Christs protection, they shall be safe against all dangers, and free from the feare of the enemies. q Meaning, that there should be nothing in their way from Babylon, that should hinder or hurt them: but this is accomplished spiritually.

Hear ye me, O yles, and hearken, ye people from farre. The Lord hath called me from the womb, and made mention of my name from my mothers belly.

2 And hee hath made my mouth like a sharpe sword: vnder the shadow of his hand hath he hid me, and made me a chosen shaft, and hid me in his quiter.

3 And said vnto me, thou art my seruant Israel, for I will be glorious in thee.

4 And I said, I haue laboured in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine, and for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my worke with my God.

5 And now saith the Lord that formed me from the wombe to bee his seruant, that I may bring Iacob againe to him (though Israel bee not gathered, & yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shall be my strength.)

6 And hee said, It is a small thing that thou shouldst be my seruant, to raise vp the tribes of Iacob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I will also giue thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou mayest bee my saluation vnto the end of the world.

7 Thus saith the Lord the redeemer of Israel, and his holy one, to him that is despised in soules, to a nation that is abhorred, to a seruant of rulers, Kings shall see, & arise, and Princes shall worship, because of the Lord, that is faithfull: and the Holy one of Israel, which hath chosen thee.

8 Thus saith the Lord, In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluation haue I helped thee: and I wil preserue thee; and will giue thee for a covenant of the people, that thou mayest raise vp the earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

9 That thou mayest say to the prisoners, Goe forth: and to them that are in darkness, Shew your selues: they shall feed in the wayes, and their pastures shall be in all the tops of the hilles.

10 They shall not be hungry, neither shall they be thiristie, neither shall they beate faimie them, nor the sunne, for hee hath compassion on them, shall leade them: euen to the Springs of waters shall he diuine them.

11 And I will make all say mountaines, as my way, and my paths shall be exalted.

12 Behold, these shall come from farre: and loe, these from the North, and from the West, and these from the land of Sinim.

13 Reioyce, O heauens: and be ioyfull, O earth: burst forth into payle, O mountaines: for God hath comforted his people, and will haue mercie vpon his afflicted.

14 But since in that, the Lord hath forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her child, & not haue compassion on the losse of her wombe: though they should forget, yet will I not forget thee.

16 Behold, I haue grauen thre vpon the palme of mine hands: thy walles are euer in my sight.

17 Thy builders make haste: thy destroyers and they that made thee waste, are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eyes round about, and behold: all these gather themselves together and come to thee: as I haue said, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely put them all vpon thee as a garment, and gird thy selfe with them like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, and thy waste places, and thy land destroyed, shall surely be now narrow for them that shall dwell in it, and they that did deuoure thee shall be farre away.

20 The children of thy barrennesse shall say againe in thine eares, The place is strait for me: giue place to mee that I may dwell.

21 Then shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hath begotten mee these, seeing I am barren and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro: and who hath nourished them? behold, I was left alone: whence are these?

22 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will lift vp mine hand to the Gentiles, and set vp my standard to the people, and they shall bring thy sonnes in their armes, and thy daughters shall bee carried vpon their shoulders.

23 And Kings shall be thy nursing fathers, and Queenes shall bee thy nurces: they shall worship thee with their faces toward the earth, and lick vp the dust of thy feet: and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord: for they shall not bee ashamed that waite for me.

24 Shall the pray bee taken from the mighty? or the iust captiuitie deliuered?

25 But thus saith the Lord, Euen the captiuitie of the mighty shall bee taken away: and the pray of the tyrant shall be deliuered: for I wil contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will saue thy child.

26 And will feede them that spoyle thee, they shall haue with their owne fleshy, and they shall bee drunken with their owne blood, as with Christ their head, and giue him all honour.

d He maketh this as an obediētion, as though the Caldeans were strong and had them in iust possession. e This is the answer to their obediētion, that none is stronger then the Lord, neither hath a more iust title vnto them. f I will cause them to destroy one another, as Iudg. 7. 23. 2. Chron. 30. 22. Chap. 19. 2.

r Meaning, the South country, so that Christ shall deliuer his from all the parts of the world. (Reade Chap. 44. 23.)

t He obiecteth what the faithfull might say in their long affliction, and answereth thereunto to comfort them, with a most proper similitude and full of consolation.

u Because I would not forget thee.

x Meaning, the good order of policie and discipline.

y I haue a continual care to build thee vp againe, and to destroy thine enemies.

z He sheweth what are the ornaments of the Church: to haue many children, which are assembled by the word of God, and gouerned by his Spirit.

a He sheweth that Christ will not only gather this great number of the Iewes but also of the Gentiles.

b Meaning, that Kings shall bee conuerted to the Gospel, and bestow their power and authoritie for the preferuay.

c Being ioyned with the Church,

d He maketh this as an obediētion, as though the Caldeans were strong and had them in iust possession. e This is the answer to their obediētion, that none is stronger then the Lord, neither hath a more iust title vnto them. f I will cause them to destroy one another, as Iudg. 7. 23. 2. Chron. 30. 22. Chap. 19. 2.

CHAP. L.

1 The Iewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 5 Christs obedience and victory.

a Meaning, y he had not forsaken her, but through her owne occasion, as Hosea 2. 2. b Which should declare that I haue cut her off: meaning, that they could shew none.

c Signifying, that hee folde them not for any debt or pouerty, but that they fold themselves to finnes to buy their owne lusts and pleasures. d He came by his prophets and ministers, but they would not beleue their doctrine and conuersion.

e Am I not as able to helpe you, as I haue holpen your fathers of old, when I dried vp the red sea, and killed the fish in the riuers, and also afterward in Iorden?

f As I did in Egypt in token of my displeasure, Exod 10. 21. g The Prophet doeth represent here the person and charge of them that are iustly called to the ministry of Gods word.

h To him that is oppressed by affliction and miserie. i As they that are taught and made meet by him. k I did not shrink from God for any persecution or calamitie. Where y hee sheweth that the true ministers of God can looke for no other recompence of the wicked but after this sort, and also what is their comfort.

l Shewing that it is a rare thing that any should obey a right Gods true ministers, though they labour to bring them from hell to heauen. m You haue sought consolation by your owne devices, and haue refused the light and consolation which God hath offered: therefore yee shall remaine in sorrow and not bee comforted.

Thus sayth the Lord. Where is that bill of your mothers diuorcement, whom I haue cast off? or who is the creditor to whom I solde you? Behold, for your iniquities are yee solde, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 Wherefore came I, and there was no man? I called, and none answered: is mine hand shortened, that it cannot helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer? Behold, at my rebuke I drye vp the sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotteyth for want of water, and dieth for thirst.

3 I clothe the heauens with darkenesse, and make a lacke they conering.

4 The Lord God hath giuen mee a tongue of the learned, that I should know to minister a word in time to him that is weary: hee will raise mee vp in the morning: hee will waken mine eare to heare: as the learned.

5 The Lord God hath opened mine eare, and I was not rebellious: neither turned I backe.

6 I gaue my backe vnto the smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hid not my face from shame and spitting.

7 For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not bee confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not bee ashamed.

8 He is nere that iustifieth me: who will contend with mee? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersarie? let him come nere to mee.

9 Behold, the Lord God will helpe me: who is hee that can condemne me? loe, they shall waile old as a garment: the roock shall eate them vp.

10 Who is among you that feareth the Lord? he heare the voyce of his seruant: he that walketh in darkenesse, and hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, and stay vpon his God.

11 Behold, all you kinde a fire, and are compassed about with sparkes: walk in the light of your fire, and in the sparkes that yee haue kindled. This shall yee haue of mine hand: ye shall lie downe in sorrow.

CHAP. LI.

1 To trust in God alone by Abrahams example. 7 Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Ierusalem, 22 and her deliuerance.

Heare mee, yee that follow after righteousness, and ye that seeke the Lord: looke vnto the rocke, whence ye are hewn, and to the hole of the pit whence ye are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sara that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him.

3 Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion: he shall comfort all her desolations, and hee shall make her desert like Eden, & her wilderness like the garden of the Lord: ioy and gladnesse shall be found therein: praise, and the voyce of singing.

4 Hearken yee vnto me, my people: and giue eare vnto mee, O my people: for I adu shall proceed from mee, and I will bring forth my iudgement for the light of the people.

5 My righteousness is nere: my saluation goeth forth, and mine armes shall iudge the people: the vles shall waite for mee, and shall trust vnto mine arme.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpon the earth beneath, for the heauens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall waile olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like manner: but my saluation shall bee for euer, and my righteousness shall not be abolished.

7 Hearken vnto me, ye that know righteousness, the people in whose heart is my Law. Feare ye not the reproch of men, neither be ye afraid of their rebukes.

8 For the moeth shall eate them like a garment, and the worine shall eate them like wooll: but my righteousness shall bee for euer, and my saluation from generation to generation.

9 Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lord: rise vp, as in the old time in the generations of y world. Art not thou the same, that hath cut Rahab, and wounded the dragon?

10 Art not thou the same which hath dried the sea, euent the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the Sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne, and come with ioy vnto Zion, and enuerlasting ioy shall be vpon their head: they shall obtaine ioy and gladnesse: and shall to wit, Pharaoh, and mourning shall flie away.

12 I Ieuen I am he that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou shouldst feare a mortall man, and the sonne of man, which shall bee made as grasse?

13 And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath spread out the heauens, and layed the foundations of the earth: and hath feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is ready to destroy? Where is now the rage of the oppressour?

14 The captiue hasteneth to be loosed, and that he should not die in the pit, nor that his bread should suffice.

15 And I am the Lord thy God that destroyed.

the Lord, the cup of his wrath: thou hast drunken the dregs of the cup of trembling, and saying, I will not see him.

18 There is none to guide her among thee: who wilt lament thee? desolation and destruction, and famine, and the sword: by whom shall I comfort thee?

20 Thy sonnes haue faimred, & lie at the head of all the streets as a wild bull in a net, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, and rebuke of thy God.

that pfeadeth the canie of his people, Behold, I haue taken out of thine hand the cup of trembling, euen the dregs of the cup of my wrath: thou shalt drinke it no more.

1 A consolation to the people of God, 7 Of the messengers thereof.

A Rise, arise, put on thy strength, O Zion:
put on the garments of thy beautie, O Jerusalem, the holy Citie: for henceforth there shall no more come into thee, the vicircumelation, and the vncleane.

2 Shake thy selfe from the dust: arise and sit downe O Jerusalem: loose the bands of thy necke, O thou captiue daughter Zion.

3 For thus saith the Lord, Ye were sold for nought: there fore shall ye be redeemed without money.

4 For thus saith the Lord God, My people went downe aforetime into Egypt to loue thee, and Afiur oppressed them without cause.

5 Now therefore what haue I heere,

1 Mo^e of the Gentiles shall beleue the Gospel then of the Iewes. 7 God leaueh his sor for a time, to whom afterward he sheweth mercie.

3 After that he hath declared the death of Christ, hee speaketh to y^e that diddest not transie with child: for the Church because ^b desolate hath mo^e children then the married it should feele the fruit of the same, and calleth her barren, because that in the captiuitie she was as a widow without hope to haue any children. l The Church in this her affliction & captiuitie shall bring forth mo^e children then when she was at liberty: or this may be spok^e by admiration considering the great number: y^e should come of her. Her deliuerance vnder Cyrus was as her childhood, & therefore this was accomplished when she came to her age, which was vnder the Gospel,

3 We is despised and reieted of men: he is a man full of sorowes, and hath experience of infirmities, wee hid as it were our faces from him: hee was despised, and wee esteemed him not.

4 Surely hee hath borne our infirmities, and caried ^a our sorowes: yet we did iudge him as a plagued: and smitten of God, and humbled.

5 But hee was wounded for our transgressions, he was broken for our iniquities: the ^b chastiment of our peace was upon him, and with his stripes we are healed.

6 All we like sheepe haue gone astray, we haue turned euery one to his owne way, and the Lord hath layd vpon him the iniquity of vs all.

7 He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet did he not open his mouth: he is brought as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before her shearer is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth.

8 Wee was taken out from prison, and from iudgment: and who shall declare his age? for hee was cut out of the land of the liuing: for the transgression of my people was hee plagued.

9 And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the rich in his death, though hee had done no wickednes, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

10 Yet the Lord would breake him, and make him subject to infirmities: when ^c he shall make his soule an offering for sin, he shall see his seed and shall prolong his dayes, and the will of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

11 Ye shall see of the tribulation of his soule and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous seruant iustifie many: for hee shall beare their iniquities.

12 Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and he shall diuide the spoyle with the strong, because he hath poured out his soule vnto death, & he was counted with the transgressours: and he bare the sinne of many, and prayed for the transgressours.

13 And all thy children shall be caught of the Lord, and much peace shall be to thy children.

14 In ^a righteousness shalt thou bee established, & be farr from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shall not come neere thee.

3 For thou shalt increase on the right hand and on the left, and thy feed^e shall possess the Gentiles and dwell in the desolate cities.

4 Feare not: for thou shalt not bee ashamed, neither shalt thou bee confounded: for thou shalt not be put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy youth, and shalt not remember the reproch of thy widowhood any more.

5 For he that made thee, is thine husband, (whose name is the Lord of hostes) and thy Redeemer the holy one of Israel, that be called the God of the whole world.

6 For the Lord hath called thee being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirit, and as a young wife when thou wast refused, saith thy God.

7 For a little while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee.

8 For a moment in mine anger I hid my face from thee for a little season, but with everlasting mercie haue I had compassion on thee, sayeth the Lord thy Redeemer.

9 For this is vnto mee as the waters of Noah: for as I haue sware that the waters of Noah should no more goe ouer the earth, so haue I sware that I would not be angry with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountains shall remoue, and the hills shall fall downe: but my mercie shall not depart from thee, neither shall the covenant of my peace fall away, sayeth the Lord, that hath compassion on thee.

11 O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest that hast no comfort, behold, I will lay thy stones with the ^a carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with sapphires.

12 And I will make thy windowes of ^b Emeraude, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 And all thy children shall be caught of the Lord, and much peace shall be to thy children.

14 In ^a righteousness shalt thou bee established, & be farr from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shall not come neere thee.

16 Behold, I haue created the smith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and him that bringeth forth an instrument for his worke, and I haue created the destroyer of destruction.

17 But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and euery tongue that shall rise against thee in iudgment, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lords seruants, God giueth power: for seeing that all are his creatures, hee must needs gouerne and guide them,

1 An exhortation to come to Christ. 8 Gods counsels are not as mans. 12 The joy of the faithful.

HD, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that have no silver, come, buy, and eat: come, I say, buy wine and milke without silver and without money.

2 Therefore doe ye lay out silver and not for bread: and your labour without being sanctified: hearken diligently unto mee, and eat that which is good, and let your soule delight in farnesse.

3 Andcline your eares, & come unto mee: heare, and your soule shall live: and I will make an everlasting Covenant with you, even the life merces of David.

4 Behoide, I gave him for a witnesse to the people, for a prince and a master unto the people.

5 Behoide, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and a nation that knew not thee, shall runne unto thee, because of the Lord thy God, and the Holy one of Israel: for he hath glorified thee.

6 Seeke ye the Lord while hee may: be found, call ye upon him while he is neere.

7 Let the wicked forsake his wayes, and the unrighteous his own imaginations, and returne unto the Lord, and he wil haue mercy vpon him: and to our God, for he is very ready to forgive.

8 For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your wayes my wayes, sayeth the Lord.

9 For as the heauens are higher then the earth, so are my wayes higher then your wayes, and my thoughts aboue your thoughts.

10 Surely as the raine cometh downe and the snow from heauen, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may giue seed to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth,

11 So shall my word be, that goeth out of my mouth: It shall not returne vnto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

12 Therefore ye shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace: the mountains and the hills shall brake forth before you into joy, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.

13 For thornes, there shall growe figge trees: for nettles shall growe the myrtle tree, and it shall be to the Lord for a name, and his glory, for an everlasting signe that shall not bee taken away.

CHAP. LVI.

1 An exhortation to iudgement and iustice. Against shepheards that denoue their flocke.

Thus sayeth the Lord, Keepe iudgement and doe iustice: for my saluation is at hand to come, and my righteousness to be reuealed.

2 Blessed is the man that doth this, and the sonne of man which layeth holde on it: he that keepeth the Sabbath and polluteth it not, and keepeth his hand from doing any euill.

3 And let not the sonne of the stranger, which is ioyned to the Lord, speake and say, The Lord hath surely separete mee from his people: neither let the Eunuch say, Behoide, I am a drie tree.

4 For thus sayeth the Lord vnto the Eunuchs that keepe my Sabbaths, and chuse the thing that pleaseth mee, and take holde of my covenant,

5 Euen vnto them will I giue in mine house, and within my walles, a place and a name, better then of the sonnes and of the daughters: I will giue them an everlasting name, that shall not be put out.

6 Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, & to loue the name of the Lord, and to be his seruants: every one that keepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not and embraceth my covenant,

7 Them will I bring also to mine holy mountaine, and make them ioyfull in mine house of prayer: their burnt offerings and their sacrifices shall be accepted vpon mine altar: for mine house shall be called an house of prayer for all people.

8 The Lord God sayeth, which gathereth the scattered of israel, Yet will I gather to them, these that are to bee gathered to them.

9 All ye beasts of the field come to deuour: euen all ye beasts of the forest.

10 Their watchmen are all blind: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumbe dogs: they cannot bark: they clepe and sleepe and delight in sleeping.

11 And these greedy dogs can neuer haue enough: and these shepheards cannot understand: for they all looke to their owne way, every one for his aduantage, and for his owne purpose.

12 Come, I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

uely and acceptable sacrifice h Not onely for the Iewes, but for all others, Matth. 23. 13 1 Meaning the enemies of the Church, as the Babylonians, Assyrians, &c. Thus hee speaketh to feare the hypocrites, and to assure the faithful, that when this cometh they may know it was told them before. h Hee sheweth that this affliction shall come through the fault of the gouernours, prophets, & pastors, whose ignorance, negligence, avarice, and obliuiousness provoked Gods wrath against them. 1 We are well yet, & to morrow shall bee better: therefore let vs not feare the plagues, before they come: thus the wicked contemne the admonitions and exhortations, which were made them in the Name of God.

a Christ by proposing his graces and gifts to his Church, exempteth the hypocrites which are full with their imagined works, and the epicures which are full with their worldly lustes, and so thirst not after these waters.

b Signifying, that Gods benefices cannot be bought for money.

c By waters, wine, milke and bread he meaneth all things necessary to the spirituall life, as these are necessary to this corporall life.

d He reprocueth their ingratitude which refuse those things that God offereth willingly, and in the meane time spare neither cost nor labour to obtaine those which are nothing profitable.

e You shall be fed abundantly.

g Meaning, Christ, of whom David was a figure.

h To wit, the Gentiles, which before thou diddest not receive to be thy people.

i When he offereth himselfe by the preaching of his word.

k Hereby hee sheweth that repentance must be ioyned with faith, and how we cannot call vpon God aright, except the fruits of our faith appeare.

l Although you are not soone reconciled one to another, and I iudge me by your selues, yet I am moste asie to be reconciled, yea, I offer my mercies to you.

m If these smal things haue their effect, as daily experience sheweth, much more shall my promise which I haue made and confirmed bring to passe the things which I haue spoken for your deliuerance.

n Reade Chap. 44. 3. and 49. 13.

14 And he shall say, Cast vp, cast vp: prepare the way: take out the stumbling blocks out of the way of my people.

15 For thus saith he, that is high and excellent, hee that inhabiteth the eternitie, whose Name is the holy One. I dwell in the high and holy places: with him also is of a whose life is but contrite and humble spirit, to reuine the spirit of the humble, & to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart.

1 The office of Gods ministers. 2 The works of the hypocrites. 6 The gift of the faithfull. 13 Of the true Sabbath.

Reade, & spare not: lift vp thy voyce like a trumpet, and shew my people their transgression, & to the house of Iacob their sinnes.

2 Yet they seeke mee daily, and will know my wayes, euen as a nation that dieth righteously, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: they aske of me the ordinances of iustice: they will draw meere vnto God, saying,

3 Wherefore haue we fasted, and thou seest it not? we haue punished our selues, and thou regardest it not. Behold in the day of your fast you will seeke your wil, and require all your desires.

4 Behold, ye fast to strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednesse: ye shall not fast as ye doe to day, to make your voyce to be heard aboue.

5 Is it such a fast that I haue chosen, that a man should afflicke his soule for a day, and bow downe his head as a bulrush, and to lie downe in sackcloth and ashes? wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this the fasting that I haue chosen, that they faich nor religion. e So long as ye vse contention and oppression, your fasting and prayer shall not be heard, chosen,

CHAP. LIX.

1 The wicked perish through their own iniquities.
2 The confession of sinnes, 16 God alone will preserue his Church though all men faile.

1 Behold, the Lords hand is not shortned, that it cannot saue: neither is his eare heauy, that it cannot heare.

2 But your iniquities haue separated between you and your God, and your sinnes haue hid his face from you, that hee will not heare.

3 For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lips haue spoken lyes, and your tongue hath murmured iniquitie.

4 No man calleth for iustice: no man contendeth for truthe: they trust in vanity, and speake vaine things: they conceiue mischitise, and bring forth iniquity.

5 They hatch cockatrice^d egges, and spinne the spiders^e webbe: he that eateth of their egges, dieth, and that which is trod vpon, breakech out into a serpent.

6 Their webbes shall bee no garment, neither shall they couer themselves with their labours: for their works are workes of iniquitie, and the worke of crueltie is in their hands.

7 Their feet run to euill, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: desolation & destruction is in their paths.

8 The way of peace they know not, and there is none equitie in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoener goeth therein, shall not know peace.

9 Therefore is iudgement farre from vs, neither doeth iustice come neere vnto vs: we waite for light, but loe it is darknes:
for brightnesse, but we walke in darknesse.

10 We gpe for the wall like the blind, and we grope as one without eyes: we sum-ble at the noone day as in the twilight: we are in solitarie places, as dead men.

11 We roare all like beares, and mourne like doves: wee looke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

12 For our trespasses are many before thee, and our sinnes testifie against vs: for our trespasses are with vs, and we know our iniquities.

13 In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and we haue departed away from our God, and haue spoken of cruelty and rebellion, conceiuing and uttering out of the heart falle matters.

14 Therefore iudgement is turned backward, and iustice standeth farre off: for truthe is fallen in the street, and equitie cannot enter.

15 Pea, truthe faileth, and he that refraineth from euil, maketh himselfe a praye: and when the Lord saw it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement.

16 And when hee saw that there was no man, he wondered that none would offer himselfe. Therefore his arme did steele it, and his righteoulnesse it selfe did sustaine it.

17 For he put on righteoulnesse as an ha-bergion, and an helmet of saluation vpon his head, and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeale as a cloke.

Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the sunne: for the enemy shall come like a flood: but the strength of the Lord shall chale him away.

C H A P. LX.

3 The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospel. 8 They shall come to the Church in abundance. 16 They shall have abundance, though they suffer for a time.

A Rise, O Jerusalem, bee bright, for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee.

2 For behold, darknesse shall cover the earth, and grosse darknesse the people: but the Lord shall arise upon thee, and his glory shall be seene upon thee.

3 And the Gentiles shall walke in thy light, and kings at the brightnesse of thy rising vp.

4 Lift up thine eyes round about, and behold: all these are gathered, and come to thee: thy sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shall bee nourished at thy side.

5 Then thou shalt see & shine: thine heart shall be astonied and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shall be converted unto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come unto thee.

6 The multitude of camels shall cover thee: and the dromedaries of Arabia and of Ephab: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring gold and incense, and shew forth the praises of the Lord.

7 All the sheepe of Kedar shall be gathered unto thee: the rammes of Dedaioth shall serue thee: they shall come vp to be accepted upon mine altar: and I will beautifie the house of my glory.

8 Who are these that flie like a cloude, and as the doves to their windowes?

9 Surely the vles shall wait for me, and the ships of Tarshish, as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and their silver and their golde with them, unto the Name of the Lord thy God, and to the Holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee.

10 And the sons of strangers shall build by thy walles, and their Kings shall minister unto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercy I had compassion on thee.

11 Therefore by gates shall be open continually: neither day nor night that they be shut: that men may bring unto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their kings may be brought.

h Because the altar was a figure of Christ, Hebr. 13. 10. he sheweth that nothing can be acceptable to him which is not offered to him by this altar, who was both the offering and the altar it selfe. i Shewing what great number shall come to the Church, and with what great diligence and zeale. k The Gentiles that are now enemies, shall become friends and setters forth of the Church. l Meaning, Cures and his successors, but chiefly this is accomplished in them that serue Christ, being converted by his Gospel.

12 For the nation and the kingdom, that will not serue thee, shall perish: and those nations shall be utterly destroyed.

13 The glory of Lebanon shall come unto thee, the firre tree, the cine and the bore tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuary: for I will glorifie the place of my seate.

14 The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bow unto thee: and all they that despised thee, shall fall downe at the soles of thy feet: and they shall call thee, The city of the Lord, Zion of the Holy one of Israel.

15 Whereas thou hast bene forsaken and hated, so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternal glory, and a joy from generation to generation.

16 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the braestes of kings: and thou shalt know, that I the Lord am thy Saviour, and thy Redeemer, the Mighty one of Iacob.

17 For brass will I bring gold, and for yron will I bring silver, and for wood brass, and for stones yron. I will also make thy government peace, and thine actions righteousness.

18 Violence shall no more be heard of in thy land, neither desolation, nor destruction, within thy borders: but thou shalt call, Salvation thy walles, and praise thy gates.

19 Thou shalt have no more Sunne to shine by day, neither shall the brightness of the Moone shine unto thee: for the Lord shall be thine everlasting light, and thy God, thy glory.

20 Thy sunne shall neuer goe downe, neither shall thy moone be hid: for the Lord shall be thine everlasting light, and the dayes of thy glory shall be ended.

21 Thy people also shall be all righteous, they shall possesse land for ever, the graffe of my planting, shall bee the worke of mine hands, that I may be glorified.

22 A little one shall become as a strong nation: I the Lord will hasten it in due time.

4 And they shall builde the olde waste places, and raise vp the former desolations, and they shall repaire the cities that were desolate and waste thorow many generations.

5 And the strangers shall stand & feede your sheepe, and the sonnes of the strangers shall bee your plowmen and desiers of your vines.

6 But ye shall be named the Priestes of the Lord, and men shall say vnto you, The ministers of our God: yee shall eate the riches of the Gentiles, and shall be exalted with their glory.

7 For your shame you shall receive double, and for confusion they shall reioyce in their position: for in their land they shall possesse the double: everlasting ioy shall be vnto them.

8 For I the Lord loue iudgement & hate robbery: for burnt offering, and I will direct their iooke in truth, and will make an everlasting couenant with them.

9 And their seed shall be known among the Gentiles, and their buddes among the people. All that see them shall knowe them, that they are the seed which the Lord hath blessed.

10 I will greatly reioyce in the Lord, and my soule shall be ioyfull in my God: for he hath clothed mee with the garments of saluation, and covered me with the robe of righteousness: hee hath decked mee like a bridegrome, and as a bride tyeth her selfe with her tewels.

11 For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden caueth to grow that which is sown in it: so the Lord God will cause righteousness to grow, and praise before all the heathen.

4 It shall no more be said vnto thee, Forsoaken, neither shall it be said any more to thy land, Desolate, but thou shalt bee called // Vephti-bah, and thy land // Beulah: for the Lord delighteth in thee, and thy land shall haue an husband.

5 For as a young man marrieth a virgin, so shall thy sonnes marrie thee: and as a bridegrome is glad of the bride, so shall thy God reioyce ouer thee.

9 But they that haue gathered it, shall eat it, and praise the Lord, and the gatherers thereof shall drinke it in the courts of my Sanctuary.

10 Goe thorow, goe thorow the gates: prepare you the way for the people: cast vp the way, and gather out the stones, and set vp a standard for the people.

11 Behold, the Lord hath proclaimed vnto the ends of the world: tell the daughter Zion, Behold, thy Saviour commeth: behold, his wages is with him, & his worke is before him.

3 I haue troden the winepresse alone, and of all people there was none with mee: for them in Bozrah, the chiefe city of the Idumeans: for these were their greatest enemies, and vnder the title of circumcision, and the kindred of Abraham, claimed to themselves the chiefe religion, and hated the true worshippers, Psal. 137. 7. b God answered them that asked this question, Who is this? &c. and faith, Yee see now performed in deede the vengeance which my Prophets threatened. c Another question to the which the Lord answereth.

d Shewing that when God punisheth his enemies, it is for the profit and deliverance of his Church.

e God sheweth that he hath no need of mans helpe for the deliverance of his, and though men refuse to doe their duty through negligence and ingratitude, yet he himselfe will deliver his Church, and punish the enemies, read Chap. 59. 16. f I will loe alto- nith them, and make them loe giddy, that they shall not know which way to go.

g The Prophet speaketh this to move the people to remember Gods benefites in times past that they may be confirmed in their troubles.

h For I did chuse them to be mine, that they should be holy, and not deceive mine expectation.

i He bare their afflictions and griefes as though they had bene his owne.

k Which was a witness of Gods presence: and this may be referred to Christ, to whom belongeth the office of saluation.

l This is the people of Israel being afflicted called to remembrance Gods benefites, which he had bestowed vpon their fathers in times past. m Meaning, Moses. n That is, in Moses, that hee might well gouerne the people: some referre this giuing of the Spirit to the people. o Peaceably and gently, as an horse is led to his pasture. p Having declared Gods benefites shewed to their forefathers, hee turneth himselfe to God by prayer, desiring to continue the same graces toward them. q Thy great affection which thou barest toward vs. r Meaning, from the whole body of the Church. s Though Absaham would refuse vs to be his children, yet thou wilt not refuse to be our Father.

I will tread them in mine anger, and tread them vnder foot in my wrath, and their blood shall be sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will staine all my raiment.

4 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the yeere of my redeemed is come.

5 And I looked, and there was none to helpe, & I wondered that there was none to uphold: therefore mine owne arme helped me, and my wrath it selfe sustained me.

6 Therefore I will tread downe the people in my wrath, and make them drunken in mine indignation, and will bring downe their strength to the earth.

7 I will remember the mercies of the Lord, and the praises of the Lord according vnto all that the Lord hath giuen vs, and for the great goodwille toward the house of Israel, which he hath giuen them according to his tender loue, and according to his great mercies.

8 For he saith, Surely they are my people, children that wil not lie: so he was their Saviour.

9 In all their troubles he was troubled, and the Angel of his presence saved them: in his loue and in his mercie hee redeemed them, and he bare them and caried them alwayes continually.

10 But they rebelled, and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore was hee turned to be their enemy, and he fought against them.

11 Then hee remembered the old time of Moses and his people, saying, There is hee that brought them by out of the sea with the shepheard of his shepe: where is he that put his holy Spirit within him?

12 He led them by the right hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, diuiding the water before them, to make himselfe an encircling flame.

13 He led them through the deepe as an horse in the wilderness, that they should not stumble.

14 As the beast goeth downe into the balley, the Spirit of the Lord gaue them rest: so diddest thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious name.

15 Looko downe from heauen, and behold, from the dwelling place of thine holiness, and of thy glory. Where is thy zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, and of thy compassions? they are restrained from me.

16 Doubtes thou art our father: though Absaham bee ignorant of vs, and Israel know vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our Father, and our Redemer: thy name is for euer.

m Meaning, Moses. n That is, in Moses, that hee might well gouerne the people: some referre this giuing of the Spirit to the people. o Peaceably and gently, as an horse is led to his pasture. p Having declared Gods benefites shewed to their forefathers, hee turneth himselfe to God by prayer, desiring to continue the same graces toward them. q Thy great affection which thou barest toward vs. r Meaning, from the whole body of the Church. s Though Absaham would refuse vs to be his children, yet thou wilt not refuse to be our Father.

17 O Lord, why hast thou made vs to erre from thy wayes? and hardened our heart from thy feare? Returne for thy seruants sake, and for the tribue of thine inheritance.

18 The people of thine holiness haue possessed it but a little while: for our aduersaries haue troden downe thy Sanctuarie.

19 We haue bene as they, ouer whom thou neuer barest rule, and vpon whom thy name was not called.

u Meaning, for the covenants sake made to Abraham, Isaac and Iacob his seruants. x That is, in respect of the promise which is perpeall: albeit they had now possessed the land of Canaan a thousand and foure hundred yeeres: and thus they lament, to moue God rather to remember his covenant, then to punish their finnes.

C H A P. LXXIII.

1 The Prophet prayeth for the finnes of the people.

6 Mans righteousnesse is like a filthy cloth.

O that thou wouldest breake the heauens, and come downe, and that the mountaynes might melt at thy presence!

2 As the melting fire burned, as the fire caused the waters to boyle, (that thou mightest declare thy name to thy aduersaries) the people did tremble at thy presence.

3 When thou diddest terrible things, which wee looked not for, thou camest downe, and the mountaynes melted at thy presence.

4 For since the beginning of the world they haue not heard nor vnderstood with the eare, neither hath the eye seene another God beside thee, which doeth so to him that waiteth for him.

5 Thou diddest meet him that reposed in thee, and didst iustly: they remembered thee in thy wayes: behold, thou art angry, for we haue sinned: yet in them is continuance, and we shalbe saved.

6 But we haue all bene as an uncleane thing, and all our righteousnesse is as filthy clouts, and wee doe all fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs away.

7 And there is none that calleth vpon thy name, neither that stretcheth vnto thee in the hold of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.

8 But now, O Lord, thou art our father: we are the clay, and thou art our potter, and we all are the worke of thine hands.

9 Bee not angry, O Lord, about meane sure, neither remember iniquitie for euer, for we beseech thee, behold, we are all thy people.

Lord. g Thou wilt haue pitie vpon vs. h We are iustly punished and brought in to captiuitie, because we haue provoked thee to anger, and though we would excuse our selues, yet our righteousnesses and best vertues are before thee as vile clouts, or, (as some reade) like the menstruous clothes of a woman. i Albeit, O Lord, by thy iust iudgement thou maiest verily destroy vs, as the potter may his pot, yet we appeale to thy mercies, whereby it hath pleased thee to adopt vs to be thy children. k For so the flesh iudgeth when God doeth not immediately send succour.

CHAP. LXV.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles and the reuelation of the Lawes. 13 The ioy of the elect, and the punishment of the wicked.

1 I haue bene sought of them that ^a asked me not: I was found of them that sought mee not: I sayde, Beholde me, beholde me, vnto a nation that called not vpon my Name.

2 I haue ^b spread out mine hands all the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, euen after theirowne imaginations:

3 A people that prouoked me euer vnto my face: that sacrificeth in ^d gardens, and burneth incense vpon ^e banks.

4 They remaine among the ^f graues, and lodge in the deserts, which eat ^g swines flesh, and the boord of tyngs polluted are in their vessels.

5 Which say, ^h Stand apart, come not neere to me: for I am holier then thou: these are a smoke in my wrath, and a fire that burneth all the day.

6 Behold, it is ⁱ written before me: I will not keepe silence, but will render it and recompense it into their bosome.

7 Your iniquities, and the iniquities of your fathers shall bee ^k together (sayeth the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, and blasphemed mee vpon the hills: therefore will I measure their olde worke in their bosome.

8 Thus sayeth the Lord, As th wine is found in the cluster, and one saith, Destroy it not, for ^l a blessing is in it, so will I do for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.

9 But I will bring a seed out of Iacob, and out of Iudah, that shall inherit my mountaine: and mine elect shall inherit it, and my seruants shall dwell there.

10 And ^m Sharon shall bee a sheepefold, and the valley of Achor shall bee a resting place for the cattell of my people that haue sought me.

11 But ye are they that haue forsaken the Lord, and forgotten mine holy Mountaine, and haue prepared a table for the ⁿ multitude, and furnish the drinke offerings vnto the number.

12 Therefore will I ^o number you to the sword, and all you shall bow downe to the slaughter, because I called, and ye did not answer: I ^p spake and ye heard not, but did euill in my sight, and did chuse that thing which I would not.

13 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, my seruants shall ^q eate, and ye shall bee hungry: behold, my seruants shall drinke, and ye shall bee thirstie: behold, my seruants shall reioyce, and ye shall bee ashamed.

14 Beholde, my seruants shall sing for ioy of heart, and ye shall crye for sorrow of heart, and shall howle for vocation of minde.

15 And ye shall leaue your name as a curse vnto my ^r chosen: for the Lord God shall say you, and call his seruants by ^s another name.

16 He that shall blesse in the ^t earth, shall blesse himselfe in the true God, and hee that sweareth in the earth, shall sweare by the true God: for the former ^u troubles are forgotten, and shall surely hide themselves from mine eyes.

17 For loe, I will create ^v new heauens and a new earth: and the former shall not bee remembered nor come into minde.

18 But bee you glad and reioyce for euer in the things that I shall create: for behold, I will create Ierusalem as a reioycing, and her people as a ioy, 19 And I will reioyce in Ierusalem, and say in my people, and the voyce of weeping shall bee no more heard in her, nor the voyce of crying.

20 There shall bee no more there a childe of yeeres, nor an olde man that hath ^w filled his dayes: for hee that shall be an hundred yeeres old, shall die as a yong man: but the sinner being ^x an hundred yeeres old, shall bee accursed.

21 And they shall ^y build houses and inhabit them, and they shall plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them.

22 They shall not build, and another inhabit: they shall not plant, and another eat: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect shall enioy in old age the worke of their hands.

23 They shall not labour in vaine, nor bring forth in feare, for they are the seede of the blessed of the Lord, and their budde

CHAP. LXVI.

1 God dwelleth not in Temples made with hands, 3 Hee despiseth sacrifices done without mercy and faith. 5 God comforteth them that are troubled for his sake. 19 The vocation of the Gentiles. 23 The perpetual Sabbath. 24 The punishment of the wicked is everlasting.

Al. 7. 48, 49.

a My maiestie is so great, that it filleth both heauen and earth, and therefore cannot be included in a Temple like an idol: condemning hereby their vaine confidence, which trusted in the Temple and sacrifices.

b Seeing that both the Temple and the things therein with the sacrifices, were made and done by his appointment, he sheweth that he hath no need thereof, and that he can be without them.

c To him that is humble and pure in heart, which receiue my doctrine with reuerence and feare.

d Because the Iewes thought themselves holy by offering of their sacrifices, and in the meane season had neither faith nor repentance, God sheweth that he doth no lesse desire these ceremonies, then he doth their idols, which things were expressly forbidden in the Law.

e I will discover their wickedness and hypocrisie, herewith they thinke to blinde mine eyes, to all the world. f He encourageth the faithfull by promising to destroy their enemies which pretended to be as brethren, but were hypocrites, & hated them that feared God.

g The enemies shall shortly heare a more terrible voyce, then fire and slaughter, seeing they would not heare the gentle voyce of the Prophets which called them to repentance. h Meaning, that the restoration of the Church should be to sudden and contrary to all mens opinions, as when a woman is delivered before shee looke for it, and that without paine in travell.

Thus sayeth the Lord, "The heauen is my throne, and the earth is my footstool: where is that house that ye will build vnto me; and where is that place of my rest?"

2 For all these things hath mine hand made, and all these things haue bene, saith the Lord; and to him will I looke, euen to him that is poore, and of a contrite spirit, and trembleth at my words.

3 Hee that killeth a bullocke, as if hee slew a man; he that sacrificeth a sheepe, as if he cut off a dogs necke; he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered swines blood; hee that remembereth incense, as if hee blessed an idol: yea, they haue chosen their owne wayes; and their soule delighteth in their abominations.

4 Therefore will I chuse out their deuotions, and I will bring their feare vpon them, because I called, and none would answer: I spake, and they would not heare: but they did euill in my sight, and chose the things, which I would not.

5 Heare the word of the Lord, all ye that tremble at his word, Pour brethren that hated you, and cast you out for my names sake, said, Let the Lord be glorified; but hee shall appeare to your ioy, and they that be ashamed.

6 A voyce soundeth from the citie, euen a voyce from the Temple, the voyce of the Lord, that recompenseth his enemies fully. 7 Before shee was trauielled, she brought forth; and before her paine came, shee was deliuered of a man child.

8 Who hath heard such a thing? who hath seene such things? Shall the earth bee brought forth in one day? or shall a nation be borne at once? for as soon as Zion was trauielled, shee brought forth her children.

9 Shall I cause to trauell, & not bring forth? shall I cause to bring forth, and shall be barren, saith the Lord.

10 Reioyce ye with Ierusalem, and bee glad with her, all ye that loue her: reioyce for ioy with her, all ye that mourne for her.

11 That ye may sucke, and be satisfied with the breasts of her consolation: that ye may milke out, and be delighted with the brightness of her glory.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will extend my peace vnder her like a flood, and the glory of the Gentiles like a flowing streame: then shall ye sucke, ye shall be borne vpon her sides, and be ioyfull vpon her knees.

13 As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you, and ye shall be comforted in Ierusalem.

14 And when ye see this, your heart shall reioyce, and your bones shall flourish like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord shall be known among his seruantes, and his indignation against his enemies.

15 For behold, the Lord will come with fire, and his chariots like a whirle winde, that he may recompense his anger with wrath, and his indignation with the flame of fire.

16 For the Lord will iudge with fire, and with his sword all flesh, and the slaine of the Lord shall be many.

17 They that sanctifie themselves, and purifie themselves in the gardens bewine one tree in the middes eating of swines flesh, and such abomination, euen the moule, shall be consumed together, saith the Lord.

18 For I will visit their workes, and their imaginations: for it shall come that I will gather all nations and tongues, and they shall come, and see my glory.

19 And I will let a signe among them, and will lend those that escape of them, vnto the nations of Carthage, Bull, and Lud, and to them that draw the bow, to Tubal, and Iauan, Iles a farre off, that haue not heard my fame, neither haue seene my glory, and they shall declare my glory among the Gentiles.

them to be at rest, Marke 9. 44. m This is, the iust recompense for the wicked, which concerning God and his word, shall be by Gods iust iudgement abhorred of all his creatures,

Ieremiah.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Ieremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Benjamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whom some thinke to be he that found out the booke of the Law, and gaue it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent gites of God, and most euident reuelations of prophesie, so that by the commandement of the Lord he began very yong to prophesie, e, that is, in the thirtieth yeere of Iosiah, and continued eightene yeeres vnder the said King, and three moneths vnder Iehoahaz, and vnder Iehoiakim sleuen yeeres, and three moneths vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeeres: vnto the time that they were carryed away into Babylon. So that this time a-mounteth to aboue fortie yeeres, beside the time that he prophesied after the captiuitie. In this booke he declareth with teares and lamentation, the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captiuitie of the people for their idolatrie, couctousnesse, subtiltie, cruelnesse, rebellion and contempt of Gods word: and for the consolation of the Church, reuealeth the iust time of their deliuerance.
And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First the rebellion of the wicked, which was more stubborne and obstinate, when the Prophets doe admonish them most plainly of their destruction. Next how the Prophets and ministe^s of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted and rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly though God shew his iust iudgement against the wicked, yet will he euer shew himselfe a preseruer of his Church, and when all meanes seeme to mans iudgement to be abolished, then will he declare himselfe victorious in prefering h s.

C. H. A. P. I.

1 In what time Ieremiah prophesied. 6 He ac-knowledgeh his imperfection, and strengtheneth of tion of Ierusalem. 17 He commandeth him to preach his word without feare.

The words of Ieremi-

3 And also in the dayes of Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, vnto
the end of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah.

4 And he was borne in the citie of Anathoth, which is in the land of Benjamin. 5 And he was brought up among the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, Ioshua 11. 18. d This is spoken to confirme his vocation and office: forasmuch as he did not presume of himselfe to preach and prophesie, but was called thereunto by God. e Meaning, the nephew of Iosiah: for Iehohaz was his father, who reigned but three moneths, & therefore is not mentioned, no more is Iachin that reigned no longer.

the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, even vnto the carrying away of Ierusalem captiue in the firstⁱ moneth.

4 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Before Ie formed thee in the wombe,
I knew thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordeined thee to be a Prophet vnto the^h nationes.

6 Then said I, Oh, Lord God, behold,
I cannot speake for I am a child.

7 But the Lord saide vnto me, Say not,
I am a child: for thou shalt go to all that I shall send thee, and what I commaund thee, shalt thou speake.

8 Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord stretched out his hand against Iudah, and against Ierusalem, and said,

manner of speech to declare that God hath ap-

they were borne,

as Isa. 49. 1. Galat. 1. 15. h For Ieremiah did not onely prophesie against the Iewes, but also against the Egyptians, Babylonians, Moabites and other nations. i Considering the great iudgements of God, which according to his threatnings should come vpon the world, he was moued with a certaine compassion on the one side to pittie them that should thus perish, and on the other side by the infirmities of mans nature, knowing how hard a thing it was to en-terpriue such a charge, as Isa. 6. 11. Exod. 3. 1. and 4. 1.

CHAP. II.

2 God rehearseth his benefits done unto the Iewes 8 Against the Priestes and false Prophets. 12 The Iewes are destroyed, because they forsake God.

Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, of liuing waters, to dig them pits, even broken pits, that can hold no water.

14 Is Israel a servant, or is he borne in the house? why then is he spoiled?

15 The Lyons roared vpon him and yelled, and they haue made his land waste: his cities are burnt without: an inhabitant.

16 Also the children of Joseph and Ephraim haue broken thine head.

17 Hast not thou procured this vnto thy selfe, because thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, when hee ledde thee by the way?

18 And what hast thou now to doe in the way of Egypt? to drinke the water of Shittim? or what maketh thou in the way of Asshur? to drinke the water of the River?

19 Thine owne wickednesse shall correct thee, and thy turnings backe shall reprove thee: knowe therefore and behold, that it is an euill thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my feare is not in thee, saith the Lord God of hostes.

20 For of olde time I haue broken thy yoke, and burst thy bonds, and thou saydest, I will no more transgresse, but like an hart thou runnest about vpon all hye hills, and vnder all greene trees.

21 Yet I had planted thee a noble vine, whose plants were all naturall: how then art thou turned vnto me into the plants of a strange vine?

22 Though thou wash thee with niter, and take thee much sope, yet thine iniquitie is marked before me, saith the Lord God.

23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, neither haue I followed Baalim: behold thy wayes in the valley, and know, what thou hast done: thou art like a swift dromedarie, that runneth by his wayes.

24 And as a wilde asse, vnto the wilderness, that smiteth by the winde by occasion at her pleasure: who can turne her backe: all they that seeke her, will not weare themselves: but will find her in her motion.

25 Keepe thou thy feete from barenesse, and thy throat from thirst: but thou saydest desperately, No, for I haue loued strangers, and them will I follow.

26 As the chiefe is ashamed when he is found, so is the house of Israel ashamed, they, their kings, their princes, and their priests, and their prophets.

27 Saying to a tree, Thou art my father, and to a stone, Thou hast begotten mee: for they haue turned their backe vnto mee, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will say, Arise, and helpe vs.

28 But where are thy gods, that thou hast made thee? Let them arise if they can helpe thee in the time of thy trouble: for according to the number of thy cities, are thy gods, O Iudah.

29 Wherefore will ye pleade with me: yee all haue rebelled against mee, sayeth the Lord.

30 I haue smitten your children in baine, they receiued no correction: your owne sword hath denoured your prophets like a destroying Lyon.

31 O generation, take heed to the word of the Lord: haue I bene as a wilderness vnto Israel? or a land of darkenesse? Wherefore sayeth my people then, Our lords, we will come no more vnto thee?

32 Can a maid forget her ornament, or a hide her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me, dayes without number.

33 Why dost thou prepare thy way, to seeke amitie? euen therefore will I teach thee that thy wayes are wickednesse.

34 Also in thy wings is found the blood of the soules of the poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all these places.

35 Yet thou sayest, Because I am guiltlesse, surely his wrath shall turne from me, behold, I will enter with thee into iudgement, because thou sayest, I haue not sinned.

36 Why runnest thou about so much to change thy wayes? for thou shalt bee confounded of Egypt: as thou art confounded of Asshur.

37 For thou shalt goe forth from thence, and thine hands vpon thine head, because the Lord hath reiectd thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper thereby.

n As a chiefe will not acknowledge his fault, till he be taken with the deede, and readie to be punished: so they will not confesse their idolatrie, till the plagues due to the same light vpon them.

o Meaning, that idolaters spoyle God of his honour, and where- as he hath taught to call him the father of all flesh, they attribute this title to their idoles.

p Thou thoughtest that thy gods of blockes and stones could haue holpen thee, because they were many in number and present in euery place: but now let vs see whether either the multitude or their presence can deliuer thee from my plagues,

Chap. 11. 13.

q As though I did you iniurie in punishing you seeing that your faults are so euident.

r That is, you haue killed your Prophets that exhorted you to repentance, as Zechariah, Isaiah, &c.

s But will trust in your own power and policie.

t With strangers.

x The Prophets and the faithful are slaine in euery corner of your country.

y For the Assyrians had taken away the ten tribes out of Israel, and destroyed Iudah, euen vnto Ierusalem, and the Egyptians slew Iosiah, and vexed the Iewes in sundry sort.

z In signe of lamentation, as 2 Sam. 13. 19.

CHAP. III.

God calleth his people to repentance. 14 He promisseth the restitution of his Church. 20 He reprooeth Iudah and Israel, comparing them to a woman disobedient to her husband.

They say, If a man put away his wife, and shee goe from him, and becometh another mans, shall hee returne againe n Haue I ordered them like servants, and not like dearely beloved children? Exod. 4. 2. therefore it is their fault onely, if the enemy spoile them.

x The Babylonians, Caldeans, and Assyrians.

y Nor one shall be left to dwell there.

z That is, the Egyptians: for there were two great cities in Egypt.

a Haue grievously vexed thee at sundrie times.

b Shewing, that God would haue still led them aright, if they would haue followed him.

c To seeke help of man, as though God were not able enough to defend thee, which is to drinke of puddles, and to leaue the fountaine, reade Isa. 31. 1.

d To wit, Euphrates.

e Meaning, that the wicked are insensible till the punishment for their sinne waken them as verse 16. Isa.

3. 9.

f When I deliuered thee out of Egypt, Exod. 19. 8. deut. 5. 27. iosh. 24. 16. Ezra. 10. 12. nehe. 8. 6. i. Ebr. sicut erat all true.

g Though thou vilt all the purifications and ceremonies of the Law, thou canst not escape punishment, except thou turne to me by faith and repentance.

h Meaning, that hypocrites denie that they worship the idoles, but that they honour God in them, and therefore they call their doings Gods seruice.

i He compareth the idolaters to these beasts: because they neuer cease running to and fro: for both valleys and hills are full of their idolatrie.

k Hee compareth the idolaters to a wilde asse: for hee can neuer be tamed, nor yet wearied: for as hee runneth, hee can take her winde at euery occasion.

l That is, when there is with foale, and therefore the hunters waite their time: so, though thou canst not bee turned backe nowe from thine idolatrie, yet when thine iniquitie shall be at the full, God will meet with thee.

m Hereby he warneth them that they should not goe into strange countreyes to seeke helpe: for they should but spend their labour, and hurt themselves, which is here meant by the bare foot and thirst, Isa. 57. 16.

b If he take such one to wife againe.

c That is, with idoles, and with them whom thou hast put thy confidence in.

d And I will not cast thee off, but receive thee according to my mercie.

e Which dwelleth in tents, and waiteth for them that passe by, to spoyle them.

f As God threatened by his Law, Deut. 32. 34.

g Thou wouldest neuer be ashamed of thine acts and cepten: and this impudencie is common to idolaters, which will not give off, though they be neuer so manifestly conuicted.

h He sheweth that the wicked in their miseries will cry vnto God, & vie outward prayer, as the godly doe, but because they turne not from their euill, they are not heard, Isa. 58. 3, 4.

i Meaning, the ten tribes.

k And gaue her vnto the hands of the Assyrians. l The Hebrew word may either signifie lightnes and wantonnes, or nois & bruit. m Iudah fained for a time that she did returne, as vnder Iosiah and other good Kings, but shee was neuer truly touched or wholly reformed, as appeared when occasion was offered by any wicked prince.

n Israel hath not declared herselfe so wicked as Iudah, which yet hath had more admonitions and examples to call her to repentance. o Whereas the Israelites were now kept in captiuitie by the Assyrians, to whom he promisseth mercie, if they will repent. p There was no way, which thou diddest not haue to seeke after the idoles, and to trot a pilgrimage.

gaue vnto her? Shall not this land be polluted: but thou hast played the harlot with many louers: yet turne againe to me, saith the Lord.

2 Lift vp thine eyes vnto the hie places, and behold, where thou hast not played the harlot: thou hast sit waiting for them in the wayes, as the Arabian in the wilderness: and thou hast polluted the land with thy whores domes, and with thy malice.

3 Therefore the whores haue beene restrained, and the latter raine came not, and thou hadst a whores forehead: thou wouldest not be ashamed.

4 Didst thou not stie cry vnto me, Thou art my Father, and the guide of my youth?

5 Will he keepe his anger for euer? will he reuerse it to the end? thus hath thou spoken, but thou doest euill, euen more and more.

6 The Lord sayd also vnto mee, in the dayes of Iosiah the king, hast thou leene what this rebellious Israel hath done? for the hath gone vp vpon euery high mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, and there played the harlot.

7 And I sayd, when shee had done all this, Turne thou vnto mee: but shee returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah saw.

8 When I saw, how that by alloccasions rebellious Israel had played the harlot, I said, her away, and gaue her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not afraid, but she went also, and played the harlot.

9 So that for the lightnes of her whoredome her hath euen defiled the land: for she hath committed fornication with stones and stockes.

10 Neuertheless for all this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto me with her whole heart, but fainedly, saith the Lord.

11 And the Lord sayd vnto me, The rebellious Israel hath iustified her selfe more then the rebellious Iudah.

12 See and cry these words toward the North, and say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, saith the Lord, and I will not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am merciful, saith the Lord, and I will not alway keepe mine anger.

13 But know thine iniquitie, for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, and hast pscattered thy wayes to the strange gods vnder euery greene tree, but yee would not obey my voyce, saith the Lord.

14 Yee disobedient children, turne againe, saith the Lord, for I am your Lord, and I will take you one of a city, and two of a tribe, and will bring you to Zion.

15 And I will giue you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feede you with knowledge and vnderstanding.

16 Moreover, when yee be increased, and multiplied in the land, in those dayes, saith the Lord, they shall say no more, The Ark of the covenant of the Lord: for it shall come no more to minde, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visit it, for that shall be no more done.

17 At that time they shall call Jerusalem, The throne of the Lord, and all the nations shall be gathered vnto it, euen to the name of the Lord in Jerusalem: and thenceforth they shall follow no more the hardnesse of their wicked heart.

18 In those dayes the house of Iudah shall walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the land of the North, into the land that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

19 But I said, How did I take thee for children, and giue thee a pleasant land, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and sayd, Thou shalt call mee, saying, My father, and shalt not turne from mee?

20 But as a woman rebelleth against her husband: so haue ye rebelled against me, O house of Israel, saith the Lord.

21 A voyce was heard vpon the high places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue peruerced their way, and forgotten the Lord their God.

22 Yee disobedient children, returne and I will heale your rebellions. Behold, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

23 Truly, the hope of the hillies is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Israel.

24 For confusion hath deuoured our fathers labour, from our youth, their sheepe and their bullockes, their sonnes and their daughters.

25 Wee lie downe in our confusion, and our shame couereth vs: for wee haue sinned against the Lord our God, wee and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God.

not themselves, or say that they would follow their fathers, but condemne their wicked doings, and desire forgiveness of the same, as Ezra 9. 7 Psal. 106. 6, Isa 64. 6.

C H A P. IIII.

1 Truer repentance. 4 Hee exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. 5 The destruction of Iudah is prophesied for the malice of their hearts. 19 The Prophet lamenteth it.

O Israel, if thou returne, a returne vnto mee, saith the Lord: and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remoue.

2 And thou shalt swear, The Lord lieth, in truth, in iudgement, and in righteserue him by halves, as Hose 7. 16. b Thou shalt detest the name of idoles, Psal. 116. 4. and shalt with reverence sweare by the liuing God, when thine othe may aduance Gods glory, and profit others: and here by swearing, he meaneth the true religion of God, q This is to bee vnderstood of the coming of Christ: for then they shall not seeke the Lord by ceremonies, and all figures shall cease.

r Meaning, the Church, where the Lord will be present to the worlds end, Mat. 28. 20.

f Where they are now in captiuitie.

t The Hebrew word signifieth a friend or companion, and here may betaken for a husband, as it is vsed also, Hose 3. 1.

u Signifying, that God whom they had forsaken, would bring their enemies vpon them, who should lead them captiue, and make them to cry & lament.

x This is spoken in the person of Israel to the shame of Iudah, which stayed so long to turne vnto God.

y For their idollatry, Gods vengeance hath light vpon them and theirs.

z They iustifie

teoufneffe, and the nations shall be blessed in him, and shall glory in him,

3 For thus saith the Lord to the men of Judah, and to Ierusalem,

4 Breake vp your fallow ground, and sow not among the thornes: be circumcised to the Lord, and take away the foreskinnes of your hearts, pee men of Judah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, lest my wrath come forth like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your intentions.

5 Declare in Judah, and shew forth in Ierusalem, and say, Blow the trumpet in the land: cry, and gather together, and say, Assemble your selues, and let vs goe into strong cities.

6 Set vp the standard in Zion: prepare to fce, and stay not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction.

7 The Lion is come vp from his denne, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, and gone forth of his place to lay thy land waste, and thy cities shall be destroyed without an inhabitant.

8 Therefore gird you with sackcloth: lament and howle: for the fierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs.

9 And in that day, sayeth the Lord, the heart of the King shall perish, and the heart of the Princes, and the Priests shall be astonished, and the Prophets shall wonder.

10 Then say I, Ah Lord God, surely thou hast decreed this people, and Ierusalem, saying, Pee shall haue peace, and the sword pearleth vnto the heart.

11 At that time shall it be said to this people and to Ierusalem, A drie winde in the high places of the wilderness cometh toward the daughter of my people, but neither to faim nor to cleanse.

12 A mightie winde shall come vnto me from those places, and now will I also giue sentence vpon them.

13 Beholde, hee shall come by as the cloudes, and his charcets shall bee as a tempest: his horses are lighter then eagles. And vnto vs, for we are destroyed.

14 O Ierusalem, wash thine heart from wickednesse, that thou mayest be faired: how long shall thy wicked thoughts remaine within thee?

15 For a voyce declareth from Dan, and publisheth affliction from mount Ephraim.

16 Make remention of the beathen, and publish in Ierusalem, Behold, the Ikonres come from a farre country, and cry out against the cities of Iudah.

17 They haue compassed her about as the watchmen of the field, because it hath provoked me to wrath, sayeth the Lord.

18 Thy wayes and thine inventions haue procured thee these things, such is thy wickednesse: therefore it shall be bitter, therefore it shall pearce vnto thine heart.

19 O my belly, my belly, I am pained, euen at the very heart: my heart is troubled within mee: I cannot be still: for my soule hath heard the sound of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battell.

20 Destruction vpon destruction is cryed, for the whole land is wasted: suddenly are my tents destroyed, and my curtaines in a moment.

21 How long shall I see the standard, and heare the sound of the trumpet?

22 For my people is foolish: they haue not known mee: they are foolish children and haue none vnderstanding: they are wise to doe euill, but to doe well they haue no knowledge.

23 I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme and voyds: and to the heauens, and they had no light.

24 I beheld the mountaines, and loe, they trembled, and all the hills shooke.

25 I beheld, and loe, there was no man, and all the birds of the heauen were departed.

26 I beheld, and loe, the fruitfull place was a wilderness, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the presence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath.

27 For thus hath the Lord said, The whole land shall be desolate: yet will I not make a full end.

28 Therefore shall the earth mourne, and the heauens about shall be darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it.

29 The whole city shall flee, for the noise of the horsemen and bowmen: they shall goe into thicketts, and climbe vp vpon the rocks: are moued there: every citie shall bee forsaken, and not a man dwell therein.

30 And when thou shalt bee destroyed, what wilt thou doe? Though thou clohest thy selfe with scarlet, though thou deckest thy selfe with ornaments of golde, though thou paintest thy face with colours, yet shalt thou estimate thy selfe in vaine: for thy louers will abhorre thee, and seeke thy life.

31 For I haue heard a noyse as of a woman trauailing, or as one labouring of her selfe a residue to first childe, euen the voyce of the daughter of Zion that sigheth and stretcheth out her hands: y woe is me now: for my soule faileth because of the murderers.

4 Therefore I ſaide, Surely they are poore, they are fooliſh, for they know not the way of the Lord nor the iudgement of their God.
5 I will get me vnto the great men, and will ſpeake vnto them: for they haue knowne the way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God, but theſe haue altogether broken the yoke, and buſt the bonds.

13 And the Prophets ſhall be as windes, and the word is not in them: thus ſhall it come vnto them.
14 Wherefore thus ſaith the Lord God of hoſts, Becauſe ye ſpeake ſuch words, behold, I will put my ſword into thy mouth, like a fire, and this people ſhall be as wood, and it ſhall deuoure them.
15 Lo, I will bring a nation vpon you from ſarre, O houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord, which is a mighty nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whole language thou knoweſt not, neither underſtandeſt what they ſay.

Hew downe wood, and cast a mount against Ierusalem: this citie must be visited: all oppression is in the mids of it.
7 As the fountaine calteth out her waters, so she calteth out her malice, & cruelty and spoile is continually heard in her before me with sorow and strokes.
8 Be thou instructed, O Ierusalem, lest my soule depart from thee, lest I make thee desolate as a land that none inhabiteth.
9 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel:
turne backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baskets, 10 Vnto whom shall I speake, and admonish, that they may heare? Behold, their eares are incircumcised, and they cannot hearken, behold, the word of the Lord is vitious to them as a reproch: they haue no delight in it.
11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am weary with holding it: I will poure it out vpon the children in the street, and likewise vpon the assembly of the young men: for the husband shall euen be taken with the wife, & the aged with him that is full of dayes.
12 And their houses with their lands, and winnes also shall bee turned vnto strangers: for I will stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land, sayth the Lord.
13 For from the least of them euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen vnto not ashamed, no neither could they haue any wayes, and behold, and alke for the old way which is the good way, and walke therein, and ye shall find rest for your soules: but they said, We will not walke therein.

17 Also I set watchmen ouer you, which people, and the fathers and the sonnes toge-ple commeth from the North country, and a great nation shall arise from the sides of the earth.

23 With bowe and shield shall they bee weaponed: they are cruel, and will haue no compassion: their voice roareth like the sea, and they ride vpon horses well appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion.
24 We haue heard their fame, and our hands were feeble: sorow is come vpon vs, as the sorow of a woman in traualle.

ashes: make lamentation and bitter mounting as for thine only sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs.

Mat. 21. 13. d Because they depended so much on the Temple, which was for his promise that hee would be present, and defend them where the Arke was: he sendeth them to Gods iudgements against Shilo, where the Arke had remained about 300.

3 f He sheweth what is the only remedy to redresse our faults: to suffer God to leade vs into the way, and to obey his calling, Isa 66. 4.

g I will fend you into captiuitie as I haue done Ephraim, that is, cheten tribes. h To assure them that God had determined with himselfe to punish their wickednesse, he sheweth that the prayer of the godly can nothing auail them, while they remaine in their obstinacie against God, and will not vnderstand the means that hee vseth to call them to repentance, Chap. 1. 17. & 14. 11. i That is, They sacrifice to the Sunne, Moone, and Starres, which they called the Queene of heauen, Chap. 44. 17. 1 King. 11. 35.

4 Trust not in lying words, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord.

5 For if you amende and redresse your wayes and your workes: if you execute iudgment betwene a man and his neighbour.

6 And oppress not the stranger the fatherlesse and the widowe, and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction,

7 Then will I let you dwell in this place in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers, for euer and euer.

8 Behold, you trust in lying words, that cannot profit.

9 Will you steale, murder, and commit adulterie, and sweare falsely, and burne incense vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whom ye know not,

10 And come and stand before me in this house, whereupon my Name is called, and say, We are deliuered, though we haue done all these abominations?

11 Is this house become a denne of theues, whereupon my Name is called before your eyes? Behold, enen I see it, saith the Lord.

12 But goe ye now vnto my place which was in Shilo, where I let my Name at the beginning, and behold what I did to it for the wickednesse of my people Israel.

13 Therefore now because ye haue done all these works, saith the Lord (and I rose vp early and spake vnto you: but when I spake, ye would not heare me, neither when I called, would ye answer)

14 Therefore will I doe vnto this house, whereupon my Name is called, wherein also ye trust, enen vnto the place that I gaue to you and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.

15 And I will cast you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, enen the whole seed of Ephraim.

16 Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp cry or prayer for them, neither intreate mee, for I will not heare thee.

17 Seest thou not what they doe in the citie of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough to make cakes to the Queene of heauen, and to poyson out drinkie offerings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger.

19 Doe they prouoke me to anger, saith the Lord, and not themselves to the confusion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my wrath shall be powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and vpon the fruit of the ground, & it shall burne and not be quenched.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, But your burnt offerings vnto your sacrifices, and eate the flesh.

22 For I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voyce, and I will be your God, and ye shall be my people: and walke ye in all the wayes which I haue commanded you, that it may be well with you.

24 But they would not obey, nor encline their eare, but went after the counsels and the stubbornnesse of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the land of Egypt, vnto this day, I haue enen sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early euery day, and sending them.

26 Yet would they not heare me, nor encline thine eare, but heard their neck, and did worse then their fathers.

27 Therefore shalt thou spake all these wordes vnto them, but they will not heare thee: thou shalt also cry vnto them, but they will not answer thee.

28 But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voyce of the Lord their God, nor receiue discipline: trueth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thine haire, O Ierusalem, and cast it away, and take vp a complaint on the high places: for the Lord hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his wrath.

30 For the children of Iudah haue done euill in my sight, saith the Lord: they haue set their abominations in the house, whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it.

31 And they haue built the high place of Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-hinnom to burne their soimes, and their daughters in the fire, which I commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

32 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that it shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall bury in Topheth, till there be no place.

33 And the carkeles of this people shall be meate for the foules of the heauen and for the beastes of the earth, and none shall fray them away.

34 Then will I cause to cease from the citie of Iudah and from the streetes of Ierusalem, the voyce of mirth and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the brides

1 The destruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord mooueth the people to amendment. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine, and the couetousnesse of the Prophets and Priests.

At that time sayth the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the Kings of Iudah, and the bones of their Princes, and the bones of the Priests, and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their graues.

2 And they shall spread them before the Sonne and the Moone, and all the hoite of heauen, whom they haue loued, and whom they haue feared, and whom they haue followed and whom they haue sought, and whom they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, but shalbe as dunge vpon the earth.

3 And death shal be desired rather then life, of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked family, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, sayth the Lord of hostes.

4 Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus saith the Lord, Shall they fall & not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion: they gaue themselves to deceit, and would not returne.

6 I hearkened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednesse, saying, What haue I done? euerie one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battell.

7 Euen the stork in the aerie knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle, and the crane, and the swallow obserue the time of their coming, but my people knoweth not the iudgement of the Lord.

8 How doe ye say, Wee are wise, and the Lawe of the Lord is with vs? Lo, certainly in vaine made hee it, the pen of the Scribes is in vaine.

9 The wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken: lo, they haue reiected the word of the Lord, and what wisdom is in them?

10 Wherefore wil I giue their wiues vnto others, and their fields to them that shall possesse them: for euery one from the least euen to the greatest is giuen to couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth falsely.

11 For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete words, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Were they ashamed when they had committed abominations? nay they were not ashamed, neither could they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the slaine, when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, saith the Lord.

13 I will surely consume them, saith the Lord: there shalbe no grapes on the vine, nor figges on the fig tree, and the leafe shal fade, and the things that I haue giuen them shall depart from them.

14 Why doe wee stay? assemble your selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs bee quiet there: for the Lord our God hath put vs to silence, and giuen vs water with gall to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Lord.

15 Wee looked for peace, but no good came, and for a time of health, and behold troubles.

16 The neyng of his horses was heard from Dan, the whole land trembled at the noyse of the neyng of his strong horses: for they are come, and haue deuoured the land with all that is in it, the cite and those that dwell therein.

17 I, or behold, I wil send serpents, and cockatrices among you, which will not bee charmed: and they shall sting you, saith the Lord.

18 I would haue comforted my selfe against sorow, but mine heart is heauy in mee.

19 Behold, the voyce of the crye of the daughter of my people for feare of them of a farre country. Is not the Lord in Zion? is not her King in her? Why haue they prouoked me to anger with their grauen images, and with the vanities of a strange god?

20 The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not holpen.

21 I am sorowed for the hurt of the daughter of my people: I am heauy, and a storming hath taken me.

22 Is there no balme in Gilead? is there no Physician there? Why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered?

q The Prophet speaketh this. r Meaning, that no mans help or meanes could saue them: for in Gilead was precious balme, Chap. 46. 11. or else deriding the vaine confidence of the people, who looked for helpe at their Priests, who should haue bene the Physicians of their soules, and dwelt at Gilead, Hos. 6. 8.

1 The complaint of the Prophet for the malice of the people. 24 In the knowledge of God ought we only to reioyce. 26 The uncircumcision of the heart.

O that mine head were full of water, and mine eyes a fountaine of teares, that I might weepe day and night for the slaine of the daughter of my people.

2 Oh that I had in the wilderness a charge of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people and goe from them: for they be all adulterers and an assembly of rebels.

3 And they bend their tongues like their bowes for lies: but they haue no courage for the truth vpon the earth: for they proude from euill to worse, and they haue not known me, saith the Lord.

4 Let euery one take heed of his neighbour, and trust you not in any brother: for euery brother wil vse deceit, and euery friend wil deale deceitfully.

5 And i He speaketh in the person of the people, who while the enimie cometh, will runne about to bide themselves, and acknowledge that it is Gods hand.

o Thus the Lord speaketh.

p The people wonder that they haue so long time looked for succour in vaine.

q The Prophet speaketh this. r Meaning, that no mans help or meanes could saue them: for in Gilead was precious balme, Chap. 46. 11. or else deriding the vaine confidence of the people, who looked for helpe at their Priests, who should haue bene the Physicians of their soules, and dwelt at Gilead, Hos. 6. 8.

1 The complaint of the Prophet for the malice of the people. 24 In the knowledge of God ought we only to reioyce. 26 The uncircumcision of the heart.

A The Prophet sheweth the great compassion that he had toward this people, seeing that hee could neuer sufficiently lament the destruction that he saw to hang ouer them.

2 Oh that I had in the wilderness a charge of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people and goe from them: for they be all adulterers and an assembly of rebels.

3 And they bend their tongues like their bowes for lies: but they haue no courage for the truth vpon the earth: for they proude from euill to worse, and they haue not known me, saith the Lord.

4 Let euery one take heed of his neighbour, and trust you not in any brother: for euery brother wil vse deceit, and euery friend wil deale deceitfully.

b He sheweth for him to dwell among the wilde beastes, then among his wicked people, saue that God hath enioyned him this charge. c Vtterly turned from God, d To belie and slander their neighbours. e Meaning, that all were corrupt, and none could find an honest man.

5 And for greedinesse of gaine shall rife your graues, and lay you before those idoles, which in your life you worshipped, to see if they can helpe you.

b Because of the afflictions that they shall feele through Gods iudgements.

c Is there no hope that they will returne.

d They are full of hypocrisie, and euery one followeth his own fantasie without any consideration.

e He accuseth them in that that they are more ignorant of Gods iudgements, then these birds are of their appointed seasons, to discern the colde and heate, as Isa. 1. 3.

n See you can not lament your own sins, call for sinne foolish women, who of a superstition you haue to lament for the dead, that they by their tained teares may prouoke you to some sorrow.

o As though they were weary of vs because of our iniquities, Leuit. 18. 28. & 20. 22.

p He derideth the superstition of the women, which made an arce of mourning, and taught to weepe with fained teares

q Signifying, that there is no meanes to deliuer the wicked from God: iudgements: but when they thinke to be most sure, and most farr off, then are they soonest taken.

5 And euery one will deceiue his friend, and will not speake the truth: for they haue taught their tongues to speake lyes, and take great paines to doe wickedly.

6 The habitation is in the mids of deceiuers: because of their deceit they refuse to know me, saith the Lord.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will melt them, and trie them: for what should I els doe for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue is as an arrow shot out, and speaketh deceit: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he layeth wait for him.

9 Shall I not visit them for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be angry on such a nation as this?

10 Upon the mountaines will I take up a weeping and a lamentation, and upon the faire places of the wilderness a mourning, because they are burnt vp, so that none can passe through them: neither can men heare the voyce of the flocke: both the foule of the ayre, and beaſt are fled away, and gone.

11 And I will make Ierusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, and I will make the cities of Iudah waste, without an inhabitant.

12 Who is wise to vnderstand this? and to whom the mouth of the Lord hath spoken when he shall declare it. Who both the land perish, and is burnt vp like a wilderness, that none passe through it?

13 And the Lord saith, Because they haue forsaken my Law, which I set before them, and haue not obeyed my voyce, neither walked by my cassettes,

14 But haue walked after the stubbornnes of their own heart, and after Baalims, which their fathers taught them,

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will visit this people with wormes, and giue them waters of gall to drinke:

16 I will scatter them also among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers haue knowne, and I will send a sword after them, till I haue consumed them.

17 Thus saith the Lord of hosts. Take heed, and call for the mourning women, that they may come, and send for skillfull women, that they may come,

18 And let them make haste, and let them take up a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares, and our eye lids gush out of water.

19 For a lamentable noise is heard out of Zion, how are we destroyed, and bitterly confounded, for we haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings haue cast vs out.

20 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, O ye women, and let your eares regard the words of his mouth, and teach your daughters to mourne, and euery one her neighbour to lament.

21 For death is come vp into our vine bowes, and is entered into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the young men in the streets.

22 Speake, Thus saith the Lord, The carckles of men shall lie euen as the dung upon the field, and as the handfull after the mow, and none shall gather them.

23 Thus saith the Lord, Let not the wife man glory in his wisdom, nor the strong man glory in his strength: neither the rich man glory in his riches.

24 But let him that glorieth, glory in this, that he vnderstandeth and knoweth me: for I am the Lord which shew mercy, iudgement, and righteousness in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the Lord.

25 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, and that I will visit all them which are circumsised, with the uncircumcised:

26 Egypt, and Iudah, and Edom, & the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all the utmost corners of them that dwell in the wilderness: for all these nations are uncircumcised, and all the house of Israel are uncircumcised in the heart.

Consider our situation: his iudgement, which he executeth continually against the wicked: and his iustice, whereby he defendeth and maintaineth the faithfull. Meaning both Iewes and Gentiles, as in the next verse he sheweth the cause, reads Chap. 4. 4.

CHAP. X.

1 The constellations of the starres are not to be feared. 5 The weakness of idols. 6 Of the power of God. 21 Their pastors are become brut beasts.

2 Care yet the word of the Lord that hee speakech vnto you. O house of Israel.

3 Thus sayeth the Lord, I haue not the way of the heathen, and be not afraid for the signes of heauen, though the heathen be afraid of such.

4 For the customes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tree out of the forest (which is the worke of the hands of the car-penter) with the axe,

5 And another decketh it with silver, and with golde: they fasten it with naves and hammers, that it fall not.

6 The idols stand by as the palme tree, but speake not: they are borne because they cannot goe: feare them not, for they cannot doe euill, neither can they doe good.

7 There is none like vnto thee, O Lord: thou art great, and thy name is great in powder.

8 Who would not feare thee, O King of nations: for to thee appertaineth the domination: for among all the wisemen of the Gentiles, & in all their kingdomes there is none like thee.

9 But altogether they dye, and are lost, for the stocke is a doctrine of vanity, den, Deut. 12. 30. c The Prophets vs thus plainly and simply set forth the vile absurditie of the idolaters, that men might learne to be ashamed of that, whereunto their corrupt nature is most subiect, reads Isa. 44. 12. d He teacheth the people to liue vp their eyes to God, who hath all power, and therefore ought onely to be feared: and herein he sheweth them not onely the euill that they ought to eschew, but the good which they ought to follow, Reuel. 15. 4. e Because the people thought that to haue images, was a meane to serue God, and to bring them to the knowledge of him, hee sheweth that nothing more displeaseth God, nor bringeth man into greater errors and ignorance of God; and therefore he calleth them the doctrine of vanities, the worke of errors, Verse 15. and Hab. 2. 18. c. let them the teachers of lies: conuert ye that wicked opinion, that they are the bookes of the lay people,

10 Forasmuch as none can lase himselfe by his own labour or any worldly meanes, he sheweth that it is in vaine to put our trust therein, but that we trust in the Lord, and the Lord, and reioice in him, who onely can deliuer vs, 1 Cor. 1. 3. 1. These three points are necessary to know aright: his mercie, wherein consider our situation: his iudgement, which he executeth continually against the wicked: and his iustice, whereby he defendeth and maintaineth the faithfull. Meaning both Iewes and Gentiles, as in the next verse he sheweth the cause, reads Chap. 4. 4.

f Whereas they found the best guide, shewing that they thought nothing too deare for their idols: some read Ophir, as 1 King. 9. 28.

g That all that hath bin in this chapter spoken of idols, was to arme the Iewes when they should be in Caldea among the idolaters, and now with one sentence he instructeth them both how to protest their owne religion against idolaters, and how to answer them to their shame which should exhort them to idolatry, and therefore he writeth this sentence in the Caldeans tongue for a memoriall, whereas all the rest of his writing is Hebrew.

h The more that man thinketh to do any thing wel by his owne wisdom, and not as God instructeth him, the more doth he proue himselfe to be a vile beast.

i By these words portion and rod, he signifyeth their inheritance: meaning, that God should be all sufficient for them, and that their felicie consisted in him alone, & therefore they ought to renounce all other helps and succours, as of idoles, &c.

k The Prophet willett the Iewes to prepare themselves to this captiuitie, shewing that it was now at hand, that they should seele the things whereto he had told them. l It is my iust plague, and therefore I wil take it patiently: where y he teacheth the people how to behaue themselves toward God. m He sheweth how Ierusalem shall lament. n The Governours and ministers.

o Reade Chap. 4. 15. p He speaketh this, because that Nebuchad-nezzar purposed to haue made warre against the Moabites and Ammonites, but hearing of Ezekiels rebellion, he returned his power to goe against Ierusalem, See 2. 1. 21, therefore the Prophet saith, that this was the Lords direction.

9 Siluer plates are brought from Tarshish, and gold from Cyprus, for the worke of the workman, and the hands of the founder: the blue silke, and the purple is their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men.

10 But the Lord is the God of truth: he is the living God, and an everlasting King: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath.

11 (Thus shall you say vnto them, The gods which haue not made the heauens and the earth shall perish from the earth, and from vnder these heauens.)

12 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

13 Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and hee causeth the clouds to ascend from the ends of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures.

14 Every man is a beast by his owne knowledge: every founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein.

15 They are vanity, and the worke of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

16 The portion of Iakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hosts is his Name.

17 Gather vp thy wares out of the land, O thou that dwellest in the strong place.

18 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, at this time I will throw as with a sling the inhabitants of the land, and will trouble them, and they shall finde it so.

19 Alas is me for my destruction, and my grievous plague: but I thought, Per it is my sorrow, and I will beare it.

20 My tabernacle is destroyed, and all my coards are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set by my curtains.

21 For the Pastours are become beasts and haue not sought the Lord: therefore haue they none vnderstanding: and all the flocks of their pastures are feared.

22 Behold, the noise of the bruit is come, and a great commotion out of the North country to make the cities of Iudah desolate, and a denne of dragons.

Isaiah calleth in measure, Chap. 27. 8. measuring his reeds by their infirmities, 1. Cor. 10. 13. for here by iudgement is meant not onely the punishment, but also the mercifull iudication of the same, as Chap. 30. 11. Forasmuch as God cannot onely be knowne and glorified by his mercy, that hee liueth toward his Church, but also by his iustice in punishing his enemies: hee prayeth that his glory may fully appeare both in the one and the other, Psal. 79. 6.

3 A curse of them that obey not the word of Gods covenant. 10 The people of Iudah following the steps of their fathers, worship strange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeh Jeremiah to pray for them.

The worde that came to Ieremigh from the Lord, saying,

2 Heare ye the wordes of this covenant, and speake vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

3 And say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Cursed bee the man that obeyeth not the wordes of this covenant,

4 Which I commanded vnto your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the yron fornaice, saying, Obey my voyce, and doe according to all the things, which I command you: so shall ye be my people, and I will be your God,

5 That I may confirme the oath that I haue swome vnto your fathers, to giue them a land which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then answered I, and said, So be it, O Lord,

6 Then the Lord said vnto mee, Cry all these wordes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, saying, Heare ye the wordes of this covenant, and doe them.

7 For I haue protested vnto your fathers, when I brought them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, saying early and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce.

8 Rememberlest they would not obey, nor encline their eare: but euery one walked in the stubbornness of his wicked heart: therefore I will bring vpon them all the wordes of this covenant, which I commanded them to doe, but they did it not.

9 And the Lord said vnto me, A conspiracy is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

12 Then shall the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem goe, and cry vnto the gods vnto whom they offer incense, but they shall not be able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

13 For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, & according to the number of the streets of Ierusalem haue ye set vnto altars of confusion, euen altars to burne incense vnto Baal.

14 Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp a cry or prayer for them: for when they cry vnto mee in their trouble, I will not heare them.

15 What should my beloved cary in mine tion with many: and the holy flesh goeth a-thou reioicest.

16 The Lord called thy name, A greene olive tree, faire and of goodly fruite: but with a noyse and great tumult her hath set fire vpon it, and the branches of it are broken.

17 For the Lord of hostes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they haue done against themselves to prouoke me to anger in offering incense vnto Baal.

18 And the Lord hath taught me, and I know it, euen then thou shewdest me their practices.

19 But I was like a lambe, or bullocke, not that they had deuised thus against mee, saying, Let vs destroy the tree with the fruite thereof, and cut him out of the land of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memoirie.

20 But, O Lord of hostes, that iudgest righteously, and triest the reins & the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

21 The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of Anathoth, (that seek thy life, and say, Prophecie not in the name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands.)

22 Thus therefore saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will visite them: the yong men shall die by the sword: their sonnes & their daughters shall die by famine.

will bring a plague vpon the men of Anakeeth against pastors & preachers that seduce the people. 14 The Lord threatneth destruction vnto the nations that troubled Iudah.

O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art righteous: yet let me talke with thee a of thy iudgements: wherefore doth the way of the wicked prosper? why are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgress?

2 Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken root: they grow, & bring forth fruit:
thou art neere in their mouth, and far from their reignes.

3 But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast sane me, and tryed my heart toward thee:
pull them out like aspe for the slaughter, and prepare them for the day of slaughter.

4 How long shall the land mourne, and the herbes of euery field wither, for the wil-kednes of them that dwell therein? the beasts are consumed & the birds, because they faile, he will not see our last end.

5 If thou hast run with the footemen, and they haue wearied thee, then how canst thou match thy selfe with horses: and if thou thoughtest thy selfe safe in a peaceable land, what wilt thou doe in the swelling of Iordan?

6 For euen thy brethren, and the house of thy father, euen they haue dealt unfaithfully with thee, and they haue cried out altogether vpon thee, but belene them not, though they speak faile to thee.

7 I haue forsaken mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the dearely beloued of my soule into the hands of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is vnto me as a lion in the forest: it crieth out against me, therefore haue I hated it.

9 Shall mine heritage be vnto me as a bird of diuers colours? are not the birds about her, saying, Come, assemble all the beasts of the field, come to eate her?

10 Many pastors haue desolate my vineyard, and troden my portion vnder foote: & my pleasant portion they haue made a desolate wilderness.

11 They haue layd it waste, and it bring waste, mourneth vnto mee: and the whole land lyeth waste, because no man setteth himselfe as though God would euer be merciful, and not veterly destroy them: therefore they hardened themselves in sin, till at length the beasts and insensible creatures felt the punishment of their stubborne rebellion against God. f Some thinke that God

12 The destroyers are come vpon all the high places in the wilderness: for the sword of the Lord shall deuoure from the one end of the land, euen to the other end of the land no flesh shall haue peace.

13 They haue sown wheat, and reaped thornes: they were sicke, and had no profit: and they were ashamed of your fruits, because of the wrath of the Lord.

14 Thus saith the Lord against all mine euil neighbours, that touch the inheritance, which I haue caused my people Israel to inherit, behold, I will plucke them out of their land, and plucke out the house of Iudah from among them.

15 And after that I haue plucked them out, I will returne, and haue compassion on them, and will bring againe euery man to his heritage, and euery man to his land.

16 And if they will learne the wayes of my people, to sweare by my Name (The Lord lieth), as they taught my people to sweare by Baal, then shall they be built in the mids of my people.

17 But if they will not obey, then will I bitterly plucke vp, and destroy that nation, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The destruction of the Iewes is presigured. 11 Why Israel was receiued to be the people of God, and why they were forsaken. 15 Hee exhorteth them to repentance.

Thus saith the Lord vnto me, Goe, and buy thee a linnen girdle, and put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water.

2 So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, and put it vpon my loynes.

3 And the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast bought which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, go toward Derath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

5 So I went, and hid it by Derath, as the Lord had commanded me.

6 And after many dayes the Lord sayd vnto me, Arise, go toward Derath and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there.

7 Then went I to Derath, and digged, and toke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, & behold, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Thus saith the Lord, After this manner will I destroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem.

10 This wicked people haue refused to heare my word, & walke after the iniquities of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, & to worship them: therefore they shall be as this girdle, which is profitable for nothing.

11 For as the gyrdle cleaueth to the loynes of a man, so haue I tryed to mee the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Iudah, sayeth the Lord, that they might be my people: that they might haue a name and praise, and gloie, but they would not heare.

12 Therefore thou shalt say vnto them this word, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Euery bottle shall be filled with wine, and they shall say vnto thee, Doe we not know, that euery bottle shall be filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, euen the Kings that sit vpon the throne of Dauid, & the Priettes of Ierusalem with drunkennes.

14 And I will dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, saith the Lord, I will not spare, I will not pity nor haue compassion, but destroy them.

15 Heare and giue eare, be not proud: for the Lord hath spoken it.

16 Gie gloie to the Lord your God, because he bringeth darkenesse, and ouerthureth the fountaine of the living waters, and maketh the shadow of death, and maketh it as darkness.

17 But if ye will not heare this, my soule shall weepe in secret for your pride, and mine eye shall weepe and droppe downe teares, because the Lords flocke is carried away captiue.

18 Say vnto the King & to the Queene, Humble your selues, sit downe: for the crowne of your gloie shall come downe from your heads.

19 The citie of the South shall be shut vp, and no man shall open them: all Iudah shall be carried away captiue: it shall wholly be carried away captiue.

20 Lift vp your eyes, and behold them that come from the North: where is the flocke that was giuen thee, & see the beautiful flocke?

21 What wilt thou say, when he shall visite thee? (for thou hast taught them to be captaines and as chiefe ouer them) shall nor sorrow take thee as a woman in trauaile?

22 And if thou say in thine heart, Therefore come these things vpon me: for the multitude of thine iniquities are by sisters discovered, and thine heeles made bare.

23 Can the blacke Doe change his skin: or the leopard his spots? then may ye also doe good, that are accustomed to doe euill.

24 Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken away with the South winde.

25 This is thy portion, and the part of thy measures from mee, saith the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me, and trusted in lies.

26 Therefore haue I also discovered thy sinnes vpon thy face, that thy Name may appeare.

CHAP. XLIIII.

1 Of the dearth that should come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lord. 10 The unfaithfull people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, and of false prophets that seduce the people.

The word of the Lord that came unto Jeremiah, concerning the dearth.

2 Judah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue bin brought to heauinesse vnto the ground, and the cry of Jerusalem goeth vp.

3 And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the wells, and found no water: they returned with their vessels empty: they were ashamed and confounded, and covered their heads.

4 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and covered their heads.

5 Pea, the binde also calued in the field, and forsooke it, because there was no grasse.

6 And the wilde asses did stand in the high places, and drew in their winde like dragons: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.

7 O Lord, though our iniquities testify against vs, deale with vs according to thy name: for our rebellious are many, we sinned against thee.

8 O the hope of Israel, the saviour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the land, as one that passeth by to tarie for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man astonied, and as a strong man that cannot helpe? yet thou O Lord, art in the midst of vs, and thy name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delighted to wander: they haue not refrained their feete, therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: but hee will now remember their iniquity, and visit their sinnes.

11 Then said the Lord vnto mee, Thou shalt not pray to doe this people good.

12 When they say, I will not heare their cry, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will continue them by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, behold, the prophets say vnto them, We shall not see the sword, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I will giue you assured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord said vnto me, The prophets prophesie lies in my name: I haue not sent them, neither did I commaund them, neither make I vnto them, but they prophesie vnto you a false vision, and diuination and vanitie, and deceitfulness of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophesie in my name, whom I haue not sent, yet they say, Sword and famine shall not be in this land, by sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed.

16 And the people to whom these prophets doe prophesie, shall be cast out in the streets of Jerusalem, because of the famine, and the sword, and there shall be none to bury them, both they, and their wives, and their sonnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednesse vpon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this word vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe teares night and day without ceasing: for the virgin daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a very grievous plague.

18 For if I goe into the field, behold, the same with the sword: and if I enter into the citie, behold, they that are sick for hunger also: moreover, the prophet also, and the priest go a wandering into a land that they know not.

19 Hast thou utterly rejected? Judah, or hath thy soule abhorred Sion: why hast thou smitten vs, that we cannot be healed? Alas looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and behold trouble.

20 We acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednesse, and the iniquitie of our fathers, for we haue sinned against thee.

21 Doe not abhorre vs: for thy names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glory: remember and breake not thy covenant with vs.

22 Are there any among the vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue thunders? Is it not thou, O Lord our God: therefore we wil wait vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lord would heare no prayer for the Iewes, but threatneth to destroy them with seuerall plagues.

Then said the Lord vnto mee, Though Moyses and Samuel stood before me, yet mine affection could not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whether shall we depart? then tell them, Thus saith the Lord, Such as are appointed to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sword, to the sword: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

3 And I will appoint ouer them foure kindes, saith the Lord, the sword to slay, and the dogs to teare in pieces, and the fowles of the heauen, and the beasts of the earth to deuoure, and to destroy.

4 I will scatter them also in all king domes n Though the Prophet knew that God had cast off the multitude which were hypocrites, and bastard children, yet he was assured that for his promise sake, he would haue still a Church, for the which he prayeth.

The word of the Lord came also vnto me, saying,
2 Thou shalt not take thee a wife, nor haue sonnes nor daughters in this place.

4 They shall die of death, and diseases: they shall not be lamented, neither shall they be buried, but they shall be as dung vpon the earth, and they shall bee consumed by the sword & by famine, and their carkeises shall be meate for the foules of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth.
5 For thus saith the Lord, Enter not into the house of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor be moued for them: for I haue taken my peace from this people, sayeth the Lord, euen mercy and compassion.
6 Both the great and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them, nor cut themselves, nor make themselves bald for them.
7 They shall not stretch out the hands for them in the mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither shall they giue them the cup of consolation to drinke for their father or for their mother.
8 Thou shalt not also goe into the house of feasting to sit with them to eate and to drinke.

24 Nevertheless, if ye will heare me, saith the Lord, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that ye doe no worke therein.
25 Then shall the Kings and the princes enter in at the gates of this citie, and shall sit upon the throne of David, and shall ride upon chaires, and upon horses, both they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and this citie shall remaine for ever.
26 And they shall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, & from the land of Benjamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which shall bring burnt offerings and sacrifices, and meate offerings, and incense, & shall bring sacrifice of praise into the house of the Lord.
27 But if ye will not heare me to sanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burden, nor to goe through the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall devour the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

C H A P. XXVII

2 God sheweth by the example of a potters, that it is in his power to destroy the despisers of his word.
3 The conspiracie of the Iewes against Ieremiah.
4 His prayer against the adversaries.
5 The word which came to Ieremiah from the Lord saying,
6 Arise and goe downe into the potters house, and there shall I shew thee my words.
7 Then I went downe to the potters house, and beheld, he wrought a worke on the wheel.

4 And the vessel that he made of clay, was broken in the hand of the potters: so he rectified, and made it another vessel, as seemed good to the potters to make it.
5 Then the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,
6 O house of Israel, cannot I doe with you as this potters, saith the Lord, behold, as the clay is in the potters hand, to doe with it in mine hand, O house of Israel.
7 I will speake suddenly against a nation, or against a kingdom to plucke it by, and to rote it out, and to destroy it.
8 But if this nation, against whome I have pronounced, turne from their wickednesse, I will repent of the plague that I thought to bring upon them.
9 And I will speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to build it, and to plant it.
10 But if it doe euill in my sight, and heare not my voyce, I will repent of the good that I thought to doe for them.
11 Speake thou now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore euery one from his euill way, and make your waies and your workes good.
12 But they said desperately, Surely, we will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man after the stubbornnesse of his wicked heart.
13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Alke now among the heathen, who haue heard such things: the virgine of Israel hath done very filthily.
14 Will a man forsake the snow of Lebanon, which cometh from the rocke of the field: or shall the cold flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?
15 Because my people haue forgotten me, and haue burnt incense to vanity, & their prophets haue caused them to stumble in their wayes from the ancient wayes, to walke in the pathes and way that is not troden,
16 To make their land desolate and a perpetuall derision, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shall be astonished and wagge his head.
17 I will scatter them with an East wind before the enemy: I will shew them the backe, and not the face in the day of their destruction.
18 Then said they, Come and let vs imagine some device against Ieremiah: for the Lawe shall not perish from the Priest, nor counsell from the wise, nor the word from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite so that they oughe a As the potters haeth power ouer the clay, to make what pot he wil, or to breake them when he hath made them: so haue I power ouer you to doe with you as seemeth good to mee, a Isa. 45. 9.

b When the Scripture attributeth repentance vnto God, it is not that hee doth contrary to that which he hath ordered in his secret counsell: but when he threatneth, it is a calling to repentance, and when he giueth him grace to repent, the threatening, (which euery contemner a condition in it) taketh no place, and this the Scripture calleth repentance in God, because it so appeareth to mans iudgement.
c As men that had no remorse, but were altogether bent to rebellion and to their owne selfe will.
d As no man that hath thirst, refuseth fresh conduit waters which he hath at home, to goe and seeke waters abroad, the teachers of the Lawe quench his thirst not to seeke for help, and succour at strangers, and leaue God, which was present with them. e That is, the way of truth, which God had taught by his Law, read Chap. 8. 16. f I will shew mine anger, and not any fauour toward them. g This argument the wicked haue eueryed against the seruants of God, the Church cannot erre: we are the Church, & therefore whosoever speaketh against vs, they ought to die. King. 22. 24. chapter 7. 4. and 20. 2. malac. 2. 4. and thus the false Church persecuteth the true Church, which standeth not in outward pompe, and in multitude, but is known by the graces of the holy Ghost.

h Let vs slander him, and accuse him: for we shal be beleued, him with the tongue, and let vs not giue heede to any of his words.

19 Hearken vnto me, O Lord, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me.
20 Shall euill be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I woude befree thee, to speake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.

i Seeing the obstinate malice of the aduersaries, which grew daily more & more, the Prophet being moued with Gods Spirit, without any carnall affection prayeth for their destruction, because he knew that it should tend to Gods glory, and profit of his Church.

21 Therefore I deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them droppe away by the force of the sword, and let their wines be robbed of their children, and be widowes: and let their husbands bee put to death, and let their yong men bee slaine by the sword in the battell.

22 Let the crye bee heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an host suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my teete.

23 Yet Lord thou knowest: I their counsell against me tendeth to death: forgive not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinnes from thy sight, but let them be overthrowen before thee: Deale thus with them in the time of thine anger.

CHAP. XIX.

He prophesieth the destruction of Ierusalem for the contempt and despising of the word of God.

Thus said the Lord, Goe, and buy an earthen bottell of a pottier, & take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priests,

2 And goe forth vnto the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entree of the East gate: and thou shalt preach there the words, that I shall tell thee,

3 And shalt say, Heare ye the word of the Lord, O Kings of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem. Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoever heareth, his eares shall tingle.

4 Because they haue forsaken mee, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whom neither they nor their fathers haue knownen, nor the Kings of Iudah (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

5 And they haue built the high places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offerings vnto Baal, which I commanded nor, nor spake it, neither came it into my minde.)

6 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that this place shall no more bee called a Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter.

7 And I will bring the counsell of Iudah and Ierusalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, and by the hand of them that seeke their liues: and their karkasses will I giue to be meat for the foules of the heauen, and to the beasts of the field.

8 * And I will make this citie desolate, and an hilling, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shall be astonied and hissle because of all the plagues thereof.

9 * And I will seede them with the flesh of their sonnes, and with the flesh of their daughters, and euery one shall eate the flesh of his friend in the siege and straitnesse, wherewith their enemies that seeke their liues shall hold them trait.

10 Then shalt thou breake the bottell in the sight of the men that goe with thee,

11 And shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, When lo will I breake this people and this citie, as one breaketh a potters vessell, that cannot be made whole againe, and they shall bury them in Topheth, till there be no place to bury.

12 Thus will I doe vnto this place, saith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and I will make this citie like Topheth.

13 For the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses of the kings of Iudah, shall be defiled, as the place of Topheth, because of all the foules vpon whose e rooves they haue burnt incense vnto all the host of heauen, and haue powred out drinke offerings vnto other gods.

14 Then came Ieremiaah from Topheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophesie, and he stood in the court of the Lords house, and said to all the people,

15 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon this citie, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues that I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their neckes, and would not heare my words.

CHAP. XX.

2 Ieremuaah is smitten and cast into prison for preaching of the word of God. 3 Hee prophesieth the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 Hee complaineth that hee is a mocking stocke for the word of God. 9 He is compelled by the spirit to preach the word.

When Nabur, the sonne of Ammer, the Priest, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Lord, heard that Ieremuaah prophesied these things,

2 Then Nabur smote Ieremiaah the Prophet, and put him in the stocks that were in the high gate of Benjamin which was by the house of the Lord.

3 And on the morning, Nabur brought Ieremuaah out of the stocks. Then sayd Ieremuaah vnto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Nabur, but Agagor, in slabbib.

4 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will make thee to bee a terror to thy selfe, and to all thy friends, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and thine eyes shall behold it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall carry them captiue into Babel, and shall slay them with the sword.

5 Moreover, I will deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the kings of Iudah will I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shall spoyle them, and take them away and carry them to Babel.

6 And thou Nabur, and all that dwell in thine house, shall goe into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt die, and shalt be buried there, thou and all thy friends, to whom thou hast prophesied lies.

e This visible signe wasto confirme them touching the assurance of this plague which the Lord threatened by his Prophet.

f He noteth the great rage of the idolaters, which left no place free from their abominations, inso-much as they polluted their owne houses therewith, as we see yet among the Papists, g Read deut. 22.8.

a Thus we see that the thing which neither the king, nor the princes, nor the people durst enterprize against the Prophet of God, this Priest as a chiefe instrument of Satan first attempted, reade Chap. 18. 18.

|| Or, seare round about.

|| Or, gate of the Sunne.

Dent. 28. 53. lament. 4. 10.

7 O Lord, thou hast deceived me, and I am deceived: thou art stronger then I, and hast prevailed: I am in derision dayly, every one mocketh me.

8 For since I spake, I cried out of wrongs, and proclaimed: desolation: therefore the word of the Lord was made a reproch unto me, and in derision dayly.

9 Then I said, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire shut up in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not stay.

10 For I had heard the rayling of many, and feare on every side. Declare, said they, and wee will declare it: all my familiars watched for my halting, saying, It may be that hee is deceived: so we shall prevail against him, and we shall execute our vengeance upon him.

11 But the Lord is with me like a mighty giant: therefore my persecuters shall be overthrowen, and shall not prevail, and shall be greatly confounded: for they have done unwisely, and their everlasting shame shall neuer be forgotten.

12 *But, O Lord of hosts, that triest the righteous, and test the reins, and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for unto thee have I opened my cause.

13 Sing unto the Lord, praise ye the Lord, for hee hath delivered the soule of the poore from the hand of the wicked.

14 Cursed be the day wherein I was borne: and let not the day wherein my mother bare me, be blessed.

15 Cursed be the man that shewed my father, saying, A man child is borne unto thee, and comforted him.

16 And let that man bee as the cities, which the Lord hath overthrown and repented not: and let him heare the cry in the morning, and the shouting at noone tide.

17 Because hee hath not shame mee, even from the wombe: or that my mother might have bene my graue, or her wombe a perpetual conception.

18 How is it, that I came forth of the wombe, to see labour and sorrow, that my dayes should be consumed with shame?

19 How is it, that I came forth of the wombe, to see labour and sorrow, that my dayes should be consumed with shame?

CHAP. XXI.

He propheseth that Zedekiah shall be taken, and the citie burned.

1 The word which came unto Jeremiahs from the Lord, when king Zedekiah sent unto him Baalshur, the sonne of Balchiah, and Zephaniah, the sonne of Maasiah the Iudite, saying,

2 Enquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for us (for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel maketh warre against us) if lo bee that the Lord will deale with us according to all his wonderous workes, that he may returne by from us.

3 Then sayd Jeremiahs, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the king of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, and I will assemble them into the middes of this citie.

5 And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, & with a mighty arme, even in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation.

6 And I will smite the inhabitants of this citie, both man and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, sayth the Lord, I will deliver Zedekiah the king of Iudah, and his servants, and the people, and such as are left in this citie, from the pestilence, from the sword, and from the famine, into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seeke their lives, and hee shall smite them with the edge of the sword: he shall not spare them, neither have pity nor compassion.

8 And unto this people thou shalt say, Thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I set before you the way of life, and the way of death.

9 He that abideth in this city, shall die by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that besiege you, he shall live, and his life shall be unto him for a praye.

10 For I have set my face against this citie, for evil, and not for good, saith the Lord: it shall be given into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

11 And say unto the house of the king of Iudah, heare ye the word of the Lord.

12 O house of David, thus saith the Lord, Execute iudgement in the morning, and deliver the oppressed out of the hand of the oppressor, lest my wrath goe out like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your workes.

13 Behold, I come against thee, O inhabitant of the valley, & rocke of the plaine, saith the Lord, which say, Who shall come downe against vs? or who shall enter into our habitations?

14 But I will visit you according to the sent of your workes, saith the Lord, and I will kindle a fire in the forest thereof, and it shall devoure round about.

CHAP. XXII.

He exhorteth the king to iudgement, and righteousness. Why Ierusalem is brought into captivity. The death of Shallum the sonne of Iosiah is prophesied.

1 Thus sayd the Lord, Goe downe to the house of the king of Iudah, and speake there this thing,

2 And say, heare the word of the Lord,

Herein appeareth the impatience which oftentimes overcometh the servants of God when they see not their labours to profite, & also feeble their owne weakness, read Chap. 15. 18.

Thou diddest thrust me forth to this worke against my will. He sheweth that he did his office in that he reproved the people of their vices, and threatened them with Gods iudgements: but because he was discouraged and persecuted for this, he was discouraged and thought to have ceased to preach, save that Gods spirit did force him thereunto.

Thus the enemies conferred together to know what they had heard him say, that they might accuse him thereof, read Isa. 29. 21.

Here he sheweth how his faith did strive against temptation, and fought to the Lord for strength.

i By bribes and extortion, k Meaning Iosiah, who was not giuen to ambition, and superstitie, but was content with mediocritie, and did onely delight in setting forth Gods glory, and to doe iustice to all,

King of Iudah, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, thou and thy seruants, and thy people that enter in by these gates.

3 Thus sayeth the Lord, * Execute ye iudgement and righteousnesse, and deliuer the oppressed from the hand of the oppressor, and vnto the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widow: doe no violence, nor shed innocent blood in this place.

4 For if ye doe this thing, then shall the Kings sitting vpon the throne of Dauid enter in by the gates of this Ierusalem, * and ride vpon chariots, and vpon horses, both hee and his seruants and his people.

5 But if ye will not heare these words, I sweare by my selfe, saith the Lord, that this Ierusalem shall be waste.

6 For thus hath the Lord spoken vpon the Kings house of Iudah, Thou art Gilead vnto mee, and the head of Lebanon, yet surely I will make thee a wilderness, and as cities not inhabited.

7 And I will prepare destroyers against thee, every one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe cedar trees, and cast them in the fire.

8 And many nations shall passe by this cite, and they shall say every man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lord done thus vnto this great cite?

9 Then shall they answer, Because they haue forsaken the covenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods, and serued them.

10 * Weepe not for the dead, and be not moued for them, but weepe for him that goeth out: for hee shall returne no more, nor see his native country.

11 For thus sayeth the Lord, as touching Shallum the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, hee shall not returne thither.

12 But hee shall die in the place, whither they haue led him captiue, and shall see this land no more.

13 * Go vnto him that buildeth his house by vnrighteousnes, and his chambers without equitie: he vseth his neighbour without wages, and giueth him not for his worke.

14 He saith, I will build me a wide house and large chambers: so hee will make himselfe large windowes, and sealing with cedar, and paint them with vermilion.

15 Shalt thou reigne, because thou cloiest thy selfe in cedar? did not thy father eate and drinke and prosper, when he executed iudgement and iustice?

16 When hee iudged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, he prospered: was not this because he knew me, saith the Lord?

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are but onely for thy countounes, and for to shed innocent blood, and for oppression, and for destruction, euen to doe this.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah King of Judah, They shall not lament him, saying, Ah my brother, or Ah sister: neither shall they moune for him, saying, Ah lord, or Ah, his glory.

19 He shall be buried as an ass is buried, euen drawen and cast forth without the gates of Ierusalem.

20 * Goe vp to Lebanon, and cry: shout in * Baithan, and cry by the passages: for all thy towers are destroyed.

21 I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperitie: but thou saidest, I will not heare, this hath bene thy manner from thy youth, that thou wouldest not obey my voice.

22 The winde shall feede all thy pastours, and thy towers shall goe into captiuitie: and then shalt thou be ashamed and confounded of all thy wickednesse.

23 Thou that dwellest in Lebanon, and makest thy nest in the cedars, how beautiful shalt thou be when sorrowes come vpon thee, as the sorrow of a woman in trauel?

24 As I liue, saith the Lord, though * Coeniah the sonne of zebotakim king of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence.

25 And I will giue thee into the hand of them that seek thy life, and into the hand of them, whose face thou fearest, euen into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babilon, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 And I will cause them to carry thee away, and thy mother that bare thee into another countrey where ye were not borne, and there shall ye die.

27 But to the land wherunto they desire to returne, they shall not returne thither.

28 Is not this man Coeniah as a despised and broken idole: or as a vessel, wherein is no pleasure: wherefore are they carried away, he and his sons, and cast out into a land that they know not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the Lord.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Write this * man destitute of children, a man that shall led Iehoiachin, not prosper in his dayes: for there shall be no or Ieconiah, man of his seede that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any here Coeniah in moze in Iudah.

kingdoms could neuer depart from him, because hee came of the stocke of Dauid, and therefore for the promise sake could not be raken from his house: but he abused Gods promise, and therefore was iustly depriv'd of the Kingdom. f He sheweth that all posteritie shall be witness of this iust plague, as though it were registered for perpetuall memorie. t Not that he had no children (for after he begate Salathiel in the captiuitie, Mat. 1. 12.) but that none should reigne after him as King.

people, We haue scattered my flocke, & thrust them out, and haue not visit. d them: behold, I will visite you for the wickednesse of your works, saith the Lord.

3 And I will gather the remnant of my sheepe out of all countreys, whither I had driven them, and will bring them againe to their folds, and they shall grow and increase.

4 And I will set vp shepherds ouer them, which shall feede them, and they shall dread no more, nor be afraid, neither shall any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

5 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will raise vnto Dauid a righteous branch, and a King shall reigne, and prosper, and shall execute iudgement, and iustice in the earth.

6 In his dayes Iudah shall be saued, and Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the Name whereby they shall call him, * The Lord our righteousness.

7 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that they shall no more say, The Lord lieth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

8 But, The Lord lieth, which brought vp and led to the head of the house of Israel out of the North countrey, & from all countreys where I had scattered them, and they shall dwell in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within mee, because of the sprophtes, all my bones shake, I am like a drunken man (and like a man whom wine hath overcome) for the presence of the Lord, and for his holy words.

10 For the land is full of adulterers, and because of othes the land mourneth, the pleasant places of the wilderness are dried up, and their couerie is euill, and their force is not right.

11 For both the Prophet & the priest do wickedly: and their wickednesse haue I found in mine house, saith the Lord.

12 Therefore their way shall be vnto them as slippery wayes in the darkness: they shall be driven forth and fall therein: for I will bring a plague vpon them, even the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

13 And I haue seene foolishnes in the prophets of Samaria, that prophesied in Baal, and caused my people Israel to erre.

14 I haue seene also in the Prophets of Ierusalem filthinesse: they commit adulterie and waike in lies: they strengthen also the hands of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all vnto me as Sodom, & the inhabitants thereof as Gomorrah.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes concerning the Prophets, Behold, I will feede them with wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the Prophets of Ierusalem is wickednesse gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Weare not the words of the prophets that prophesie vnto you and teach you vanity: they speake the vision of their owne heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 They say still vnto them that despise mee, The Lord hath said, Pee shall haue peace and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the stubbornnesse of his owne heart, No euill shall come vpon you.

18 For who hath stood in the counsel of the Lord, that hee hath perceived and heard his word? Who hath marked his word and heard it?

19 Behold, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, and a violent whirlwind shall fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

20 The anger of the Lord shall not returne vntill he haue executed, and till he haue perfoimed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter dayes ye shall vnderstand it plainly.

21 * I haue not sent these Prophets, saith the Lord, yet they ran: I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophesied.

22 But if they had stood in my counsel, and had declared my wordes to my people, then they should haue turned them from their euill way, and from the wickednesse of their inuentions.

23 Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God farre off?

24 Can any hide himself in secret places, that I shall not see him, saith the Lord: Doe not I fill heauen and earth, saith the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the prophets said, that prophesie lies in my Name, saying, I haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 How long? Do the prophets delight to prophesie lies, euen prophesying the deceit of their owne heart?

27 Thinke they to cause my people to forget my Name by their dreames, which they tell euery man to his neighbour. as they forefathers haue forgotten my Name for Baal?

28 The Prophet that hath a dreame, let him tell a dreame, & he that hath my word, let him speake my word faithfully: what is the chaffe to the wheat, saith the Lord?

29 Is not my word euen like a fire, saith the Lord: and like an hammer that breaketh the stone?

30 Therefore behold, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, that steale my word euery one from his neighbour.

31 Behold, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, which haue sweet tongues, and say, We sayth.

32 Behold, I will come against them that prophesie false dreames, saith the Lord, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lies and by their flatteries. and I sent them not, nor commanded them: therefore they bring no profit vnto this people, saith the Lord.

33 And when this people, or the prophet, or a Priest shall aske thee saying, What is the burden of the Lord? thou shalt then be applyed to the same purpose that it was spoken, Eze. 3. 17. 1. Cor. 2. 13. and 4. 2. 1. Tim. 3. 15. 1. Pet. 4. 10. 11. z Which fell forth in my Name that which I haue not commanded. a To wit, the Lord. b The Prophets called their threatnings, Gods burden, which the sinners were not able to sustaine, therefore the wicked in deriding the word, would aske of the Prophets, What was the burden? As though they would say, You seeke nothing else but to lay burdens on our shoulders: and thus they reiected the word of God as a grieuous burden.

p Thus they did deride Ieremiah as though the word of God were not reueiled vnto him: so also spake Zichajah to Michah,

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 The vision of the basket of figs 5 signifieth that part of the people should be brought againe from captiuitie. 8 And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people should be caried away.

The Lord shewed mee, and behold, two baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel had caried away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah and the princes of Iudah with the workemen, and cunning men of Ierusalem, and had brought them to Babel.

2 One basket had very good figges, euen like the figs that are first ripe; and the other basket had very naughtie figs, which could not be eaten, they were so euill.

3 Then said the Lord vnto mee, What seest thou Ieremiah? And I said, Figgs: the good figs very good, and the naughtie very naughtie, which can not bee eaten, they are so euill.

4 Again, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel. Like theie good figs, so wil I knowe them, that are caried away captiue of Iudah, to be good, whom I haue sent out of this place, into the land of the Caldeans.

6 For I wil fer mine eyes vpon them for good, and I wil bring them againe to this land, and I wil build them, and not destroy them, and I wil plant them, and not roote them out.

7 And I wil giue them an heart to knowe me, that I am the Lord, and they shall be my people, and I will be their God: for they shall returne vnto me with their whole heart.

8 And as the naughtie figges which cannot bee eaten, they are so euill (shaltly thus saith the Lord) so wil I giue Zedekiah the king of Iudah and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem that remaine in this land, and them that dwell in the land of Egypt:

9 I will euen giue them for a terrible plague to al the kingdomes of the earth, and for a reproch, and for a prouerbe: for a common talke, and for a curse in al places, where I shall cast them.

10 And I will send the sword, the famine and the pestilence among them, till they bee consumed out of the land that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Hee propheseth that they shall be in captiuitie seventy yeeres. 12 And that after the seventy yeeres the Babylonians should be destroyed. 15 The destruction of all nations is prophesied.

The word that came to Ieremiah, concerning all the people of Iudah in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Iudah, that was in the first yeere of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel:

2 The which Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto all the people of Iudah, and to all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying,

3 From the thirtieth yeere of Josiah the sonne of Amon the king of Iudah, euen vnto this day (that is the three and twentieth yeere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto me, and I haue spoken vnto you: rising early and speaking, but ye would not heare.

4 And the Lord hath sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophets, rising early and sending them, but ye would not heare, nor incline your eares to obey.

5 They said, Turne againe now euery one from his euill way, and from the wickednes of your inventions, and ye shal dwell in the land that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euerm and euerm.

6 And goe not after other gods to serue them and to worship them, and prouoke me not to anger with the workes of your hands, and I will not punish you.

7 Neuertheless ye would not heare me, saith the Lord, but haue prouoked me to anger with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Because ye haue not heard my words,

9 Behold, I will send, and take to me all those vices, the families of the North, saith the Lord, which then reigned, and Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babel my ned: to wit, from Ierusalem, and will bring them against this idolatry, and the land, and against the inhabitants thereof, vaine confidence and against all these nations round about, of men: for vnder these two I will destroy them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continuall desolation.

10 Wherefore I will take from them the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of gladnes.

11 And I will destroy the Caldeans, and all their power, because hee maketh them to serue him by constraint, and turneth that which they doe of malice, to his honour and glory. As the Philistims, Ammonites, Egyptians, and others, Chap. 16, 9. 10, destroy.

11 And this whole land shall be desolate, and an astonishment, and these nations shal serue the king of Babel seventy yeeres.

12 And when the seventy yeeres are accomplished, I will visite the king of Babel and that nation, sayth the Lord, for their iniquities, euen the land of the Caldeans, and will make it a perpetuall desolation,

13 And I will bring vpon that land all my wordes which I haue pronounced against it, euen all that is written in this booke, which Jeremiah hath prophesied against all nations.

14 For many nations and great kings shall euen serue themselves of them: thus will I recompense them according to their deeds, and according to the workes of their owne hands.

15 For thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken vnto mee, Take the cup of wine of this mine indignation at mine hand, and cause all the nations to whom I send thee, to drinke it.

16 And they shall drinke and be mooued, and be mad, because of the word that I will send among them.

17 Then tooke I the cup at the Lords hand, and made all people to drinke, vnto whom the Lord had sent me:

18 Euen Ierusalem, and the cities of Iudah, and the Kings thereof, and the Princes thereof, to make them desolate, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse, as appeareth this day:

19 Pharaoh also king of Egypt, and his seruants, and his princes, and all his people:

20 And all sorts of people, & all the kings of the land of Uz, and all the kings of the land of the Philistims, and Tykelon, and Azzah, and Ekron: and the remnant of Ahabod:

21 Edom, and Moab, and the Ammonites,

22 And all the kings of Tyrus, & all the kings of Sidon, and the kings of the Isles, that are beyond the Sea,

23 And Dedan, and Teman, and Buz, and all that dwell in the vttermost corners,

24 And all the kings of Arabia, and all the kings of Arabia that dwell in the desert, 26 And all the kings of the North, farre and nere one to another, and all the kingdoms of the world, which are vpon the earth, and the king of Suez shall drinke after them.

27 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Drinke and be drunken, and spew and fall, and rise no more, because of the sword, which I will send among you.

28 ¶ But if they refuse to take the cup at thine hand to drinke, then tel them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Yee shall certainly drinke.

31 The sound shall come to the endes of the earth: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the nations, and will enter into iudgement with all flesh, & he will giue them that are wicked, to the sword, sayth the Lord.

32 ¶ Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, a plague shall goe forth from nation to nation, and a great whirlwind shall be raised vpon from the coast of the earth, 33 And the flaine of the Lord shal be at that day from one end of the earth euen vnto the other end of the earth: they shall not be mourned, neither gathered nor buried, but shall be as the dung vpon the ground.

34 Nowhe, ye shepheards, and cry, and wallow vpon selues in the ashes, ye principal of the flocke: for your dayes of slaughter are accomplished, and of your dispercion, and ye shall fall like precious vessels.

35 And the flight shall faile from the shepheards, and the escaping from the principall of the flocke.

36 A boyce of the cry of the shepheards, and an howling of the principall of the flocke shall be heard: for the Lord hath destroyed their pasture.

37 And the best pastures are destroyed because of the wrath and indignation of the Lord.

38 He hath forsaken his couert, as the Lyon: for their land is waste, because of the wrath of the oppressour, and because of the wrath of his indignation.

CHAP. XXVI.

2 Jeremiah mooneth the people to repentance, 7 Hee mistaken of the false prophets and priests, and brought to iudgement. 23 Vrijah the Prophet is killed of Iehoiakim, contrary to the will of God.

¶ The beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Iudah, came this word from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus sayth the Lord, Stand in the court of the Lords house, and speake vnto al the cities of Iudah which come to worship in the Lords house, all the wordes that I command thee to speake vnto them: keepe not a word backe, every man from his euill way, that I may repent me of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpon them, because of the wickednesse of their works.

4 And thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, If ye will not heare me to walke in my lawes, which I haue set before you,

5 And to heare the words of my seruants the Prophets, whom I sent vnto you, both rising vp early, and sending them, and will not obey them,

6 Then will I make this House like a Shiloh, and will make this citie a curie to all the nations of the earth.

7 So the Priests and the Prophets, and all the people heard Jeremiah speaking these words in the House of the Lord.

8 Now when Jeremiah had made an end of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speake vnto all the people, then the Priests and the Prophets, and all the people tooke him, and sayd, Thou shalt die the death.

9 They haue thou prophesied in the Name of the Lord, saying, This house shall be like Shiloh, and this citie shall be desolate without an inhabitant: and all the people were gathered vnto Jeremiah in the House of the Lord.

10 And when the Princes of Iudah heard of these things, they came by from the kings house into the House of the Lord, and sat downe in the entry of the new gate of the Lords House.

11 Then spake the Priests and the Prophets vnto the princes, and to all the people, saying, This man is worthy to die: for he hath prophesied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares.

12 Then spake Jeremiah vnto all the princes, and to all the people, saying, The Lord hath sent me to prophesie against this House and against this citie all the things that ye haue heard.

13 Therefore now amend your wayes and your workes, and heare the voyce of the Lord your God, that the Lord may repent him of the plague, that he hath pronounced against you.

14 As for me, behold, I am in your hands: doe with me as ye thinke good and right.

15 But know ye for certaine, that if ye put me to death, ye shall surely bring innocent blood vpon your ciues, and vpon this citie, and vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a truely the Lord hath sent mee vnto you to speake all these words in your eares.

16 Then said the princes and all the people vnto the Priests, and to the Prophets, This man is not worthy to die: for he hath spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 Then arose vp certaine of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assembly of the people, saying,

18 Micah the Moreshite * prophesied in the dayes of Hezekiah King of Iudah, and spake to all the people of Iudah, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Zion shall be plowed like a field, and Ierusalem shall be an heape, and the mountaine of the House shall be as the high places of the forest.

19 Did Hezekiah King of Iudah and all Iudah put him to death? did hee not feare the Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the plague, that hee had pronounced against them: thus might wee procure great euill against our soules.

20 And there was also a man that prophesied in the Name of the Lord, one Uriah the sonne of Shemaiah, of Kiriat-sabrem, who prophesied against this citie, and against this land, according to all the words of Jeremiah.

21 Now when Jehoiakim the King with all his men of power, and all the Princes heard his wordes, the King sought to slay him. But when Uriah heard it, hee was afraid, and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Then Jehoiakim the King sent men into Egypt, euen Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt.

23 And they set Uriah out of Egypt, and brought him vnto Jehoiakim the king, who slew him with the sword, and cast his dead body into the graues of the children of the people.

24 But the hand of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan was with Jeremiah, that they should not giue him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

m As in the first, Hezekiah's example is to be followed, so in this other, Jehoiakim's act is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his household. n Which declareth that nothing could haue appeased their fury, if God had not mooued this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Jeremiah at the commandement of the Lord sendeth bonds to the king of Iudah, and to the other kings that were neere, whereby they are monished to be subiects to Nebuchad-nezzar. 9 Hee warneth the people and the kings and rulers, that they beleeue not false prophets.

2 The beginning of the reigne of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Iudah, came this word vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

3 Thus saith the Lord to me, Make thee bonds and yokes, and put them vpon thy necke,

4 And send them to the king of Edom, and to the king of Moab, and to the king of the Ammonites, and to the king of Tyus, and to the king of Sidon, by the hand of the messengers, which come to Ierusalem vnto Zedekiah the king of Iudah.

5 And command them to say vnto their masters, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Thus shall you say vnto your masters, k So that the city was not destroyed, but by miracle was deliuered out of the hands of Saneherib.

l Here is declared the furie of the tyrants, who cannot abide to heare Gods word declared, but persecute the ministers thereof, and yet in the ende they preuaile nothing, but prouoke Gods iudgements so much the more.

m As in the first, Hezekiah's example is to be followed, so in this other, Jehoiakim's act is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his household. n Which declareth that nothing could haue appeased their fury, if God had not mooued this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

a As touching the disposition of these prophecies, they that gathered them into a booke, did not altogether obserue the order of times, but did see some, whereof, which should be after, and contrariwise: which if the reader marke well, he shall avoid many doubts, & make the reading much more easie.

6 But now I haue giuen all these lands into the hand of Nebuchad nezzar the King of Babel my seruant, and the beasts of the field haue I also giuen him to serue him.

7 And all nations shall serue him, and his sonne and his sonnes sonne, vntill the very time of his land come also: then many nations and great kings shall serue them: selues of him.

8 And the nation and kingdome which will not serue the same Nebuchad nezzar King of Babel, and that will not put their neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, the same nation will I visite, saith the Lord, with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntill I haue wholly giuen them into his hands.

9 Therefore heare not your prophets nor your soothsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your enchanters, nor your sozcerers, which say vnto you thus, We shall not see the king of Babel.

10 For they prophesie a lie vnto you to cause you to goe farre from your land, and that I should cast you out, and you should perish.

11 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him, those will I let remaine still in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shall occupie, and dwell therein.

12 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah King of Iudah, according to all their words, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.

13 Why will ye die, thou and thy people by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation, that will not serue the king of Babel?

14 Therefore heare not the words of the prophets, that speake vnto you, saying, We shall not serue the king of Babel: for they prophesie a lie vnto you.

15 For I haue not sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophesie a lie in my Name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, both you, and the Prophets that prophesie vnto you.

16 ¶ Also I spake to the Priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the words of your Prophets that prophesie vnto you, saying, Behold the vessels of the house of the Lord shall now shortly be brought againe from Babel, for they prophesie a lie vnto you.

17 Heare them not, but serue the King of Babel, that ye may liue: wherefore should this citie be desolate?

18 But if they be Prophets, and if the word of the Lord be with them, let them intreate the Lord of hostes, that the vessels which are left in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Iudah, and at Jerusalem goe not to Babel.

19 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bales, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this citie,

20 Which Nebuchad nezzar king of Babel tooke not, when he caried away captiue Jeconiah the sonne of Jehoiakim king of Iudah from Jerusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Iudah and Jerusalem.

21 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Iudah, and at Jerusalem.

22 They shall be brought to Babel, and there they shall be vntill the day that I visite them, saith the Lord: then will I bring them vp, and restore them vnto this place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The false prophesie of Hananiah, 2 Jeremiah reproofeth Hananiah, and the people seeth.

AND that same yeere, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Iudah, in the fourth yeere, and the fifth moneth, Hananiah the sonne of Azur the Prophet, which was of Gibon, spake to me in the house of the Lord, in the presence of the Priests, and of all the people and said,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the king of Babel.

3 Within two yeeres space I will bring into this place all the vessels of the Lords house, that Nebuchad nezzar king of Babel tooke away from this place, and caried them into Babel.

4 And I will bring againe to this place Jeconiah the sonne of Jehoiakim King of Iudah, with all them that were caried away captiue of Iudah, and went into Babel, saith the Lord: for I will breake the yoke of the king of Babel.

5 Then the Prophet Jeremiah said vnto the prophet Hananiah in the presence of the Priests, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the house of the Lord,

6 When the Prophet Jeremiah said, So be it: the Lord so doe, the Lord confirme the words which thou hast prophesied, to restore the vessels of the Lords house, and all that is caried captiue from Babel, into this place.

7 But heare thou now the word that I will speake in thine eares, and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophets that haue bene before me and before thee in time past, prophesied against many countreys, and against great kingdomes, of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence.

9 And the Prophet which prophesieth of peace, when the word of the Prophet shall come to passe, then shall the Prophet be knowne that the Lord hath truly sent him.

Now these are the wordes of the // booke that Jeremiah the Prophet sent from Ierusalem vnto the residue of the Elders which were caried away captiues, and to the Priests and to the Prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchad-nezzar had caried away captiue from Ierusalem to Babel,

2 (After that Ieconiah the king, and the b Queene, and the Eunuches, the ^d Princes of Iudah, and of Ierusalem, and the workemen and cunning men were departed from Ierusalem)

3 By the hand of Elafah the sonne of Shaphan, and Gemariah the sonne of Sil-kiah (whom Zedekiah King of Iudah sent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) saying,

4 Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel (spoken vnto all that are caried away captiues, whom I haue ^e caused to be caried away captiues from Ierusalem vnto Babel:

5 Build you houses to dwell in, & plant you gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

6 Take you wives, and beget sonnes and daughters: and take wines for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to husbands, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that yee may be increased there, and not diminished.

7 And seeke the prosperitie of the citie, whither I haue caused you to be caried away captiues, and pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall you haue peace.

8 ¶ For thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Let not your prophets and your soothsayers that be among you, decking you, neither giue eare to your dreames, which you dreame.

9 For they prophesie you a lye in my Name: I haue not sent them, sayeth the Lord.

10 But thus saith the Lord, That after seuentie yeres be accomplished at Babel, I will visit you, and performe my good promise toward you, and cause you to returne to this place.

11 For I know the thoughts that I haue thought towards you, saith the Lord, euen the thoughts of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an end, and your hope.

12 Then shall yee cry vnto mee, and yee shall goe and pray vnto me, and I will heare you.

13 And yee shall seeke me and finde mee, because yee shall seeke mee with all your heart.

14 And I will be found of you, saith the Lord, and I will turne away your captiuitie, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I haue cast you, saith the Lord, and wil bring you againe vnto the place, whence I caused you to be caried away captiue.

15 ¶ Because yee haue sayd, The Lord hath raised vs up e prophets in Babel,

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord of the king, that sitteth vpon the throne of David, and of all the people that dwell in this city, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captiuitie:

17 Euen thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will send vpon them the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile ^f bagges, that cannot be earene, they are so naughtie.

18 And I will persecute them with the sword, with the famine, and with the pestilence: and I will make them a terror to all kingdomes of the earth, and a curse, and astonishment and an hissing, and a reproch among all the nations whither I haue cast them.

19 Because they haue not heard my wordes, saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruants the Prophets, rising up early, and sending them, but yee would not heare, saith the Lord.

20 ¶ Heare yee therefore the word of the Lord, all yee of the captiuitie, whom I haue sent from Ierusalem to Babel.

e The Prophet speaketh not this for the affliction that be bare to the tyrant, but that they should pray for the common rest and quietnes, that their troubles might not be increased, and that they might with more patience and lesse griefe waite for the time of their deliuerance which God had appointed most certaine: for else not onely the Israelites, but all the worlde, yea, and the insensible creatures should reioyce when these tyrants should be destroyed, as Iai. 14. 4.

22 And all they of the captivity of Iudah that are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, & say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whom the king of Babel burnt in the fire.

23 Because they haue committed a villenie in Israel, and haue committed adulterie with their neighbours wives, and haue spoken lying words in my Name, which I haue not commanded them, euen I know it, and tell it, saith the Lord.

24 Thou shalt also speake to SHEMAIAH the shelaimitte, saying,

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy name vnto all the people that are at Ierusalem, and to Zephaniah the sonne of Maasiah the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying,

26 The Lord hath made thee Priest, for Jehoiada the Priest, that ye should be officers in the house of the Lord, for every man that raketh and maketh himselfe a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stocks.

27 Now therefore why hast not thou reproued Jeremia of Anathoth, which prophesie vnto you?

28 For, for this cause he sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This captiuitie is long: build houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eate the fruits of them.

29 And Zephaniah the Priest read this letter in the eares of Jeremia the Prophet.

30 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremia, saying,

31 Send to all them of the captivity, saying, Thus saith the Lord of SHEMAIAH the shelaimitte, Because that SHEMAIAH hath prophesied vnto you and I sent him not, and he caused you to trust in a lie, 32 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will visit SHEMAIAH the shelaimitte, and his seed: hee shall not haue a man to dwell among this people: neither shall he behold the good that I will doe for my people, saith the Lord, because he hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 He menaceth the enemies, 18 And comforteth the Church.

The worde that came to Jeremia from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the words that I haue spoken vnto thee, in a booke.

3 For loe, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, saith the Lord: for I will restore them vnto the land that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it.

4 Again, these are the words that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah.

5 For thus saith the Lord, We haue heard a terrible voyce of feare, and not of peace.

6 Demand now and behold, if man traualle with child. Wherefore doe I behold every man with his hands on his loynes as a woman in trauaile, and all faces are turned into a palenesse?

7 Alas, for this day is great: none hath beene like it: it is euen the time of Iakobs trouble, yet shall he be deliuered from it.

8 For in that day, sayth the Lord of hosts, I will breake his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bonds, and strangers shall no more scurue themselves of him.

9 But they shall serue the Lord their God, and David their king, whom I will raise vp vnto them.

10 Therefore feare not, O my seruant Iakob, saith the Lord, neither be afraid, O Israel: for loe, I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seede from the land of their captiuitie, and Iakob shall turne againe, and shall be in rest and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid.

11 For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to save thee: though I utterly destroy all the nations where I haue scattered thee, yet will I not utterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not utterly cut thee off.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Thy hauing is incurable, and thy wound is dolorous.

13 There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaster: there are no medicines, nor helpe for thee.

14 All thy louers haue forgotten thee: they lacke thee not: for I haue stricken thee with the wound of an enemy, and with a sharpe chastisement for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy sinnes were increased.

15 Why cryest thou for thine affliction? thy sorrow is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy sinnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee.

16 Therefore all they that denoure thee, shall bee denoured, and all thine enemies euery one shall goe into captiuitie: and they that spoyle thee shall bee spoiled, and all they that robbe thee, will I glue to bee robbed.

17 For I will restore health vnto thee, and I will heale thee of thy wounds, sayth the Lord, because they called thee, The castaway, saying, This is Zion, whom no man seeketh after.

18 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring againe the captiuitie of Iakobs tents, and haue compassion on his dwelling place: and the citie shall bee builded vpon her owne heape, and the palace shall remaine after the maner thereof.

28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to throw downe, and to destroy, and to plague them, so will I watch ouer them, to build and to plant them, saith the Lord.

29 In those dayes shall they say no more, The fathers haue eaten a lowe grape, and the childrenneth are set on edge.

30 But euery one shall die for his owne iniquitie: euery man that eateth the lowe grape, his teeth shall be set on edge.

31 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iudah, 32 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers, when Iooke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my covenant they brake although I was as an husband vnto them, saith the Lord.

33 But this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel. After those dayes, saith the Lord, I will put my Law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts, and will be their God, and they shall be my people.

34 And they shall teach no more euery man his neighbour, and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord, for they shall know mee from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I will forgiue their iniquitie, and will remember their sinnes no more.

37 Thus saith the Lord, if the heauens can be measured, or the foundations of the earth be searched out beneath, then will I call off all the seed of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the Lord.

38 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the city shall be built to the Lord from the towne of Haman, vnto the gate of the corner.

Ieremiah is cast into prison, because he prophesied that the citie should be taken of the king of Babylon. He sheweth that the people should come againe to their owne possession. The people of God are his seruants, and he is their Lord.

The word that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the tenth yeere of Zedekiah King of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchad nezzar.

2 For then the king of Babels host besieged Ierusalem: and Ieremiah the Prophet was shut vp in the court of the prison, which was in the king of Iudahs house.

3 For Zedekiah King of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Whether dost thou prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will giue this citie into the hands of the king of Babel, and he shall take it?

4 And Zedekiah the king of Iudah shall not escape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but shall surely be deliuered into the hands of the king of Babel, and shall speake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall beheld his face.

5 And he shall leade Zedekiah to Babel, and there shall he be, until I visit him, saith the Lord: though yet fight with the Caldeans, yet shall not prosper.

6 And Ieremiah said, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

7 Behold, Hamanek, the sonne of Shalum thine vncle, shall come vnto thee, and say, Buy vnto thee my fielde that is in Anathoth: for the title by kindred appertaineth vnto thee to buy it.

to me in the court of the prison, according to the word of the Lord, and said unto me, Buy my field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Benjamin: for the right of the possession is thine, and the purchase belongeth unto thee: buy it for thee. Then I knew that this was the word of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine vncles sonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the silver, even seven shekels, and ten pieces of silver.

10 And I writ it in the booke, and signed it, andooke witnesses, and weighed him the silver in the balances.

11 So I tooke the booke of the possession being sealed according to the Law, and contained within the booke that was open.

12 And I gaue the booke of the possession unto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Naahtai, in the sight of Hanameel mine vncles sonne, and in the presence of the witnesses, written in the booke of the possession, before all the Jewes that sate in the court of the prison.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, saying,

14 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Take the writings, even this booke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen vessel, that they may continue a long time.

15 For the Lord of hosts the God of Israel saith thus, Houses and fields, and vineyards shall be possessed againe in this land.

16 Nowe when I had delivered the booke of the possession unto Baruch, the sonne of Neriah, I prayed unto the Lord, saying,

17 Ah Lord God, behold, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing which hard unto thee.

18 Thou shewest mercy vnto thousands, and recompensett the iniquity of the fathers into the belom of their children after them, O God the great and mighty, whose Name is the Lord of hosts,

19 Great in counsell, & mighty in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the wayes of the sonnes of men, to geue to every one according to his wayes, and according to the fruit of his worke.)

20 Which hast let signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this day, and in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this day,

21 And hast brought thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terror,

22 And hast giuen them this land, which thou diddest swear to thy fathers to giue them, even a land that floweth with milke and honey.

23 And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neither walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedst them to doe, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Behold, the monuments, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight against it, by means of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, & behold, thou seest it.

25 And thou hast said unto me, O Lord God, Buy vnto thee the field for silver, and take witnesses: for the citie shall be giuen, into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremia, saying,

27 Behold, I am the LORD GOD of all flesh: is there any thing too hard for me?

28 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nabuchadrezzar king of Babel, & he shall take it.

29 And the Caldeans shall come & fight against this citie, and set fire on this citie, and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose roofes they haue offered incense vnto Baal, and powred drink offerings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto anger.

30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euill before mee from their youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked mee to anger with the workes of their handes, saith the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hath bene vnto me as a prouocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day that they built it, even vnto this day, that I should remooue it out of my sight,

32 Because of all the euill of the children of Israel, & of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke mee to anger, even they, their Kings, their Princes, their Priests, and their Prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

33 And they haue turned vnto mee the backe and not the face: though I taught them rising vp early and instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receive doctrine.

34 But they set their abominations in the house, (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it,

35 And they built the high places of Babel, which are in the valley of Benjamin, altars which to cause their sonnes, and their daughters to passe through the fire vnto Moloch, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my minde, that they should doe such abominations to cause Iudah to sinne.

36 And now therefore, thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken concerning this citie, whereof ye say, It shall be deliuered into the hand of the king of Babel by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

37 Behold, I will gather them out of all countreies, wherein I haue scattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I will bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely.

m That is, of every creature: who as they are his worke, so doth he gouerne and guide them, as pleaseth him, whereby he sheweth that as he is the author of this their captivity for their finnes, so will he be their redeemer to restore them againe to libertie.

Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the second time (while hee was yet shut vp in the court of the prison) saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, the maker thereof, the Lord that formed it, and established it, the Lord is his Name.

3 Call vnto me, and I will answer thee, and shew thee great & mighty things, which thou knowest not.

4 For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, concerning the houses of the Kings of Iudah, which are destroyed by the mounts, and by the sword.

5 They come to fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themselves with the dead bodies of men, whom I haue slaine in mine anger, and in my wrath: for I haue hid my face from this city, because of all their wickednesse.

6 Behold, I will giue it health and amendment: for I will cure them, and will reucale vnto them the abundance of peace, and truth.

7 And I will cause the captiuitie of Iudah, and the captiuitie of Israel to returne, and will build them as at the first.

8 And I will cleanse them from all their iniquities: wherby they haue sinned against me: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, wherby they haue sinned against me, and wherby they haue rebelled against me.

9 And it shall be to mee a name, a praise, and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which shall heare all the good that I doe vnto them: and they shall feare, and tremble for all the goodnesse, and for all the wealth that I shew vnto this time.

10 Thus saith the Lord, Againe there shall be heard in this place (which ye say shall bee desolate, without man, and without beast, even in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, that are desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast)

11 The voice of ioy and the voice of gladnesse, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride, the voice of them that shall say, Praise the Lord of hostes, because the Lord is good: for his mercie endureth for ever, and of them that offer the sacrifice of praise in the house of the Lord, for I will cause to returne the captiuitie of the land, as at the first, saith the Lord.

12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Againe in this place, which is desolate without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof, there shall be dwelling for shepherds to rest their flocks.

13 In the cities of the mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, & in the cities of the South, and in the land of Benjamin, and about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah shall the sheepe passe againe, vnder the hand of him that telleth them, saith the Lord.

14 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will performe that good thing, which I haue promised vnto the house of Israel, and to the house of Iudah.

15 In thole dayes, and at that time will I cause the Branch of righteousnesse to grow vp vnto Dauid, and hee shall reuente iudgement, and righteousness in the land.

16 In those dayes shall Iudah bee saued, and Ierusalem shall dwell safely, and he that shall call her, is the Lord our righteousness.

17 For thus saith the Lord, Dauid shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel.

18 Neither shall the Priests and Leuites want a man before mee to offer burnt offerings, and to offer incense offerings, and to doe sacrifice continually.

19 And the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, saying,

20 Thus saith the Lord, If you can breake my covenant of the first day, and my covenant of the night, that there should not be day, and night in their season,

21 Then may my covenant bee broken with Dauid my seruant, that hee should not haue a sonne to raigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites, and Priests my ministers.

22 As the army of heauen cannot be numbered, neither the sand of the Sea measured: so will I multiply the seed of Dauid my seruant, and the Leuites, that minister vnto mee.

23 Moreover, the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah, saying,

24 Considerest thou not what this people haue spoken, saying, The two families, 26 Then will I cast away the seed of Jaakob and David my servant, and not take of his seed to be rulers over the seed of Abraham, Isaac, and Jaakob: for I will cause their captivity to returne, and have compassion on them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 He threatneth that the cite and the king Zedekiah shall be given into the hands of the king of Babylon. 11 He rebuketh their cruelty toward their servants.

TH E word which came unto Jeremiah from the Lord (when Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel, and all his hoste, and all the Kingdomes of the earth, that were under the power of his hand, and all people fought against Jerusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Go, and speake to Zedekiah King of Judah, and tell him. Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will give this cite into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, & delivered into his hand, and thine eyes shalt behold the face of the king of Babel, and he shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt go to Babel.

4 Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah king of Judah: Thus saith the Lord of thee, thou shalt not die by the sword.

5 But thou shalt die in peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former kings which were before thee, so shall thy burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh, Lord: for I have pronounced the word, saith the Lord.

6 Then Jeremiah the Prophet spake all these words unto Zedekiah King of Judah in Jerusalem,

7 (When the king of Babels host fought against Jerusalem, and against all the cities of Judah that were left, even against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Judah).

8 This is the word that came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, after that the King Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people which were at Jerusalem, to proclaime liberty unto them,

9 That every man should let his servant goe free, and every man his handmaid, which was an Hebrew or an Cheweisse, and that none should serve himselfe of them, to wit, of a Jew his brother.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the covenant, heard that every one should let his servant goe free, and every one his handmaid, and that none should serve themselves of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe.

11 But afterward they repented, and caused the servants and the handmaidens, whom they had let goe free, to returne, and held them in subiection as servants & handmaidens.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah from the Lord saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a covenant with your fathers when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of servants, saying,

14 At the terme of seven yeeres let ye goe every man his brother an Chewe which hath beene sold unto thee: and when he hath served thee six yeeres, thou shalt let him goe free from thee: but your fathers obeyed mee not, neither enclined their eares.

15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my sight, in proclaiming libertie every man to his neighbour, and ye had made a covenant before me in the house, whereupon my Name is called,

16 But ye repented, and polluted my Name: for ye have caused every man his servant, and every man his handmaid, whom ye had let at libertie at their pleasure, to returne, and hold them in subiection to be unto you as servants and as handmaidens.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Bee haue not obeyed me, in proclaiming freedom every man to his brother, and every man to his neighbour: behold, I will make a libertie for you: saith the Lord to the sword to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terror to all the kingdomes of the earth.

18 And I will give those men that have broken my covenant, and have not kept the words of the covenant, which they had made before me, when they cut the calves in wine, and passed betweene the parts thereof.

19 The princes of Judah and the princes of Jerusalem, the Eunuches, & the Divelites, and all the people of the land, which passed betweene the parts of the calves.

20 I will even give them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shall be for meate unto the fowles of the heaven, and to the beasts of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Judah, and his princes wil I give into y hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke their life: and into the hand of the King of Babels host, which are gone up from you.

22 Behold, I will command, saith the Lord, and cause them to returne to this cite, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Judah desolate without an inhabitant.

k I have most diligently exhorted and warned you both by my self, and my Prophets, Chap. 18. 1. 1. and 3. 5.

2 Go unto the house of the Rechabites, and speake unto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord, into one of the chambers, and give them wine to drinke.

3 Then toke I Iazaniah, the sonne of Jeremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all their sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites,

4 And I brought them into the house of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan, the sonne of Igdaliah a man of God, which was by the chamber of the Princes, which was above the chamber of Maasiah the sonne of Shalum, the keeper of the treasure.

5 And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites, pots full of wine, & cups, and said unto them, Drinke wine.

6 But they said, We will drinke no wine: for Jonadab the sonne of Rechab our father commanded vs, saying, Ye shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for ever.

7 Neither shall you build house, nor sow seed, nor plant vineyard, nor haue any, but all your dayes ye shall dwell in tents, that ye may live a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

8 Thus haue we obeyed the voyce of Jonadab the sonne of Rechab our Father in all that he hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our dayes, neither we, our wives, our sonnes, nor our daughters, 9 Neither build we houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineyard, nor field, nor seed.

10 But we haue remained in tents, and haue obeyed, & done according to all that Jonadab our Father commanded vs.

11 But when Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel came vp into the land, we sayde, Come, and let vs goe to Jerusalem, from the hoste of the Caldeans, and from the hoste of Aram: so we dwell at Jerusalem.

12 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremiah, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Goe, & tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, Will ye not receiue doctrine to obey my words, saith the Lord?

14 The commandment of Jonadab the sonne of Rechab that he commanded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their Fathers commandment: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, rising early, and speaking, but ye would not obey me.

15 I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early, and sending them, saying, Returne now euery man from his euill way, and amend your worke, and goe not after other gods, to serue them, and ye shall dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye would not incline your eare, nor obey me.

16 Surely, the sons of Jonadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commandment of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue spoken vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere.

18 And Jeremiah saide to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Because ye haue obeyed the commandment of Jonadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath commanded you, 19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Jonadab the sonne of Rechab shall not want a man to stand before me for ever.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth, as Jeremiah enditeth, the booke of curses against Iudah and Israel, 9 Hee is sent with the booke vnto the people, and readeth it before them all. 14 Hee is called before the rulers, and readeth it before them also. 23 The king casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another prison at the commandment of the Lord.

A And in the fourth yeece of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Iudah, came this word vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Take thee a roll or booke, and write therein all the words that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, even from the dayes of Josiah vnto this day.

3 It may be that the house of Iudah will heare of all the euil, which I determined to doe vnto them, that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgive their iniquitie and their finnes.

4 Then Jeremiah called Baruch the son of Neriah, and Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremiah all the wordes of the Lord, which he had spoken vnto him, vpon a roll, or booke.

5 And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am shut vp, and cannot goe into the house of the Lord.

6 Therefore goe thou, and read the roll, wherein thou hast written at my mouth the wordes of the Lord in the audience of the people in the Lords house vpon the fasting day: also thou shalt read them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may be that they will pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euill way, for great is the anger, & the wrath that the Lord hath declared against this people.

8 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Jeremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the booke the wordes of the Lord in the Lords Lords house.

 9 And in the fift e yeere of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah King of Judah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Jerusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Judah unto Jerusalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Jeremiah in the house of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the Secretary, in the higher Court at the entry of the new gate of the Lords house, in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Bichaiah the sonne of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the wordes of the Lord, 12 Then hee went downe to the Kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and tooke all the Princes that were there, even Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah, the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achobai, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Ihananah, and all the Princes.

13 Then Bichaiah declared unto them all the wordes that hee had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Jehudi the sonne of Rechabiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chusai, unto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah tooke the roule in his hand, and came unto them.

15 And they saide unto him, Sit downe now, and read it, that wee may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Now when they had heard all the wordes, they were afraid, both one and other, and said unto Baruch, We will certifie the king of all these wordes.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs now, how diddest thou write all these wordes at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch answered them, Hee pronounced all these wordes unto mee with his mouth, and I wrote them with inke in the booke.

19 Then saide the Princes unto Baruch, Goe, hide thee, thou and Jeremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

20 And they went in to the King to the court, but they layd by the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour, and told the king all the wordes, that hee might heare.

21 So the king sent Jehudi to fetch the roule, and hee tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Jehudi read it in the audience of the king, and in the audience of all the Princes, which stood beside the king.

22 Now the king sat in the winter house in the ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

23 And when Jehudi had read three or four lires, he cut it with the penknife, and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth, untill all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afraide, nor rent their garments, neither the king, nor any of his servants that heard all these wordes.

25 Benethleheim, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah, had besought the king, that he would not burne the roule, but hee would not heare them.

26 But the king commanded Jerahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Adbui, to take Baruch the scribe, and Jeremiah the Prophet: but the Lord hid them.

27 Then the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah (after that the king had burnt the roule and the wordes which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremiah) saying,

28 Take thee againe another roule, and write in it all the former wordes that were in the first roule which Jehoiakim the king of Judah hath burnt.

29 And thou shalt say to Jehoiakim king of Judah, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast burnt this roule, saying, I will burne this roule, saying, that the king of Babel shall certainly come and destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast:

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord of Jehoiakim king of Judah, We shall have a none to sit upon the throne of David, and his seed body shall be cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I will visit him and his seed, and his servants for their iniquitie, and I will bring upon them, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and upon the men of Judah all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Jeremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the scribe, the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Jeremiah all the wordes of the booke which Jehoiakim king of Judah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Zedekiah succedeth Ieconiah. 3 He sendeth unto Ieremias to pray for him. 12 Ieremias going into the land of Beniamin, is taken. 15 He is beaten, and put in prison.

Now King Zedekiah the sonne of Josiah reigned for Contiah the sonne of Jehoiakim, whom Nabuchad-nezzar King of Babel made king in the lande of Judah.

2 But neither hee, nor his servants, nor the people of the land would obey the wordes of the Lord, which hee spake by the ministration of the prophet Jeremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the king sent Jehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Sephaniah the sonne of Adaijah the Butler to the Prophet Jeremiah, saying, Pray now unto the Lord our God for vs.

4 Now Jeremiah went in and out among the people; for they had not put him into the prison, m Shewing that the wicked in stead of repenting when they heare Gods judgements, grow into further malice against him and his word.

n Thus wee see the continual care that God hath enuer his, to preferre them from the rage of the wicked.

14 Then said Ieremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldians: but he would not heare him: so Iritah tooke Ieremiah, and brought him to the Princes.

21 Then Zedekiah the king commanded that they should put Ieremiah in the court of the prison, and that they should giue him dayly a peece of bread out of the Bakers street, untill all the bread in the city were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 10 At the request of Ebed melech the King commaundeth Ieremiah to be brought forth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah sheweth the King how he might escape death.

¶ Then Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pashhur, and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashhur the sonne of Malchiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, Ye that remaine in this city, shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth forth to the Caldians, shall liue: for he shall haue his life for a pray, and shall liue.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This city shall surely be giuen into the hand of the king of Babels army which shall take it.

4 Therefore the Princes sayd vnto the King, We beseech you, let this man bee put to death: for thus he shall weakeneth the hands of the men of warre that remaine in this city, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the King, said, Behold, hee is in your handes, for the King can deny you nothing.

6 Then tooke they Ieremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the son of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Ieremiah with cords: and in the dungeon there was no water but mire: so Ieremiah sticke fast in the mire.

7 Now when Ebed-melech the blacke Moore, one of the Eunuches, which was in the Kings house, heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon (then the king late in the gate of Benjamin)

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the Kings house, and spake to the king, saying,

9 O Lord the King, These men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and hee dieth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the King commaunded Ebed-melech the black Moore, saying, Take from hence thirty men with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him, and went to the house of the King vnder the treasury, and tooke thre old rotten ragges and olde woynne clothes, and let them downe by coards into the dungeon to Ieremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke Moore said vnto Ieremiah, Put now these olde rotten ragges and woynne, vnder thine arme-holes, betwene the coards. And Ieremiah did so.

and Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the king sent, and tooke Jeremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the third entry that is in the house of the Lord, and the king sayd vnto Jeremiah, I will alke thee a thing: hide nothing from mee.

15 ¶ Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slay me? and if I giue thee counsell, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the king sware secretly vnto Jeremiah, saying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs these houses, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seeke thy life.

17 ¶ Then sayd Jeremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus sayeth the Lord God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe forth vnto the king of Babels prince, then thy soule shall liue, and this citie shall not bee burnt vp with fire, and thou shalt liue, and thine house.

18 But if thou wilt not goe forth to the king of Babels princes, then shall this citie be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, & they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiah the king said vnto Jeremiah, I am careful for the Jewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, lest they deliver me into their hands, and they mocke me.

20 ¶ But Jeremiah sayd, They shall not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord, I beseech thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shall it bee well vnto thee, and thy soule shall liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to goe forth, this is the word that the Lord hath shewed me.

22 And behold, all the women that are left in the king of Iudahs house, shall bee brought forth to the king of Babels princes: and those women shall lay, Thy friends haue perwaded thee, and haue perwaded against thee: thy feete are fastened in the mire, and they are turned backe.

23 So they shall bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt bee taken by the hand of the king of Babel: and this citie shalt thou canse to bee burnt with fire.

24 ¶ Then said Zedekiah vnto Jeremiah, Let no man know of these wordes, and thou shalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou hast said vnto the king, hide it not from vs, and we will not slay thee: also what the king said vnto thee.

26 ¶ Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly besought the king that he would not cause me to returne to Ichonathans house to die there.

27 ¶ Then came all the Princes vnto Jeremiah and alked him. And hee tolde them according to all these wordes that the King had commaunded: so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not perceived.

28 So Jeremiah abode still in the court of the prison, vntill the day that Ierusalem was taken: and he was there when Ierusalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar besiegeth Ierusalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His sonnes are slaine. 7 His eyes are thrust out. 11 Jeremiah is provided for. 15 Ebed-melech is deliuered from captivity.

1 ¶ The ninth yere of Zedekiah king of Iudah, in the tenth month came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel and all his host against Ierusalem, and they besieged it.

2 And in the eleventh yere of Zedekiah, in the fourth month, the ninth day of the month, the citie was broken up.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babel came in, and late in the middle gate, euen Neragal, Sharezzer, Sangar-nebo, Saridchim, Rab-laris, Neragal, Sharezzer, Rabmag, with all the residue of the princes of the king of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the king of Iudah saw them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the citie by night, through the kings garden, and by the gate betweene the two wals, and he went toward the wilderness.

5 But the Caldeans hoste pursued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel vnto Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

6 ¶ Then the King of Babel slew the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the king of Babel slew all the nobles of Iudah.

7 Moreover, he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaines, to carry him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the Kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem.

9 ¶ Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people, that remained in the citie, and those that were sick and fallen vnto him with the rest of the people that remained.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left the poore that had nothing, in the land of Iudah, & gaue them vineyards and fields at the same time.

11 ¶ Now Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel gaue charge concerning Jeremiah & vnto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward, saying, 12 Take him, and look well to him, and doe him no harme, but doe vnto him as he shall say vnto thee.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nebuzar-ban, Rab-laris, and Neragal, Sharezzer, Rabmag, and all the king of Babels princes:

k When Ieconiah and his mother with others were caried away, these women of the kings house were left: which shall be taken, sayeth the Prophet, and tell the king of Babel how Zedekiah hath bene seduced by his familiar friends & false prophets, which haue left him in the mire. Herein appeareth the infirmity of the Prophet, who did dissemble to saue his life, albeit it was not to the denial of his doctrine, or to the hurt of any.

f Whom the king of Babel, had now appointed gouernour ouer the rest of the Iewes that he left behind.

g Thus God recompensed his zeale and fauour, which he shewed to his Prophet in his troubles.

14 Then they sent, and tooke Jeremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, that he should carry him home: so he dwelt among the people.

15 Now the word of the Lord came vnto Jeremiah, while he was shut up in the court of the prison, saying,

16 Goe and speake to Ebed-melech the blacke Ebre, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring my words vpon this citie for euill, and not for good, and they shall be accomplished in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliuer thee in that day, saith the Lord, & thou shalt not be given into the hand of the men whom thou fearest.

18 For I will surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword, but thy life shall be for a pray vnto thee, because thou shalt put thy trust in me, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

4 Jeremiah hath licence to goe whither hee will.
6 Hee dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

The word which came to Jeremiah from the Lord, after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had let him go from Ramath, when hee had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were carried away captiue of Ierusalem & Iudah, which were carried away captiue vnto Babel.

2 And the chiefe steward tooke Jeremiah, and saide vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Now the Loyde hath brought it, and done according as he hath said: because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voyces, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And now behold, I loose thee this day from the chaines which were on thine handes: if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will loose thee vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with mee into Babel, tary till: behold, all the land is before thee: whither it seemeth good, and conuenient for thee to go, thither go.

5 For yet hee was not returned: therefore hee said, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whom the king of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the citie of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe wherefoeuer it pleaseth thee to goe. So the chiefe steward gaue him vittalles and a reward, and let him goe.

6 Then went Jeremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Now when all the captiues of the host, which were in the fields, euen they and their men heard that the king of Babel had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him, men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the land that were not carried away captiue to Babel,

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan and Jonathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanchem, and the sonnes of Ehat the Ectophathite, and Jezaniah the sonne of Daa-chath, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, saide vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and serue the king of Babel, and it shall be well with you.

10 As for mee, beholde, I will dwell at Mizpah to serue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and summer fruites, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your citie that ye haue taken.

11 Likewise when all the Iewes that were in Babab, & among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countreys, heard that the king of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that hee had let ouer them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, 12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driven, and came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine and summer fruites very much.

13 Moreover, Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaynes of the host that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, 14 And said vnto him, Knowest thou not that Baalis the king of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee? but Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam beleueed them not.

15 Then Iohanan the sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me goe, I pray thee: and I will slay Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and no man shall know it. Wherefore should he kill thee, that all the Iewes which are gathered vnto thee should be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish?

16 But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam sayde vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt not doe this thing: for thou speakest falsly of Ishmael.

3 Iſhmael alſo ſlew all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the Caldians that were found there, and the men of warre.

4 Now the ſecond day that he had ſlaue Gedaliah, and no man knew it,

5 There came men from Bechem, from Sillo, and from Samaria, euen foureſcore men, hauing their beards ſhauen, and their clothes rent & cut, with offerings and incenſe in their handes to offer in the houſe of the Lord.

6 And Iſhmael the ſonne of Nerthaniah went forth from Mizpah to meete them, weeping as he went: and when he met them, he ſaid vnto them, Come to Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam.

7 And when they came into the middes of the city, Iſhmael the ſonne of Nerthaniah ſlew them, and caſt them into the middelt of the pit, hee and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them, that ſaid vnto Iſhmael, Slay vs not: for we haue treaſures in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oyle, and of hony: ſo hee ſtayed, and ſlew them not among their brethren.

9 Now the pit wherein Iſhmael had caſt the dead bodies of the men (whom hee had ſlaue becauſe of Gedaliah) is it, which Aſa the king had made, becauſe of Laſſa king of Iſrael, and Iſhmael the ſonne of Nerthaniah ſlaid it with them that were ſlaue.

10 Then Iſhmael caried away captiue all the reſidue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, to whom Nebuzaradan the chiefe ſteward had committed to Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, and Iſhmael the ſonne of Nerthaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to goe euer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the captiues of the hoſte that were with him, heard of all the euill that Iſhmael the ſonne of Nerthaniah had done, 12 Then they all tooke their men, & went to fight with Iſhmael the ſonne of Nerthaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now when all the people whom Iſhmael caried away captiue, ſaw Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the captiues of the hoſte, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Iſhmael had caried away captiue from Mizpah, returned, and came againe, and went vnto Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah.

15 But Iſhmael the ſonne of Nerthaniah eſcaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the Ammonites.

16 Then tooke Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the captiues of the hoſte, that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Iſhmael the ſonne of Nerthaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that hee had ſlaue Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam) euen the ſtrong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom he had brought againe from Gibeon:

17 And they departed and dwelt in Geruſalem, which is by Beth-lehem, to go and to enter into Egypt, 18 Becauſe of the Caldians: for they feared them, becauſe Iſhmael the ſonne of Nerthaniah had ſlaue Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, whom the king of Babel made gouernour in the land.

2 And ſaid vnto Jeremiah the Prophet, We heare our prayer, we beleeue thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left but a fewe of many, as thine eyes doe behold.)

3 That the Lord thy God may ſhew vs the way wherein we may walke, and the thing that we may doe.

4 Then Jeremiah the Prophet ſaid vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I will pray vnto the Lord your God, according to your words, and whatſoeuer thing the Lord ſhall anſwere you, I will declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you.

5 Then they layde to Jeremiah, The Lord be a witneſſe of truth, and ſayth be- fore us, if we do not euen according to all things, for the which the Lord thy God ſhall ſend thee to vs.

6 Whether it be good or euill, we wil obey the voice of the Lord God, to whom we ſent thee, that it may be wel with vs, when we obey the voice of the Lord our God.

7 And in after ſome dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremiah.

8 Then ſaid, Doe Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the captiues of the hoſte, which were with him, and all the people from the leaſt to the moſt,

9 And ſayd vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, vnto whom ye ſent mee to preſent your prayers before him.

10 If ye will dwell in this land, then I wil build you, and not deſtroy you, and I wil plant you, and not roote you out: for I repent me of the euill that I haue done vnto you.

11 Feare not for the king of Babel, of whom ye are afraid: be not afraid of him, ſaith the Lord: for I am with you to ſaue you, and to deliuer you from his hand.

12 And I will grant you mercy, that hee may haue compaſſion vpon you, and hee ſhall caule you to dwell in your owne land.

13 But if ye ſay, Wee will not dwell in this land, neither heare the voice of the Lord

4 Ebr. let our prayer fall before thee, as Chap. 36. 7.

a This declareth the nature of hypocrites, which would know of Gods word what they ſhould doe, but will not follow it, but in as much as it agreeeth with that thing which they haue purpoſed to doe.

b There are none more ready to abuſe the Name of God, and take it in vaine, then the hypocrites, which to colour their falſhood, vie it without all reverence, and make it a means for them to deſcend the ſimple and the godly.

h For Baalis the king of the Ammonites was the cauſe of this murder.

n This declareth an horrible plague toward idolaters, seeing that God will not vouchsafe to have his name mentioned by such as have polluted it.

o We see therefore that God hath a perpetual care over his, whosoever they are scattered: for though they be but two or three yet he will deliver them when hee destroyeth his enemies.

p He sheweth the means whereby they should be destroyed, to assure them of the certainty of the plague, & yet they remaine still in their obstinacie till they perish: for Iosephus lib. 10 de Ant cap. 11 writeth, that five yere after the taking of Ierusalem, Nebuchad-nezzar the younger, having overcome the Moabites & the Ammonites, went against Egypt, and slew the king, and so brought the Jewes, and other into Babylon.

shall no more be called upon by the mouth of any man of Judah, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liveth.

27 Beholde, I will watch over them for evil and not for good, and all men of Judah that are in the land of Egypt, shall be consumed by the sword, and by the famine, untill they be utterly destroyed.

28 Yet a small number that escape the sword, shall remaine out of the land of Egypt into the land of Judah; and all the remnant of Judah that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall know whose words shall stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shall be a signe unto you, saith the Lord, when I write you in this place, that ye may know that my words shall surely stand, and not fail you for nill.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will give Pharaoh Nophra king of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seek his life: as I gave Zedekiah king of Judah into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel his enemy, who also sought his life.

2 Jeremiah comforteth Baruch, assuring him that hee should not perish in the destruction of Ierusalem.

I take unto me Baruch the scribe of Jeremiah, when he had written these wordes in a booke at the mouth of Jeremiah in the fourth yere of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Judah, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel unto thee, O Baruch,

3 Thou diddest say, What is me now: for the Lord hath layd sorow unto my sorow: I am faint in my mourning, and I can finde no rest.

4 Thus shalt thou say unto him, The Lord saith thus, Beholde, that which I have built, will I destroy, and that which I have planted, will I plucke up, even this whole land.

5 And seekest thou great things for thy selfe: seeke thou not: for behold, I will bring a plague upon all flesh, which the Lord: but thy life will I give thee for a prey in all places, whither thou goest.

6 Thinkest thou to have honour and credit? wherein he sheweth his infirmities. f. Reade Cha. 21.

2 Hee prophesieth the destruction of Egypt. 27 Deliverance is promised to Israel.

The wordes of the Lord, which came to Jeremiah the Prophet against the Genti-

2 As against Egypt, against the armie of Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, which was by the river Berach in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel smote in the fourth yere of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Judah.

3 Make ready buckler and shield, and goe forth to battell.

4 Make ready the horses, and let the horsemen get up, and stand up with your sallets. gird with the speares, and put on the brigandines.

5 Wherefore have I seene them afraid, and driven backe? for their mighty men are faint, and are fled away. & looke not backe: for feare was round about, with the Lord.

6 The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble and fall toward the North by the river Berach.

7 What is this, that cometh up as a flood, whose waters are mooued like the rivers?

8 Egypt riseth by like the flood, and his waters are mooued like the rivers, and hee saith, I will goe up, and will cover the earth: I will destroy the citie with them that dwell therein.

9 Come up, yee horses, and rage yee charrers, and let the valiant men come forth, the blacke Horses, and the Libyans that beare the shield, and the Egyptians that handle and bend the bow.

10 For this is the day of the Lord God of hostes, and a day of vengeance, that hee may avenge him of his enemies: for the Lord shall devoure, and it shall be satiate, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lord God of hostes hath a sacrifice in the North country by the river Berach.

11 Goe by unto Gilead, and take balme Dibragin, the daughter of Egypt: in vaine shalt thou use many medicines: for thou shalt have no health.

12 The nations have heard of thy shame, and thy cry hath filled the land: for the strong hath stumbled against the strong, and they are fallen both together.

13 O The word that the Lord spake to Jeremiah the Prophet, how Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel should come and smite the land of Egypt.

14 Publish in Egypt, and declare in Migdol, and proclaim in Moph, and in Tahpanhes, and say, Stand still, and prepare thee: for the word shall devoure round about thee.

15 Why are thy valiant men put backe? they could not stand, because the Lord did drine them.

16 He made many to fall, & one fell upon another: and they said, Arise, let us goe & fight to our owne people, and to the land of our nativity from the sword of the violent.

17 They did cry there, Pharaoh king of Egypt, and of a great multitude hath passed the time appointed.

18 As I live, saith the King, whose name is the Lord of hostes, Surely as Tabor is in the mountaines, and as Carmel is in the sea, so shall it come.

19 O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, make thee geare to goe into captivitie: for Moph shall be waste and desolate, without an inhabitant.

To wit, that the Egyptians shall be destroyed.

c Hee warneth the Egyptians to prepare themselves to warre.

d The Prophet had this vision of the Egyptians, which should be put to flight by the Babylonians at Carchemish.

e The Babylonians shall discomfite them at the river Euphrates.

f Hee denieth the boasting of the Egyptians, who thought by their riches and power to have overcome all the world, alluding to the river Nilus, which at certain times overfloweth the country of Egypt.

g For these nations took part with the Egyptians.

o Hee denieth them which shall impute their overthrow to lacke of counsel and policie, or to fortune, and not observing of time, not considering that it is Gods iust iudgement.

q They haue abundance of all things, & therefore are disordered and proud.

r As verse 9. f They shall be scarce able to speake for feare of the Caldeans.

t Meaning, Egypt.

u That is, they shall slay the great & mighty men of power.

23. Ezek. 29. 13. a God comforteth all his that were in captivity, but specially the small Church of the Iewes, whereof were Jeremiah and Baruch, which remained among the Egyptians: for the Lord neuer forsaketh his, Isa. 44. 2. chap. 30. 10. b Reade Chap. 10. 24.

20 Egypt is like a faire calfe, but destruction cometh: out of the North it cometh.

21 Also her hired men are in the mids of her like fat calves: they are also turned back and fledde away together: they could not stand because the day of their destruction was come vpon them, and the time of their visitation.

22 The hope thereof shall go forth like a serpent: for they shall march with an army, and come against her with axes, as hewers of wood.

23 They shall cut downe her forest, saith the Lord: for they cannot be counted, because they are more then the grasshoppers, and are innumerable.

24 The daughter of Egypt shall be confounded: she shall be deliuered into the hands of the people of the North.

25 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will visit the common people of No, and Pharaoh, a Egypt, with their gods, and their kings, euen Pharaoh, and all them that trust in him.

26 And I will deliuer them into the hands of those that seke their times, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel: and into the hands of his seruants, and afterward shall dwell as in the olde time, saith the Lord.

27 But feare not thou, O my seruant Iakob, and be not thou afraid, O Israel: for behold, I will deliuer thee from a faire countrey, and thy seede from the land of their captivity, and Iakob shall retorne and be in rest and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid.

28 Feare thou not, O Iakob my seruant, saith the Lord: for I am with thee, & I will utterly destroy all the nations, whither I haue driven thee: but I will not utterly destroy thee, but correct thee by iudgement, and not utterly cut thee off.

CHAP. XLVII.

The word of the Lord against the Philistims.

The words of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the Prophet against the Philistims, before that Pharaoh smote Azzah.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, waters rise vp out of the North, and shall be as a swelling flood, and shall ouerflow the land, and all that is therein, and the cities with them that dwell therein: then the men shall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howle.

3 At the noise and stamping of the hofes of his strong horses, at the noise of his charrets, and at the rumbling of his wheles: the fathers shall not looke backe to their children, for feeblenesse of hands.

4 Because of the day that cometh to destroy all the Philistims, & to destroy Tyus and Zidon, and all the rest that take their part: for the Lord will destroy the Philistims, the remnant of the isle of Caphtor.

5 He sheweth that God would punish the Caldeans, if they did not destroy the Egyptians, and that with a courage, and calleth this executing of his vengeance against his enemies, his worke: though the Caldeans fought an other end, Isa. 10. 12. Or, deservingly. Hath not bene removed as the Iewes haue, but haue liued at ease, and as a wine that feedeth it selfe on his lees,

5 Baldness is come vpon Azzah: Ashkelon is cut vp with the rest of their valleys. how long wilt thou cut thy selfe?

6 Thou sword of the Lord, how long wilt it be: thou cease, turne againe into thy scabbard, rest and be still.

7 How can it cease, seeing the Lord hath giuen it a charge against Ashkelon, and against the sea banke: euen there hath he appointed it.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The words of the Lord against the Moabitites, because of their pride and cruelties.

Concerning Moab, thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Moab vnto Mebo: for it is wasted: Kiriahtaim is confounded and taken: Hilgab is confounded and afraid.

2 Moab shall boast no more of Dibson: for they haue deuiled euil against it. Come, and let vs destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also, thou shalt be destroyed, O Moabmen, and the sword shall pursue thee.

3 A voice of crying shall be from Mozonaim with desolation and great destruction.

4 Moab is destroyed: her little ones haue tailed their cry to be heard.

5 For at the going vp of Luhith, the mourner shall goe vp with weeping: for in the going downe of Mozonaim, the enemies haue heard a cry of destruction.

6 See and saue your lines, and belike vnto the beach in the wilderness.

7 For because thou hast trusted in thy works and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken, and Chemosh shall goe forth into captivity with his Priests and his Princes together.

8 And the destroyer shall come vpon all cities, and no city shall escape: the valley also shall perish, and the plaine shall be destroyed as the Lord hath spoken.

9 Nine wings vnto Moab, that it may see and get away: for the cities thereof shall be desolate, without any to dwell therein.

10 Curled be he that doth the worke of the Lord negligently, and curled be he that keepeth backe his sword from blood.

11 Moab hath bin at rest from his yongth, and he hath settled on his lees, and hath not bene pawed from himselfe to vessels, neither hath he gone into captivity: therefore his taste remained in him, and his sent is not changed.

12 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will send vnto him such as shall carry him away, and shall empty his vessels, and breake their bottles.

h He sheweth that God would punish the Caldeans, if they did not destroy the Egyptians, and that with a courage, and calleth this executing of his vengeance against his enemies, his worke: though the Caldeans fought an other end, Isa. 10. 12. Or, deservingly. Hath not bene removed as the Iewes haue, but haue liued at ease, and as a wine that feedeth it selfe on his lees, 13 And Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of Beth-el their confidence.

k As the calfe of Bethel was not able to deliuer the Israelites: no more shall Chemosh deliuer the Moabites.
 ‡ Ebr. gone up, or destroyed.

l How are they deliroyed that put their trust in their strength and riches.

m Thus they that see shall answere.

n That is, his power and strength.

o He willed the Caldeans to lay afflictions ynow upon them, til they bee like drunk men that fall downe to their shame, and are derided of all.

p Or, halbe full, or clap his hands.

q He shall not execute his malice against his neighbours.

r Reade Isa. 1. 6, 7.

s Which city was in the vermost border of Moab: and hereby he signifieth that the whole land should bee destroyed, and he people caried away.

14 How thinke you thus, We are mighty and strong men of warre?

15 Moab is destroyed & his cities burnt vp, and his chosen young men are gone down to slaughter, saith the King, whose name is, The Lord of hostes.

16 The destruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plague hasteth fast.

17 All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that know his name, say, How is the strong staffe broken, and the beautiful rod!

18 Thou daughter that doest inhabite Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and sit in thirt: for the destroyer of Moab shall come vp vpon thee, and he shall destroy thy strong holds.

19 Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, and behold: alse him that fleeth and that escapeth, and say, What is done?

20 Moab is confounded: for it is destroyed: howle, and cry, tell yet in Arnon, that Moab is made wyle.

21 And iudgement is come vpon the plaine countrey, vpon Holon, and vpon Jahazah, and vpon Ephraath, 22 And vpon Dibon, and vpon Mebo, and vpon the house of Diblathaim, 23 And vpon Kiriaethaim, & vpon Beth-ganul, and vpon Beth-meon,

24 And vpon Kerioth, and vpon Bozrah, and vpon all the cities of the land of Moab faire or nere.

25 The horn of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, saith the Lord.

26 Make ye him drunk: for he magnified himselfe against the Lord: Moab shall wallow in his vomite, and he also shall be in derision.

27 For didst not thou deride Israel, as though he had bene found among theues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art remoued.

28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rocks, and bee like the done that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.

29 Wee haue heard the pride of Moab (he is exceeding proud) his stoutnesse, and his arrogancie and his pride, and the haughtinesse of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, saith the Lord, & but it shall not be so: and his dissimulations, for they doe not right.

31 Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab: mine heart shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weep for thee as I wept for Bazer: thy planters are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea of Sazer: the destroyer is fallen vpon thy summer fruits, and vpon thy vintage.

33 And tow and glaucesse is taken from the plentiful field, and from the land of Moab: & I haue caused wine to faile from the wine presse: none shall tread with shouting: their shouting shall be no shouting.

34 From the cry of Heshbon vnto Eleh and vnto Jahaz haue they made their noyse: from Zoar vnto Uzonaim, the beifer of three yeere of de shal ge lowing: for the waters also of Minnim shall be waisted.

25 Moreover, I will come to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offereth in the his places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

26 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like a shawme, and mine heart shall sound like a shawme for the men of Kir-heres, because the riches that he hath gotten, is perished.

27 For euery head shall be bald, and euery head plucked: vpon all the handes shall be cuttings, and vpon the loynes sackcloth.

28 And mourning shall bee vpon all the house tops of Moab, and in all the streets thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessel where in is no pleasure, saith the Lord.

29 They shall howle, saying, How is hee destroyed? how hath Moab turned the backe with shame? so shall Moab be a derision and a scare to all them about him.

30 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, he shall flee as an Eagle, and shall spread his wings ouer Moab.

31 The cities are taken, and the strong holds are womne, & the mighty mens hearts in Moab at that day, shall be as the heart of a woman in trauaile.

32 And Moab shall be destroyed from being a people, because hee hath set vp himselfe against the Lord.

33 For feare, and pit and snare shall be vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.

34 Bee that escapeth from the feare, shall fall in the pit, and he that getteth vp out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring vpon it, euen vpon Moab, the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

35 They that fled, stood under the shadow of Heshbon, because of the force: for a fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the seditions children.

36 Woe be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of Chemosh perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken captiues, and thy daughters ledde into captiuitie.

37 Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the latter dayes, saith the Lord. Thus saith the Lord of the iudgement of Moab.

CHAP. L.

Her prophetes the destruction of Babylon, and the deliurance of Israel, which was in captiuitie.

The word that the Lord spake concerning Babel, and concerning the land of the Caldeans, by the ministry of Ieremiah the Propheet,

2 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and let by a standart, proclaim it and conceal it not: say, Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, Merodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in pices.

3 For out of the North there cometh by a nation against her, which shall make her land waste, and none shall dwell therein: they shall flee and depart, both man & beast.

4 In those dayes, and at that time, sayth the Lord, the children of Israel shall come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and weeping shall they go, and seeke the Lord their God.

5 They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetuall covenante that shall not be forgotten.

6 My people hath bene as lost sheepe: their shepheards haue caused them to goe astray, and haue turned them away to the mountaines: they haue gone from a mountaine to hill, and forgotten their resting place.

7 All that found them, haue deuoured them: their enemies said, We offend not because they haue sinned against the Lord, the habitation of iustice, even the Lord the hope of their fathers.

8 I flew from the midst of Babel, and departed out of the land of the Caldeans, and be ye as the hee goats before the flocke.

9 For loe, I will raise, and cause to come by against Babel a multitude of mighty nations from the North countrey, and they shall set themselves in aray against her, whereby she shall be taken: their arrows shall be as of a strong man which is expert, for none shall returne in vaine.

10 And Caldea shall be a spoile: all that spoile her, shall bee satisfied, sayeth the Lord.
11 Because ye were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, and because ye are grown fat, as the calves in the graske, and neyed like strong horses.

12 Therefore your mother shall be sore confounded, and shee that bare you shall bee ashamed: behold, the vttermoost of the nations shall be a desert, a dry land and a wilderness.

13 Because of the wrath of the Lord, it shall not be inhabited, but shall be wholly desolate: euery one that goeth by Babel, shall be astonied, and shall aske at all her plagues.

14 But your felies in aray against Babel round about: all ye that bend the bow, shote at her, spare no arrows: for she hath sinned against the Lord.

15 Crie against her round about: shee hath giuen her hand: her foundations are fallen, and her wallies are destroyed: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as shee hath done, doe vnto her.

16 Destroy her tower from Babel, and bin that handleth the sicke in the time of haruett: because of the sword of the opposer they shall turne euery one to his people, and they shall flee euery one to his owne land.

17 Israel is like scattered sheepe: the Lyons haue dispersed them: first the king of Asshur hath deuoured him, and last this Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath broken his bones.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will visite the king of Babel and his land, as I haue visited the king of Asshur.

19 And I will bring Israel againe to his habitation: he shall feed on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shall be satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilcad.

20 In those dayes, and at that time, sayth the Lord, the inquitie of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall be none: and the finnes of Iudah, and they shall not be found: for I will be mercifull vnto them, whom I reuerie.

21 Goe vp against the land of the rebeles, even against it, and against the inhabitants of it: Pekod: destroy, and lay it waste after them, sayeth the Lord, and doe according to all that I haue commanded thee.

22 A cry of battell is in the land, and of great destruction.

23 How is the hammer of the whole world destroyed and broken: how is Babel become desolate among the nations!

k That is, most forward, and without feare, l Shall be made rich thereby.

24 I haue snared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striven against the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord God of hosts in the land of the Caldeans.

26 Come against her * from the utmost border: open her storehouses: tread on her as on sheaves, and destroy her utterly: let nothing of her be left.

27 Destroy all her * bullockes: let them go downe to the slaughter. Woe vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation.

29 Call vp the archers against Babel: all ye that bend the bow, besiege it round about: let none thereof escape: * recompense her according to her worke, and according to all that she hath done, doe vnto her: for she hath bene proud against the Lord, euen against the holy one of Israel.

30 Therefore shall her young men fall in the streets, and all her men of warre shall be destroyed in that day, saith the Lord.

31 Behold, I come vnto thee, O proud man, saith the Lord God of hosts: for thy day is come, euen the time that I will visite thee.

32 And the proud shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him vp: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall deuoure all round about him.

33 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The children of Israel, and the children of Iudah were oppressed together: and all that tooke them captiues, held them, and would not let them goe.

34 But their strong Redeemer, whose Name is the Lord of hostes, hee shall maintaine their cause, that he may giue rest to the land, * and disquiet the inhabitants of Babel.

35 A sword is vpon the Caldeans, saith the Lord, and vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vpon her princes, and vpon her wise men, 36 A sword is vpon the * slayers, and they shall dote: a sword is vpon her strong men, and they shall be afraid.

37 A sword is vpon their horses, and vpon their chariots, * vpon all the multitude that are in the mids of her, and they shall be like women: a sword is vpon her treasures, and they shall be spoiled.

38 A * drought is vpon her waters, and they shall be dried vp: for it is the land of graven images, and they dote vpon their idols.

39 Therefore the * Zims with the Zims, shall dwell there, * the * forriches shall dwell therein: for it shall be no more inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation to generation.

40 As God destroyed * Sodom and Gomorrah with the places thereof nere about, saith the Lord: so shall no man dwell there, neither shall the sonne of man remaine therein.

41 Beholde, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation, and many Kings shall be raised vp from the * coasts of the earth.

42 They shall hold the bow and the buckler: they are cruell and vniuersall: their voyce shall roare like the Sea, and they shall ride vpon horses, and be put in aray like men to the battell against thee, O daughter of Babel.

43 The king of Babel hath heard the report of them, and his hands * ward feeble: sorrow came vpon him, euen sorrow as of a woman in trauaile.

44 Behold, hee * shall come by like a lion from the swelling of Jordan vnto the strong habitation: for I will make Israel to rest, and I will make them to haue away from her: and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like me, and who will appoint me the time? and who is the * shepheard that will stand before me?

45 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that hee hath deuised against Babel, and his purpose that hee hath conceived against the land of the Caldeans: surely the least of the flocke shall draw them out: surely he shall make their habitation desolate with them.

46 At the noyse of the twining of Babel the earth is moued, and the cry is heard among the nations.

CHAP. LI.

6 Why Babylon is destroyed, 41 The vaine confidence of the Babylonians, 43 The vanity of idolaters. 59 Teruah giueth his booke to Sheraiah.

Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will raise vp against Babel, and against the inhabitants * that lift vp their heart against me, a destroying * wind,

2 And will send vnto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, * shall empyre her land: for in the day of trouble they shall be against her on every side.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bow, and to him that lieth himseife vp in his brigandine, wil I say, Spare not her young men, but destroy all her host.

4 Thus the flame shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, * they that are thrust through in her streets.

5 For Israel hath bene no * widow, nor Iudah for his God, from the Lord of hosts, though their land was filled with sinne against the holy one of Israel.

6 * I flee out of the mids of Babel, and deliuer euery man his soule: he is not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lords vengeance: he will render vnto her a recompence.

7 Babel hath bene as a golden cup in the * Lords hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunke of her wine, therefore doe the nations * rage,

10 The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrows: gather the shields: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the King of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set vp the standard vpon the walles of Babel, make the watch strong: set vp the watchmen: prepare the skoutes: for the Lord hath both deuiled, and done that which he spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwellest vpon many waters, abundant in treasures, thine ende is come, even the end of thy conetousnesse.

15 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

16 He giveth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the cloudes to ascend from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures.

17 Every man is a beast by his owne knowledge: every founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein.

18 They are vanity, and the worke of errors: in the tyme of their visitation they shall perish.

19 The portion of Iakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his Name.

20 Thou art mine hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I destroy kingdomes.

21 And by thee will I breake horse and horseman, and by thee will I breake the charret, and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee also will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake olde and young, and by thee will I breake the young man, and the mayd.

23 I will also breake by thee the shepheard and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the husbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the Dukes and Princes.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans, all their euil, that they haue done in Zion, even in your sight, saith the Lord.

25 Behold, I come vnto thee, O destroying mountaine, saith the Lord, which I have destroyed all the earth: and I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and rolle thee downe from the rocks, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.

26 They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations, but thou shalt bee destroyed for ever, saith the Lord.

27 Set vp a standard in the land: blow the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call vp the Kingdomes of Ararat, Minni, and Aschenaz against her: appoint the prince against her: cause hostes to come vp as the rough caterpillars.

28 Prepare against her the nations which the Kings of the Medes, the Dukes thereof, and the Princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land shall tremble and sorrow: for the deuice of the Lord shall be performed against Babel, to make the land of Babel waste without an inhabitant.

30 The strong men of Babel haue ceased to fight, they haue remained in their holdes: their strength hath failed, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken.

31 A poste shall runne to meet the poste, and a messenger to meete the messenger, to shew the king of Babel, that his city is taken on a fide thereof.

32 And that the passages are stopped, and the reides burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

33 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, The daughter of Babel is like a thredling floure: the tyme of her threding is come: yet a little while, and the tyme of her harvest shall come.

34 Nabuchad-nezzar the king of Babel hath deuoured mee, and destroyed mee: he hath made me an empty vessell: he swallowed me vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath cast me out.

35 The spoile of me, and that which was left of me, is brought vnto Babel, saith the inhabitant of Zion say: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldea, saith Ierusalem say.

36 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will maintain thee thy cause, and take vengeance for thee, and I will dye by the sea, and die by her springs.

37 And Babel shall be as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an hissing, and without an inhabitant.

38 They shall roare together like Lyons, and yell as the Lyons whelpes.

39 In their heate I will make them feare, and I will make them drunken that they may sleepe, and sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, saith the Lord.

40 I will bring them downe like lambs to the slaughter, and like rammes and goates.

46 Lett your heart euen faint, & ye feare the rumor that ſhall be heard in the land: the rumor ſhall come this yere, and after that in the other yere ſhall come a rumor, and crueltie in the land, and ruler againſt ruler.

47 Therefore behold, the dayes come, that I will viſite the images of Babel, and the whole land ſhall be confounded, and all her ſtaine ſhall fall in the mids of her.

48 Then the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, ſhall reioyce for Babel: for the deſtroyers ſhall come vnto her from the North, ſaith the Lord.

49 As Babel cauſed the ſhame of Iſrael to fall, ſo by Babel the ſhame of all the earth did fall.

50 Ye that haue eſcaped the ſword, goe away, ſtand not ſtill: remember the Lord a ſtarre off, and let Ieruſalem come into your mind.

51 We are ſo confounded becauſe we haue heard reproch: ſhame hath covered our faces, for ſtrangers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lords houſe.

52 Wherefore behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that I will viſite her grauen images, and through all her land the wounded ſhall grone.

53 Though Babel ſhould mount vp to ſheauen, and though he ſhould defend her ſtrength on high, yet from me ſhall her deſtroyers come, ſaith the Lord.

54 A ſound of a cry cometh from Babel, and great deſtruction from the land of the Caldeans.

55 Becauſe the Lord hath laid Babel waite, & deſtroyed from her the great voyce, and her waues ſhall roare like great waters, and a ſound was made by their noiſe.

56 Becauſe the deſtroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babel, and her ſtrong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenteth, ſhall ſurely recompence.

57 And I will make drunke her Princes, and her wife men, her dukes and her nobles, and her ſtrong men: and they ſhall ſleepe aſleep, and not wake, ſaith the Lord, whole name is the Lord of hoſtes.

58 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, The thicke wal of Babel ſhall be broken, and her high gates ſhall be burſt with fire, and the people ſhall labour in vaine, and the ſolke in the fire, for they ſhall be weare.

ritah, the ſonne of ſheraiah, when he went with ſedeiah the king of Iudah into Babel, in the fourth yere of his reigne: and this ſheraiah was a peacefull prince.

60 So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the euill that ſhould come vpon Babel: euen all theſe things that are written againſt Babel.

61 And Ieremiah ſaid to ſheraiah, When thou commiſt vnto Babel and ſhalt ſee, and ſhalt reade all theſe wordes, 62 Then ſhalt thou ſay, O Lord, thou haſt ſpoken againſt this place to deſtroy it, that none ſhould remaine in it, neither man nor beaſt, but that it ſhould be deſolate for euer.

63 And when thou haſt made an ende of readeing this booke, thou ſhalt binde a ſtone to it, and caſt it in the midſt of Euphrates, 64 And ſhalt ſay, Thus ſhall Babel be drowned and ſhall not riſe from the euill, that I will bring vpon her, & they ſhall be weare. Thus ſaith the wordes of Ieremiah.

CHAP. LIJ.

4 Ieruſalem is taken. 10 Zedeiah ſonnes are killed before his face, and his eyes put out. 13 The citie is burned. 31 Iehuſchin wrought ſcorth of priſon and ſed like a King.

Zedeiah was one and twentie yere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleven yeres in Ieruſalem, and his mothers name was Iehuſchin, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did euill in the eyes of the Lord according to all that Iehoiakim had done.

3 Doubtleſſe becauſe the wrath of the Lord was againſt Ieruſalem and Iudah, till he had cau them out from his preſence, therefore Zedeiah rebelled againſt the king of Babel.

4 But in the ninth yere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth, the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchad nezzar king of Babel, he and all his hoſt againſt Ieruſalem, and pitched againſt it, and built ſozes againſt it round about.

5 So the citie was beſieged vnto the eleuenth yere of the king Zedeiah.

6 Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was ſore in the citie, ſo that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the citie was broken vp, and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the way of the gate betwene the two walles, which was by the kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the citie round about) and they went by the way of the wildeſſe.

8 But the army of the Caldeans purſued after the king, and toke Zedeiah in the deſert of Iericho, and all his hoſt was ſcattered from him.

9 Then they toke the king, and carped him by vnto the king of Babel to Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

10 And the king of Babel ſlew the ſonnes of Zedeiah before his eyes: he ſlew alſo all the princes of Iudah in Riblah.

and the king of Babel bound him in chaines and carried him to Babel, and put him in pri-

12 Now in the fifth moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yeere of the King Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) came Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward which stood before the king of Babel in Jerusalem.

13 And burnt the house of the Lord, & the Kings house, & all the houses of Jerusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

14 And all the army of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe all the walles of Jerusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, and the residue of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were, fled, & fallen to the king of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left certaine of the poore of the land, to dress the vines, and to till the land.

17 Also the pillars of brasse that were in the house of the Lord, and the bales, & the braken sea that was in the house of the Lord, the Caldeans brake, and caried all the brasse of them to Babel.

18 The pots also and the besoms, and the instruments of musicke, and the basins, & the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasse wherewith they ministered, toke they away.

19 And the bowels, and the ashpans, and the basins, and the pots, & the candlestickes, and the incense dishes, and the cups, and all that was of gold, & that was of silver, toke the chiefe steward away.

20 Also the two pillars, one Sea, and twelve braken bails, that were vnder the bases, which King Salomon had made in the house of the Lord: the brasse of all these vessels was without weight.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eightene cubites, and a third of twelue cubits did compass it, and the thicknes thereof was foure fingers: it was hollow.

22 And a chapter of brasse was vpon it:
and the height of one chapter was five cu-bites with networke, and pomegranates vpon the chapters round about, all of brasse, the second pillar also, and the pomegranates were like vnto these.

23 And there wereninety and sixe pomegranates on a side: and all the pomegranates vpon the net worke were an hundred round about.

24 And the chiefe steward toke Sheraiah the chiefe Priest, and Sephaniah the second Priest, and the three keepers of the doore.

25 He toke also out of the citie an eunuch which had the oversight of the men of warre and seven men that were in the Kings presence which were found in the citie, and Sapher captaine of the host who mustered the people of the land, and threescore men of the people of the land, that were found in the mids of the citie.

26 Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward toke them, and brought them to the King of Babel to Riblah.

27 And the King of Babel smote them and slew them in Riblah, in the land of Ba-math: thus Iudah was caried away captiue out of his owne land.

28 ¶ This is the people, whom Nebuchad-nezzar caried away captiue in the seuenth yeere, even three thousand Iewes and three and twenty.

29 In the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchadnezzar he carted away captiue from Jerusalem eight hundred thirty and two persons.

30 In the three and twentieth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue of the Iewes seuen hundred forty and foue persons: all the persons were foure thousand and six hundred.

31 And in the seuen and thirtieth yeere of tieth day of the moneth, Evil-merodach King of Babel in the first yeere of his reigne, lo-

CHAP. I.

1 The Prophet bewaileth the miserable estate of gin euery verse according to the letters of the Hebrew Alphabet. The third hath three verses for euery letter, and the fourth in as the first.

5 Her aduerſaries are the chiefe, and her enemies proſper: for the Lord hath afflicted her for the multitude of her tranſgreſſions, and her children are gone into captiuitie before the enemy.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed: her Princes are become ¶ like harts that find no paſture: and they are gone without ſtrength before the pursuer.

7 Jeruſalem remembered the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleaſant things that ſhee had in times paſt, when her people ¶ fell into the hand of the enemy, and none did helpe her: the aduerſaries ſaw her, and did mocke at her ¶ Sabmembered not her laſt end, therefore ſhe came downe wonderfully: ſhe had no comforter:

O Lord, behold mine affliction: for the ene-mie ¶ is proud.

10 The enemy hath ſtretched out his hand vpon all her pleaſant things: for ſhee hath ſeene the heathen enter into her Sanctuary, whom ¶ thou didſt command, that they ſhould not enter into thy Church.

11 Al her people ſigh and ſeek their bread:
they haue giuen their pleaſant things for meat to reſreſh the ſoule: ſer, O Lord, and conſider: for I am become vile.

12 Haue ye no regard, all ye that paſſe by this way: chold, and ſer, if there be any ¶ ſor-row like vnto my ſorrow, which is done vnto me, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath.

13 From aboue hath ¶ he ſent fire into my boner, which preuaileth againſt them: hee hath ſpied a net for my feet, and turned me backe: hee hath made me deſolate, and daſt in heauineſſe.

14 The ¶ yoke of my tranſgreſſions is bound vpon his hand: they are wrappes, and come vp vpon my necke, hee hath made my ſtrength to fall: the Lord hath deliuered me into their hands, neither am I able to riſe vp.

15 The Lord hath troden vnder ſote all my valiant men in the mids of me: he hath called an aſſembly againſt me to deſtroy my young men: the Lord hath troden ¶ the wine preſſe vpon the virgin the daughter of Judah.

16 ¶ For theſe things I weep: mine eye, euen mine eye caſteth out water, becauſe the Comforter that ſhould reſreſh my ſoule, is farre from me: my children are deſolate, becauſe the enemy ¶ preuaileth.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelleſt againſt his ¶ commandment: heare,
I pray you all people, and behold my ſorrows:
my virgins and my yong men are gone into captiuitie.

19 I called for my louers, but they deci-tued me: my Diſcipls and mine Elders periſhed in the citie, while they ¶ ſought their meat to reſreſh their ſoules.

20 Behold, O Lord, how I am troubled my bowels ¶ ſwell: mine heart is turned within me: for I am full of heauineſſe:
the ſword ¶ ſpoyleth abroad, as death doeth at home.

21 They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort mee: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou haſt done it: thou wilt bring the day that thou haſt ¶ promoued, and they ſhal be like vnto me.

thee: ¶ Doe vnto them, as thou haſt done vnto me, for all my tranſgreſſions: for my ſighs are many, and mine heart is heauie.

C H A P. I I.

H ow hath the Lord ¶ darkened y daughter of Zion in his wrath: and hath caſt downe from ¶ heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Iſrael, and remembered not his ¶ footſtoole in the day of his wrath!

2 The Lord hath deſtroyed all the habitations of Iaakob, and not ſpared: he hath thruwen downe in his wrath the ſtrong holds of the daughter of Iudah: he hath caſt them downe to the ground: he hath polluted the kingdom and the princes thereof.

3 Hee hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the ¶ hope of Iſrael: he hath drawen backe his ¶ right hand from before the enemy, and there was kindled in Iaakob like a flame of fire, which deuoured round about.

4 Hee hath ¶ bent his bowle like an ene-mie: his right hand was ſtretched vp as an aduerſarie, and ſlew all that was pleaſant to the eye in the Tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fire.

5 The Lord was as an enemy: he hath deuoured Iſrael, and conſumed all his palaces: he hath deſtroyed his ſtrong holds, and hath increaſed in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and in ¶ turning.

6 For he hath deſtroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden he hath deſtroyed his congregation: the Lord hath cauſed the ſtalles and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath deſpiſed in the indignation of his wrath the King and the Prielt.

7 The Lord hath forſaken his altar: he hath abhorred his Sanctuary: he hath gi-uen into the hand of the enemy the wailes of her palaces: they haue made a noiſe in the houſe of the Lord, as in the day of ſolci-niſtie.

8 The Lord hath determined to deſtroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: hee ſtretched out a line: he hath not withdrawen his hand from deſtroying: therefore hee made crying.

h This is a figurative speech, as that was when he said the wayes did lament, chap. 1.4. meaning, that this sorow was so great, that the insensible things had their part thereof.

the rampart and the wall to lament: they were destroyed together.

9 Her gates are sunke to the ground: her hach destroyed and broken her barres: her king and her Princes are among the Gentiles: the lawe is no more, neither can her Prophets receiue any vision from the Lord.

10 The elders of the daughter of Zion sit vpon the ground, and keepe silence: they haue cast by dust vpon their heades: they haue girded themselves with sackcloth: the virgins of Ierusalem hang down their heads to the ground.

11 Mine eyes doe faile with teares: my bowels swell: my liver is powred vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and sucklings I sawe in the streets of the citie.

12 They haue sayd to their mothers, Where is $\frac{1}{2}$ bread and drinke? when they swooned, as the wounded in the streets of the citie, and when they $\frac{1}{2}$ gaue by the ghost in their mothers bosome.

13 What thing shall I take to witnesse for thee? What thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter Ierusalem? what shall I liken to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgin daughter Zion? for thy breach is great like the sea: who can heale thee?

14 The Prophets haue looked out vaine and foolish things for thee, and they haue not discerned thine iniquitie, to turne away thy captiuitie, but haue looked out for thee false prophecies, and causes of banishment.

15 All that passe by the way, clappe their hands at thee: they hisse and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, Is this the citie that men call, The perfection of beautie, and the toy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse and gnash the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainly this is the day that we looked for: we haue found and seene it.

17 * The Lord hath done that which hee hath purposed: he hath fulfilled his word that he had determined of old time, he hath thrown downe, and not spared: hee hath caused thine enemy to reioyce ouer thee, and set vpon the borne of thine aduersaries.

18 Their heart $\frac{1}{2}$ cryed vnto the Lord, O wall of the daughter Zion, let teares runne downe like a riuer. Day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease.

19 Arise, cry in the night: in the beginning of the watches powde out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift up thine hands toward him for the life of thy yong children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streets.

20 Behold, O Lord, & consider to whom thou hast done thus: shall the women eate their fruit, and children of a $\frac{1}{2}$ spanne long: shall the Priest and the Prophet be saint in the Sanctuary of the Lord?

21 The yong & the old lie on the ground in the streets: my virgins and my yong men are fallen by the sword: thou hast slaine them in the day of thy wrath: thou hast killed and not spared.

22 Thou hast called as in a solemn day my terrors round about: so that in the day of the Lords wrath none escaped nor remained: those that I haue nourished & brought vp, hath mine enemy consumed.

Or, enemies whom I feared.

CHAP. III.

I Am the man that hath seene affliction in the rod of his indignation.

2 He hath led mee, and brought me into darkenes, but not to light.

3 Surely he is turned against mee, hee turneth his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh and my kinne hath he caused to waie old, and he hath broken my bones.

5 He hath builded against me, and compassed me with gall and labour.

6 He hath led me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.

7 He hath hedged about me, that I cannot get out: he hath made my chaines heauie.

8 Also when I cry and shout, he shutteth out my prayer.

9 He hath stopped by my wayes with heuen stone, and turne d away my paths.

10 He was vnto mee as a beare lying in wait, and as a Lyon in secret places.

11 He hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 He hath bent his bow, and made mee a marke for the arrow.

13 He caused $\frac{1}{2}$ the arrows of his quiver to enter into my reines.

14 I was a derision to all my people, and their long all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitterness, and made me drunken with wormewood.

16 Hee hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with ashes.

17 Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgate prosperitie.

18 And I sayde, My strength and mine hopes is perished from the Lord, 19 Remembering mine affliction, and my mourning, the wormewood and the gall.

20 My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled in me.

21 I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope.

22 It is the Lords mercies that wee are not consumed, because his compassions faile not.

23 They are renewed $\frac{1}{2}$ euery morning: great is thy faithfulness.

24 The Lord is my portion, sayth my soule: therefore will I hope in him.

25 The Lord is good vnto them that a The Prophet complaineth of the punishments and afflictions that he endured by the false Prophets and hypocrites, when he declared the destruction of Ierusalem, as Ier. 20.2 b He speaketh this as one that felt Gods heauie iudgements, which he greatly feared, and therefore fettereth them out with this diuersitie of words.

c This is a great veneration to the godly, when they see not the fruit of their prayers, & cauech them to thinke that they are not heard, which thing God vseth to doe, that they might pray more earnestly, and the oftner.
d And keepeth me in hold as a prisoner.

n He murmureth not against God, but is patient.

o He humbleth himselfe, as they that fall downe with their face to the ground, and so with patience waiteth for succour.

p Heraketh no pleasure in it, but doeth it of necessitie for our amendment when he suffreth the wicked to oppress the poore.

trust in him, & to the soule that seeketh him.

26 It is good both to trust and to waite for the saluation of the Lord.

27 It is good for a man that he beare the yoke in his^m youtie.

28 He suffereth alone, and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it vpon him.

29 He putteth his^m mouth in the dust, if there may be hope.

30 He giueth his cheek to him that smiteth him: he is filled full with reproches.

31 For the Lord will not forsake for euer.

32 But though he lend affliction, yet wil he haue compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For he doth not punish willingly, nor afflict the children of men.

34 In stamping vnder his fete all the prisoners of the earth.

35 In overthrowing the right of a man before the face of the most High.

37 Who is he then that saith, and it cometh to passe, and the Lord^c commandeth it not?

38 Out of the mouth of the most High proceedeth not euill and good?

39 Wherefore then is the lining man sorrowfull: man suffereth for his sinne.

40 Let vs search and trie our wayes, and turne againe to the Lord.

41 Let vs lift vp^m our hearts with our hands vnto God in the heauens.

42 Wee haue sinned, and haue rebelled, therefore thou hast not spared.

43 Thou hast couered vs with wrath, and persecuted vs: thou hast slaine and not spared.

44 Thou hast couered thy selfe with a cloude, that our prayer should not passe through.

45 Thou hast made vs as the^m offcoursing and refuse in the mids of the people.

46 All our enemies haue opened their mouth against vs.

48 Mine eye casteth out riuers of water, for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

49 Mine eye droppeth without stay and ceaseth not.

51 Mine eye^m breaketh mine heart because of all the daughters of my city.

52 Mine enemies chaled mee fore like a bird without cause.

53 They haue shut vp my life^m in the dungeon, and cast a stone vpon me.

54 Waters flowed ouer mine head, then thought I, I am destroyed.

55 I called vpon thy Name, O Lord, out of the low dungeon.

56 Thou hast heard my voyce: stop not thine eare from my sigh and from my cry.

57 Thou dwelt nere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou saydest, feare not.

58 O Lord, thou hast maintained the cause of my^m soule, & hast redeemed my life.

59 O Lord, thou hast scene my wrong, iudge thou my cause.

60 Thou hast scene all their vengeance, and all their deuices against me.

61 Thou hast heard their reproch, O Lord, & all their imaginations against me.

62 The lips also of those that rose against me, and their whispering against me continually.

63 Behold their sitting downe and their rising vp, how I am their ing.

64 Give them a recompence, O Lord, Psal. 138. 4. according to the worke of their hands.

65 Give them^m sorrow of heart, euen thy^m Orsay obstinate heart.

66 Persecute with wrath and desirous them from vnder the heauen, O Lord.

CHAP. III.

H^{ow} is the^m golde become so^m dimme! the most fine golde is changed, and the stones of the Sanctuary are scattered in the corner of euery streete.

2 The noble^m men of Zion comparable to fine golde, how are they esteemed as earthen^m pitchers, euen the worke of the hands of the potter!

3 When the dragons^m draw out the breasts, and giue sucke to their yong, but the daughter of my people is become curill like the^m ostriches in the wilderness.

4 The tongue of the sucking child cleaueth to the roofe of his mouth for thirst: the yong children aske bread, but no man bread keth it vnto them.

5 They that did feede delicately, perish in the streetes: they that were brought vp in scarlet, embrace the dung.

6 For the iniquitie of the daughter of my people is become greater then the sinne of Sodome, that was^m destroyed as in a moment, and^m none pitched camps against her.

7 Her^m Bazarites were purer then the snow, and whiter then the milke: they were more ruddy in body, then the red precious stones: they were like polished saphir.

8 Now their^m visage is blacker then a cole: they cannot know them in the streets: their skinne cleaueth to their bones: it is withered like a stocke.

9 They that be slaine with the sword are now in greater better then they that are killed with hunger: for they fade away as they were thicken through for the^m fruits of the field.

10 The hands of the pitifull women haue foode they pine sodden with their owne children, which were their away and comfort in the destruction of the daughter of sume.

11 The Lord hath accomplished his indignation: hee hath powred out his fierce wrath, he hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath deuoured the foundations thereof.

12 The kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not haue believed that the aduersary the enemy should haue entred into the gates of Ierusalem:

15 But they cryed vnto them, Depart yee polluted, depart, depart, touch not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: they haue laid among the heathen, They shall no more dwell there.

16 The anger of the Lord hath scattered them, he wil no more regard them: they reuerenced not the face of the Priestes, nor had compassion of the Elders.

17 Whiles we waited for our vaine helpe, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for^l a nation that could not saue vs.

18 They hunt our steps that wee cannot goe in our streets: our end is nere, our dayes are fulfilled, for our end is come.

Remember, O Lord, what is come vpon vs: consider and behold our reproch.

Ezekiel.

THE ARGVMENT.

A Fear that Iehoiachin by the counsell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himselfe to Nebuchad-nezzar, and so went into captiuitie with his mother and diuers of his Princes, and of the people, certaine began to repent and murmur that they had obeyed the Prophets counsell, as though the thing which they had prophesied should not come to passe: and therefore their estate should be still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof he confirmeth his former prophesies, declaring by new visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the city should most certainly be destroyed, and the people grievously tormented by Gods plagues, insomuch that they that remained should bee brought into cruel bondage. And lest the godly should despaire in these great troubles, he assureth them that God will deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and also destroy their enemies which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other should chiefly be performed vnder Christ, of whom in this booke are many notable promises, and in whom the glory of the new Temple should perfectly be restored. He prophesied these things in Caldea at the same time that Ieremiah prophesied in Iudah, and there began in the fift yeere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

a After that the booke of the law was found, which was f eighteenth yere of the reigne of Iosiah, so that fene and twentie yeeres after this booke was found, Iecouiah was led away captiue with Ezekiel (and many of the people) who the first yeere after saw these visions.

b Which was a part of Euphrates fo called.

c That is, notable and excellent visions, so that it might be known, it was no natural dreame, but came of God.

d That is, the spirit of propheticie, as Chap. 3. 22. and 37. 1.

e By this diuersitie of words hee signifieth f fearefull iudgement of God, and the great affliction that should come vpon Ierusalem.

f Or, pale yellow. f Which were the four Cherubims that represented the glory of God, as Chap. 3. 23.

g The wing of the one touched the wing of the other.

h Euery Cherubim had four faces, the face of a man, and of a lion on the right side, and the face of a bullocke, and of an eagle on the left side.

i Ebr. whither their spirit, or will was to goe.

j That is, when they had executed Gods will: for afore they returned not, till God had changed the state of things.

k The Ebrew word is Tarshish, meaning, that the colour was like the Cilician Sea, or a precious stone so called.

E came to passe in the 2 thirty yere, in the fourth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth (as I was among the captiues by the riuer ^b Chebar) that the heavens were opened, and I saw visions of God.

2 In the first day of the moneth (which was the first yere of king Ioiachins captiuitie.)

3 The word of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the land of the Caldeans, by the riuer Chebar, where the 4 hand of the Lord was vpon him.

4 And I looked, and behold, a 5 whirlewinde came out of the North, a great cloud and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnes was about it, and in the mids thereof, to wit, in the mids of the fire came out as the likeness of a man.

5 Alld out of the mids thereof came the likenesse of four 6 faces, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man,

6 And euery one had four faces, and euery one had four wings.

7 And their feet were straight feete, and the sole of their fete was like the sole of a calves foot, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasle.

8 And the hands of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foreparts of them, and they four had their faces, and their wings.

9 They were s ioynd by their wings one to another, and when they went soorth, they returned not, but euery one went straight forward.

10 And the similitude of their faces was as 11 the face of man: and they four had the face of a lion on the right side, and they four had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they four also had the face of an Eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spread out aboue: two wings of euery one were ioynd one to another, and two covered their bodies.

12 And euery one went straight forward: they went whither their 13 spirit led them, and they returned not when they went soorth.

13 The similitude also of the beasts, and their appearance was like burning coales of fire, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ranne among the beastes, and the fire gaue a glitter, and out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beasts ranne, and 15 returned like vnto lightning.

15 I Now as I beheld the beastes, behold, a whele appeared vpon the earth by the beastes, hauing four faces.

16 The fashion of the wheeles and their worke was like vnto 17 a chrysolite: and they four had one forme, and their fashion, and their worke was as one whele in another whele.

17 When they went, they went vpon their four sides, and they returned not when they went.

18 They had also 19 rings, and height, and were fearefull to beheld, and their rings were full of eyes round about them four.

19 And when the beastes went, the wheeles went with them: and when the beastes were lift vp from the earth, the wheeles were lift vp.

20 Whither their spirit led them, they went, and thither did the spirit of the wheeles leade them, and the wheeles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirit of the beastes was in the wheeles.

21 When the beastes went, they went, and when they stood, they stood, and when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheeles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirit of the beastes was in the wheeles.

22 And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beastes was wonderful, like vnto chrystal, spread ouer their heads aboue.

23 And vnder the firmament were their wings straight, the one toward the other: euery one had two, which covered them, and euery one had two which covered their bodies.

24 And when they went soorth, I heard the noyse of their 25 wings, like the noyse of great waters, and as the voyce of the Almighty, even the voyce of speech, as the noyse of an holte: and when they stood, they 26 let downe their wings.

25 And there was a voyce from the firmament that was ouer their heads, when they stood, and had let downe their wings.

26 And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the fashion of a throne like vnto a sapphire stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of man aboue vpon it.

27 And I saw as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire 28 round about within it to looke to, euen from his loynes upward: and to looke to, euen from his loynes downward, I saw as a likeness of fire, and brightnesse round about it.

28 As the likenesse of the bow, that is in the cloud in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light round about.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the glory of the Lord: and when I saw it, I fell 30 vpon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that spake.

3 And he said unto me, Sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation, that hath rebelled against me: for they and their fathers haue rebelled against me, euen unto this very day.

4 For they are stiffhearted children, and stiffhearted: I do send thee unto them, and thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God.

5 But surely they will not heare, neither will they cease: for they are a rebellious house: yet shall they know that there hath bene a Prophet among them.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the word of God, and with the constant boldnesse of the Spirit, is sent unto the people that were in captivity. 17 The office of true ministers.

1 Moxouer hee sayd vnto mee, Sonne of man, eate that thou findest: a cate this roule, and geue, and speake vnto the house of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth, and hee gaue me this roule to eate.

3 And he sayd vnto mee, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweet as honey.

4 And he sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, go, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my wordes.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of an unknown tongue, or of an hard language, whose words thou canst not understand: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

6 Not to many people of an unknown tongue, or of an hard language, whose words thou canst not understand: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey mee: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and stiffhearted.

8 Beholde, I haue made thy face strong against their faces, and thy forehead hard against their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither bee afrayd at their looks: for they are a rebellious house,

10 He sayd moreover vnto mee, Sonne of man, receiue in thine heart all my wordes that I speake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares.

11 And go and enter to them that are led away captiues, vnto the children of thy people, and speake vnto them, I tell them, Thus saith the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeed cease.

12 When the spirit rooke mee vp, and I heard behind mee a noyse of a great rushing, saying, Blessed be the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard also the noyse of the wings of the beaists that touched one another, and the rattling of the wheeles that were by them, euen a noyse of a great rushing.

14 So the Spirit lift me vp, and tooke me away, and I went in bitterness, and indignation of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captiues to Tel-abib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I late where they late, and remained there astonished among them seven dayes.

16 And at the ende of seven dayes, the word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the word at my mouth, and giue them warning from me.

18 When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou givest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wickednes, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquitie, but thou shalt deliuer thy soule.

20 Likewise if a righteous man turne from his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a stumbling blocke before him, and he shall die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: hee shall die in his sinne, and his righteous deedes, which hee hath done, shall not be remembered: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Neuertheless, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that he doeth not sinne, hee shall liue because hee is admonished: also thou shalt deliuer thy soule.

CHAP. IIII.

- 1 The besieging of the city of Ierusalem is signified.
9 The long continuance of the captiuitie of Iſrael
16 A hunger is prophesied to come.

Thou also sonne of man, take thee a brick, and lay it before thee, and puttray vpon
it the cite, euen Ierusalem.

2 And lay siege against it, and builde a fort against it, and cast a mount against it:
let the campe also against it, and lay engines of warre against it round about.

3 Moreover, take an vpon painne, and set it for a wall of yron betweene thee and the cite, and direct thy face toward it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: thus shall be a signe vnto the house of Iſrael.

4 Sleepe thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the house of Iſrael upon it, according to the number of the dayes that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquity.

5 For I haue laid vpon thee the yeres of their iniquity, according to the number of the dayes: euen three hundredth and ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquity of the house of Iſrael.

6 And when thou shalt accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yere, euen a day for a yere.

7 Therefore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalem, and thine arme shall be vncouered, and thou shalt prophesie against it.

8 And behold, I will lay v bands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another til thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege.

9 Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheate, and barley, and beanes, and lentiles, & millet, and fitches, and put them in one vessell, and make thee bread thereof according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: euen three hundredth and ninety dayes shalt thou eate thereof.

10 And the meate whereof thou shalt eat, shall be by weight, euen twenty shekels a day: and from time to time thou shalt eate thereof.

11 Thou shalt drinke also water by measure, euen the first part of an hin: from time to time thou shalt drinke.

12 And thou shalt eate it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it in the dung that cometh out of man in their sight.

13 And the Lord said, So shall the children of Iſrael eate their defiled bread among the Gentiles whither I will cast them.

14 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, behold, my soule hath not bene polluted: for from my youth by, euen vnto this house, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or come in pieces, neither came there any vncleane flesh in my mouth.

15 Then he sayd vnto mee, Loe, I haue given thee bullocks dung for mans dung, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreover hee layd vnto mee, Sonne of man, behold, I will breake the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eat bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 Because that bread and water shall faile, they shall be altonied one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquity.

into wickednesse more then the nations, and my statutes more then the countries that are round about her: for they haue refused my iudgements and my statutes, and they haue not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because your multitude is greater then the nations that are round about you, and ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither haue ye kept my iudgements; no, ye haue not done according to the iudgements of the nations that are round about you,

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I euen I come against thee, and will execute iudgement in the mids of thee, euen in the sight of the nations.

9 And I will doe in thee, that I neuer did before, neither will I doe any more the like, because of all thine abominations.

10 For in the mides of thee, the farchers shall eat their sonnes, and the sounes shall eate their fathers, and I will execute iudgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the winds.

11 Wherefore as I liue, sayth the Lord God, Surely, because thou hast defiled my Sanctuary with all thy filthines, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I also destroy thee, neither shall mine eyes spare thee, neither will I haue any pittie.

12 The third part of thee shall die with the pestilence, and with famine shall they be consumed in the mids of thee: and another third part shall fall by the sword round about thee; and I will scatter the last third part into all winds, and I will draw out a sword after them.

13 Thus shall mine anger bee accomplished, and I will cause my wrath to cease in them, and I will bee comforted: and they shall know, that I the Lord haue spoken it in my zeale, when I haue accomplished my wrath in them.

14 Moreover, I will make thee waste and abhorred among the nations that are round about thee, and in the sight of all that pass by.

15 So thou shalt bee a reproch and shame a chastisement and an astonishment unto the nations that are round about thee, when I shall execute iudgements in thee, in anger and in wrath, and in thine rebukes: I the Lord haue spoken it.

16 When I shall send vpon them the arrowes of famine, which shall bee for their destruction: and which I will send to destroy you: and I will increase the famine vpon you, and will breake your staffe of bread.

17 So will I send vpon you famine, and euill beasts, and they shall spoile thee, and pestilence, and blood shall passe thorow thee, and I will bring the sword vpon thee: I the Lord haue spoken it.

CHAP. VI.

1 He sheweth that Ierusalem shall be destroyed for their idolatry. 8 He prophesieth the repentance of the remnant of the people, and their deliuerance.

A Gainie the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, let thy face towards the mountains of Israel, and prophesie as Chap. 36. 1.

3 And say, Ye mountains of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God: thus saith the Lord God to the mountains, to the hills, to the rivers, and to the balleyes, Behold, I, euen I will bring a sword vpon you, and I will destroy your hie places:

4 And your Altars shall be desolate, and your images of the Sunne shall be broken: and I will cast downe your staine men before your idoles.

5 And I will lay the dead carkeises of the children of Israel before their idoles, and I will scatter your bones round about your Altars.

6 In all your dwelling places the cities shall be desolate, and the high places shall be laid waste, so that your altars shall be made waste and desolate, and your idoles shall bee broken and cease, and your images of the sunne shall be cut in pieces, and your workes shall be abolished.

7 And the staine shall fall in the mids of you, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

8 Yet will I leaue a remnant, that you may haue some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when you shall be scattered thorow the countreyes.

9 And they that escape of you shall remember me among the nations, where they shall be in captiuitie, because I am grieved for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from me, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whozing after their idoles, and they shall be displeased in themselves for the euils which they haue committed in all their abominations.

10 And they shall know that I am the Lord, and that I haue not layd in vaine, that I would doe this euill vnto them.

11 Thus saith the Lord God, I smite with thine hand, and stretch forth with thine foot and say, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they it all fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

12 He that is farre off, shall die of the pestilence, and he that is nere, shall fall by the sword, and he that remaineth is besieged, shall die by the famine, thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

13 Then ye shall know that I am the Lord, when their staine men shall bee among their idoles round about their altars, vpon every high hill in all the tops of the mountains, and vnder every greene tree, and vnder every thicke oake, which is the place where they did offer sweet saour to all their idoles.

14 So will I stretch mine hand vpon them, and make the land waste and desolate from the wilderness vnto Diblath in all their habitations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.
